Coal Gravel Between Two Railroad Men in New Mexico.

A "FLASHING" CALIFORNIA DOC. 100.

Local Intelligence from Around the Territory.—A Tragedy at Coalville.—Suit for Libel, etc.

Miss Celia Broderick, of Leadville, Colo., who was injured by the falling of the flagstone building in August last, has begun suit against the owner, W. S. Spargo of Denver, for $5,000.

Chas. Berryman, a student at the agricultural College at Logan, broke his right collar bone Thursday evening while playing with his companion, Dr. Jesse Peterson, the footballist.

The creamery at Castle Rock, Colo., is turning out 1,000 pounds of butter a week. This, says an exchange, beats all previous September record states in creamery statistics.

Nearly one hundred car loads of peaches have been shipped from this county up to the present time, says the Delta Reporter, and there are at least one car load still in the country.

Mr. Crosby has met with great success in the electric light enterprise, and between this and the 1st of January, 1893, the inhabitants are likely to see the city lighted with electricity.—Juniata Citizen.

Most of the shepherds around Wasatch have left, having started for winter range several weeks earlier than usual. The dry season, it is stated, has caused an unusual scarcity of feed, hence the early departure.

An immense deposit of asphalt has been found in Summit county. The find has been located and is about ten miles from the railroad, north of Park City. The owners believe they have a big deposit of that famous paving material and are having a careful test made to establish its quality and consequent market value.

It is reported that the Sierra Bonita Cattle company of Cochise county will distribute one band of cattle along the Gila river bottoms. This means disaster to the small cattle owners. There is barely feed enough now to carry over what cattle there are along the river. Trouble may be expected.—Tucson Times.

At least fifty cars of condensed milk and evaporated cream are consumed annually in Denver and Colorado, of the value of $1000 a car. This represents 20,000 per year sent from Colorado to the states of New York, Illinois and Wisconsin, for what could be produced in this state to the great benefit and increase of dairy farming.—Field and Farm.

One day last week Mrs. Sarah Iron got a small sliver in her finger. The wound at first was trifling, but instead of healing up as soon it began to fester and grow worse. The hand and arm swelled and the lady suffered acute pains. The sliver of wood seemed to carry poison into the blood with the dropping motion. The lady has been confined to her bed for several days.—Brigham City Bugler.

J. S. Hite, who came in from Fish Springs this week, reports that the camp is booming and that the mines there are developing into great producers. At the Utah mine the ore house is full at three-fifty ore. Two shaft on this property is down 250 feet, and the ore gets larger and richer with depth, some of it being nearly pure horn silver. The Emma has two carloads of ore ready to ship that will run 40 per cent lead and 160 ounces in silver. This mine is making frequent shipments of high grade ore, and is doing well. So says the Nephi Leader.

C. E. Street has recently completed a bonanza and secured a several years' lease on the Jupiter mine and is now operating it at his own expense and in the manner his extensive experience with the property dictates. At present he is operating in the upper works, drifting and sinking on the new body and is taking out some valuable rock, yielding from $60 to 1000 ounces in silver. No regular stoping is yet being done, the ore being taken from the drifts ran in blocking out the ground for systematic work.—Park City Record.

A correspondent of the El Paso Times writes from Deming regarding the boundary survey, in the course of which he says: Col. Barlow, chief in charge of the United States boundary commission, now surveying and placing the monuments along the international line, left here this morning, accompanied by his family, for the camp of the commission, to thoroughly investigate the work being done, and also to incidentally enjoy the members with their pay for the last month. Col. Barlow is enthusiastic at the speed being made in the survey of the line, and estimates that several months will be gained on the original calculations as to the time necessary to complete the operations.

Lieut. Bean with a detachment of ten men and two Indian scouts came in this afternoon from the line. The lieutenant has been scouting along the line in hopes of cutting fresh Indian signs. He left Bowie immediately after the news was brought there of the man being killed by Apaches in the Sierra Madre mountains. He took the trail and followed them to the line. He believes that there were four bucks, a squaw and two children in the party, and thinks that Kid was not one of them. He thinks it also either proper for that the killing which took place near Morenci last Friday was done by three or four Apaches who, after taking the horses went east and crossed the line.—Prospector (of Bisbee.)

A dashing young dude named Richardson is reported suddenly and mysteriously missing from Pine Heights, Los Angeles, says the Express. He was a smooth young saw-bones and of such fascinating dress and manner that soon after his chosen vocation he was in the lawns of the Heights he had impressed himself in the favor of the inhabitants and especially with the young ladies of the neighborhood, who vied with each other for the attentions of the Esculapian Apollo. He was reputed to be quite a lady killer whether they were his patients or not and it is said he has many of them "on the string" in the language of the western cowboy. It is also said the vanishing dude had "got into" several people for small sums, including his room rent, and that before he dined he got the case of a V from a startling fellow citizen.

Murder continues to an alarming extent throughout New Mexico, and here in Bernalillo county, at Gallup, the crack of the deadly revolver rings out in the cold air and a man's life is taken. Last night at 10:30 o'clock, F. W. Ryan, one of Gallup's foremost businessmen, and County Moody, a saloonkeeper in the Atlantic & Pacific yards at Gallup, met in the German saloon and quarrelled over a woman, supposed to be a lady visiting with Mrs. Ryan. The quarrel was very bitter and finally the two men attacked. Ryan, being the most powerful, was getting the best of the fight, when Moody pulled out his revolver and placing the muzzle of the deadly weapon to the left breast of his antagonist, fired, the ball passing through the heart and the victim fell to the floor a lifeless corpse. After the shooting, Moody surrendered himself. Ryan was a married man, and was always regarded as a very peaceably inclined railroader. Both men are well-known to all the railroaders on the Atlantic and Pacific, especially to those working on the road west from Gallup.—Albuquerque Citizen.

The little village of Oakley was moved to great excitement this week over an assault with an attempt to kill and an attempt at suicide. Alfred Mitchell, who was staying at Tobe Rasmussen's, in the east part of the town, wanted to wed Miss Amelia Rasmussen, but she would not consent without the permission of her parents. So Mr. Mitchell succeeded that he would kill her by forcing her to take chloroform, and had it not been for two sister, Mrs. T. T. Rasmussen, he would have succeeded. Mrs. Rasmussen succeeded in getting her sister locked up in the bedroom. Mitchell then declared he would commit suicide by shooting, but he pointed his pistol in the wrong direction. Mitchell had possession of the situation until morning, with the women prisoners in the bedroom. He seemed perfectly crazy, hallooing and saying like a maniac. The ladies remained in the bedroom in fear of their life until morning. When Mitchell left town he threatened the young lady's life if ever they made any stir about his actions. When Rasmussen came home and heard of the trouble he started at once to search of the criminal. Mr. Murphy, Mrs. Jensen's mother, is very low.—Garfield Chronicle.

George H. Parker, of Denver, secretary of the Colorado Poultry association, commenced suit at Ogden for $10,000 damages against W. W. Cowgill, John M. Browning, M. S. Browning, George E. Browning and Thomas S. Browning or Browning Brothers. The complaint alleges that the defendants are owners, proprietors and publishers of a chicken fanciers journal called the Western Farmer, and that on September 24, 1892, they caused to have published therein the following editorial: "Why is he retained in office? The secretary of the Colorado Poultry association has a novel way of paying little debts. When pressed very hard he will sometimes write out a check on the bank, but it sometimes happens there is no money in the bank to his credit and the 'yankered' check is returned unpaid. He has done this trick on members of the Colorado association and still he is secretary. However there are more yankered 'deals' to be made public in the near future. The end is not yet." The plaintiff claims that the article is false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory and has injured his good name and business in the sum named.—Ogden Standard.
