Have You a Home?

If not it will pay you to investigate the advantages of Forest Dale before buying elsewhere. We have our own water system; water piped in most durable cast iron pipes, and the ownership of the water, including the extension of the pipes past your door costs purchasers in Forest Dale little if any more than laying the mains in most cities. The advantage this affords will be readily seen, for the water belongs to the residents (each purchaser of a lot being allowed his proportion of the capital stock of the Forest Dale Water Company) and it rests with them to fix the water rates charged. The expense of running the system is very small, and after the first expense of laying the mains is paid the rates need not be more than one-tenth those charged by Salt Lake City.

Have You Saved Anything?

Some people have been waiting for years for land to reach bottom prices. In the meantime they have paid rent, and if they have made any improvements or done any work on their residences, the improvements have been made, or the work done, for their landlord. Many other people have built homes, and while those first mentioned have been "waiting for something to turn up," have paid for their property and now own the home that shelters them.

Don't Get in Debt

unless you feel assured you can get out again. But if you have money saved, buy a home. If you have an income, buy a home. It pays to have an object in view, and there is no more worthy object than procuring a home for those dependent upon you.

My clerks, at room 332 Constitution Building, will give you prices and show you the property.

AN OPINION GIVEN.

Recently Mr. J. D. Thomas, of North Dakota, visited the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, and after carefully examining the country located in Winchester, he writes to Mr. V. Richards, Land and Immigration Agent, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Baltimore, Maryland, as follows: "I have been in nearly every state and territory of the United States, and am back in my opinion that this valley surpasses all other sections in the Union. The lands are low in price, and produce profitable crops. I thank you for directing me here, and solicit those seeking pleasant and profitable homes to locate in this country."

SCHOOL BOARD MATTERS.

Business Transacted and Annual Reports Submitted Last Night.

Comparative Figures, State of the Board's Finances, Buildings Erected—Miscellaneous.

The school board met last night with all the members present except Pendleton and Aiff.

THE PROCEEDINGS.

Applications to teach were made by H. G. Bradford, Miriam A. Perry, L. A. Owens, Olga Odholm and Emma Page. Committee on teachers and school work.

William Lister sent in a bill for $19, alleged to be due the Western Heating & Ventilating company. Committee on sites and buildings.

Charles E. Erickson sent in an application for the janitorship of the Poplar Grove school. Committee on furniture and supplies.

Otto Eickein and P. H. Lancaster made similar applications. Same committee.

An order was entered with a view to having an extension of water mains to the Annex school.

The insurance on the Eighth ward school building was ordered renewed for one year with Whittemore & Cook as agents, and the committee on sites and buildings were authorized to procure lithograph plates showing the elevation of the Wasatch, Oquirrh and Grant school buildings.

The purchase of the Folsom site for the North Salt Lake school was ratified, and a contract entered into with Ochoppe & Co. for a furnace to heat the new building.

Claims were allowed aggregating $25,523.96, and on motion of Westerfield, the building to be erected in Poplar Grove was named the Uintah school.

Annual Reports.

The annual reports of the president, clerk, superintendent and various committees were then presented. The president, in a lengthy and interesting review of the last year's work, said in part:

We have had another year of astonishing development of the public school system of this city. The occupancy of the Sumner, Jackson and Washington schools at the opening of the year in September last, and the Wasatch school in January, added much to the attendance, giving room to take in all the pupils in the localities where those schools are situated. Before that time hundreds of children were deprived of school training in those localities, for the simple reason that there was no possibility of taking care of them in the schools. The history of our school building has shown that what was true in respect to these buildings named has been the fact whenever a new building was brought into use.

The policy of furnishing free text books and supplies has continued to vindicate itself in the high percentage of enrollment and attendance as compared with the total school enumeration. The percentage of enrollment reached for the year just closed the remarkable figure of 80, of average attendance, 72.5. The following table shows the enrollment and attendance in the various grades:

Grade.	Total Enroll-ment.	Average Attend-ance.
Beginners	[illegible]	[illegible]
First	[illegible]	[illegible]
Second	[illegible]	[illegible]
Third	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fourth	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fifth	[illegible]	[illegible]
Sixth	[illegible]	[illegible]
Seventh	[illegible]	[illegible]
Eighth	[illegible]	[illegible]
Supplementary*	[illegible]	[illegible]
High school	[illegible]	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]	[illegible]

*Additional to original entries in eighth grade.

This compares with total enrollment and average attendance in the several years since the consolidation of the schools under a central management, as follows:

	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Enrollment	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Attendance	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

In the year 1890, the last year the schools were under the old small district management, the total enrollment for the city was 4,[illegible]; the average attendance, 2,[illegible].

The total enumeration of school population for the past years taken into account as above was as follows:

[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]

The school census for 1894 is to be taken this month, and will doubtless show some increase over last year.

It will be noticed that the growth in enrollment and in daily attendance has far outstripped the growth in school population.

The expenditure for school purposes in 1891 for the average pupil in attendance was $45.[illegible], in 1893 it was $30.[illegible]. For the four years of the consolidation the student current school expense per pupil in average attendance has been as follows:

	Total cost.	Cost per pupil.
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

The per capita cost in [illegible] is apparently [illegible]

The cost of pupils per capita on the total enrollment has been as follows for the years stated:

	Total en-rollment.	Cost per pupil.
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

The taxation for school purposes is proved to be a burden to give the worst possible results for this city. In the year [illegible] closed the people of this district paid school taxes as follows: Territorial school tax, 3 mills; county tax, [illegible] mills; district school tax, [illegible] mills. The latter item yielded $[illegible], but the full amount called for on the $[illegible] of assessed valuation was $[illegible]. From the money received [illegible] the city's school receipts were [illegible]. Of the territorial tax of 3 mills the city schools received but $[illegible]. The loss to the city schools in [illegible] district levy [illegible] no doubt, the tax [illegible] for the law should [illegible] good [illegible] the county [illegible] the benefit arising from the [illegible].

The losses to the city schools from the taxation and distribution system in vogue were for the past year as follows:

	City Paid.	City Schools Received.
Territorial tax	[illegible]	[illegible]
County tax	[illegible]	[illegible]
Totals	[illegible]	[illegible]

Continuing the president says: If the schools of this city could receive the money actually paid by the property in this district, the levy could be very much reduced; but with a lump sum of $100,000 paid by the people of this city annually taken away from it absolutely, it is not difficult to see the school taxation can seem to be high and yet the needs be great.

The experiment of using free text books is pronounced an unqualified success and a great saving to the people, and the use of a series of new books based on local circumstances is urged.

There has been paid out on school buildings and heating account, the past year, the following sums:

Maintenance and repairs	$ [illegible]
Hamilton school	[illegible]
Sumner school	[illegible]
Lincoln school	[illegible]
Eighth school	[illegible]
Bryant school	[illegible]
Franklin school	[illegible]
Jackson school	[illegible]
Washington school	[illegible]
Lowell school	[illegible]
Wasatch school	[illegible]
Grant school	[illegible]
High school changes	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

Two large buildings are in process of construction, the Oquirrh, a fifteen-room building, on Fourth East street, between Third and Fourth South, on which there is yet to pay (including heating contract and architect), $[illegible] and the Grant school, a seventeen-room building on First West street, between Sixth and Seventh South, on which there is yet to pay (including heating contract and architect), $[illegible]. These figures are all as of June 30th.

Contracts have also been let for four-room buildings in the Annex and in Poplar Grove, at a cost of $[illegible] each, and a two-room building in North Salt Lake for $2,[illegible].

The total number of male teachers employed during the year was [illegible], of whom 11 were principals in charge of more than two rooms; of female teachers, [illegible], of whom 7 were principals in charge of more than two rooms. Total number of teachers, [illegible].

The teachers are doing excellent service; they are zealous, faithful and work hard. This applies to all the force.

It has given me much pleasure to note during the year the great progress made by the pupils. The schools have now reached the point when we are beginning to see the good results of regular, systematic training in the lower grades. This is shown in a firmer grasp of the course of study by the pupils as they proceed to the higher grades. In two years more we shall see pupils of our own training in the seventh and eighth grades, and after that, the bulk of the pupils in those grades will have come right up from the beginners' classes. The result will be besides a more even achievement, a greater number remaining in those grades. It will be noticed in the table above given of enrollment and attendance, that of the whole number of [illegible] enrolled, 7,[illegible] were from the fourth grade down, leaving but 2,[illegible] for the four upper grades, the supplementary grade and the High school. I feel sure that with the more thorough training the pupils are now receiving there will in the future be much less of falling off in the higher grades as our regular promotions reach them. In fact an increased tendency to remain through the whole grade course is already noticeable.

Returned Home.

Elders J. H. Holmes of Montpelier and Jesse M. Harper of Albion, Idaho, returned home from their labors as missionaries in Indian Territory on the 14th and 15th inst. respectively, being accompanied by a family of Saints. The Elders commenced their labors in the mission field in 1892, leaving Salt Lake on October 11th of that year. Elder Holmes's labors were confined to the civilized tribes, he having presided over the Chickasaw conference during the latter part of his mission. He was troubled some with chills and fever, but not sufficiently to hinder his progress materially in performing a good mission. Elder Harper also devoted the greater part of his mission among the Indians of the five civilized tribes, and subsequently operated in Oklahoma as the presiding Elder of the mission. Elder Harper returned in good health.

STAKE CONFERENCE.

Members of the Council of the Apostles are expected to be in attendance at the next ensuing Stake Quarterly Conference, as follows:
