

DEATH CAME PEACEFULLY.

General Harrison Passed Away
Without Any Pain.

GENERAL WILL BE SUNDAY.

Body Will Lie in State—President
McKinley and Ex-President Cleveland Were Greatly Moved.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 13.—Gen. Benjamin Harrison died at 4.45 o'clock this afternoon, without regaining consciousness. His death was quiet and painless, there being a general sinking until the end came, which was marked by a single gasp for breath as life departed from the body of the statesman. The relatives with a few exceptions, and several of the former President's old and tried friends, were at the bedside when he passed away.

News of the death spread quickly. Word was flashed to and from bulletin boards of the newspapers and was thus communicated to people on their way home. The funeral will be held at the residence of the late general, which is situated on the corner of the downtown business blocks and is situated at half past one, and other manifestations of mourning were made.

Mr. Gen. Harrison's children were present at his death. Neither Russ nor Harrison nor Mrs. McKee had been in the city, although both were en route to the funeral. Mrs. McKee, who was in the city, was at the bedside of the dying man, and she was the last to see him.

The group at the bedside included Mrs. Harrison, W. H. Miller, Saml. Miller, the Rev. L. M. Haines, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, with Gen. Harrison had attended for so many years; Secretary Tibbets, James and Joseph, Col. Dan. Ransom, a close personal friend of the ex-President; Clifford Arrick, and the two men had been in constant attendance at the bedside.

A PEACEFUL END.

On March 13, two sisters and an aunt were also present. Mrs. Harrison knelt at the right-hand side of the bed, her husband's right hand clasped in hers. Dr. Jameson held the head of the dying man, counting the feeble pulse beats. In a few moments after the friends had been summoned to the room the end came. Dr. Jameson announced the sad fact. The great silence that fell on the sorrowing watchers by the bedside was broken by the voice of Dr. Haines, raised in prayer, supplicating consolation for the loved wife and family, mingled with the sobs of the mourners.

The funeral will take place next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services will be held in the First Presbyterian church, of which Gen. Harrison was a member for nearly thirty years. Rev. M. L. Haines, pastor of the church, will have charge of the services.

This afternoon it was decided at a meeting of Gov. Durbin and a number of other state officers that the body of Gen. Harrison should lie in state in the rotunda of the capitol all day next Saturday.

As they could be reached by telegram the members of Gen. Harrison's cabinet, of which he was the chief, were promptly notified of the expiration of the term of his office and most of them will attend the funeral. With the exception of ex-Secretary of State John W. Foster, who is traveling in Mexico, and Secretary of the Interior, who is in the city, the following received the notice forwarded: Secretary of the Treasury, Charles W. Foster; Secretary of the Navy, Benjamin Tracy; Secretary of the Interior, John W. Noble; and Postmaster-General, John W. Wamamaker, Philadelphia.

FROM MEXICAN AMBASSADOR.

The following telegram was received at the Harrison home last night from Senor Apizaco, the Mexican ambassador: "Mr. Harrison—Please accept condolences from myself and Mrs. Apizaco for your grief."

A telegram of condolence was also received from Justice McKenna of the United States Supreme Court. Another was received from Mr. Wamamaker, who was postmaster-general during the Harrison administration, stating that he will attend the funeral.

CLEVELAND'S MESSAGE.

The following telegram from ex-President Cleveland was received to-night by Mrs. Harrison: "Accept my heartfelt sympathy in an affliction which may millions share with you. The faller of the United States Supreme Court and ex-Secretary of State."

TELEGRAM FROM AN EX-PRESIDENT.

President K. J. March 13.—When informed tonight by the Associated Press correspondent, ex-President Cleveland made the following statement on the death of former President Harrison: "I am profoundly moved by the sad intelligence of Mr. Harrison's death, and regret that I cannot be present to share with his family and friends. I hope that the countrymen should for a moment realize the services which he has rendered in their behalf by his devotedness to duty, and in high public esteem, and in the sacrifice of his personal popularity, and in private life, his influence and example were of the highest. Such a career and the way in which it should leave a permanent and useful impression upon every generation of our national life."

PRESIDENT AT FUNERAL.

Washington, March 13.—President McKinley will attend the funeral of Gen. Harrison. He will leave here about 10 o'clock tonight, although the exact time of departure has not been definitely determined. It is expected that the President will be accompanied by Mrs. McKinley and Secretary Cortis. The party will stop at Canton for a few days while the President and Mrs. McKinley are in the city. It is not expected that any member of the cabinet will go.

Jennie Blow as ladies of grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, and Mr. J. J. Van Alen as an honorary knight of grace, in connection, respectively, with their work in fitting out the American hospital ship Maine and a field hospital for South Africa.

Mrs. George Cornwallis West is better known as Lady Randolph Churchill, her name before her recent marriage to Lieut. Geo. Cornwallis West. Mrs. Jennie Blow is an American lady, who took a prominent part in the work of the committee in charge of the American hospital ship Maine. J. J. Van Alen, of New York, fitted out a field hospital section in January, 1900, and offered it to the British war office for use in South Africa. It was accepted by the war office and called the American section of the hospital to which it was attached.

Minister Loomis and Venezuela.

Washington, March 13.—Regarding the reports from Venezuela to the effect that United States Minister Loomis is being persecuted with a deliberate purpose to find a basis for giving him his passport, it is said here in official circles that it will not be possible for any such scheme to succeed, conceding that such a purpose is entertained. It is further stated that Mr. Loomis has at every point of the asphalt controversy and of the rebellion movement in Venezuela acted according to precise instructions from the state department. Therefore, it is not conceivable to the officials that Venezuela is ready to take any such action as to lead to the greatest complications, for there is no doubt that the state department will stand squarely behind its minister in this matter.

RUSSO-BRITISH RELATIONS.

Friction at Tien Tsin May Result in Unpleasant Complications.

London, March 13.—The afternoon papers express some alarm over the friction which has arisen at Tien Tsin between the British and the Russians over a piece of land which has belonged to the railroad company for some years, which they consider may possibly lead to unpleasant complications. While approving the action of Gen. Barror, the British chief of staff in Peking, in ordering work on the siding in the disputed ground to be continued, they think the incident proves that the harmony of the nations is liable at any moment to be disturbed.

WANTS CROWE FOR A WITNESS.

Kidnaper Callahan Desires Him Produced at His Trial.

Omaha, Neb., March 13.—In support of a motion for a continuance, James Callahan, charged with being one of the kidnapers of Edward A. Cudahy, Jr., filed an affidavit asking that Crowe be brought into court to testify for the defense when the case is called. He swears that he can prove by Crowe that he was not implicated in the kidnapping on December 18th, as alleged, was not with Crowe at the prison-house where young Cudahy was held for ransom, and that he has not been in the city since December 18th of last year. The case against Callahan is set for trial next Friday. In the affidavit it is alleged that Callahan has been incarcerated in the city and county jails for several weeks, and that he has been prevented from consulting with friends and attorneys, that having been so confined he has been unable to secure witnesses who will swear to his whereabouts on December 18th to 20th. If Crowe is called as a witness for the defense, Callahan says that he (Crowe) knows he (Callahan) knows nothing of the kidnapping. Callahan says he can prove by Crowe that he and Callahan were together in the city on December 1st of last year, but not since.

AN IMPRESSIVE FUNCTION.

Departure of Duke of Cornwall for Australia to Be Made One.

New York, March 14.—The departure of the Duke of Cornwall for Australia on Saturday will be converted into an impressive imperial function, says a London dispatch to the Tribune. The king and queen will drive in a victoria in semi-state and the royal yacht will accompany the Ophir part of the way down the Solent. No other important function is planned until spring summer. The reception of delegates will continue and there will be one or two levees for diplomats and officials. The king will not open the Glasgow exhibition in May.

A SENSIBLE SUMMER.

A Way to Obtain the Greatest Benefit for the Least Money.

A little woman went to a certain Chautauqua resort last summer, and experienced a most economical and cheerful way of living. She was at that time in a debilitated condition with poor digestion, which made it imperative that she have the right kind of food and yet such that was nourishing and strengthening. "So I took an equipment of fresh, crisp Grape-Nuts. During that summer I lived on Grape-Nuts with a little cream or milk, and some ripe fruit such as I could procure. Many meals were made of delicious Grape-Nuts alone. I experienced a peculiar clearness of intellect, and a bodily endurance never known before on the old time diet of meat, biscuits, butter, etc."

It was a continual delight, the healthy way of living combined with simplicity, economy and the highest utility, incurring no restaurant or board bill, and returning, at the end of the summer, with money in my pocket, realizing that I had lived sanely every day, for I had lived on the most perfect food known, and was renewed in health, strength and mental power, and had acquired a complexion so clear and fresh tinted, that I was termed a picture of health, and felt myself to be a happy woman."

CARNEGIE'S GIFT TO HIS EMPLOYEES

Donates Five Million Dollars for Endowment Fund.

FOR SUPERANNUATED MEN.

To Provide for Those Injured in Service and for Those Dependent Upon Those Killed.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 13.—Two communications from Andrew Carnegie, which are officially made public tonight, tell of the steel king's retirement from active business life and of his donation of $5,000,000 for the endowment of a fund for superannuated and disabled employees of the Carnegie company. This benefaction is by far the largest of the many created by Mr. Carnegie, and is probably without a counterpart anywhere in the world. This fund will in no wise interfere with the continuation of the savings fund established by the company fifteen years ago for the benefit of its employees. In this latter fund nearly $2,000,000 of the employees' savings are on deposit, upon which the company, by contract, pays 6 per cent, and loans money to the workers to build their own homes. The letters follow:

CARNEGIE'S LETTERS.

New York, March 13.—To the Good People of Pittsburg:—An opportunity to retire from business came to me unsought, which I considered it my duty to accept. My resolve was made in youth to retire before old age. From that time I have been around me, I cannot doubt the wisdom of this course, although the change is great, even serious, and seldom brings the happiness expected. But this is because so many, having abundance to retire upon, have so little to do in the world. I should have time before the end of my career for the "making of his soul." I have always felt that old age should be spent not as the Scotch say in "making the mair," but in making a good use of what has been acquired, and I hope my friends of Pittsburg will approve of my action in retiring while still in full health and vigor, and can reasonably expect many years for usefulness which have other than personal aims.

The pain of change and separation from business associations and employees is indeed keen; associates who are once the best of partners and the best of friends, employees who are not only the best of workmen, but also the most self-respecting body of men which the world has to show. Of this I am well assured and very proud. But the pain is even from a business point of view is not abating, since my capital remains in Pittsburg as before, and indeed, I am now interested in more mills there than ever and depend upon Pittsburg as hitherto for my revenue. I shall, more time now to devote to the institute and to the technical school, which are in the higher domain of Pittsburg's life, and these I have long seen to be my chief work, the field in which I can do the greatest, because the highest, good for Pittsburg. The share which I have had in the material development of our city may be considered only the foundation upon which the things of the spirit are built and taking the proceeds of the material to develop the things of the spiritual world. I feel that I am pursuing the ideal path of life and duty.

For all these reasons, and for another more potent than all, viz., that Pittsburg entered the core of my heart when I was a boy and to serve Pittsburg I can never be one half's turned out, loyal to her, or less anxious to help her in any way than I have been since I could help anything. My treasure is still with you, my heart is still with you, and how happy to be in Pittsburg is the question which recurs to me almost every day of my life.

ANDREW CARNEGIE.

New York, March 13.—To the President and Managers, the Carnegie Company:—Mr. Franks, my cashier, will hand over to you, upon your acceptance of the trust, $5,000,000 of Carnegie company bonds, in trust for the following purposes:

The income of $1,000,000 to be spent in maintaining the libraries built by me in Braddock, Homestead and Duquesne. I have been giving the interest of $250,000 to each of these libraries hitherto, and this will give a revenue of $50,000 in each of the three.

The income of the other $4,000,000 is to be applied:

First—To provide for employees of the Carnegie company in all its works, mines, railways, shops, etc., injured in its service and for those dependent upon such employees who are killed.

Second—To provide small pensions or aids to such employees as, after long and creditable service through exceptional circumstances need such help in their old age, and who make a good use of it. Should these need not require all of the revenue and a surplus of $300,000 be left after ten years' operation, then for all over this workmen in mills other than the Carnegie company in Allegheny county shall become eligible for participation in the fund, the mills nearest the works of the Carnegie Steel company being first embraced.

This fund is not intended to be used as a substitute for what the company has been in the habit of doing in such cases, but to be added to it. It is intended to go to the families of the injured or to their families or to employees who are needy in old age through no fault of their own, some provision against want as long as needed, or until young children can become self-supporting. My president and myself have been conferring for some time past as to the possibility of introducing a pension and beneficial system to which employees contribute, resembling that so admirably established by the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio roads. We find it a difficult problem to adjust to a manufacturing concern, but should it be solved hereafter the trustees have authority to make this fund the foundation of such a system.

Each superintendent will report to the president such cases in his department as he thinks worthy of aid from the fund, and the president will in turn report to the directors with his recommendation for action. A report to be made at the end of each year, giving an account of the fund and of its distribution, shall be published in two papers in Pittsburg and copies posted freely at the several works, that every employee may know what is being done. Publicity in this manner will, I am sure, have a beneficial effect.

I make this first use of surplus wealth upon retiring from business as an acknowledgment of the deep debt which I owe to the workers who have contributed so greatly to my success. I hope the cordial relations which exist between employers and employed throughout all the Carnegie company works may never be disturbed; both employers and employed remembering what I said in my last speech to the men at Homestead:

"Labor, capital and business ability

I know that I have done my duty in retiring from business when opportunity presented itself, and yet as I write my heart is full. I have enjoyed so much my connection with workmen, foremen, clerks, superintendents, partners and all other classes, that it is a great wrench indeed to say farewell. Happily, there is no real farewell in one sense, because, although no longer an employer, I am still and always must be a friend, deeply interested in the happiness of all whom it has been my good fortune to know and work in sympathy with for so many happy years. Always truly yours,

ANDREW CARNEGIE.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH BOTHA.

Long Delay Caused by Friction Between Kitchener and Home Office.

New York, March 14.—It is stated, says a Tribune dispatch from London, that the delay in concluding the negotiation with Botha has been caused by some friction between Lord Kitchener, Sir Alfred Milner and the home government. It is now reported that as the basis of the settlement of the South African question the Rand mines shall ultimately bear the cost of the rebuilding of the Boer farm houses and the re-stocking of the farms and the feeling is growing that if Lord Kitchener had been left to settle the terms himself matters would have been arranged several days ago. The British commander has throughout been anxious to grant the Boers more liberal terms than the Imperial authorities at home cared to sanction.

Protest Against Bridewell Bricks.

Chicago, March 14.—Organized labor is up in arms at the proposition to give the brick yard at the bridewell a capacity of 5,000,000 a year, enough to supply half the demands of the city government.

Members of the Brickmakers' alliance propose that a committee wait on Mayor Harrison to protest against the plan.

Brigands Arrested in Asiatic Turkey.

New York, March 14.—The Turkish minister at Washington is credited in a Washington special to the World as saying that a number of brigands have been arrested in Asiatic Turkey. Many Mauser rifles of the smaller caliber were seized. The Turkish minister thinks that this shows that the agencies which have heretofore fomented troubles in Asia Minor are still operating. Laws against the importation of arms into Turkey have been strictly enforced, and the principal magazines of arms and ammunition discovered and destroyed.

CUBA AND UNITED STATES.

If Platt Amendment Not Accepted, Things Will Remain in Status Quo.

New York, March 14.—A dispatch to the Herald from Havana, says:

Local papers publish interviews with working members of the United States House of Representatives who state that if the Cuban constitutional convention declines to accept the Platt amendment relative to the relations between the United States and Cuba, the United States will remain as at present until December, when the President will again submit the matter to Congress for further consideration.

This is construed as meaning that the Platt amendment does not have a binding and obligatory character of a law.

Cubans greatly regret the continuance of the present military government, but find much encouragement in these utterances because they confirm similar statements, made by Gov. Wood.

The publication of Gen. Gomez' letter opposing the Platt amendment and encouraging the convention is exciting interest.

Gen. Wood's letter to the convention stating that that body is authorized to take binding action on the senate resolution is regarded as only an expression of his opinion. Circumstances connected with the orders giving authority for the preceding steps are regarded as not supporting this opinion.

FOR OLD AGE

To the old, as to babies, the even balance of health is more important than anything else in the world. The possible health, in age, is not high and strong, it is only even.

There is no end, but death, to the trouble that comes of its loss. It ought to be watched like a baby's.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil for very old and very young—in different ways—is the food to secure this even health.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

NO MORE GRAY HAIRS

Is a Thing in Reality if You Use "De Lacy's French Hair Tonic," so says Mr. C. E. Fessenden, of 921 N. 6th St., a Well-Known St. Louis Business Man. Here's His Letter, Word for Word:

De Lacy Chemical Co., St. Louis, Mo. St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 12, 1901. Gentlemen—About a year ago I began using De Lacy's Hair Tonic for dandruff and gray hair. My head was perfectly bald on top, as smooth and free from hair as the palm of your hand; so I had no hopes of doing anything for the baldness. But the hair on the sides and back was nearly entirely gray, and dandruff so bad I pulled it off in large scales. After using 2 bottles there was not a Gray Hair Left, and to my great surprise and pleasant disappointment, I could see hair coming in nicely on the top of my head. I continued using the tonic each night until I had used 9 bottles, and today I can show as fine a head of dark brown hair as any man in St. Louis, clean and perfectly free from dandruff, and not a Gray Hair on My Head. I am 47 years of age, live in St. Louis as foreman of Clapp's Big Livery Stable at 921 North 6th street for the past 8 years, and can be easily found, and it will be a pleasure for me to answer any questions and allow any interested party to carefully examine my head at any place of business, for I am certainly a De Lacy Hair Tonic enthusiast, for it has performed Wonders for me, and I can find words that would speak strongly enough of its Wonderful and True merits, for it is all I claim and ten times more.

Yours very truly, C. E. FESSENDEN, 921 N. Sixth St., St. Louis.
