MORRIS TAKES A HAND

In the Investigation Which is Being Made by the County Officials

He Plays the Role of Interrogator and Chandlerism Champions Him in Turn.

Before the county court, sitting again as a board of investigation, adjourned yesterday afternoon quite a lively little row took place.

Owing to Morris, Sheriff Rich's deputy, being summoned by the County Commissioners, County Attorney Williams stated that it was considered by them to adjourn at this time, but he thought proper to put the blame upon Morris and some words ensued which soon led to a good hot wrangling.

Attorney Warren Murphy suggested that Mr. Cahoon be given an opportunity of identifying his Mr. Cahoon did not wish to make any statement owing to the hour of day, and the case was then adjourned until 10 a.m. yesterday.

At 10 the witnesses called was J. W. Swendsen, who testified to having paid Morris ten gold coin rock at the jail building, at the rate of nine hours for $2.

George Smith said $2.50 a load in Elbert lots of rock, also wash what he excavated from the county building, commencing on Chandler's lot, a well three or four feet deep in length and eighteen inches broad.

Donald C. Weir also sought work at the jail building at the rate of $2.50 a load. William Duke and Billy Cole testified to his foreman, at Superintendent Willard, at $2.50 a load, and C. W. McCarthy testified to having seen Morris there when getting time. John Smith, who superintends the general work around the building, stated that the stone was dug and delivered at the Sheriff's jail by Brown, Brennan was the contractor.

Councilman Walsh, a member of the committee, testified that E. Chandler, F. Kenyon and Robert Brennan had paid him time for work on the jail and paid $20, of which sum one half was evidently to the county and one half to himself.

Arthur Brennan stated that Chief Rich was not hired over to him a statement showing that $1400 had been received from the sale of stone, and that $1400 had been expended for labor and sundry articles required upon the building.

Salesman Martin Cunningham was next on the stand and it was during the time he was testifying that salesman Morris, who assumed the role of interrogator for the time being, rose to have some fun.

Mr. Cunningham had testified to having paid Superintendent Willard $15 for three loads of rock when Mr. Morris asked—How many loads do you take from the ground at one time altogether?

"Why, I remember, ten or twenty loads maybe."

"Where did you get this rock, from the quarry?"

"No, from the street. It was hauling the street."

"You did not pay for this?"

"Yes."

"How many loads did you haul from this street to the corner?"

"Oh, some of it was from the square. It was distributed look."

"It was part of the rock which was piled up in the corner?"

"Yes, it was."

"Was it sorted up?"

"I don't remember."

"Wasn't it one of the city and county rocks?"

"Yes, I believe it was. That is the impression I thought."

"Did you remember who the teamster was?"

"No, I do not."

"How far is it to your house from the square?"

"About two and one-half miles."

"Now, Mr. Cunningham, is that a fact that you carried away the old stone with Donaldson that you took from your house?"

"No, sir."

"Have you ever had any dealings with Donaldson?"

"Yes, sir, I have."

"Did you pay him for it?"

"No, sir. Yes, I did. And how much did you pay for it?"

"I paid $5."

"Are you sure you did not give him wagon loads of broken rock?"

"Yes. And I haven't said it."

"Oh, you haven't said it. What was you asked to signing?"

"Just to get it out of the way."

"Oh, you paid $5 for three wagon loads of broken rock just to get it out of the way?"

"Now, Mr. Chandlerism," said counsel (interrupting) rising at the witness seriously, "is it a fact that you and one Hodges (or one over Jordan near the brewery) or the man of Eight which was in the jail for at the price of $1 per wagon load of "cut time" which you as a money consideration of the jailing were to give him?"

Witness continued to answer until he could get his papers and have Counsel out.

"Now I will ask you if," (and in the excitement) "since Holden testified officially stating that you never paid, but only to give him credit, but to exchange him as a witness, on these grounds in case you would a other man, that you did not find the money and pay him $15 in exchange for the rock?"

Attorney Williams and Superintendent Willard came to the rescue with heated and objections contending that this kind of evidence was not admissible at this stage of the proceedings, notwithstanding Morris also insisted that it was competent.

"But," said Mr. M. rose, "it is to be with the examination. Here you have an excellent witness I am regarding his as to when he was working on this county. Surely this is material and competent."

"If you will give us the name of this man we will take his testimony," cautiously suggested the county attorney.

"Gentlemen, you are conducting this investigation in your own way. I do not propose to give you his name. He will be produced at the proper time."

"But there can be no excuse why we can examine him. Perhaps the testimony of the stand will be taken with his evidence," said Mr. Williams.

At this juncture the inquiry terminated and adjournment was taken until today.

AN EXPLANATION.

Salesman Chandlerism now explains that he did not promise Holden any "rawdhide" upon this at present's investigation. He says that Holden bought the job and agreed to pay for stone at the rate of $15 per month. He paid one installment only. Then he threatened to sue Chandlerism and he (Holden) went to an official. Chandlerism says that to silence on Joseph Holden and other men have a suit at law he finished the job. The payment of $15 was for Mr. Chandler's attorney fees. Holden, he says, was one of Mr. Morris's friends and that he was given employment several times at Morris's suggestion. Mr. Chandlerism declares that this matter has not been yet done with by him.

FIRE AND POLICE BOARD.

Matters Presented at Last Night's Meeting.

At last night's meeting of the board of fire and police commissioners, Chief Devine called attention to the fact that the pressure of water is not sufficient to enable the fire department to cope with a very great fire. The attention of the City Council will be called to the matter.

Chief Croll of the police department reported having investigated the charges made by C. L. Walmsley against Detective Jeffries, that were declared to be without foundation.

A communication from City Attorney Hoge called attention to a communication received by him from the Municipal Signal company, in which they warn the police and fire departments that any announcements about their service will be made hereafter for a fee. The chiefs of both departments reported that they had been in service at Bittinger's, and the communication was placed on file.

Chief Croll notified the commission that he had appointed D. R. Tedder patrolman at Liberty Park, Policeman Young in the irrigation department and J. C. Davis to the mechanical work. Approved.

It was decided to call on the City Council for a team for the police patrol wagon, the same not exceeding a cost of $150, and the commission adjourned until next week.

Copy of the Opinion.

In the case of the Last Chance Mining company et al., plaintiffs in error, vs. the Tyler Mining company, which has just been confirmed in a well of error in the U. S. supreme court, Attorney Arthur Brown has received a copy of the opinion from the U. S. at the seat of the court in Washington. The decision, in brief, reverses the judgment of the court of appeals and of the circuit court and the case is remanded to the latter court with instructions to grant a new trial.
