DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Monday, July 29, 1895.

THE COUNTY'S POOR.

A Few Jobs and About the Home of Those Last Days of Earthly Life—A Well Kept Institution.

Yesterday afternoon a News reporter took a trip out to the County infirmary, the home of those, who, not being blessed with the things that are necessary to variable life, have had to unto themselves over to the charity of the county in which they reside. It was a typical, the usual religious exercises were being held, conducted by Elder Wilford Dow. Singing was furnished by the Fifth ward choir under the leadership of Israel Smith. After singing and prayer Elder Dow addressed the assembly in an interesting, instructive and consoling manner.

There are at present in the infirmary forty-two men and seventeen women, making a total of fifty-nine. There has been eleven admitted this month and seven discharged. The sleeping apartments for women are situated on the second floor. Each room has three beds at present although more could be put in if necessary. The men's sleeping apartments are in the annex, where there is accommodations for sixty men. All the bed-rooms are well ventilated and cleanliness is greatly manifested. The mattresses are well laid, getting three meals a day which consists of meat, potatoes, bread butter, tea, coffee, and vegetables that are raised on the "poor farm."

Those who are able-bodied are required to work in the lot which is right behind the infirmary. There are eight cases of sickness, four men and four women and they are attended to by the county physician Dr. Wright. The oldest person there is a woman, who is ninety-six years of age; there is also a person who is insane and who is being kept there until the probate judge commits him to the asylum. In the center of the annex is a spacious sitting room for men; here they enjoy themselves reading the newspapers, playing checkers and indulging in pleasant conversation. Great attention is given the aged people by their superintendent, Rowland Cannon, and his efforts in that direction seem to be highly appreciated. The steward, Mr. H. G. Peal, is a genial, accommodating fellow, and seems to be the right man in the right place. Altogether the institution is in a good condition and reflects great credit on those who have it in charge.

Barn and Horses Burned.

Fire broke out in a barn belonging to Fred J. May on D street between First and Second, this morning. The neighbors attempted to extinguish the flames before sending in an alarm, and consequently, when the department arrived, the barn was totally destroyed and two horses were burned to death. The horses were the property of the Union West company. The loss aggregates $300.

UTAH FREIGHT RATES.

Southern Pacific Involved in a Squabble With Local and Eastern Roads.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—The Southern Pacific company has become involved in an interesting squabble with the eastern roads doing business to Utah Territory. A few weeks ago the eastern lines reduced their freight rates on a long list of commodities from eastern points to Ogden. To protect its own interests and incidentally the interests of local producers and manufacturers who have to compete with the eastern shippers in the Utah Territory, the Southern Pacific put in a reduced tariff on such commodities as are manufactured or produced in California and find a market in that Territory. This latter tariff went into effect on June 27. The lines in Utah, viz., the Rio Grande Western, Union Pacific and Utah Central railway, protested to the Southern Pacific company's rates and notified General Freight Agent C. F. Stuart that they would not join in them. This left the Southern Pacific without a line east of Ogden which was willing to join in the reduced tariff, and left Stuart no other alternative but to withdraw the objectionable tariff.

An order has accordingly been issued cancelling the objectionable tariff, and accompanying it is a new tariff in line the lines of the case committee. It had reduced rates on all commodities for which the present contest was started, but the rates only apply to Ogden, the end of the company's line in Utah. Beyond that point the old tariff of August 15, 1894 and the succeeding rates adjustable up to rates which has been entered increased, will apply.

Thus, the reduced tariff will take effect August 1, and the cancellation of the objectionable tariff issued last month takes effect at the close of business on July 31. The reductions in the new tariff are calculated to meet the rates issued by the eastern lines into Ogden. As yet the freight department officials in charge of the general office of the Southern Pacific, they do not propose to allow the eastern lines to monopolize the big business afforded by supplying the Utah market with the commodities above named.

UTAH PAID PROMPTLY.

Utah Raised $10,000, For the Hospital in Union, to be Used in Advancing Silver's Interests.

Hon. Thomas G. Merrill, "father of the Salt Lake silver conference" which resulted in the formation of the National Timbelin Union here some months ago, has made the following official report to Mayor Thompson of Butte:

TOWN SITE—It is pretty generally conceded at the present time by the leading businessmen of the country, that the only hope for the resuscitation of silver to its place as primary money, is in the extension of the venue east of the Rocky mountains, paying especial attention to the states of the Mississippi valley, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and the Dakotas. The agricultural interest has suffered more than any other interest, and there is more hope and probability of carrying the agricultural states for bimetallism than any other further east. The South will unquestionably vote in favor of bimetallism, also the Northern and Pacific states, without the expenditure of any considerable amount of money in the education of those states, and if we carry those states which I have stated, it will enable us to elect on a platform of immediate bimetallism by legislation, a man whose past record is such as to be a guaranty that he will carry out such a pledge in good faith. How shall this work be accomplished? is now the vital question. A national organization was perfected at Salt Lake City on May 16th, solely for the education of the voters of the eastern and central states upon the question of bimetallism by the distribution of appropriate literature, the publication of a Free-to-School, that are easily understood, comprehensive and unanswerable, showing plainly to the farmers and business men, mechanics and laborers, that their interest lies in the full restoration of silver, the people's money, to the place that it occupied prior to 1873. This organization has already received from twenty-two states east of Colorado, applications to join in this work, and is soon to commence carrying it forward to success.

At a meeting of the executive committee held in Salt Lake on the 6th and 7th of the present month, it was decided to raise at once to start this work a fund of $10,000, this sum to be raised by the mining and business men interested in this subject. It was apportioned as follows: Ten thousand dollars to Utah, $2,000 to Colorado, $1,000 to Montana and the balance to the other mining states. Utah as once raised her proportion. Colorado, at a meeting held in Denver on the 16th, presided over by Senator Teller, and at which I was present, raised her $2,000, and all are enthusiastic over this educational campaign, and we must at once take steps to have Montana raise her share, she cannot afford to be behind in this effort now being made in behalf of her leading industry, which, if it can be certainly secured, will double the business and the value of most of the property of this State.

Do you not think the best plan to secure Montana's proportion of this $1,000 fund is to call a meeting soon in Butte, of the leading business and mining men, discuss and take action in this matter? It will probably be best to call this meeting by telegraphing a person or by letter, such men as you thought best to invite to such a conference. Please let me hear from you at once. Yours truly,

THOMAS G. MERRILL.

In response to the letter, Mayor Thompson declares that he will consult with and call a meeting of the business men of his region to assemble plans for raising Montana's share of the money.
