AT THE TABERNACLE.

Testimonies Borne to the Restoration of the Gospel.

Talks Addressed by Elders N. L. Morris and Brigham Young, and Prest. Jos. F. Smith.

Services were held in the Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, Sunday, August 18th, 1895, Elder Angus M. Cannon, president of the Stake, presiding.

The choir sang the hymn:

Lo, ye messengers of glory,
Sent, ye heralds of the skies.

Prayer by Elder A. M. Musser.

The choir sang the hymn:

Through in the onward Church rolls
The wheel and ever upward goes

Elder Nephi L. Morris, newly returned from a mission to Great Britain, was the first speaker. He said that the efforts of the Elders in the field in which he had been laboring in many respects were rewarded with success, though this seemed but very little in comparison with that which attended the efforts of the earlier missionaries. Mormonism is an old and still an unpopular subject in England. There are very few who have not heard something or other of the Mormons. Many people there are zealous and willing to listen to the Gospel, but very few are willing to step forward and embrace the truth in meekness and humility. There is a great deal of prejudice and bitter feeling against our people. In some cases the cause of this animosity can be traced who grounds found to exist for it. Sometimes the Saints have acted unwisely, and sometimes Elders have committed weaknesses and follies. The Elders of Israel should be very careful in their actions when carrying the Gospel to the nations of the earth. In many places the opposition has been so great that it has completely upset the set in commotion the whole village. This opposition has never gone to the cause of truth any harm. It is like President Brigham Young said, "If you kick Mormonism you kick it up stairs!" Or as Paul has said, "You can do nothing against the truth but for the truth."

The Elders spend a great deal of time are trying to reach the people to enlighten them and remove from them that awful prejudice which exists against the Mormons. There is an improvement in the missionary field in Great Britain, although the baptisms are not so numerous as in former times; but considering the different circumstances under which the Elders labor, the cause in Great Britain is by no means failing.

Elder Brigham Young was the next speaker. He said that while the great majority of the people who had heard the Gospel had rejected it, there were still many thousands who have received at testimony of the truth and are striving to live according to the light which they have received. The people of the world think it a great presumption on our part to go among the most enlightened people on the face of the earth and say that we have received the Gospel of the Son of God and have come to preach that Gospel unto them; to tell them that the heavens have again been opened, and that we have received revelations from God. Yet we call upon all mankind to investigate the claims we make and ask them to judge without bias or prejudice and see for themselves if we are not justified in preaching the Gospel of the Son of God as we understand it. The Latter-day Saints have received the Gospel in its fullness and they have the revelations of God given to them. There is not recorded in sacred or profane history a time when the people of God were devoid of this blessing, as long as they serve the Lord and keep His commandments.

President Joseph F. Smith then addressed the congregation on some of the principles of the Gospel.

The choir sang the anthem:

Let the mountains shout for joy,

at the conclusion of which the congregation sang the Doxology.

Benediction was pronounced by Bishop William B. Preston.

THE COMING ESTEDDFOD.

A Committee of Denver Musicians Will Tonight Begin Selecting Voices for the Great Festival.

A message from the Denver chair, received by Secretary James today, says that the Centennial state people are working hard in preparation for the contests in the Eisteddfod. Mr. Lloyd Jones, a prominent attorney of Denver, is expected to arrive in a few days to arrange for the accommodation of the Colorado contingency when they come in October.

Reports are very encouraging and the mails bring to constant requests for entries in the contests. Concerning the great festival the Denver Republican of Sunday morning says:

The general committee selected by the grand chorus of mixed voices to compete at the Eisteddfod in the Mormon tabernacle, October 3 and 4 next, met in the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

The finance committee, consisting of Professor Dingley Brown, Robert Black and Lloyd Jones, reported sufficient encouragement in the business way and otherwise from individuals and members of the Chamber of Commerce to warrant speedy preparations for the grand concert.

The committee was instructed to wait on Secretary Light and M. C. Jackson, of the Chamber of Commerce, the latter of whom volunteered to go with any two members of the committee immediately to arrange for a concert at Salt Lake City and intermediate points, and in order with Secretary Stanley John Jones, of Salt Lake City, as to an immediate date on the arrival of the chorus in the city.

The committee decided to announce that on Monday night at 8 o'clock in St. John's cathedral the competitive voices will be heard in the entire work, beginning Tuesday night at the same place, and a rehearsal of all the voices to participate in the chorus to take place at the cathedral on Wednesday night, at 8 o'clock.

Attempts are urged to attend these meetings early. An assurance is already given by Professor William Ap-Madoc, the director of the choral competition, that the next Eisteddfod to be held in 1899, will be given in Denver, and chagrin ought to avail themselves of this unprecedented opportunity of making the country at large realize that Denver still maintains its reputation of being a great musical center.

MEETING OF PENCIL PUSHERS.

The Convention and Excursion Attracting Attention Far and Wide—Some of Those Who Will Be Here.

If commendations are any evidence of the interest and enthusiasm that is manifest in the forthcoming press convention none of that loyal patriotic quality will be lacking.

Every mail brings to Secretary Tuttle letters from all parts of the United States, asking for information concerning the coming convention and giving assurance that the states from which the letters come will be well represented at the great meeting.

The morning's mail brought a letter from Ainsworth, published in New York, the leading journal in the United States devoted to the interests of the press people. This journal has devoted a great deal of space to the interest of the convention and has reported Mr. J. J. Ramsberger of this city as their special representative at the convention, to prepare reports of the meeting and also act in a business capacity for them.

A letter from H. E. Fish, editor of the Helena Herald, has this to say: "I am thoroughly in sympathy with the objects of the convention and intend to put your letter side before the calling together of people so the press will be marred by success. Any service I can render through the Herald will not be withheld. Montana ought, and I presume will be, numerously represented."

Mr. J. F. Tripp, formerly of this Territory, but now of Hazelton, Pa., sends a letter thanking in acceptable terms the U. P. A. for the courtesy extended in placing his name upon the roll of honorary members. He says that the daily papers of that city are doing all in their power to write the enterprise up, and states that in all probability a large delegation will be present from the state of Pennsylvania.

The following have already signified their intentions of being here: M. H. Berier, editor of Nance county Journal, Fullerton, Neb., and wife; J. W. Tanner, editor of the Fairmont, Neb., Post, and wife; L. D. Powell, editor of the Lakin, Kansas, Journal, and wife; M. L. Harler, editor of the Newkirk Democrat, Oklahoma; J. H. Foster, editor of the North West Tribune, Stevensville, Mont.; J. E. Jenkins, ex-president of the Kansas Editorial association, and many others too numerous at this time to mention.

Secretary Tuttle receives daily papers from all over the United States, most of them mentioning extensive arrangements for the meeting and urging the press people of the country to attend and add to the success of the meeting. The secretary says that the papers outside of Utah are far more liberal in the praise of the convention than are the papers of this territory.

Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate and guardianship of James, Hezer, Eva and Alice Wickens, minors, Friday, August 23, 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., set for settlement of account.

In the matter of the estate of William H. Hyde, deceased, Thursday, August 29, 1895, time set for hearing application for letters of administration.

State a Railroad Ride.

The only cases disposed of in the police court this morning were those of Charles Vack, William Moffatt and Joe Vach, charged with stealing a ride. They plead guilty and were sentenced to two days each. Two are native of sunny Italy.

THE EDITORIAL EXCURSION.

The Executive Committee of the Utah Press Association Issues an Address Concerning It.

The executive committee of the Utah Press association has issued the following address:

To the Citizens of Salt Lake City and Utah:

Ladies and Gentlemen—As has been published in the public press, there is to be a great editorial convention held in this city on the 27th and 28th inst. It will be one of the most noted events of the year, and only in Utah is it the only in the West. The movement has been inaugurated by the Utah Press association for the purpose of bringing the editors of the western states together for purposes affecting their mutual interests and affording an opportunity for them to have a grand entertainment outing. The responses from the various states have been most heartily and unanimously accepted, so that a great convention numerically and greatly enthusiastic and productive of great enthusiasm, is to be assured beyond a doubt.

The exact number, however, it is not possible as yet to indicate, except that there will be delegates from several hundred counties.

The convention proper will be held in the Salt Lake Theater on the morning of the 27th, and continued on the 28th, and possibly on the 29th. But there will be interspersed between the sessions of the convention a banquet and ball at Saltair, the excursion to Fort Douglas, Garfield, Ogden and other interesting points, with a grand finale in the form of a complimentary concert in the great Tabernacle. At this performance the magnificent Mormon choir, and the popular Salt Lake Choral company and others of our notable talent will appear. A fine program is now in process of arrangement. Everything that we can possibly do to make the convention and the entertainment of and visiting brethren of the press a success, we will do.

However, we are obliged to rely upon the people for a success in this matter. We have asked the Salt Lake Press association, including, as it does, nearly every paper in the Territory, and has to member of the association and valuable citizens of Salt Lake that they help to decide to make this event a success, and organize at an early date in each ward, city and county in Utah, a committee to work in harmony with the committee of the association, and to report to the committee at Salt Lake City, and then will the gathering prove to be an almost blessing to Utah.

The editors of Utah papers, therefore, with a loyalty and love for our mountain walled state, now appeal to them as an entire part in building up what is destined to be the grandest commonwealth of the intermountain states. Standing on the threshold of statehood we have said that a warm invitation to the editors of the great West, asking them to lay down their labors for a few days to come to Utah for a brief period of rest, recreation and pleasant benefits. We have promised them a grand time, the finest belonging to the world, and the heartiest welcome of generous and patriotic people, soon to enter the sovereign union of the United States. In this we know that we have not erred, confident that around us will rally plenty of people to enable us to keep our pledges to the visitors who will honor us with their presence within the golden gates of this mountain metropolis. We have invited them here when the valley is tapestried with fields of golden grain and dotted with ripened orchards of fruit, above which serene and glorious autumnal sky. We will give them entertainment fit for royalty, show them the beauties and resources of our blessed land, and make them feel that they have found professional brethren worthy of the name.

So, fellow citizens, prepare yourselves for a gala time during the 27th and 28th, for in your midst will be hundreds of princes of the pencil. It will be the festival, if not the most beautiful, assuredly that ever sat in this city. We invite you to render each and all you are disposed to bestow and shall be glad, during the coming week, to hold open house at our headquarters, room 305 Atlas block. Fraternally and respectfully yours,

L. O. Robson,
President.

A. B. Tuttle,
Cor. Sec. U. P. A.

A TOUGH YOUNGSTER.

"Give Me $10 or I'll Tell Your Wife I Saw You Kiss a Little Colored Girl, See?"

Early this morning Mr. Charles Donelson, who lives at 35 south Fourth East street, had an attempt at blackmail made upon him. He was accosted by a tough looking lad who demanded $10 of him, or, if he refused, the youngster declared he would tell Mrs. Donelson that he had seen her husband kissing a colored girl on the street. Mr. Donelson, however, was not to be "bluffed," and coolly marched the audacious boy to the police station, where he was booked as Frank Smith, aged 15. When asked by the officers why he did this, he said, "Oh, I needed $10 get me a suit of clothes, and I thought that was a good way to get it." He said he didn't think a fellow could be arrested for trying to get $10 in that way. He afterwards said that he had been put up to it by a man named Gilbert. The young rascal's father has been in jail before for stealing, and the police believe he is an old hand at this kind of game.

Board of Public Works.

The board of public works met this morning to consider the question of building the city jail. Chairman Dotson was absent, however, and nothing was done. Another meeting will probably be held tomorrow.

For Looting the Jewish Synagogue

Jerome Woolf, the young man who was arrested on Saturday on a charge of stealing and disposing of most everything of a movable character in the Jewish synagogue, including several hundred books from the church library and organ, is still out on bonds. The robbery was committed in January last, and not until recently were the grounds of suspicion against Woolf considered strong enough to warrant having the young man arrested. The man who is responsible for his apprehension is the second-hand dealer, who claims to have purchased a large number of the stolen books from him.

There will be a thorough investigation of the case. In the meantime Woolf is enjoying his liberty on the strength of a $100 bond.

At Wonderland.

Dan Kelly's Vaudeville company having met with considerable success has concluded to stay here two nights longer, Monday and Tuesday, August 19th and 20th, when they will present an entirely new program. New plays, new songs by old favorites, new acts in Japanese jugglery by the only "Kinsa," new songs and dances by Miss Bessie Gray and Dan Kelly, the comedians.

LITERARY NOTE.

Godey's Magazine for September sets into the spirit of the month and treats us to a fine drawing of Defender under full sail, by Parker Newton, on the cover, and a leading article on "The Pleasures of Yachting," by Jesse Albert Locke. Very timely and able is Rupert Hughes's article on the Cuban Revolution, a subject which has not before been presented to the magazine public in such a readable and popular form. "Official Amateur Photography" and "Women Writers of the Day" offer fine opportunities for illustration and anecdote. A good variety of fiction is given in stories by James Hopper, Bayard Taylor, Lucy Cleveland, Frank Chalfee, and E. J. Carpenter. The Godey Company, 52-54 Lafayette Place, New York.

I Am Glad

To tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I feel the grip and its effects settled all over me. I had cramps in my legs and frequently I had to get up at night and walk to relieve the cramps. I also had stomach troubles. I then took Hood's Sarsaparilla, the bottle moved the cramps, and another has helped my stomach trouble greatly. I have taken 6 bottles and use Hood's Pills which are the best I ever took. — H. A. Merritt, Salem, Oregon.

MUNYON'S

1125 Persons in Salt Lake City do Away With Physicians and Cure Themselves with Munyon's Little Pellets.

"Yes," said Munyon's representative, "the day has gone by when large doses of poisonous and potentous drugs can be forced down people's throats. Here in Salt Lake City 1,125 persons have been cured during the last 180 weeks that disease can be stayed without the use of nauseous medicines. It has been proven to them without a question of doubt, not by newspaper advertising, but by actual experience, that the services of a doctor are not needed in two-thirds of the cases where formerly they ran to one. Hundreds of dollars have been saved in this way by the afflicted; furthermore, it has been discovered that these little pellets have no bad results. ANOTHER RAMBLER DAY.

The Rambler hope made a good showing in the Ogden races. The weather of the day was the best ever had for a wheel. McCormack finished third, taking third prize and third time prize. The same the track race, the back taking second prize and second time, Grant second, and Thatcher third in the sprints, class B, all "Ramblers" on the done. In the half mile class A, Jay took second, Grant third. Half mile, class B, Thatcher second, Foster third. Five mile, class B, Foster second. In the race a mile to a pacer out on the road and back, Grant and Wright being immediately behind him, the result was a split for those parties and the race go to Evans. The five mile, class A, was another Rambler event, Jay taking first, Joe Beck second and McCormack third. Fourteen prizes in one day is glory enough for any one.

People may laugh and people may cry,
But the Rambler will be your friend,
But Rambler's are never whipped that go,
Regardless of how others fare.

Moral—Buy a Rambler! Ride a winner and you'll be a winner.
