SIGNAL FROM MARS.

Opinions Expressed by the Weather Prophet Ezekiel Wiggins.

HAS CAME FROM THAT PLANET

And the Martians, He Says, Are Now Searching for Their Lost Brethren.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 4.—Prof. Ezekiel Wiggins, weather prophet, concurs in the opinion expressed in some quarters that the bright projection on Mars seen by M. Javelle at the Nice observatory on July 28 is a signal from the Martians to the people of the earth. He said: "There is the best scientific evidence to prove that man is a native of Mars and lived there millions of years before he was transplanted to the earth, leaving the greater part of the human family behind. The Martians regard us as their lost brethren and have been searching for us for thousands of years. They have been carefully hopeful that they saw the electric lights in our cities. We will be able to converse with them by signals before another twenty years.

"It is much easier for the Martians to see our signals than it is for us to see theirs, for the earth appears to them to wax and wane like the moon, so that they can easily see lights on our dark hemisphere, while their planet always has its light side toward us."

THE CAMORIAN CHIEF.

A Thrilling Story of Hunger and Misery—The Ship Safe.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—The British ship Camorian, Capt. Thomas, has been lost off the Pacific coast. Her owners in Liverpool, on which 85 per cent was paid several weeks ago for re-insurance, is reported safe in the harbor of Talcahuano. A letter from Captain Thomas was received here today.

Several weeks ago the British ship Don, from San Francisco, arrived at Valparaiso, having on board the wife and child of Captain Thomas and several of the crew of the Camorian Chief. They reported the Camorian lost in probably fall. During a terrific gale the vessel had been dismasted. Just at nightfall the Don signaled the Camorian Chief in distress and succeeded in getting a line to her. Ten men had reached Mrs. Thomas, her children and several of the Camorian's crew. A second load from the Don was sent back for Captain Thomas and the others of his crew. The gale increased and in the darkness the Don lost all trace of her own rescuing crew or the Camorian Chief.

When day broke nothing of them was to be seen.

The second chapter of this thrilling tale of the sea now comes from Captain Thomas. The gallant recovery from the Don reached his vessel in safety. When power came the Don was nowhere in sight. The pumps were sounded and it was found that the vessel was making very little water. Jury masts were rigged and at last the Camorian Chief got under way.

During the ship's slow progress toward the South American coast nearly all her provisions had been consumed and it became necessary to put the crew on short allowance, and later on very short allowance. When the Camorian Chief reached Talcahuano the sailors had not strength enough to shorten sail and drop anchor. They then sank down on the decks exhausted and waited for the shore boats to come.

Much of the vessel's cargo of general merchandise was jettisoned during the storm that dismasted her.

A Crop Report.

OMAHA, Aug. 4.—The Burlington hay press will be regarded as an accurate estimate of the crop situation in Nebraska, South Dakota and northern Kansas, through General Passenger Agent Francis. He predicts a good railroad tonnage this fall, and while he does not look for any phenomenal boom, he expects a good one more than was warranted a few days ago, when the calamity howl was at its height.

WHOSE WIFE?

Two Richmond Claim the Remains of a Dead Woman.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Two husbands claiming the body of a dead wife, one identifying the remains by a photograph and the other seeking to identify his relative by her clothing, article found in her baggage, is the dilemma which now confronts Coroner McHale, of this city.

April 11th, a woman who arrived in Chicago on the Santa Fe railroad, went direct to a cheap hotel. Five minutes after reaching the hotel she lost dead. In her possession was found a letter signed Mrs. Lenz, from San Francisco to Philadelphia. On her trunk was found the name, "B. Sampson."

Coroner McHale endeavored to find the woman's relatives in Philadelphia, but failing, caused the body to be buried in Waldheim cemetery.

Soon after the burial, John Long of 1008 Aspen street, Philadelphia, came to Chicago and declared he thought the woman was his wife, who had left his home in California for Chicago, Mrs. Lenz, Mr. Long had a picture of his wife, which a Jury recognized the woman. Mr. Long, to which it seems to the witnesses, bore a single letter to the coroner's possession, and that "Sheet, and being sealed, declined to surrender the baggage.

Recently B. Sampson of Tucson, Ariz., a well-known and wealthy resident of the territory, wrote McHale that he had lost his wife, and that they had been married ten years. He says she had stated from San Francisco to April 10 in the East, and was to leave San Francisco for Chicago. He has written him not an April 11th, saying she had been lady on the cars, and they were to travel together to the Midland. When he did not hear again, Mr. Sampson grew worried and began an investigation. He learned of the death of the woman in Chicago, and identified that she had been his wife. He prepared to recover his wife's property. Coroner McHale was relieved when the Westerner identified the trunk and its contents, even to a bottle of tooth powder. To clinch his claim he sent a photograph of Mrs. Sampson and notified the coroner to send the remains to Tucson. The picture had no resemblance to the dead woman. No one could consider them for an instant as likenesses of the same individual.

The coroner was in a quandary. If the deceased was Mrs. Lenz, how came she with the property of Mrs. Sampson. If she was Mrs. Sampson, why did she not resemble her own photograph?

Railway Notes.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—The plan which was evolved from the strike to organize all the Western roads in one association was given an impetus today by a proposition from the Southern Pacific to receive the old transcontinental passenger association.

The Union Pacific, which three months ago was accused of deserting the Pacific coast passenger lines, is again charged with the same thing. Rates from San Francisco, San Diego and Los Angeles to Chicago and New York are being nearly cut, and no information received here has shown that any of the other lines have made any concessions.

The competitors of the Union Pacific have taken no steps to meet the reductions it has put in, which are about $15.50 to New York and $8.50 to Chicago, but will probably do so in a very short time.

The gross earnings of the Rock Island for July are $1,198,425, a decrease compared with the net and earnings of July, 1893, of $321,626.

Western Bound Food.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 4.—General Jeffries's commonwealers, numbering about two hundred, arrived here this evening, and at once entered freight trains for a westbound ride. When the Baltimore & Ohio freight from No. 16 pulled out for the east, about 9 p.m., the whole crowd made a rush to capture the locomotive. A few succeeded in getting aboard, but when about a mile out of the yard the train was stopped and the crew of boarders driven off. They got together on the ground, and with a rush swept down the opposition and crowded into box cars. Then the Malamute, commanded by general, made a continued charge and a regular battle ensued.

Yardmaster George Workman and Caboose Thomas were badly injured, while many of the commonwealers went down under the blows from the railroaders. Some of the army escaped, but about 100 were hauled back to town and the prisoners jailed.

Arizona and New Mexico.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 4.—The New Mexico and Arizona admission bills were reported to the Senate today. In the case of New Mexico a constitutional convention is provided for, the delegates to which are to be chosen at an election to be held on the second Tuesday in June, 1895, and the convention is to meet on the second Tuesday in the following July. In case they adopt a constitution, it is to be submitted to the people for ratification at an election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1895.

The time of residence necessary to become a voter is fixed at six months, instead of sixty days, as in the House bill.

Arizona has already adopted a constitution, and the bill in her case provides for admission on the first of August, 1895, and the election of a delegate to the Fifty-fourth Congress.

ON LYNCHING.

A Resolution Introduced in the House by Mr. Stair.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—A resolution on the subject of lynching was offered in the House today by Blair of New Hampshire, as follows:

"Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives, in Congress assembled, That the commissioner of labor be instructed to report the number, date, location and attendant facts and circumstances so alleged assault by mobs or females throughout the country during the two years last preceding the passage of this joint resolution, for or on account of whatever organized has unlawful violence has been inflicted or attempted to be inflicted.

"And to ascertain and report all acts of organized but unlawful violence to the person, with the attendant facts and circumstances, which have been inflicted upon accused persons alleged to have been guilty of either felonious or other offenses against the laws of the United States, which have taken place in any part of the country within the ten years last preceding the passage of this resolution. Such investigation shall be made by the same methods and agencies of the department of labor, and the report made to Congress as soon as the work can be satisfactorily done, and the sum of $10,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated to pay the expenses of said inquiry to be paid out of the money not otherwise appropriated."

Lieutenant Nansen's Case.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Secretary Lamont today finally disposed of the case of First Lieutenant James Maxey, who was tried by court martial as the result of losing Captain Hemborg at Fort Sheridan. The lieutenant had been previously tried and acquitted by a court martial on a charge of murder. The trustee proved before the court martial was convened undertaking an officer in assaulting the superior officer.

Of the charge of murder he was guilty and sentenced to be publicly reprimanded.

Secretary Lamont today endorsed upon the record of the court "disapproved by the department." This finally ends the case, and Lieutenant Maxey will not be dismissed, and will be again to duty.

Proceedings Impending Lewis.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Judge Cox and Campbell, of Utah, for the Washington, having arrived yesterday in pursuance of a telegram from General Schofield, in command in Utah, to the Secretary of War, the Utah Commission goes now across the United States ship Bennington, to leave for San Francisco.

It is expected counsel will be engaged at San Francisco to use a writ of habeas corpus as a test of the legality of the proceedings against Lewis, who is now in the Utah jail, on the charge of Mr. Vilas, Lewis's counsel, and has secured a writ of habeas corpus to be served upon the Utah officials.

TARSNEY'S NARROW ESCAPE

An Attempt to Assassinate Him at Kansas City.

The Incident Growing Out of the Colorado Strike and the Arrest of J. S. Wilson.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 3.—Adjutant General Tarsney, of Colorado, who has been here for some days waiting to accompany the arrest of one of the gang who turned out freebooters, came near being the victim of an assassin's bullet at the union depot in this city tonight.

Several days ago General Tarsney located Wilson near Neosho, Mo., and by a neat bit of strategy, and with the assistance of Detective Paterson, of Colorado, succeeded in getting him to Kansas City. Wilson was positively identified by Tarsney as being the ringleader of the mob that burned and fractured him. After some trouble, Tarsney secured the proper requisition papers, and the start for Colorado was arranged for this evening in the depot. C. C. Collins, an ex-deputy under Wilson in Colorado during the strike troubles, and who is believed to be the man who carried the bullets on the eventful night, came to town yesterday, and, as he afterwards told a reporter, was lost upon liberating Wilson.

Shortly before the departure of the evening Union Pacific train tonight, Tarsney, Wilson and Paterson were driven from the jail to the depot in a closed carriage. Arriving at the depot this evening, Collins quickly stepped toward them. With a salutation to Wilson, and at the same time placing his hand on his hip pocket, Collins made an effort to draw Wilson to one side. Paterson in an instant had pushed the intruder aside, feeling for his weapon.

With a curse, Collins drew away, then, turning towards Tarsney, made as if to strike him. The general reached for his hip pocket, but before either man could hit a hand Paterson had stepped them and was carrying the trio to local quarters.

In the meantime quite a crowd had collected, and great excitement prevailed. Hurrying on to their cars, Wilson was quickly slapped in a seat, while Tarsney nervously took a seat near by and looked anxiously for the signal to start. It soon came, and the party in time resumed their natural state.

Chinese on the Chesterfield.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—Local officials in the United States government are wrestling with the case of eight Chinese employes as servants on the United States steamship Charleston, who ask to be reported under the recent Chinese exclusion act.

During the time the Chinese were being fumigated the Charleston's engine room servants ran the vessel in Brazilian waters. Revenue Collector Wellman now refuses to accept their application.

United States District Judge Morrow has the case under consideration. When the Mongolians sail for China on the Charleston they want to claim American involvement.

ANXIOUS FOR WELLMAN.

Baron Nordenskjold Suggests to Send a Relief Expedition.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The Times says: The Royal Geographical society has received the following cable from Baron Nordenskjold: "The steamer Ragnvald Jarl, which conveyed the Wellman expedition to the Polar regions, has been reached in the sea near Walden island. Six men who were with the party have returned to Norway. The other members of the party continued Northward on ice, but it is evidently impossible for them to penetrate far, and the expedition is likely to return to the Swedish houses at Mossel bay.

"In August and September there will probably be no ice between Enzi and Redfiots, and Mossel bay will then be accessible. I think a relief expedition is desirable."

The Times, commenting on the foregoing, says Baron Nordenskjold's opinion deserves the most serious attention. It is too late, it remains, to express an opinion upon the feasibility of the expedition. Mossel bay may be heard by ice early in the season, and it is to be hoped the party will get safely out of their rash adventure. Doubtless Mr. Wellman's countrymen will not delay taking steps to prevent the possibility of a [illegible]

Right Arm Paralyzed!

Saved from St. Vitus Dance.

"Our daughter, Blanche, now 17 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. We tried St. Vitus's Dance, and Vitalized, and the best physicians with no success. She was thoroughly discouraged. We tried Dr. Miles' Nervine and its effect was marvelous. THE LIVER.

This organ plays a very minor role in the drama of Digestion, making the performance either comedy or tragedy, according to whether it is sluggish or bright and active, or sluggish or torpid. The liver's duty is to secrete bile, but prepare the food for assimilation, and to purify the blood. If it fails to properly perform its duties, the organs become enlarged and swollen, and digestion disorganized, and the blood impure, symptoms of dyspepsia, Pain in the head, coated tongue, bitter taste in the mouth, coated tongue, sick stomach, pain under the right shoulder blade, irregular or constipated bowels, dizziness, black specs before the eyes and shooting pains in the back. These are symptoms of a torpid liver, and the advice and treatment of some eminent specialist, and scientific specialists, Drs. Shores & Shores are the best and most skillful in Salt Lake, and their many cures of cases similar to the above, is proof that you need not suffer, but go to them and be restored to health.

Note the Difference.

Between the testimonials published by the Drs. Shores and those of numerous new specialists, all the old reputable, business and professional men over the public press endorse the treatment of these eminent specialists.

A MOTHER'S STORY.

Little Isabella Edgar is Cured of Catarrh of the Nose and Throat.

I wish to say that after one month's treatment with Drs. Shores & Shores, my little daughter is well, says Mrs. Edgar, in speaking of her little sufferer's case.

She was a great sufferer from Catarrh, it having affected her entire system, but now is healthy, happy, and as active as she ought to be. I feel that I owe the Drs. Shores & Shores my little girl's life, and I cannot express my gratitude to them for the great good they have done her. I think a relief expedition is desirable."

LITTLE ISABELLA EDGAR.

Some rat, headache, no appetite and she couldn't sleep at night.

Hearing of the wonderful cures effected by Drs. Shores & Shores, I decided to take my little girl to them, and I am glad I did, for I can now do their say the she is well again. I cannot say too much in praise of Drs. Shores & Shores, and would advise all mothers to take their children to them as their treatment is mild, pleasant and sure, says Mrs. Edgar.

Mrs. Edgar resides at No. 41 Sixteenth avenue, between Seventh and Eighth West streets, Salt Lake City, where she can be seen, and will readily verify her statement.
