THE BRIBERY CASE.

Senator Kyle Gives His Version of the Story.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND FOR A VOTE.

He Thinks the Ex-Senators Was in Earnest and Represented a Powerful Syndicate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 21.—Senator Kyle has arrived from South Dakota. He talked freely about the bribery case in which Mr. Senator Hoskins and Major Butts are the principals. Senator Kyle believes the man was in earnest; that he meant to buy votes and fortune; that he was only the agent of a New York lawyer who is in Washington by some powerful syndicate.

"Bills idea," said Mr. Kyle, "was that I should cause my price, and he would go to his principal and arrange to take it paid out. The figure he gave me was $15,000 for my vote. I was to get $10,000 and he $5,000 for conducting the business. After each interview he wrote up to his principal and when I saw him again he would tell me what the New York lawyer said. After the first interview with Butts, I went to Senator Voorhees and told him that certain offers of money were being made. After this man had gone to see me several times I was to the point of having me fix a day when I would agree to give in my case against the bill. I saw that Senator Voorhees was in earnest, and I referred him to my secretary, Mr. McFarlane. I told him that Mac and I always worked together and that he could use Mac instead of me.

"After each interview I made full and accurate record of what was said by both of me and McFarlane till the end. Senator Gorman told me about it, and he also knew his experience. I do not know that Major Butts has denied in his story. That forms us, of course, to tell what we know and we have my memorandum and Mr. McFarlane has one, we shall have no trouble in making a straight case."

A TOWN FOR SALE.

A Mortgage Long Forgotten, Found and Foreclosed.

MANCHESTER, N. J., May 21.—An event almost without precedent will take place here Wednesday when Sheriff Chambers will sell to the highest bidder the whole town of Manchester, railroad stops, churches, schools, stores, residences—all but the wickedness. This is the result of the action of the Mutual Life Insurance company of Newark, in foreclosing the mortgage held on the entire town. The mortgage was given by John Torrey, now deceased, in January, 1871. Mr. Torrey, who was a New York financier, practically founded Manchester, buying up many thousands of acres of land and laying out the town. For more than twenty years the mortgage seems to have been allowed away somewhere; people forgot all about it and property was bought and sold freely. Many of the householders are employed in the shops of the Central Railroad company and the foreclosure will prove an especially hard blow to them.

CHINESE READY TO CRIME.

A Cowardly Assassination and a Bloodish Plot.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 20.—The striking miners of the Pratt mines are held responsible for the cowardly assassination which occurred at that place this morning. A band of masked men went to the house of Walter Glover, a miner who had refused to be robbed out, telling him they were officers and wanted to see him. Glover opened his door, when a volley was fired. Glover's body was riddled with bullets and he died instantly.

The mob fled, closely pursued by Deputy Marshals Hitchcock and Maxey, who were armed with rifles. A running fight followed for half a mile. Three the marshals fell wounded, but the robbers filled him up and the entire party escaped to the woods.

A FIENDISH PLOT.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 19.—A plot which for fiendishness has never been equaled in the annals of crime in the section of the country, was uncovered in this city today through the confession of one of the Keystone colliery rioters. He said the strikers had secured three bags of giant powder, almost enough to destroy half the city, and secreted them near the house of Foreman Roberts. This evening, had it not been for the arrest of the ringleaders of yesterday's riot, it is the intention of the strikers to put the powder under the houses of all the bosses of the mines and set it off. The result would have been something terrible. The nine bags of powder were secured by the officers.

MINES ON FIRE.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., May 19.—Numbers 1, 2 and 4 of the Spring Valley Coal company's mines in this city were set fire to the bottom and the miners by this morning urged the strikers to allow the men to go to work extinguishing the flames. A meeting was held and by a close vote it was decided not to allow the men to go down. The English-speaking miners are all in favor of putting out the fire, but they are in the minority.

An Anarchist Put on Trash.

PARIS, May 21.—Emile Henri, the author of the explosion in the Hotel Terminus, was guillotined at 4:19 this morning. Just as my was breaking Henri was led out from the prison he is suspected to be the instrument of death. As he passed between the guards from the prison, he made the same air of bravado that marked his conduct during the trial, and as he stepped on which the gate he cried, "Vive l'anarchie!"

Beach Sellers.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 20.—General Philip Cook, secretary of state, died at 1 o'clock this morning. He was 71 years old.

LONDON, May 20.—Edmund Hodgson Yates, editor and proprietor of the World, died today. Mr. Yates was the son of a well-known actor, and was for some years chief of the missing-letter department in the postoffice. He was a theatrical critic on the Daily News for six years and was himself author of several dramas. In May, 1872, Mr. Yates retired from the postoffice in order to devote his time exclusively to literature. In the course of that year he went on a lecturing tour in the United States, and in May, 1873, he was appointed London representative of the New York Herald, which post he resigned in April, 1874, when he established the World.

SNOW IN KENTUCKY.

SOMERSET, Ky., May 20.—Snow six inches deep was found covering everything this morning. A May snow was never known before here. This season is south to Chattanooga.

CINCINNATI, O., May 20.—Special to the Enquirer from eastern and southeastern Kentucky report snow all over the mountain part of the state. At Mount Vernon it eight inches, at Nicholasville eight inches, at Catlettsburg four inches, temperature about 35. Snow about Cincinnati has merely melted at 37 tonight, with a drizzling rain.

THE HUNT FOR MURDERERS.

LEXINGTON, Mo., May 20.—The latest news received here connected with the hunt for the Taylor assassins, the murderers of the Meeks family, is to the effect that they are entrenched in the woods south of Sedalia, in Johnson county. Sheriff Burton, of Lincoln county, is still in the hunt, and no arrests have been received from him today, it is thought that he has struck a good trail, which his party is following.

INDICTMENTS SQUASHED.

A Story of Bribery to Defeat the Ends of Justice.

NEW YORK, May 20.—The story of the turning of indictments, with the evidence on which they were obtained, has been narrated to a World reporter by Assistant District Attorney Fellows, of the district attorney's office. It occurred fifteen years ago, but until now the story never got out. It was in the heyday of the lottery slip, Kyle Hinman's reign. There was again the lottery men were rolled, and numbers of indictments found, but strangely enough, few ever came to trial. The explanation is according to Fardy, that Moses Clark, the district attorney's chief clerk, was receiving $500 a week for taking care of the indictments against lottery men and additional sums for similar services in behalf of other offenders.

THE COUNTRY FLOODED.

Reports of Destruction by Overflowing Rivers.

Narrow Escapes from Death—Persons Cut Up by the Raging Torrents—Large Overboard.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., May 20.—With the horrors of the disastrous flood of 1889, which spread death and destruction throughout this valley, brought back to the memory by threatened danger of a sweep of water that promises to be as great as that of five years ago, the people of this city and all through the West Branch valley are in a state of panic, that has turned the usually quiet Sunday into one of remarkable excitement.

Since Friday night a steady and almost continuous down pour of rain has been swelling all the streams, and late last night numerous elsewhere along Pine creek and other tributaries of the West branch of the Susquehanna have rose to impossible to confine the waters within the banks of the streams.

Throughout the day the rain had fallen here and continues to fall tonight. A drive from all points up the river say the same conditions exist. A telegraphist at Keating, twenty miles above, Reports early this morning caused the river there twenty feet and the river at Renovo is reported higher than in the flood of 1889, when half the town was under water. Above there was extending to the road waters at Clearfield, every town and hamlet has been reduced by water to the conditions that prevailed in 1889.

Along the Philadelphia & Erie railroad between this point and Emporium the traffic has been practically suspended since Friday night. The trains are running between Williamsport and Lockhaven, but above the latter point landslides and track washouts have practically swept the tracks away.

FAMILIES RESCUED IN BOATS.

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 20.—A special to the Express from Bradford, Pa., says: The worst flood in Bradford's history is rushing through Tuna valley today. Twenty stores contiguous to the creek are inundated and hundreds of families are in the swim.

In the Sixth ward twenty families were taken out of their homes in boats during the night and on Cameron, River and Hilton streets a rescue corps of skiffs rescued many more.

GIRDS WASHED OUT.

JOHNSONS, Pa., May 20.—The tainbarum since the big flood of 1889 caused this morning and early high water spread Second streets and all the alleys and cellars full of water. The merchants here warned all night getting their goods out of the cellars.

Reports from Kittanning to Pittsburgh tonight say the heaviest rain since 1889 is falling there and the streets are flooded with water. Bridges across small streams are swept away. The report says farm crops are washed out.

RAIN FOLLOWS THUNDER.

BRADFORD, N. Y., May 20.—The heavy thunder storms of Thursday and Friday were followed on Saturday and Sunday by almost continuous rain and today the Genesee valley again is the scene of a flood fully equal to the floods of June, 1889, and the loss to the farmers cannot be estimated. Acres of crops are washed out completely, miles of fencing have gone down with the rushing waters and farmers are cut up by the raging waters.

Several families between Canada and Genesee were surrounded by the water before they could get out. At Houghton the creek overflowed and made a river of the main street, flooding cellars and carrying off all loose property.

At Fillmore and Olile creek the floods took away the highway bridge about noon, and families were taken from their homes in wagons in the lower part of the town.

HOUSES SCRAMBLED BY WATER.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., May 20.—Within the past twenty-four hours the Juniata river and the Raystown branch have rise twenty-two feet, flooding the low lands and imperiling entire families in their homes, who cannot be reached.

A landslide near Ry is stalled on the Pennsylvania railroad, covered the south tracks for three-quarters of a mile and the trains below this city are washed out.

At Bryan-town, Bedford county, Mr. Jacob Miller, while trying to save her personal belongings was drowned. While farms on the Raystown branch have been practically ruined, building and fences washed away and crops destroyed.

Decker on Trial.

VENTA, Cal., May 19.—The dead which has hung over George Decker, the Yreka murderer, for two weeks, was cleared up today by the arrival of his wife and daughter, whom he was accused of murdering years ago. Decker was discharged from custody. Both he and his wife had married again and raised families, and tonight a family reunion was held, at which Decker's escape from danger was celebrated.

Armor Plate Pierce to Fragments.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—With a roar and a shock that made the earth tremble, "The Navy Yard," the 12-inch rifle, hurled its 850 pounds projectile against an 18-inch steel-faced Harveyized plate, the most powerful ever used, at the proving ground today. And more than 21 tons of steel into great fragments. The result was a complete surprise for all of the experts, and a sad blow to the Bethlehem Steel company, for upon they can so latest with the next plate they will emphatically represent by the group of armor plate, of which the sample tried today was the last plate.

SIXTY-THREE LIVES LOST.

Mr. John S. Bowdidge Relates an Interesting Experience of Life on the Sea.

From 1862 until 1873 Mr. John Bowdidge was captain of the merchant vessel Scud. His life on the sea has had many hairbreath escapes. In relating his experience he says:

"I remember once when I was sailing for the Jersey Colonial Islands, belonging to England, we encountered a terrible storm. There were sixty-three passengers on board. The wave was such that we knew it would be the possible for us to live through it. The masts were all broken and the lashing of the wave for hours, but at last, somehow, we succeeded in making the port safely. In a very few minutes the ship began to sink and the minutes were fast disappearing under the mighty waves to a watery grave. I saw I would not stand out grave I lashed myself to a mast and for hours floated, until rescued by a passing steamer. I was the only one left to tell the story. To day I wear the mark of the rope that was tied around my waist.

This is the only one of the many interesting stories told by Mr. Bowdidge. He was the youngest captain at sea during this time, being only fourteen years old when entering the service.

In closing his wife's case, Mr. Bowdidge says:

A SWORN STATEMENT.

You cannot imagine my wife's condition when she came to Drs. Shores & Shores. Other doctors in Salt Lake could do her no good, they always made her worse, and it was not a result hopeless for those to experiment with her.

The last time she was a weak, suffering woman, she could do no housework, she had terrible headaches, a nervous, tired feeling, was nervous and hopeless, she could do no housework, she had terrible headaches, a nervous, tired feeling, was nervous and hopeless, she was taking, had taken in the month, seven months, always for two weeks, in fact, it was perfect misery for her to move around. She had no appetite and lost flesh rapidly. This was her condition when beginning treatment with Drs. Shores & Shores and I can say by such that in one month she has been made a new woman.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowdidge resided at No. 34 North Second West street, where they can be interrogated.

Mr. Bowdidge intends Saturday for the country where he has large stock interests, but Mr. Bowdidge will be home to greet all inquiring friends. Kindly call and see a woman who has been given up by the best physicians and cured by Drs. Shores & Shores' new system of treatment.
