OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, FEB. 28, 1895.

Junction City Items.

The beautiful warm sunshine is fast drying up the mud, and our citizens are out in goodly numbers upon the streets, apparently enjoying the lovely spring weather.

The city council in its economical work proposes to reduce the street electric lights, but it appears that a contract was made by a former council which will not expire until November, 1895, by which the city will have to pay $15 per month for each light; the number which is reduced being seventy-five.

Word came to Ogden that Alex. Wilkerchow, wanted on the charge of bulldozing shifting, has not gone to Alaska as reported, but took steamer for Valparaiso.

Yesterday the articles of incorporation of the People's Coal company were filed with the county clerk. The capital stock is fixed at $10,000, divided into 1,000 shares.

LOGAN.

LOGAN, UTAH, FEB. 28, 1895.

The Logan Chamber.

At the meeting of the Logan chamber of commerce this evening, Prof. J. E. Talmage, of the Agricultural College of Utah, will deliver a lecture on horticulture, and Prof. D. M. Todd, of the B. Y. College, will speak of "the benefits of social intercourse." The series of lectures being given under the auspices of the chamber are proving an attraction, and are the means of diffusing much social knowledge.

The stock growers' association of Rich county has written the Logan member of commerce asking for co-operation in the creation of a similar association in Cache valley, the principal objects being the acquirement of knowledge of best methods of breeding, feeding and shipping, and mutual protection against theft.

The Schools Going.

The public schools, which were to have closed on account of lack of funds, are open, the trustees having, on a low rate of tuition, $1.50 for a term of ten weeks. The board of education furnishes the necessary buildings, fitting and janitors' services free. More than half the usual number of children are attending, and others are coming in.

Notes.

Mr. James Hutchens, of the 7th ward, tipped over into Logan river while hauling a load of wood down the canyon on Saturday, and had one rib broken.

The Bevens Mining Co. held a meeting on Monday for the purpose of arranging its business affairs for the coming summer. Prospects for an early resumption of work are good, but no definite arrangement was made.

The wind conferences now being held throughout Cache Stake are well attended.

The Germans of Logan had a very entertaining concert and theatrical entertainment last evening. The mother tongue was used exclusively.

Sounds of revelry and mirth issued from the Third ward hall last night, as an old time party was in progress.

It is rumored that our daily freight train is to be restored next week.

Prof. James A. Langton of Salt Lake will lecture on "The Religious Training of Children," in the B. Y. College building on Saturday evening, under the auspices of the Brother School Teachers' association. The public are invited.

COST OF POTASH FOR CORN.

The Most Profitable Form in Which to Apply This Essential Fertilizer.

The commercial value of any fertilizer ingredient is not always the true standard of its value on any particular crop. It is well known that the corn stalk needs liberal supplies of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, the stalk cannot grow without the whole, but season, when nitrification is most active in the soil, particularly when, as should always be the case, a soil is tested for the corn, the artificial application of nitrogen is seldom profitable in the crop of the commercial substance, while potash in some form is always profitable, particularly on sandy soils near the sea shore, either north or south.

It is interesting then to examine what is the most profitable form in which to apply this essential fertilizer to the corn crop. The period of using potash on corn has been well shown at various agricultural experiment stations. In New Jersey an application of potash gave an increase of 20 bushels per acre, or, taking the corn, having an especially favorable effect, on, upon the increase of Potato product, such corn, in fact, this agent for potash. The Massachusetts station found that potash fertilizer gave an increase of 11.2 bushels of corn and 1,000 pounds of fodder. The Kentucky station found that potash not only gave a profitable increase in five such years, but benefited the crops in four succeeding years, the application in the year.

The West Virginia station made an interesting series of experiments to show the value of the different forms of potash, as corn, with the following results: They found that the averaged increased yield produced by a pound of potash in the form of kainit was 7.4 pounds of corn, in the form of sulphate of potash 7.78 pounds and in the form of muriate of potash 10.81 pounds. The average cost of kainit to produce a bushel of corn was 8.02 cents, of sulphate of potash 10.19 cents and of muriate of potash 10.35 cents.

The results are good enough to satisfy us that we should use potash in corn culture, but it will not do to assume that the same results will be obtained with other crops, explains W. F. Massey in a letter to Country Gentleman. Potatoes, we do, for instance, require large quantities of potash, and it pays to apply it in the form of kainit, then would be danger of getting too much chlorine of soda. With the crop the contrary has always given the largest yield, and the sulphate usually the best quality.

The heavier salts as a rule contain more potash than the lighter ones, and it is a general way to be able to estimate that potash to be needed on each soil as long as they produce fair crops.

OBITUARY NOTES.

MARY MORRIS ROBSON.

Mary Morris Robson was the wife of D. A. Robson and daughter of Isaac C. Morris and Elizabeth Williams Morris. She was born October 15, 1855, in Salt Lake City, Utah, died February 18, 1895, in Morgan City, Utah. She leaves a family of eight children, including twins, to the care, tender and kind, of relatives and friends to mourn her sudden departure. She died in the faith of a good Latter-day Saint.—[DESERET NEWS.

WILLIAM C. MURPHY.

Brother William Columbus Murphy, of Salem, Utah county, Utah, departed this life on the morning of the 19th day of February, 1895, from the effects of bone struggles, from which he suffered for several days. Brother Murphy was a son of the late Lambert M. Murphy, of Mill Creek, Salt Lake county, and Nancy Jane Murphy, now living, aged. He was born in Salem county, Illinois, on April 1, 1845, was baptized and confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in his mother, of May, 1855, by Elder Jesse Smith; was ordained an Elder in the fall of 1861, and became a member of the Twenty-third quorum of Seventies May 10, 1862, being ordained to that office by Joseph Young (afterwards a Patriarch) and Brigham Young, the president of the quorum.

He was called to perform a mission to Alabama in January, 1886, and left home on that work on the 10th day of February following, in accordance to the call, from which mission he was honorably released the following year, 1887, on account of failing health. He then moved with his family to Cedarvale, Provo valley, where he remained nearly four years, officiating as ward Teacher most of the time while there.

In the year 1891 he moved to Salem, Summerville, where he lived, carrying on his business, which he was called to do, in the spring of 1892, which position he faithfully filled until the resignation of Bishop Jesse Smith in the fall of 1893. Two years of the time he was among Bishop Young the counselor of Bishop Jensen. He died on the 19th inst., a faithful Latter-day Saint, in the full hope of a glorious resurrection. Brother Murphy leaves a wife, nine children, five grandchildren and a host of friends to mourn his loss.—[DESERET NEWS.
