5 O'clock -EDITION.-

TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

NO. 262 MONDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1894, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVII.

POPULIST ADDRESS.

John Swinton Speaks to Numbers of His Party in New York.

WHO WILL BE NEXT PRESIDENT?

Allgeld, He Says, if the Election is Thrown Upon Congress and Populists Hold the Balance of Power.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—John Swinton addressed 200 members of the People's party last evening. What he said was earnest if not at all times complimentary to those whom he addressed, and the indications are the People's party will have him up for mayor of this city in their convention today. The room was set in motion before he had been speaking fifteen minutes and had become so pronounced that by the time he finished three cheers were given "for our next mayor."

Mr. Swinton shook his head negatively.

The first thing Mr. Swinton said to the New York Populists was:

"It is not impossible that the next President of the United States may be a Populist." Then he read an extract from a published dispatch from California in which the writer asserted that the chances of the Populist ticket were so good this fall that the Democratic and Republican parties were combining against it. "My hope is in the wind. It is possible that the election of the President may be thrown upon Congress and that the Populists may hold the balance of power. In view of this contingency it is well for us to consider our candidates. Who, I ask, shall be the Populist President in the event that one can be elected?"

At this question, which was propounded seemingly in earnestness, half a dozen men in the audience shouted, "Peffer!"

"No," said Mr. Swinton, "Peffer will not do. He has the misfortune of being regarded as a comic person. That is hard. If he would shave his Dundreary beard he might answer, but not otherwise."

"Hogg, of Texas," shouted a voice.

"No, no," said Mr. Swinton. He laid his countenance to burning urgency he will not do."

"Bulkeley," said somebody.

"Hell!" said the orator, "he is not fit to be the mayor of a country village."

Allen, of Nebraska, and Lafe Pence, of Colorado, were next named by the audience.

"One is too young and the other is a socialist," said Mr. Swinton, disparagingly.

"Waite and Lewelling," cried a voice in the rear of the room.

"That is better," said the orator, "but you have not hit it yet."

The two hundred Populists searched their brains and finally a female voice exclaimed,

"Governor Altgeld!"

"Now you have it," said Mr. Swinton; "he is the man. He will prove a national Parkhurst in the cause of human emancipation. Remember his name; go out and work for him, and don't forget that a new era is dawning and that the day of human slavery is almost at an end."

A TRAITOR.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1.—It is reported that Tatsai Shung, chief magistrate of the district, has left Tien Tsin. As it has been reported that Shung was implicated with others in furnishing information to Japan of the movements of the Chinese forces on land and sea, it is now believed the fugitive Tatsai will be unable to render additional assistance to the enemy.

Tatsai Shung is believed to have been the person who notified the agents of Japan of the Kow Shing expedition, which resulted in the sinking of that transport and the drowning of over 1,000 Chinese soldiers. Later advices from Tien Tsin say that nothing is actually known of the destination of Tatsai of Tien Tsin, but it is believed his Japanese friends have succeeded in smuggling him to some place of safety from which he will shortly escape to Japanese territory. It is said that Tatsai is not the only Chinese official implicated in furnishing important war news to Japan.

Official advices from Tokio say the Japanese government has declared lead to be contraband of war. The docks at Nagasaki, Japan, are full of cruisers, warships and other vessels, undergoing repairs.

The Japanese army which has been marching upon Moukden ever since the battle of Ping Yang, where the Chinese were completely defeated, losing over 10,000 men, the majority of whom were taken prisoners, recently occupied Haichou on the frontier of Manchuria, without opposition.

SURPRISING A FRENCHMAN.

Emperor William says He Will Visit the Paris Exposition.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The Gaulois today says Emperor William recently received a Frenchman passing through Berlin and said to him: "I shall meet you again at the Paris exposition in 1900."

The Frenchman expressed his surprise. The emperor thereupon said: "I know the French character; come I say I shall go to the exposition. I know what I have to do in order to carry out my intention."

Fell Heir to Millions.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Benjamin Price, who has been connected with the Cook county jail as clerk for more than fourteen years, is, it is said, between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 richer today than he was a week ago. This is the amount of property left him by his father, whose death occurred recently. It is scattered over America, England and Australia, and until the solicitor can get a complete inventory of the property its exact value will not be known.

An Editor Dead.

LEWISTON, Ill., Oct. 1.—J. M. Davidson, editor of the Carthage, Ills., Republican, died here last night aged 60. He founded a paper at Canton, Ill., the Fulton Democrat, at Lewiston, Ill., and the Independent, at Havana, Ill. He has served and edited for Carthage Republican for thirty years.

DEATHBED WEDDING.

A Pathetic Scene in a Hospital—The Dying Groom.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 1.—A romance involving the happiness of two young lovers has a singularly pathetic final scene in an hospital here. The hero was a brave fireman and the heroine a beautiful young girl. The steamer State of New York, lying at the wharf here last Sabbath evening and among the first to respond to the alarm was hook and ladder company No. 1, of which William Hesser is a member. As the crew rounded another Hesser was thrown off and a wheel passed over his body, crushing his chest. He was taken to the hospital and when informed that he could not live he announced his sweetheart, Annie Martin, to whom he was to have been married in a month. The dying fireman could scarcely speak above a whisper as he expressed a wish to make Annie his wife before he died. Friends hunted up the probate court clerk and at a late hour he was found and a license was secured. A clergyman and the parents of the young girl and the fireman's mother hastened to his bedside. There was no time to be lost, for he was growing weaker every moment. As the ceremony was about to begin the injured man lapsed into unconsciousness. The doctor waited for a return of reason, but in vain. He felt the patient's pulse and announced to the guests that he was dead. The young girl threw herself on the dead body of her lover and clung to it until last evening away.

INJURED WHILE WRESTLING.

One of the Combatants Brought to a Hospital in a Helpless Condition.

ERIE, Penn., Oct. 1.—Alvin Carnahan, of Wesleyville, was brought from the Edinboro state normal school to the Hamot hospital last night in a most pitiable condition. Carnahan and Winslow Beckley, a fellow student, engaged in catch-as-catch-can wrestling. Carnahan broke his back trying to throw his adversary over his head.

Technically it was a fracture of the eleventh vertebra, a fracture near the cervical and dorsal vertebra. Carnahan fell to the ground paralyzed and without sensation from the waist down. The hospital surgeons are considering a remedy to remove the pressure to the spinal cord as the only possible one. Carnahan is conscious and has no physical suffering.

Searching for Heirs.

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 1.—Thirty years ago there lived in this city Sarah McLaughlin and Bridget Leahy. Their maiden names were McNamara. From here they went to Ottawa, Illinois, where all trace of them was lost. A thorough search of the United States is now being made for them as a valuable estate of their deceased sister is awaiting for them in California.

SERMON ON THE WAR.

Civilization and Christianity Against Barbarism and Paganism.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Rev. Dr. McArthur preached last night in Calvary church, Fifty-seventh street, near Sixth avenue, taking for his subject the Chinese war in relation to civilization and Christianity. The war now raging, he said, between China and Japan is one of profound interest to all intelligent statesmen and churchmen. The war is really between barbarism and civilization, between hoary conservatism and modern progress, between heathenism and Christianity. The European world has had no adequate conception of the greatness, actual and possible, of these Oriental nations. These nations are now awaking. Decades from this we shall see, if not centuries, they are putting on their armor, they are girding themselves for a place on the great chess board of the world. The battle at the mouth of the Yalu river marshaled Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, Italy, America and the world. It will create new discussions as to naval armaments. The United States is humbled in the presence of this Japanese victory; probably we could not have placed in eastern waters during the time since this war began a naval force at all adequate to contend with that of Japan. This victory will greatly help Secretary Herbert in his plea for the building of naval ships for the United States government. This victory has startled the confidential advisers of every throne in Europe. Japan has stepped at once into line with the foremost nations of the world. She has struggled long against the conservative element within her own boarders, but the progressive element has triumphed. She has dared to adopt the results of the highest civilization of her international affairs to be worthy of a place beside the most progressive nations of the world. Her educational system asks no apology when compared with that of Europe and America.

"The nation that will not serve God, the Bible teaches us, must perish. We may add, in harmony with this truth, as its natural consequence, that the nation that will not obey the highest laws of civilization of its day must perish."

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

Benefit of the Literary Efforts of Miss Dearborn.

CHICAGO, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Miss Jane E. Dearborn, for twenty-five years principal of the Dearborn Morgan school, and Jenne Ellison Mills, state geologist of California, are to be married at San Francisco next month. About thirty-five years ago Miss Dearborn and Mr. Mills were schoolmates at Brooklyn. Mr. Mills studied geology and was initiated into the ministry. He was married in California. His wife died several years ago. Last September at a convention at the new Swedish Bethlehem church in Chicago, Miss Dearborn read a paper on "The Application of Woman's Formative Power to Church Work," which was printed in the New Church Messenger. Mr. Mills was much interested in the article and wrote to the editor of the Messenger, Rev. Charles H. Mann, regarding the author. Thereupon a correspondence between Miss Dearborn and Mr. Mills was begun which has resulted in the engagement.

CHINESE ADVICES.

Foreigners Threatened With Assault by the Soldiers.

JAPANESE CRUISERS OFF CHOO TOO

An Insurrection in the Province of Shan Tung.—Infringement of the Neutrality Laws.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1.—Dispatches from Tien Tsin say private advices have reached the inlet city from Pekin warning foreigners from proceeding to the capital. The road and waterways from Tung Chow to Pekin are alive with soldiers, hostile to all Europeans. Several British residents of Pekin have been assaulted, including Mr. Teats, the interpreter of the British legation, Dr. Dungan, and others, journeying south.

It is rumored that the British steamer Iroea, which arrived at Tien Tsin on Sept. 15th from Shanghai, having on board a number of Mauser rapid firing guns and ammunition for the Chinese, has infringed on the neutrality laws. Representatives of the British government are understood to be taking action in the matter.

INSURRECTION IN CHINA.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—A dispatch from Chee Foo to the Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon says Japanese cruisers are sighted daily off that port. It is added that the nature of the operations are unknown, but the movements are regarded as tending to confirm the story of the Japanese landing in the northward of Chee Foo.

The British squadron in northern Chinese waters is cruising in the Gulf of Pe Chili.

An insurrection is said to have broken out in the province of Shan Tung. The result of the uprising of its natives are not known.

IN THE INTEREST OF TRADE

Between the United States and the Australian Colonies.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—Joseph Howard Wilkinson, representing the New Zealand government, is en route to Washington to urge upon the President and secretary of state, the desirability of stimulating trade between the United States and the Australian colonies. The foreign trade of the colonies last year amounted to $[illegible]. To secure a share of this France and Germany are supporting lines of steamers. Wilkinson is confident that if American capital will put on line of five steamers to the colonies, the venture would prove handsome and would divert from European countries much commerce which properly belongs to the United States. He states that his countrymen would prefer to import from the United States in preference to European nations, trade, urban facilities being equal.

TROUBLE ABOUT EGYPT.

England and France Not on Intimate Terms any Longer.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The Figaro says M. De Crais, the French ambassador at London, returned from that city much discouraged and the belief gains ground that he has been unsuccessful. The Figaro adds: "Our relations with Great Britain for some time past have been of a difficult nature. The truth is, the discussion of the Egyptian question is no longer confined upon between Paris and London."

The Paris Temps, as already exclaimed, announces today that De Crais has resigned and will be succeeded by Baron De Courcel, who was president of the Bering sea tribunal arbitration.

LARGE FACTORY BURNED.

Narrow Escape from Death of Several Firemen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The factory of Jonas & Nuenberg, furriers, in the six story, double brick building, 510 and 512 West Thirty-fourth street, was burned this morning. It was the largest factory of the kind in America. The loss is $74,000. A number of firemen had a narrow escape from death by the building practically breaking in two, the walls falling in front and on the sides.

New York Exchanges.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The share speculation opened irregular. Sugar was freely sold and a break occurred of 1½ to 2½.

Nothing made a new low record of 7½. The sales showed a loss of 1½ compared with the final transaction last week. Sugar and distilling both recovered ½. After 11 o'clock a general selling movement resulted in the establishment of a lower range of values. Jersey Central is down 2½, lost 1½; Southern Pacific, preferred, lost preferred and the rest of the list 1½ per cent. At noon sugar recovered ½.

FOR FIGHTING A DUEL.

The Combatants Sentenced to Four Months' Imprisonment.

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—Herr von Kiderlen-Wechter, Prussian minister to Hamburg, and Herr Poleloff, editor of the Allgemeinzeitung, have been condemned to four months' imprisonment in a fortress for fighting a duel near Berlin on April 19.

Five shots were fired and Herr Poleloff was wounded in the arm. The cause of the encounter was an alleged libel upon Herr von Kiderlen, then chief of the press department of the foreign office which Herr Poleloff published in the Kladderadatsch, the comic paper which became notorious for its attacks upon the employes of the government.

Railroad Purchased.

DURANGO, Mexico, Oct. 1.—It is announced here that the railroad running from Alisos on the Pacific coast, to Culiacan has been purchased by a syndicate of New York capitalists and will be immediately extended to this city, where connection will be made with the Mexican International. A. E. Huntington is said to be at the head of the enterprise.

PROBABLY A GREAT SWINDLER.

Arrested on the Charge of Using the Mails for Fraudulent Purposes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Oct. 1.—U. S. Post Office Inspector J. D. Crowley has arrested a man who is believed to be a swindler with a national reputation. He was arrested in the Castle of using the United States mails in conducting a scheme to defraud, and was broken under the name of Henry Smyth. Evidence has been accumulated which, it is believed, will prove beyond a doubt that this Henry Smyth is the same man operating in Europe personated Joseph Jaeger, a remarkable movement. Mr. Jaeger, Joseph Hawn, of Kirksville, in the same state, and Michael Brothers, of Carrollton, Miss.

In July and August last several prominent Chicago business houses reported to the mercantile agencies and U. S. postoffice inspectors that they had received orders for goods from Messrs. Moseley, signed by Joseph Jaeger, a reputable dealer in stores, hardware, etc. They examined the mercantile agency data and discovered that Jaeger was found not a fictitious business man and moreover that they had no hesitation in filling the orders and shipping the goods. C. M. Livingston, of Chicago, was one of the victims, but it soon quickly developed that the real Joseph Jaeger has never refused goods from Livingston, and did not receive those which the latter shipped to Messrs.

Upon investigation it was learned that some clever swindler had signed the order for the goods with a rubber stamp which printed Joseph Jaeger's name in red ink and in large capital letters, while the body of the order was written with a pen and in black ink. The forgery was detected on the arrival of the way bills, received the goods and disposed of them.

A succession of swindling conducted on the same plan was reported from various cities in different parts of the country.

The similarity of the methods indicated that the same swindler was operating in each case. For the past month he has been practicing his profession in California.

Those Who Attempt to Follow Them Threatened with Death—Sick Pa Talk.

Special Dispatch to the News.

FRANKLIN, IDAHO, Sept. 30.—Jesse W. Fox Jr., of Orangeville, is in the city this morning having been summoned as the grand jury. He gave the following information in regard to the visit to Orangeville of Moses Kelford and James Michel, the murderers of Sheriff Burns. They arrived in town Wednesday evening after dark—the evening of the day on which Burns was killed—accompanied by Albert Kelford, the brother of Moses. Moses went to the office of Dr. Moore for the purpose of having a bullet extracted which had entered in the left side, right under the skin of the abdomen.

Dr. Moore went down to the store to buy some cotton batting for the bandages. There he found Moses and Albert Kelford, who were buying provisions. Dr. Moore, the two Kelfords, and Frank Carroll, a sort of hostler, returned to Dr. Moore's office. Carroll tries to hold the horses while the operation was performed, but became sick and said he could not do it. Albert Kelford then consented to hold the horses, but became sick and said he could not do it. Albert Kelford then consented that he could, held the lamp in one hand and the pistol in the other while the operation went forward. When the bullet had been extracted Dr. Moore gave it to Moses, saying, however, "You can have that bullet if you do not need it any more." Moses replied, "Sheriff Burns doesn't need it any more, either. He is dead!" Dr. Moore asked, "Why, Sheriff, you haven't killed Sheriff Burns?" Moses answered, "Yes, we've killed him!"

The outlaws left the doctor's office about 9 o'clock that evening. Before they went away Kelford said, "Pell says you that wants to know is that the more come the fewer come. We don't intend to be taken alive and suffer the fate of Enoch Davis."

Dr. Moore and Mr. Carroll remained in the office all next morning, being afraid to venture out. The sheriff of Orangeville did not know of the visit until Thursday morning.

Considerable indignation was expressed by the citizens at the delay in making their acquaintance with the presence of the bandits, and a search was at once instituted in the surrounding country. In the afternoon Deputy Sheriffs Wakley and Nowell and Sheriff Lloyd, of Cache county, arrived. The citizens filled them out with horses and guns and the officers went south to hunt the fugitives.

A party from Mount Pleasant came to town later and followed the same officers.

Michel gave no explanation as to how he received his wound.
