The Branch Normal.

Cedar City, Oct. 5.—Within a few days Cedar City will deed to the State of Utah fifteen acres of land on which is situated the permanent building for the Normal school. This building has cost the enterprising little town not less than $25,000. Add to that sum $10,000, the cost of the Ward Hall, which was finished as temporary quarters for the school last year, and $8,000 raised on mortgages to maintain the school till the State appropriation was available and one gets some idea of the sacrifice this little town of 1,500 inhabitants has had to serve in one and a half years. The new building alone is proof positive of unity, energy and perseverance that even Utah may marvel at.

Climbing the heights of San Juan in the interest of education was a feat that deserved the applause it received, but it is not more worthy a nation's approbation than the work of some of Cedar's young men who penetrated snow-blocked mountains for thirty miles in January to saw and haul lumber for the Normal school. And nearly every one were Mormons. Who says that people are afraid of the light of education?

The Normal has begun work this year with more than double the number of students that registered at the beginning of last year. It is gratifying to see the majority of the old students back again. Several teachers from Washington and Iron counties are in attendance.

The county fair held here last week brought a great many visitors to the Normal school.

Classes are running smoothly. Chapel exercises are well attended. A most harmonious spirit prevails among teachers and students.

Blacksmith Shop Demolished.

Tuesday afternoon at the Copper Center Tunnel, Upper Bingham, a dozen sticks of giant powder exploded in the blacksmith shop and completely demolished the building, some of the flying fragments landing many feet away. There was a box of giant containing thirty to forty sticks in the place, which, very singularly, although wrecked and scattered did not explode. The cause of the accident is a mystery. The powder was at a safe distance from the forge, in which there was little if any fire. W. A. Hicks had just entered the tunnel and was out of harm's way, and W. J. Cox was in advance of him. The boys are congratulating themselves on their narrow escape.—Bingham Bulletin.

Zion's Savings Bank & Trust Company, Nos. 1, 3 and 5 Main street, is the largest and oldest Savings Bank in Utah. 22,319 accounts have been opened since the bank was established in 1873. Have you an account? If not, start one now.

HOMES FOR THOUSANDS.

To Latter-day Saints Who Desire Good Places to Make Comfortable Homes. A Good Opportunity to Accumulate Means to Pay for Them Without Incurring the Bondage of Debt.

One hundred thousand dollars in labor wanted.

Fifty miles of the Alberta company's canal to be built, for which half will be paid in cash and balance in excellent prairie land, at $3 an acre, with free water for two years to first settlers on these lands.

Lands are to be settled in hamlet or settlement form, in order to afford settlers the benefit of ward organizations, including day and Sabbath schools.

All labor will be contract work, at ten cents a cubic yard for earth work. Gravel, loose and solid rock to be paid for in proportion.

An industrious, able-bodied man, with team can earn a good farm, town lot and cottage in one year.

Lands to be settled are adjacent to a railway. Plenty of coal for fuel near at hand.

President C. O. Card, writing to the First Presidency under date of September 23rd, says that work has commenced on the canal; that parties in Utah desiring to do work this fall would do well to bring their teams and wagons by railroad. By doing this they could be at work on the canal in less than a week after starting. Speaking about wintering teams, he says that hay, if needed, will not exceed $4 a ton, and besides, it can be cut there as late as a month from the date of his letter; that no hay will be needed on the canal, as for miles in the immediate vicinity grass is from six to twelve inches high. When work cannot be done on the canal, men can be building homes for themselves. He advises men to come with their teams, leaving their families until the spring, by which time homes may be provided for them. Parties desiring to join the new settlers in making homes, who may not care to do work on the canal, can obtain land through President Card.

For special rates of transportation for passengers, household goods, teams, etc., etc., apply to Wm. C. Spence, Box B, Salt Lake City, or C. O. Card, Cardston, N. W. T., Canada.

DRY FARMING IN CACHE.

How It Is Engaged in on an Extensive and Profitable Scale.

The "News" had the pleasure during Conference of meeting Bishop Geo. L. Farrell of Smithfield, Cache county, and gleaned a few items concerning his gigantic farming operations. Bishop Farrell is the promoter and pioneer of "dry farming" in Cache valley, and has now under cultivation and summer fallow over one thousand acres of "dry farming" land on the west side of the valley, from a portion of which he has just finished threshing 14,300 bushels of No. 1 wheat, 60 pounds to the bushel. He also made some 200 tons of fine lucern hay and harvested about 4,500 pounds of 190 bushels of lucern seed.

This season has been an exceptionally fine one for farming without irrigation. Bishop Farrell's average crop was thirty-three bushels of wheat to the acre. His average last season was but twenty-three bushels per acre. Considering the boasted cost of unirrigated farming, from irrigated farms, these yields are far more profitable than the average production of Utah farms. The work on the dry farm is easier, and the soil is put in good tilth with much less labor and responds as readily to good culture as the irrigated farm.

From long practice, Bishop Farrell has demonstrated that light seeding is better than heavy seeding on the dry farm. His best results followed the sowing of three pecks of wheat to the acre, of lucern seed, the sowing of seven pounds to the acre gave most satisfactory results.

Dry farming, if properly carried on, pays well in various parts of the State, better than in some of the western farming states. In the Dakotas, for instance, the yield of wheat ranges from five to fifteen bushels per acre, seldom exceeding the latter figure except in much favored localities. It is no exaggeration to say that there are thousands of acres of land in this State, now idle and unoccupied, that if properly tilled would pay well as "dry farms," in producing wheat, lucern hay and seed.

The writer has also seen fine harvests of excellent corn grown without any irrigation, tillage conserving the moisture derived from rain and snow, and insuring a profitable harvest.

MEETING OF UTAH BEEKEEPERS.

Interesting Discussions on Topics of Interest to Apiarians—A Poor Honey Season.

The first question presented was the the city and county building October 6th from 11:30 to 3:30 p.m., at which the interests of the industry were thoroughly discussed.

The first question presented was the purchase of sections and other supplies. Remarks were made by President Howe, Messrs. Dudley, Swanner, Terry, Schach and others. As a result it is expected that the beekeepers will club together and get them at lowest rates.

Foul brood, pickle brood and kindred diseases were discussed by Messrs. Smith, Green, Butler, Jacobs and others.

A general discussion followed as to the best methods to be adopted for the production and marketing of bee products. It was pretty clearly shown that by acquiring a practical knowledge in the business, and by adopting the best approved methods, beekeeping would be more successful than many other industries of the State.

President Lovesy said as far as the bee industry is concerned this has been a peculiar season. While the honey flow in some localities has been excellent, from the best information obtainable, the flow seems to have been shorter and poor. The spring in some localities was wet and cold, but when the fine weather came it cleared up for good. This made the flow all right for a while. Later, when the supply of water gave out, the flow also fell off.

Bee Diseases—While many have been successful other have been unfortunate. There seems to have been a lack of interest in getting the bee law enforced in some counties. Disease have broken out in some instances. No one having the authority to look after the matter has caused some distress and loss. A lack of interest among bee-keepers in purchasing their supplies, and disposing of their products, have demoralized prices, while under proper conditions, the shortness of the crop should have had a tendency to materially advance prices. Some bee-keepers ask what interest there is to them to join an association. It should be plain to all, that if the bee-keepers and other societies unite for their mutual benefit they could accomplish almost any desired reform. They could prevent unscrupulous dealers from buying glucose for 2 cents and selling it as honey for 10 cents; they could at least work for laws that would cause all packages to be plainly marked as to their contents. Again, many of our practical beekeepers date much of their knowledge of the industry by attending the bee meetings. In union is strength, and without it little if any reform can be accomplished.

GOOD WORD FROM OMAHA.

A number of our beekeepers furnished honey for the Transmississippi exposition at Omaha. We have sent a creditable exhibit, have kept up the reputation of the State as a honey producer. The report of our exhibit is as follows: Flavor 45 on a scale of 50 clearness perfect 19 ripeness perfect 20 color, 10 general appearance, 10 total 95 perfect 100. This is considered an excellent showing, as flavor is more or less a matter of taste.

YIELD OF HONEY.

Mr. W. E. Smith reported an excellent flow of beautiful white honey in Kaysville, Hooper and vicinity.

Mr. Jacobsen of Sanpete county gave some good reports of large yields of honey this season in different counties in the State.

Mr. Joshua Terry of Draper reported that the Utah honey exhibit at the Transmississippi exposition at Omaha was a credit to the State, and to the bee industry.
