DAIRY AND CREAMERY.

KNOWING HOW TO FEED A COW FOR A BUTTER MAKING TEST.

"An Intelligent, Otherwise Stupid, Who Could Not Read or Write," but Who Loved Animals and Studied Their Ways, the Best Stock Feeder—Better Than Books.

Just as horsemen have learned how to get the best speed possible out of a horse, so have men skilled in feeding discovered how to develop a cow to her greatest capacity. The two great phenomenal records in the Jersey breed of 32 pounds 12 ounces and 46 pounds 12½ ounces of butter in a week were largely the result of skillful feeding; yet these cows were necessarily great butter animals or they could not possibly have accomplished such feats. Their performances showed the wonderful constitution of the diminutive little Jersey" in being able to survive the excessive feeding they endured and in being able to digest and assimilate large quantities of food and convert it into butter. These were strictly "records," since they were conducted by disinterested committees and not by the owners, and as reliable as though they had been under the supervision of a state experiment station.

There are very few farmers, whether of an ordinary farm or a public experiment station, capable of making a cow show her best. The late John Johnston, of Geneva, N. Y., the most distinguished farmer of his day, was in the habit of fattening 1,000 sheep each winter in order to make manure with which to grow large crops of wheat, as well, of course, as to make a profit in feeding. He did, he never had but one man who could feed sheep to advantage, and he was a thief. With excellent farm managers I have been obliged to superintend the feeding closely in my tests of cattle for butter. I do not recall in my long experience with Jerseys but one man in my employ really competent to take proper care of stock. He was an Irishman, otherwise stupid, who could neither read nor write, but he loved the cattle, and watched them and studied their condition, ways and habits as closely as a mother would a child.

I favor a competition of the dairy breeds at the World's fair, so that there would be opportunity for the refutation of corruption that might degrade the breed in their proper form and color, and the unprejudiced mind might still retain some faith in the results of the tests at the fair as in the official tests of Jerseys. The reputation of the Jersey breed does not depend wholly on the men made by breeders. He has had the "world's best jerseys" by disinterested judges in thirty-eight records, and these judges were men of unquestioned reputation for integrity. It may be well to remind farmers how these official tests were conducted. In each case a committee was appointed by the American Jersey Cattle club without the owner of the cow knowing who he was to be. The owner had charge of feeding and handling the cow, but the cow was milked in the presence of the committee, and the milk weighed and butter was under the absolute control of the committee until the butter was weighed ready for the market.

In the case of two very large official tests, one of which is among the very largest, the committeeman was in one case a great dominer and in the other—the larger record—the committee was supposed to be personally unfriendly with the owner of the cow, but they could not resist the weight of the facts and had to certify what the cows did. Now with these thirty-eight official tests is it not fair to assume that the great majority of private tests made by Jersey breeders are reliable? Is it possible to get such a better evidence of the capacity of the Jersey for butter?—Cor. Breeder's Gazette.

Fibrin in Milk.

Dr. Babcock, of the Wisconsin station, has announced the discovery of fibrin in milk analogous to the fibrin of blood. Fibrin is formed in large quantities in blood after it is drawn from the veins and makes the clot. This consists of a dense network of minute threads of fibrin in which the blood corpuscles are entangled. A similar clot occurs in milk. Enough is for smaller quantities. It may be that its formation is due to a ferment, like the fibrin of blood. The fibrin begins to form in the milk as soon as it is drawn from the cow, and the network of fibrin entangles the fat globules and hinders their rising to the surface. Fibrin is therefore an important thing in the dairy, since it tends to hinder the separation of the cream. The creaming of milk is helped by anything which retards or prevents the formation of fibrin, and churning is aided by whatever breaks it up. Investigations indicate that in milk, as ordinarily kept, the coagulation of fibrin begins at the surface and in contact with the sides of the vessel.

Churning.

When you are ready to start the churn the cream should be of a temperature of 62 to 64 deg., depends on the season of the year, and the churn should run about fifty revolutions per minute, and thirty to fifty minutes is plenty of time to do the churning. Now comes the question of when to stop. Too much is as bad as not enough. Stop when the butter is in small particles and the buttermilk will leave it freely. A little cold water poured in is a great help sometimes. Draw off the buttermilk as long as it will run; then fill the churn say about half full of water about 50 deg. cold and churn right or ten revolutions. Draw off the water, fill up as before and repeat this two or three times until the water is perfectly clear and free from buttermilk.—Exchange.

A New Kind of a Card.

"Here is a card that typifies my line of business," said an energetic tradesman to a friend, handing out a business card so light and thin that but for its elasticity and crackle a blind man would have sold that it was gold leaf. It was thinner than ordinary writing paper, and yet it had the elastic qualities of the brass board. "That card is made of aluminum," said the tradesman, "and it is a novelty. It is the finest card made, and as I sell the finest goods made it typifies my business. It is more durable than anything that I ever saw. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at A. C. Rattlesnake Milk.

In Florida rattlesnake hawk all sources for their nest. One day Dr. White, the black patrol, found a nest on August, week over to the island after eggs and came back with a rattlesnake. With pleasure petals he flagged his rugger to the old setting, so and of testing and suspicious frame one measured the ugly beast. From the tip of its tail to the bottom of its mouth tail there was an interval of 6 ft. 9½ in. As a black there were fifteen rattles and a button.

After questions, everybody declared, but Dr. White was doubtful.

"I wonder how long she did so stickin'" he early declared. "All right extra, you now see do it. I bet you can't get eight minutes of milk out of 1 quart. Just wait. Why I had do skin some days. Don't fret was to do more. I can go quite handy same do instead when I fetch my stock, too. I gwine give bunny on dat so stickin'."

"I'll give you fifty cents for the rattles," said a neighbor. "Then will help out."

"Also it was every delicate, sah. Dem rattles was well as even delicate."

"Dey White, dem ye' do it! Dem ye' out off dem rattles!"

The present came from a white world and urges on the outer edge of the little record.

"Wuhdy! wouldn't I cut off dem rattles, if I kin get an even delicate for sale?" Dr. White demanded.

"Sham! cut off dem rattles. I tole ye! Dem ye' do it, but for ten even delicate I'se a-fetchin' ye ye'. Now ye' dunno!"

"Wuhdy!"

"Dis yer wuhdy. Ye ain' off dem rattles 'bel ye' go kinah Reverend Gollah gwine pay ye' for dem?"

Dr. White did not believe this, and said so.

"It can be true!" asserted the stranger. "Dr. Gollah fum a dark snake's rattles gwine pay ye' fifty cents a piece. Ye' cut off dem rattles, tell de Gollah. Ef he ain' pay ye' go kinah. Sheah! Ye dontah kin help ye'. Dem do it! Dem do it, Bree White!"

Bree White paused a moment. Then, with a cheerful chuckle, he announced his decision:

"I'd say gwi'lemen gib me an even dollah for dem rattles he kin have and I gwine cut me off 'nd ye kinah! I'se even enough, sah boss!"—Youths' Companion.

D., editor of the Texas Methodist, says editorially: "We have tested the merits of Ely's Cream Balm, and believe that, by a thorough course of treatment, it will cure almost every case of catarrh. Ministers, as a class, are afflicted with throat and throat troubles, and catarrh seems more prevalent than ever. We cannot recommend Ely's Cream Balm too highly."

I used Ely's Cream Balm for dry catarrh. It proved a cure.—B. F. M. Weeks, Denver.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption, and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle, and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use, and after taking ten bottles found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at A. C. WHY THE DESERET NEWS SHOULD BE SUBSCRIBED FOR IN PREFERENCE TO ANY OTHER PAPER.

1. It is the Organ of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and the authorized medium through which the views, wishes and instructions of the Church Authorities are expressed, and given to the Saints.

2. It may always be relied upon as advocating or defending the right side of every question proper for public journals to treat upon.

3. It is devoted to the interests of the Latter-day Saints and has, from its inception, valiantly defended their rights and advocated the principles in which they believed, and every Latter-day Saint should therefore feel under obligations to do his part in helping to sustain it.

4. It is not published for speculation, and never has been, but for the good which it is capable of accomplishing; the profits, if any there be derived from it, being devoted to extending its sphere of usefulness, and benefiting the community.

5. It is doing its utmost to establish home industries, among which are paper making and type-founding, stereotyping and electrotyping—branches necessary to the development and independence of the community, but which, during their infancy, which in this Territory they have not yet passed, can only be carried on at a pecuniary loss.

6. There is no danger of any subscriber to the News failing to get what he subscribes for through failure of the business and a suspension of the publication—a result in the case of hundreds of newspapers weekly or every year.

7. It is now printed throughout in new and readable type, so that even the aged can peruse it without difficulty or danger to their eye-sight.

8. It is free from objectionable advertisements, so that no parent need fear that his children will have their minds corrupted from having access to it; in fact, it refuses thousands of dollars worth of the best paying advertisements annually, because it is devoted to the moral and spiritual interests of its readers instead of to getting gain at their expense.

9. Its tone is not regulated by public opinion nor the hope of gaining subscribers or advertisements. It advocates that which is right and condemns that which is wrong, regardless of results, financial or otherwise.

10. It never announces its readers by painting off columns of self-praise for news items.

11. The News practices no deception and resorts to no subterfuges to induce people to subscribe; but on the contrary, prefers to stand on its own merits, as the people's newspaper, with a promise only to do its utmost to give to its patrons the full value of their money—a promise which it has endeavored to faithfully keep in the past.

12. In conclusion, if a Latter-day Saint can afford to subscribe for only one newspaper, that paper should be the Deseret News; and if more than one, the News should invariably be the first.

WHAT IS A GUARANTEE?

Many merchants and salesmen are in the habit of indiscriminately "guaranteeing" their wares with no thought of being called upon to make the "guarantee" good. It is a pernicious and foolish custom more respected in the breach than in the observance.

A guarantee, to have any value, should be made with knowledge of the meaning of the word and a set purpose to carry out the terms of the guarantee. On fine tools the makers instruct us to warrant, and we replace any tool found imperfect in use.

We have used our best judgment, acquired by a considerable experience, in selecting the following items for our stock and sell them to our customers with an absolute guarantee that if they do not prove to be all that we represent them, we will refund the purchase money in full.

"Jewel" Steel Range. A finished article, perfectly proportioned, made of the best material. Don't fail to see it. It will pay you.

"Quick Meal" No Generator, Evaporating. Light it as you do your gas burner. No smell. No danger. No complication. Every objection to the use of a Gasoline Stove done away with. Think of the discomfort missed in Summer by avoiding the heat of a big Kitchen Range.

"Superior" Cooks and Ranges. Superior as bakers. Superior in economy of fuel. Superior in design. Superior in construction. Superior in everything that goes to make a perfect cooking apparatus.

The "Pure" Refrigerators. As ice savers. A Health promoter. Cellular stone lined. What is that? Investigate it. It will more than repay you.
