DESERET EVENING NEWS.

DESERET NEWS PUBLISHING COMPANY, LESSEES.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1894

The DESERET EVENING NEWS is published every evening (except Sunday) at its office, 143 Theatre Street, Salt Lake City.

Telephone 1564. Editorial Rooms 1563.

The DESERET WEEKLY NEWS is published every Thursday.

The DESERET WEEKLY is designed for circulation in Utah and the adjacent Territories.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Daily (7 issues)	$12.00
Daily (6 issues)	10.00
Daily (3 issues)	5.50
Daily (2 issues)	3.00
Daily (1 issue)	1.50
Semi-Weekly (3 issues)	6.00
Semi-Weekly (2 issues)	4.00
Semi-Weekly (1 issue)	2.00
Weekly (6 issues)	3.00
Weekly (3 issues)	1.50

Payable in advance or 25 cents a month in advance.

Subscribers changing their present residence should always give former as well as present address.

The NEWS is not responsible for money sent by mail except when sent by registered letter or money order. Receipts will be sent only when specially called for.

Communications should be addressed to DESERET NEWS PUBLISHING CO.

Telephone 1564.

A CONFERENCE LESSON.

The sixty fifth semi-annual Conference which closed Sunday, Oct. 7, will be long remembered as one of the important gatherings of the Latter-day Saints. It has been a time of spiritual enjoyment. Those who attended it will undoubtedly return to their homes strengthened in their resolutions to serve the Lord, and through them the good influence will be communicated throughout all the states and wards of the Church, and all will be benefited to a great extent. The word of the Lord has been given to admonish the Saints, warning, teaching and admonishing them, humanly and impressively, as by inspired men of old, the Prophets of God have declared the eternal truth and pointed out the way of salvation, while songs and hymns of praise and joy have sounded and re-sounded in the hearts of the people and their prayers ascended, as a holy incense in the sanctuary, to the throne of grace.

One feature of the meetings is the earnestness with which the speakers urged upon the people of God the necessity of living pure lives and keeping all the commandments of God, and particularly those pertaining to the Word of Wisdom and tithing. It can scarcely be denied that the world is fast becoming corrupt, its moral atmosphere being impure to an alarming degree. Moral diseases are raging both inside and outside the sacred circle of home, because men disregard laws of nature, the laws of God. Surely, it is of great importance that the Saints should be made aware of this condition of the world and be warned—as they were so heavily, so pleadingly and eloquently—of the curse attending a course in harmony with lust of the degraded element of the world. Personal purity in body as in spirit is a condition without which no one can serve the Lord acceptably.

There is a close connection between the duty of observing the Word of Wisdom and keeping the law of tithes and offerings and the necessity of attaining personal purity and holiness. Anybody who supposes he can obtain the latter without observing the former is likely to be sorely disappointed. A character, to weak to stand the test of personal sacrifice involved in abstinence from the things forbidden and the consecration of a little property to the Lord and the poor, is beyond doubt also too weak to stand the battle against those more subtle temptations to overcome which much strength of will, integrity of purpose, humility and above all a measure of the Holy Spirit in the heart are required. In other words, one who can not master his appetite for tobacco, liquor, etc., can probably not regulate any passion that may take hold of his soul. If tempted to anger, he is likely to fall; if tempted to dishonesty in trade, or in any dealing with his fellow man, he probably will do it, and so on in every direction where she is position. He will follow the allurements, because, being in the habit of yielding in what appears to be small matters, there is no moral strength to withstand in other things. A child who has never acquired any habit habit is usually stronger than the oldest professor of Christianity who has been overcome habitually by the evil one.

That these laws of God have been so strongly urged upon the Saints at this Conference, perhaps more earnestly than for many years, is a sign that the Lord has great things in store for His people, if they are willing to obey. When the Almighty led the house in the wilderness told Israel to sanctify themselves it was because He was about to reveal His presence on Sinai, a testimony to the world throughout all ages. In the same way when our Heavenly Father is about to hold Himself in readiness to reveal Himself in Jerusalem, it was before the outpouring of the Divine Spirit was at hand. In the same way, the preparation of the heavenly bride in the Apocalypse was only a preliminary to the coming of the Bridegroom. There is, in that sense, great events in the spiritual kingdom of God are near at hand, the agency in preparation for them necessary should be. We believe the Saints generally will view the teachings of this Conference in that light and by the grace of God seek the strength needed for a great and thorough reformation in the directions indicated as necessary in order to receive the blessings promised and about to be poured out upon the members of the Church of God.

HONOR THE PIONEERS!

One of the Saints in Conference, who made a journey of nearly a thousand miles from his home in Apache county, Arizona, is Charles Hunsaker, over ninety years of age and one of the Utah Pioneers. For eighteen years past he has lived in Arizona, taking one of the pioneer missionaries in establishing settlements of Utah people there. In times years previous to his going south he resided in Cache Valley, being an early settler of that region. He was in attendance at the Pioneer Celebration day, and it is deeply interesting to listen to his comments, because, through his long absence from the city, he naturally measures the present with the vision which guided his eyes in the salt Lake valley on the Twenty fourth of July, 1847, in spite of the dust, the flowers, the vegetables, the pomegranates, the display of art and heavy work, and the exhibits of the schools, and then of the surroundings and condition of the prepossessed valley which by twice his view on that memorable day forty-seven years ago, with its great Lake glimmering and glistening under the smiling July sun. Then of the throng of children he exclaimed "Oh, the thousands, the thousands of little boys and girls, laughing, shouting, happy, happy! When I first looked over the valley from the mouth of Emigration Canyon, there was no house, no garden, no farm, no children! Sage brush, a few cottonwood trees to the north, and some patches of green willows! Far away I saw two or three Indians skulking off to get out of our sight. I could see no other living thing. But the children, how they pushed and crowded to the Fair as old man like me, nearly blind! Oh, how good a time it was! You know when we get so old we become children again, and we cannot help it. I felt a child again. Everybody seemed kind to me!"

The early settlers of Utah who behold its success today can realize something of the stupendous change wrought in those valleys by the hand of Industry under the Divine blessing and inspiration. But with the younger members of our great commonwealth it is too much to ask that they comprehend the full nature of the contrast between now and forty-seven years ago. They can go to the yet uncultivated small mountain valley, and from the dryness and desolation there can obtain some comprehension of the barrenness which once existed everywhere. But they can not get a perfect idea of its loveliness any more than one who views the rippling of a mountain lake in a storm can realize therefrom the awful grandeur of the boundless ocean. Yet by learning of what has been, and seeing that which now exists, the newer residents of the Territory may sufficiently comprehend the transformation to be filled with gratitude to whomever for those who laid the foundations for progress made.

"Everybody was kind," said the Pioneer. If that be the rule throughout Utah to all its veterans, then blessed are the people, and permanent their heritage! "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee," introduces a principle which has been exemplified very many times in the world's history since the command was promulgated to Israel from Mount Sinai. Where the rule has been followed, good has resulted; where it has been violated, evil has come to individuals, families, or nations, as the case has been. The Pioneers and early settlers of Utah are the fathers and mothers of this great commonwealth. By them it was organized, sustained, provided for, and established in the path of prosperity. To them to its pioneers is honor due, to the kind and considerate treatment accorded those who remain, the veneration shown for the works and memory of those who have gone, and the respect manifested for the integrity, wisdom, skill, and unwavering and sublime faith of all the veterans in the destiny of those who should people these valleys. When a community, as well as an individual, gives honor to its worthy patriarchs, its days shall be long in the land which the Lord has given it. So may it be with those who dwell in Utah!

A STRAY SHEEP HEARD FROM.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press lately had this announcement:

Rev. J. Wesley Hill, D. D., will give his second lecture, "Four Years Among the Mormons," in Central Park Methodist church Monday evening, Oct. 1. Dr. Hill has series of considerable reputation and gives us an entertaining account of his experiences in Utah.

The "considerable reputation" which Rev. J. W. Hill enjoys in Utah as a result of his "Four Years Among the Mormons" was won by the skill with which he stole, and palmed off as his own, laying aforesaid, the anti-Mormon address of Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, and the chief of his thrilling experiences was the little episode with the Ogden Standard which paper exposed him to the world, parodied him as a scandalous rumor thief, and roasted him to an extent he never forgot. These incidents may not figure very extensively in Mr. Hill's present lecture, and the Pioneer Press may not have heard much about them. But they are interesting matters of history nevertheless.

HONOR THE PIONEERS!

One of the Saints in Conference, who made a journey of nearly a thousand miles from his home in Apache county, Arizona, is Charles Hunsaker, over ninety years of age and one of the Utah Pioneers. For eighteen years past he has lived in Arizona, taking one of the pioneer missionaries in establishing settlements of Utah people there. In times years previous to his going south he resided in Cache Valley, being an early settler of that region. He was in attendance at the Fair on Children's day, and it is deeply interesting to listen to his comments, because, through his long absence from the city, he naturally measures the present with the vision which guided his eyes in the salt Lake valley on the Twenty fourth of July, 1847, in spite of the dust, the flowers, the vegetables, the pomegranates, the display of art and heavy work, and the exhibits of the schools, and then of the surroundings and condition of the prepossessed valley which by twice his view on that memorable day forty-seven years ago, with its great Lake glimmering and glistening under the smiling July sun. Then of the throng of children he exclaimed "Oh, the thousands, the thousands of little boys and girls, laughing, shouting, happy, happy! When I first looked over the valley from the mouth of Emigration Canyon, there was no house, no garden, no farm, no children! Sage brush, a few cottonwood trees to the north, and some patches of green willows! Far away I saw two or three Indians skulking off to get out of our sight. I could see no other living thing. But the children, how they pushed and crowded to the Fair as old man like me, nearly blind! Oh, how good a time it was! You know when we get so old we become children again, and we cannot help it. I felt a child again. Everybody seemed kind to me!"

The early settlers of Utah who behold its success today can realize something of the stupendous change wrought in those valleys by the hand of Industry under the Divine blessing and inspiration. But with the younger members of our great commonwealth it is too much to ask that they comprehend the full nature of the contrast between now and forty-seven years ago. They can go to the yet uncultivated small mountain valley, and from the dryness and desolation there can obtain some comprehension of the barrenness which once existed everywhere. But they can not get a perfect idea of its loveliness any more than one who views the rippling of a mountain lake in a storm can realize therefrom the awful grandeur of the boundless ocean. Yet by learning of what has been, and seeing that which now exists, the newer residents of the Territory may sufficiently comprehend the transformation to be filled with gratitude to whomever for those who laid the foundations for progress made.

"Everybody was kind," said the Pioneer. If that be the rule throughout Utah to all its veterans, then blessed are the people, and permanent their heritage! "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee," introduces a principle which has been exemplified very many times in the world's history since the command was promulgated to Israel from Mount Sinai. Where the rule has been followed, good has resulted; where it has been violated, evil has come to individuals, families, or nations, as the case has been. The Pioneers and early settlers of Utah are the fathers and mothers of this great commonwealth. By them it was organized, sustained, provided for, and established in the path of prosperity. To them to its pioneers is honor due, to the kind and considerate treatment accorded those who remain, the veneration shown for the works and memory of those who have gone, and the respect manifested for the integrity, wisdom, skill, and unwavering and sublime faith of all the veterans in the destiny of those who should people these valleys. When a community, as well as an individual, gives honor to its worthy patriarchs, its days shall be long in the land which the Lord has given it. So may it be with those who dwell in Utah!

A STRAY SHEEP HEARD FROM.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press lately had this announcement:

Rev. J. Wesley Hill, D. D., will give his second lecture, "Four Years Among the Mormons," in Central Park Methodist church Monday evening, Oct. 1. Dr. Hill has series of considerable reputation and gives us an entertaining account of his experiences in Utah.

The "considerable reputation" which Rev. J. W. Hill enjoys in Utah as a result of his "Four Years Among the Mormons" was won by the skill with which he stole, and palmed off as his own, laying aforesaid, the anti-Mormon address of Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, and the chief of his thrilling experiences was the little episode with the Ogden Standard which paper exposed him to the world, parodied him as a scandalous rumor thief, and roasted him to an extent he never forgot. These incidents may not figure very extensively in Mr. Hill's present lecture, and the Pioneer Press may not have heard much about them. But they are interesting matters of history nevertheless.

EFFECTS OF THE FAIR.

One effect of the Fair has been to fill the people of this Territory with unbounded enthusiasm over the achievements of home industry. This is sufficiently proven by the fact that, day after day, from 10,000 to 15,000 persons were paid an entrance fee for the privilege of gazing upon those achievements. It has not been a dull sight, nor a prize ring contest, a circus or a dramatic entertainment, that has drawn the multitudes to the Fair grounds. They have gone to see the things which have been created from the resources by the workers of Utah. They have cheered at the sight, have congratulated one another over it, and have gone to see it again, and yet again. No great box office delight in gazing upon the exhibits at the Fair, that the management have been obliged to continue it three days longer than the period first fixed upon.

The significance of all this is that the spirit of home industry rests upon the people of the Territory in great power, and that a marked effect of the Fair will be to increase this spirit among them. One result will be a renewed impetus to home enterprise. More patronage will be given to it, more capital will be invested in it, more employment will be furnished by it, and the substantial wealth of all the people will be increased, each of these results following in succession.

Another effect has been produced by the Fair, the importance of which will hardly be overestimated. The whole world, and especially capitalists seeking for safe investments, have been made to understand that Utah is not a backwards mining region, but that she is rather an agricultural and manufacturing commonwealth, having resources of the richest and most varied character, and a people who are actually engaged in developing them. It is in such a community as this that capital seeks investment.

Another effect of the Fair is to demonstrate that there is no longer any need of, and excuse for, importing certain articles of economy and extensive use among the people, among which may be mentioned butter, cheese, poultry, crackers, candy, soap, brooms, many kinds of woolen goods, dried fruit, etc. It is given out that the importation of several of these articles has almost ceased, and that it would stop entirely if the home made supply were equal to the demand. Butter, cheese and brooms are mentioned in this connection.

A memory which is strengthened by the Fair is sure to show to those who have to resort to home manufactures that their patronage, and consequently their profits, are easy and margins which are certain may well be made narrower than those which are precarious, consequently home made goods can and will be sold cheaper than heretofore; and by the operation of a natural law, home producers will be able to unitedly meet competition.

Another marked effect of the Fair will be strengthened confidence. We have been made to see with our eyes the evidence that Utah is strong in all the elements that go to make people self-supporting and wealth-creating. The pessimist is no more, and the man who has loudly, during the long financial stress, that Utah was all right, stands forty-thousand. The people who have been to the Fair have been entered, comforted and encouraged by it, and thousands have left it feeling that times are not so very hard in Utah after all. Anything which will inspire the people with such a feeling is a real public blessing.

Flowing from the Fair are also the great and numerous benefits consequent upon comparison and competition among producers, and the information which is disseminated by the process. What a mistake it would have been, not to hold a Fair this year!

JUDGE MINER.

It is no slight mark of appreciation of the local community that so many of those who come into our midst as Federal officials learn to like the country and people so well during their term of office that they remain and identify themselves with us when they leave under the walks of private life. Of governors who have thus cast their lot with a people among whom they came as strangers there have been not a few; but the cases in this line of conduct clearly belong to the officers of the law, including marshals, prosecutors, attorneys, and notably judges.

Another of the latter has just decided the question of his future in the approachable way, and the News is pleased to greet him not only as a fellow citizen of Salt Lake City. We refer to Judge James A. Miner, lately associate justice of the supreme court of Utah, and presiding over the First district court in Ogden, where he has resided for four years past. He has just removed his family to this city, and in partnership with a former associate practicing attorney in the northern judicial district, Ogden Hiles, has opened up a new office. Both gentlemen are well known, and the firm of Miner and Hiles is a distinct and promising acquisition to the superb numerous and high class of our city.

We give 10 per cent cash, 7 per cent on Windows, and 5 per cent discount on Doors.
DUTHWELL & McCONATHY, 102 S. First West.

FOR TEA
At the C. R. Dunn Grocery House, 74 E. South Temple St.

FOR THE SUBSCRIPTION
Quorums of Seventies, Mutual Improvement Associations, Ward Organizations, Cardholders, Friends who are desirous to subscribe within the price range of the country, can have Juvenile Home Monthly mailed (postage paid) direct from the office, for the low price of $1.50 per year, strictly in advance.
Send it abroad; it will answer as an introductory, and bring no discredit on Utah or its institutions.
Apply or write to
H. W. NAYSMITH, S. L. C.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
Catches no customers of Alum.

WALLACE & CO.
Merchant Tailors, 153 Main Street, make a specialty of Discret Women cloth as Cheviots, Serges, Overcoatings, etc., Suits to order $15.00 and up. We also carry a full line of imported woolens.

The Entire Furniture Stock of the Late Firm of SORENSEN & NELSON CO.
Must be closed out at once regardless of cost. Come to their old stand and secure bargains.

Salt Lake Theater.
THREE PERFORMANCES.
MONDAY, TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY, OCT. 8, 9, 10.
Second Professional Engagement of the Successful Comedy Drama,
FRIENDS,
By Bronson Howard, Author of Aristocracy, etc.
Interpreted by the Same Excellent Company.
Prices, 25c to $1.50. Seats on sale at the box office.
NEXT ATTRACTION.
ROBERT DOWNING.
Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 16, 17.

Lyceum Theater.
J. F. O'Malley Mgr.
Monday Sept. 24 b, 1894.
The Latest New York Success
Living Pictures.

WANTED.
A GIRL TO DO GENERAL HOUSE WORK. Apply at South Fort 2 Ward.
WANTED—LADY OR GENTLEMAN TO assist in office. Salary $15.00, with chance to advance, and permanent position if suited. Say why the party is suited in regard to age, experience and salary desired. Address Manager, Lock Drawer F, City.

STRAYED OR STOLEN.
FROM PRIVATE DAIRY PASTURE, ONE mahogany red cow, horns trimmed, weight about 1,000 pounds, calf about two months old. Information leading to her recovery will be liberally rewarded. A. M. Cannon, 21, this office.

COOPERS SANITARY CO., 87 MAIN STREET. Telephone 474.

WANDERED.
FROM SALT LAKE COUNTY INFIRMARY, on Friday, Sept. 28, a white horse, branded aged 11 years, white star and white hoofs, weighs about 1,000 pounds. Any person giving information that will lead to his recovery will be rewarded for assisting Taxpayers Really Interested. SALT LAKE COUNTY INFIRMARY.

FOR SALE.
FARM AND PROPERTY. A FARM OF 10 acres, modern improvements, plenty of water, fruit trees, for sale or exchange for a carriage and team and flow of water. For particulars address Farmer Office.

FOR SALE OR LEASE.
FIFTY GRAZING COWS FOR SALE or lease, on reasonable terms, for three years, with reasonable pasture. Inquire at 21 South Main street.

MONEY TO LOAN.
LOANS, ANY AMOUNT, ON CITY OR farm property, on long or short time. Apply to Joseph F. Smith, Deseret News Building.
ON REASONABLE TERMS APPLY TO Lewis Shurtliff, No. 38 East Temple Street.
MONEY TO LOAN AT LOWEST RATES on city and county property. Thompson, 38 West Second South.

UPHOLSTERING
In all its Branches by
S. F. TUTTLE, 12 N. West Temple.
Please give him a call. Good work and low prices guaranteed.

DEEDS AND MORTGAGES,
Conformable To Latest Territorial Statute For Sale at The Deseret News Publishing Co.

MECHANICS, Dressmakers, Cabinet makers and others, will find Glue very useful in their business. Mending and Repairing Furniture, Toys, Crockery, Glassware, Jewelry, Boots and Shoes, Harness, Saddles, Robes, Blankets, Tents, Awnings, Canvas Goods, Umbrellas, Parasols, Sunshades, Fans, etc., etc. Sold everywhere. Price, 25 cents. Manufactured by the PHENIX GLUE CO., No. 1 Central Wharf, Boston, Mass.

We Cannot Hide it if we Would!
Many have found out that the Great
ZCMI
Emporium is now running over with NEW GOODS, especially in the Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Notion and Kindred Departments.
Dress Goods are Quiet, Varied and Cheap.
Fancy Goods are Unique, Beautiful and Cute.
Jackets, Capes, etc. are New, Stylish and Dressy.
Millinery Goods are Fashionable and Moderate.
Kid Gloves, a Specialty; all Sizes, Colors and Prices. The entire stock was bought from first-class mporters and firms. They are suited to the times, and Buyers are all surprised "how much they can get now for their Money."
Call and Look Over the Stock Anyhow.
T. G. WEBBER, Superintendent.

Deseret Woolen Mills Co.,
SALT LAKE CITY.
Manufacturers of Cassimeres, Suitings, Ladies' Cloth, Dress Goods, Flannels, Linseys, Hosiery, Yarns and Blankets.
OFFICE AND SALESROOM, NO. 20 WEST, FIRST SOUTH STREET.

As to Retrenchment.
SOME ECONOMIC SUGGESTIONS TO THE "CITY DADS."
We notice that the City Council is endeavoring to fulfil their "before election" promises of rigid economy in the running of the municipal affairs of the city, which is certainly appreciated by all good citizens, and all hope they may succeed in saving many dollars to the over-burdened taxpayers. We would suggest, however, that they should avoid demolishing the men on the public fence and in the fire department. This might result in the reverse of economy.
It might please the taxpayers just as well to dispense of extra sessions of the council and devote less time to increasing personal character and more time to granting public benefits. In their efforts to stop the leakage at the spigot, we recommend that they see that the bung is securely plugged before they fall to the barrel over."
There are times when all should use their utmost efforts in the practice of true retrenchment, both in public and in private affairs, and assisting in this very land able purpose each individual may assist a community, and each community the commonwealth. So let each individual be careful to make every dollar expended be for some necessity and see that it is used where its purchasing power will be greatest, and all should try to prepare for the coming winter by providing themselves with necessary fuel, food and clothing while the opportunity exists, and before the inclement demand increases price. This is especially true with regard to clothing. During this season we are offering some great bargains, and those who are fortunate enough to be able to anticipate their next winter's necessities by ordering a full suit now, can save enough to go a long way towards a ton of coal or other needed necessaries.
PLYMOUTH ROCK PANTS CO.
172 South State Street.
SALT LAKE CITY. UTAH.

FIFTIETH DIVIDEND.
S. C. S. L. Salt Lake City, Sep. 15, 1894.
AT A MEETING OF THE DIRECTORS held this day a dividend of four per cent was declared from the net earnings of the business of this association, payable 20th inst., payable at the office of the Treasurer, Z. C. M. I., in cash or Wednesday, Oct. 20, 1894, at which time and place all stockholders participating will please present their certificates of stock for cancellation and other business will be transacted.
T. G. WEBBER, Secretary.

LEWIS' 98 PER CENT LYE
PURE AND POWDERED
(PATENTED)
This is the original and genuine Lye which formerly could not be sold in any powder and packed in cans with perforated lids, the contents of which are always ready for use. We have the best perfumed Toilet Soap in 5 minutes and one pound. It is the best for softening water, making Soft Soap, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, cans, etc.
PENNA. SALT MFG. CO.
Gen. Agents, Phila., Pa.

"THE SHORTEST GIRLS HAVE THE LONGEST LEGS!"
In appearance only, and shoddy shoes are cheap in the same way.
DUNFORD'S SCHOOL SHOES are all Leather and sewed with silk. One pair will outwear two of the other kind.
DUNFORD'S, The Low Price Shoe Store, 57 SOUTH MAIN STREET.

MEN'S SUITS Made to order from Provo Cloth $15.00
AT
JOHN C. CUTLER & BROS., AGENTS PROVO WOOLEN MILLS,
36 Main Street, Salt Lake City.

WHITE & SONS CO.
GENERAL MARKET
UTAH AND CALIFORNIA FRUITS AND VEGETABLES FRESH EVERY MORNING.
COMPLETE LINE STAPLE AND IMPORTED GROCERIES, POULTRY, FISH AND MEATS.

JAMES SPENCER BATEMAN CO.,
(Successors to David James & Co., and Spencer Dewdney Co.)
Plumbers, Tinners, Gas and Steam Fitters.
We carry a complete line of Gas and Perfection Stoves and Ranges, Gasoline and Oil Stoves, Tinware, Granite Ironware and House Furnishing Goods.
NO. 67 MAIN STREET.