PROTEST AGAINST FOOTBALL.

Ministers' Association Declares Against Such Sport as a Thanksgiving Pastime.

The following resolution was passed by the Ministers' association at its meeting yesterday:

Resolved, That the Ministers' association of this city hereby enters its earnest protest against the reckless desecration of Thanksgiving day by football contests and other games wholly out of harmony with the religious spirit and purpose of this day. We heartily urge all Christian people who respect these Christian institutions which are a mighty source of strength and stability to our nation to frown upon this uncalled-for desecration by absenting themselves from these games.

G. E. JAYNE,
President Ministers' Association.
By J. D. GILLILAN,
Secretary.

All over the world the well-earned fame of Dr. Price's Baking Powder is growing.

Cycle Company Election.

At the first annual meeting of the stockholders of the Salt Lake Cycle company held yesterday 1,799 out of 1,800 shares were represented. Oscar Groshell was re-elected president and treasurer; C. A. Kaiser, vice president and secretary. The officers with the following gentlemen comprise the board of directors: T. F. Rowe, H. A. Knowles and M. H. Groshell.

Death of Mrs. David Lewis.

A private dispatch from Logan, Cache county, conveys the sad news that Mrs. Emma Lewis, of that town, departed this life last evening, Nov. 25th, after an illness of several months. Deceased is the wife of David Lewis, the well known photographer. She was an estimable, kind hearted woman. She, with her husband, was baptized into the Church in Liverpool, England, in 1880 and came to Utah the year following. She was aged 61 years at the time of her demise.

ARE NOW AFTER FORD

Patrolman Lund Files Charges Against the Big Sergeant.

THE COMMISSION WILL CONSIDER.

Accused of Conduct Unbecoming an Officer and a Gentleman—No Meeting Last Night.

A meeting of the police and fire commission was held last night, but only two members, Messrs. Stephens and Empey—were present. The absentees were Chairman Jennings, who has been out of town on a duck hunting expedition, and Mr. Noble, who is out of the Territory. That all the trouble in the police department is not yet over is evidenced by the following charges filed with the board by Patrolman Lund against Sergeant Ford:

To the Hon. R. N. Baskin and the Hon. Board of Police and Fire Commissioners of Salt Lake City:

I hereby charge W. H. Ford, sergeant of police, with conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman, and in violation of his duty and his moral and legal obligations as a man and a citizen, in testifying falsely while being examined as a witness upon the hearing of the charges against Captain J. J. Donovan, as fully appears in the following specification:

Specification 1. On or about the 12th day of November, A. D. 1895, at the city and county of Salt Lake, Utah Territory, he the said W. H. Ford, was duly sworn as a witness upon the hearing of certain charges theretofore preferred against Captain J. J. Donovan by Arthur Pratt, chief of police, before the board of police and fire commissioners, and then and there took his corporal oath to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

That pending said hearing the undersigned was testified as a witness for the accused as a part of his examination substantially as follows:

Q.—You may state whether Sergeant Ford had a conversation with you in regard to your testimony.

A.—Yes, he did; just a few words.

Q.—What did he say to you about it?

A.—All that he said was some words something like this: "You had better be careful."

Q.—Be careful of what? State whether or not he asked you what you were going to swear to.

A.—No.

Q.—Or what you knew about it?

A.—I do not think he did.

Q.—How did the conversation arise?

A.—He said: "Are you a witness here for Captain Donovan tonight?" (it was at one time that I thought the captain was going to have his trial). I said, "Yes." "Well," he says, "you want to know what you are talking about," or "be careful," or words to that effect.

That thereupon at the same hearing the said W. H. Ford while so sworn as aforesaid testified as follows:

Q.—Did you hear the testimony of Officer Lund?"

A.—I did; yes, sir.

Q.—That you had said to him at one time that he had better be careful?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Did you make that remark to him?

A.—It strikes me that I did.

Q.—What was it about; just state, in a general way, what you referred to.

A.—The chief had admonished me in regard to Officer Lund as to a lady here in Salt Lake City, and, as a friend of Mr. Lund, I admonished him to be careful of any association with her.

Q.—Did it have any reference to this case at all?

A.—No, sir.

Q.—You say the chief admonished him?

A.—The chief had spoken to me about it.

Q.—Some reports he heard about Lund?

A.—I presume so.

Q.—And about a lady?

A.—I would call it so; yes, sir.

Q.—Did he tell you to tell Lund to be careful?

A.—Well, now, I don't exactly remember.

Q.—Did you infer he wanted you to, or how was it?

A.—It seems to me that I did.

Q.—You thought it was the purpose of Pratt telling you, to have you tell Lund to look out?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—What was it? An item he might get caught in something?

A.—Well, I could not say as to that. Maybe it was personal, illicitly.

Q.—What was the chief telling you about it for?

A.—The chief in his conversation did not mention any criminality existing between those parties at all.

Q.—You understood there was something that Lund ought to be careful about and correct his appearance?

A.—Yes; and if there had been no harm done, that there should not be.

Q.—Now, when you spoke to Lund did you tell him about that, or just say "Be careful?"

A.—I told him to be careful of that woman.

Q.—You spoke of the woman, did you?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Did you say anything about his giving testimony in this case?

A.—In the Captain Donovan case? No, sir.

Q.—Not a word?

A.—Not a word.

Q.—So Mr. Lund is absolutely laboring under a misapprehension in that statement?

A.—He must be; yes, sir.

Q.—Absolutely? You said nothing about his being a witness?

A.—No, sir.

Q.—Did you ask him if he intended to be a witness, or was to be a witness in this case?

A.—I do not have any recollection of such.

Q.—Did you speak of the Donovan case at all?

A.—I discussed his friendship with Mr. McDonald.

Q.—Donovan, I mean?

A.—Donovan—I do not have any recollection of mentioning Donovan's name at all.

Q.—You heard what Lund said about it?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Lund is apparently a trank, truthful man.

A.—Yes, sir, I consider him so.

Q.—All that you can say is that you do not recollect that?

A.—Well, I can say that his testimony did not imply that my conversation related to this investigation.

Q.—As to the words used, I mean?

A.—I supposed the words told him, "Be careful."

Q.—Do you say that you did not ask Lund if he was going to be a witness?

A.—I have no recollection of mentioning this case.

Q.—You do not recollect it?

A.—No, sir.

Q.—You do not recollect saying that at that time, without reference to the woman or anything else, "You had better be careful?"

A.—If did it was in connection with the other affair that I spoke of.

That said testimony was false and known at the time to the said W. H. Ford to be false in the particulars, to wit: that the said Ford said nothing to the undersigned, the said C. Lund, about his being a witness, nor about his being careful as to his testimony in the Donovan case, and when he stated that he cautioned said Lund to be careful about a certain woman, and that whatever he said about being careful was in connection with a woman.

Attention, Troop C.

The regular weekly drill of Troop C, First cavalry, N. G. U., will be held at the city and county building (third floor), on Wednesday evening, Nov. 27, at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend uniformed and armed with carbine.

A rancher named J. H. Walls, who resides at Harmony, had an experience with an angry woman at North Cucamonga, Cal., Friday, that somewhat unnerved him. The woman was a stranger to every one except Walls, but she claimed to come from Colorado. She came to the hotel at North Cucamonga and sent a message to Walls. When he came a very stormy interview followed, in which the difficulty seemed to be over a Colorado land deal, in which the woman claimed to have been worsted to the extent of $1,500. She allowed him from the hotel to his buggy, and when he essayed to drive away she jumped in front of the horse and stopped it, and then whisked out a revolver. Walls stepped. The Colorado woman went on and said what she had to say, and then Walls drove away, while the woman went away as mysteriously as she had come, taking an afternoon train for Los Angeles.

ANOTHER RAMBLER DAY.

The Rambler boys made a great showing in the Ogden races. The first event of the day was the one mile road race, in which McConahay finished third, taking third prize and third time prize. Then came the track race, Joe Back taking second in the novice, Fowler first, Waller second, and Thatcher third in the mile scratch, class B, all "Rambler" you will note. In the half mile class A, May took second, Carson third. Half mile, class B, Thatcher second, Fowler third. Five mile, class B, Fowler second. In this race a man in a yellow suit cut his head and fell, Gonathan and Waller being immediately behind him, the result was a spill for those parties and the race left to Evans. The five mile, class A, was another Rambler event, May taking first, Joe Back second and McConahay third. Fourteen prizes in one day is glory enough for any one.

People may laugh and people may cry,
And boys may scoff if they please,
But Ramblers win races wherever they go,
Regardless of how others feel.

Moral—Buy a Rambler. Ride a winner and you'll be a spinner.
