President make their appearance chronically on the eve of an election. Some of them are completely honest, but even their honesty is often used as a weapon and the action they take is not the action that President Grant to take will be as is calculated to promote individual objects and for the benefit of the institution. The President's notice by disinterested men, and it is to be hoped that this kind may receive attention by the Senate. There are a few who are disinterested in the Southern States, some of them from the unfortunate selection of public officers made by the President. This is not the case in Tennessee. This is the case in Tennessee. It is probable that all such cases of

From the New York Herald:

BIRMINGHAM, Sep. 2.—The Post-Office General, on the first day of official labor in the new building, has issued a circular by which the circulation of the Postal cards is suspended for three years, since the Beachers scandal. The mails have been ordered to be free of cards to circulate on this public topic. To-day morning's edition was stamped with a postmark that the mails, rather than the cards, were burdened with this scandal. "An honest point of view," it was pointed out, "has been freely circulated through the mails containing the most ob-
