UTAH FRUIT EXHIBIT.

Display Made at the Hall of Relics Very Good as to Quality.

IT IS, HOWEVER, NOT VERY LARGE.

Apples, Peaches and Grapes from the Finest Displays—List of Competitors—What They Show.

The display of Utah fruit at the Hall of Relics, this city, held under the auspices of the board of Horticulture, is certainly a very good one, and reflects credit upon the officers of the board. Enough can be selective as some of the displays seem to the Hall, yet as a proof of the goodly bounties of Utah as a fruit-producing state, as to size, appearance and flavor, it is perfect as much more comprehensive display could be.

The State board officers are high in their praises of the board of county commissioners of Salt Lake county who have not only seen that the law was carried out in the county and thereby settling an example to the rest of the state but have added in a most material way in making this display. County Fruit Tree Inspector Brown also has been unwilling to his efforts, and to him more than any other person is that Salt Lake county makes the showing does at the exhibition.

In considering the general display, the first that attracts attention is the display from the Agricultural College at Logan. At the founding of the college it was thought by some that Logan was too far north for an experimental station, in 1 be line of fruit growing at Ioni. The display at the Hall of Relics any the efforts of the college, prove that those fears were groundless. In all, the exhibit shows forty-seven varieties of apples, all of them being exceptionally fine specimens of such variety, besides this, they have a fine display of hardy grapes, together with peaches, prunes and pears.

Weber county comes next to Salt Lake county in the star of its exhibit, and keeps up its reputation as a fruit-growing county. Much fine samples of fruit come from Utah county, while the country around Moab, Utah, makes a fine showing, especially in peaches and prunes. Southern displays come from other counties in the state, all having an equally fine appearance.

In the line of apples, many of the exhibits in the hand of a layman, the world every tempt, more than one modern Adam. Aside from the display from the Agricultural College, W. R. Richard of Sugar House, Salt Lake county, makes the largest display. He has seven boxes in the exhibit. Two boxes need special mention, one each of Rhode Island Greenings and Baldwins, they are beauties specimens of their varieties. Mr. Hendrickson of Holiday has several fine boxes of apples. J. Sharpe of Salt Lake county shows some very good Rhode Island Greenings as well as other varieties. John Markey of Taylorville makes a fine display, especially in twenty ounces plums, Hunter Porter and others make creditable displays.

In peaches A. H. Moss of Brigham City shows the finest specimens of the orange cling variety. The display of other varieties of the various fruit from Brigham City and other Boreder points bear out the claim of the county to being a peach center. Frank Moore of Ogden also has a grand display of peaches, as also has the Willow Bros. of Weber county. J. H. Fitzgerald of Draper makes a very pretty showing in peaches. M. Lund of Utah county, Italy, who, for the northwest can do in this fruit, John Hayes of Granite, Davis, Roper & Co. of Salt Lake, James M. Smith, A. E. Dillard and others also display some fine boxes of peaches.

In grapes, some grand specimens of the Emperor Hybrid come from Moab. The Mountain Nursery has a pretty Tokay grape. Utah county of Provo shows some fine grapes, especially of the Orange variety. Willow Bros. of Ogden, the Utah Nursery Co., J. M. Smith and others, also make fine displays.

It is too early in the season for many pears to be shown, but the display of Italian, German and Bliss' pears shows some of the pears to be exhibited. The list of these pears come from the county around Moab, and shows the possibilities of that county in pears. The display called for fruit, from Provo, Utah, Ogden, the Utah Nursery, Willow Bros. of Ogden, make a fine display. Joseph M. Smith, of Draper, and A. A. Hendrickson of Salt Lake county of this fruit. The Agricultural College of Logan and the Mountain Nursery of Provo, showing the grapes of the hardy varieties.

Taken altogether the display is very meritorious. One thing, however, should be looked after, and that is the multiplicity of names for the same variety of fruit, and also the enumerating of this exhibition.

The names of the exhibitors and variety of fruits are as follows:

Mountain Nursery, East Bill Creek: Peaches—Lion Colmer, Alberta. Nectarines—Boston.

HOMES FOR THOUSANDS.

To Latter-day Saints Who Desire Good Places to Make Comfortable Homes. A Good Opportunity to Accumulate Means to Pay for Them Without Interfering in Bondage of Debt.

One hundred thousand dollars in labor wanted.

Fifty miles of the Alberta company's canal to be built, for which half will be paid in cash and balance in excellent prairie land, at $5 an acre, with free water for five years to first settlers on these lands.

Lands are to be settled in hamlet or settlement form, in order to afford settlers the benefit of ward organizations, including day and Sunday schools.

All labor will be contract work, at ten cents a cubic yard for earth work. Grand, loam and solid rock to be paid for in proportion.

An industrious, able-bodied man, with team can earn a good farm, town lot and cottage in one year.

Lands to be settled are adjacent to a railway. Plenty of coal for fuel near at hand.

President C. O. Card, writing to the First Presidency under date of September 19th, says that work has commenced on the canal; that parties in Utah desiring to do work this fall would do well to bring their teams and wagons by railroad. By doing so they could be at work on the canal in less than a week after starting, bringing good, winning teams, for which that big, if needed, will not cannot it a too, and besides, it can be cut there as late as a month from the date of his letter, that no hay will be needed on the canal, as for miles in its terminus there is grass in plenty, six to twelve inches high. When work cannot be done on the canal, men can be hired at wages for themselves. He advises men to come with their teams, leaving their families until the spring, by which time homes may be provided for them. Parties desiring to join the new settlers in making homes, who may not due to be work on the canal, can obtain land through President Card.

For special rates of transportation for passengers, household goods, teams, etc., etc., apply to Wm. C. Brown, Box D, Salt Lake City, or C. O. Card, Raymond, M. W. T., Canada.

WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE is a highly valuable proportion, remote from the vermicide of 75 years, at clearing the system in a few hours of every worm. Price $1 ots. E. C. M. I. Drug Dept.
