Important to the Swiss and German Saints.

About two weeks ago the News published an article under the above heading setting forth a plan for the obtaining of genealogies in Switzerland and Germany. Elder Julius Billeter, who left this morning on this special mission, provided with many letters of introduction, recommendations and certificates, will commence his work immediately upon his arrival. Desiring the first two months time to travel in the Cantons north and south, he will first take up the work in Berner Oberland, then Bern, Neuchatel, Emmental, etc. The plan of travel in the other Cantons is also carefully mapped out, upon the completion of which he expects to go to Germany, taking Wurtemberg and Baden.

We wish the experience and trouble to which we put the people in our mission

PLENTY OF NATURAL GAS.

Wells Capable of Producing the Million Feet a Day, While the City Only Uses 300,000.

H. L. Dover, of the Natural Gas company, called at the News office this afternoon and said that the Johnson well at Lake Shore, which was partially shut off some months ago and the car supply of which was further reduced by a clogging up was repaired this morning with highly satisfactory results. When the shutting off occurred the pressure was from 140 to 150 pounds. Today it is from 150 to 175. He says that does not look much like a diminution and adds that the city about the gas supply being confined to electric service and for a purpose not difficult to divine.

Mr. Dover also stated that the output for the city during the past twenty-four hours was 300,000 feet, 300,000 or more can be supplied daily now without the slightest trouble, it can be increased to a million feet at least within two weeks.

MODERN MAIL CARS.

Magnificent Palace Coaches for Carrying Letters.

An innovation that amounts to a marvel in mail coach operation has just been inaugurated between Utah and California. With the change the old style are displaced on the Central Pacific between San Francisco and Ogden. Attached to this morning's train which came into the Junction city was the newest of things in the way of mail car improvements. The San Francisco Chronicle has a detailed description of it. The car is in charge of the street mail clerk on the special, William C. Dalton, who can boast of service since 1869. He was the first clerk on the Central Pacific, and now a man has to be a graduate in Pennsylvania, Utah, the Dominion of the Sun. If not better than any service, and in fact he has traveled 1,000,000 miles. The new car is modeled on the "strip cabins," and differs as much as the Pullmans, except that it is devoid of the plushes and hangings. The first thing noticed in the main part of the car is what is behind "the curtain," a device to permit a mail bag at small speed without a stop. It is made in the shape of a V. A signal from the engineer warns the mail car occupants of the approach to a town. The sack gets up to attention and the mail bag, which has been put on a crane by the side of the road, is caught up as the train flies by. The other cases of pigeon holes in the new car are so numerous that the observer thinks he is in a city postoffice. There are at least 500 compartments for receptacles, and each case bears a revolving label holder, making it possible to use each pigeon hole four times. This gives the work in nearly 2,000 separations by letters. The governing apparatus is shown the visitor with some pride by the clerks, for no other line in the United States has such a thing in the mail cars. A larger glass case is placed in the car and the man at the head of the crew, William C. Du Bois, alone knows its combination. All valuables are entrusted to him. Heretofore there was safe in the car and the boatman depended entirely on the board of those under him. The return of the apparatus already described takes up half the space in the car. The other half is devoted to newspaper distribution. One hundred and twenty sacks are hung up in the car racks, that as fast as filled the minute at the sack that the clerk who is expert in this can throw a paper from one end of the car to the other and make it find the right sack. After the sacks are filled they are taken out, labeled, and then dragged through the vestibule into the storage car.

The light is from the Pintsch system of storage gas. There are eight burners, with four feeder to each glove, and four extra burners, each with a feeder. In the daytime the car is lighted by fifteen windows, besides twenty-four ventilators covered with glass. Each car can accommodate nine working clerks comfortably, and these men handle, on an average, about 50,000 pounds of mail daily, or fifteen tons, which is distributed between San Francisco and Ogden in 2,000,000 parcels.

The Welsh Divorce Case.

Judge Young granted a decree yesterday afternoon in the divorce case of Carrie D. Welsh vs. Isidore L. Welsh. The motion of the defendant to set aside the decree was resisted on behalf of Mrs. Welsh by Attorney John M. Zane, and Gerald J. F. Jackson appeared in behalf of Mr. Welsh. The motion was based upon the grounds that the decree was taken without the knowledge of the plaintiff. He boldly stated that it on his knowledge that the defendant was in the city at the time the case came up. He would not unless the circumstances have created the decree without hearing from him.

Equalization Matters.

The State board of equalization met yesterday afternoon in the Governor's office in the joint city and county building. The members are: John E. Booth of Provo, J. J. Thomas of Salt Lake, Thomas D. Dee of Ogden, and R. C. Lund of St. George. They qualified by taking the oath of office and received their commissions. A permanent organization was effected by the election of Mr. Lund as president and Mr. Thomas as secretary. Without transacting any more business the board then adjourned until Monday next at 10 o'clock when they intend taking up the regular work of the year.

Page Found Guilty.

According to the San Francisco Chronicle a jury on Wednesday found Ex-District Attorney John D. Page guilty of embezzling the money of an insane ward. Page it will be remembered fled from San Francisco to Salt Lake where he had employment for a time with a commission house. But learning that he had been found he continued his flight eastward to New York where he was apprehended after having been indicted. His sentence was to be pronounced today.

Change in Time Rio Grande Western Railway.

Train No. 2 for Provo, Denver and all points east, now leaving at 9:00 a.m. will, commencing with May 3rd, next, leave Salt Lake City at 7:45 a.m. The three west-bound trains for Ogden, San Francisco and all Utah points stations arrive at 12:15 p.m. and leave at 12:25 p.m.
