THEATRE.—Last night of the GREAT STAR COMBINATION; Mr. DAVENPORT as William in black-eyed Susan, and Ray Gomez in Faint Heart; Miss Ince as the Duchess di Torrenuever.

THEATRICAL.—The performance of "The Wife" last night was another intellectual treat. Mr. Davenport's St. Pierre was an embodiment of Antonio's description of him. "This fellow owns a quick and subtle wit; a reckless daring; and hath a winning tongue withal, and a haughty." In the fourth act, where he obtains the confession from Antonio, and wrings the villain's signature from him at the dagger's point, his acting was very fine. Miss Ince's Marianna was chaste and artistic, revealing the purity, nobleness and fidelity of true woman's nature. McKenzie's Leonardo and Mr. Lindsay's Antonio were splendidly portrayed.

To-night, the petite comedy of "Faint Heart" leads the bill, Miss Ince as the Duchess, Mr. Davenport as Gomez, and Miss Alexander as the boy King Charles II. Following it comes "Black-Eyed Susan," and in Mr. Davenport's William we look for the extremes of mirth provoking humor and picaresque eccentricities, and the melting pathos of manly grief, not so much for the loved wife he deems himself about to be parted from by death, as the disheveled man who may rest upon his name, Miss Adams plays Susan, Miss Alexander Dolly, Mr. Margretts Gaudbrain, Mr. Neale Jacob, and the other characters are in good hands. During the piece Mrs. Careless will sing "All in the Downs," and Mr. Davenport and Miss Alexander will dance a double waltz.

This is the last night of the star combination of Mr. Davenport and Miss Ince. There should be a bumper house.

HOWDYDOW.—Last night, during the playing of a short act at the Theatre, a man named James McDonald, who had been taking "his powder," or something which affected his nerves, commenced in dancing on the platform in front of the building, disturbing the performance, when he was cautioned by a policeman to get down. He did not know whether to get down or not, but finally concluded to do it. After he was "making night hideous" on the stage, and was told to keep quiet, a little later he was in the third circle of the Theatre, and between the acts commenced to dance to the music of the orchestra. The usher was unable to get him down, when an officer paid him a visit, and continued to take him outside. McDonald commenced to show fight on the way to the door, and was treated to a punch in the nose. At the top of the stairs his belated demonstration became so strong that his pistol had to be taken from him. Going down stairs, several steps at a time, he reached the stage, followed by the officer, and made for the water side, where he grabbed at a rock. Captain Burt and Officer Hyde went after him, and hesitated for a moment, when the Captain called to the officers up at the Theatre to arrest him, which they did. McDonald, also being arrested, and both were locked up.

We have been thus particular in giving the details, because various comments have been made concerning McDonald's being struck in the Theatre, and the rough manner in which both were said, by some, to have been treated in the street.

It is not possible that people at a distance in the Theatre or on the street could see the rapid movement of the hand when a pistol is about to be drawn, and often those close by cannot see it until the weapon is out and then too late to prevent some person being shot.

We are likely to have a number of rough men, used to liquor, pistol-shooting, brawls and knife-fighting, in the city this winter, and these men the police will have to handle, often at risk of their own lives. Such characters have to be taught that law and order prevail here and must be respected; that public assemblies and private individuals, when offending no law, must not be disturbed; and that pistol and knife-drawing, endangering the lives of peaceable citizens, will not be tolerated in this Territory.

The two men were brought before Alderman Clinton this morning, when McDonald was fined $25 and Shaffer $20.

PARTICULARS.—By letter from Bro. W. D. Karchmer, dated St. Joseph, 19th inst., we learn some of the details of the fire which occurred there on the 15th inst., a brief notice of which has appeared before in our columns. Bro. Karchmer says the fire was caused by two little boys, the sons of Bro. O. Miles and J. Farmer—playing with matches. There was a strong north wind blowing at the time, which caused the flames to spread with great rapidity. The dwellings and almost everything possessed by Bro. O. Miles, J. Farmer, W. H. Streeper, D. M. Thomas, E. Billingsby and T. Day were burned. The fire also destroyed the meeting house, and from that spread across the fort and partially burned the dwellings of Bros. Chaffin, Gibson, Watt, Cahoon, Ferguson and Moyes. A cotton gin belonging to Bro. Chaffin was among the property destroyed.

TRAGEDY.—One of the results of the slight touch of earthquake they had at Virginia City, Nevada, not long ago, is said to be that a large stream of cold water which had issued from the old tunnel for months, had its volume increased by sixteen cubic inches, and its temperature to boiling hot.

MOLEN'S TRAIN.—By telegram to President Young, with which we have been kindly favored, we are informed that Captain S. M. Molen's train left Gilmer (Bear River Station) this morning, all well.

FRESH SALMON.—The lovers of fresh salmon may reasonably expect to have their epicurean propensities in this direction satisfied and gratified at reasonable rates before long, as, according to the Sacramento Daily Bee, Mr. John E. Miller, of Sacramento, has the means and appliances for preserving during transportation fish, meat, game, etc., and that the regular inauguration of this business took place on the 22nd instant, with a lot of fine fresh salmon that were frozen—their method of preparation being such as to warrant their continuing so until they reached consumers this side of the mountains. "Let those," adds the Bee, "who crossed the Plains in '99 and '00 and saw the Sacramento fishermen hauling salt Lake with perfectly fresh salmon."

Time brings about a great many changes, and this, if true, will be one which will be hailed with pleasure by all. Fresh salmon are selling at from 7 to 8 cents per pound in California.

PRESENTATION.—We were pleased to see a paper yesterday afternoon, signed by a number of the friends of the presiding Bishop, Edward Hunter, presenting him, as a mark of their high esteem, with a beautiful portrait of himself—a life-size photograph, executed in excellent style, by Messrs. Savage & Ottlinger. We trust that the original may long survive, and that the privilege of "seeing the semblance of himself" conveyed to him in a manner that will testify to him how high a place he holds in the hearts of his many friends.

ANOTHER TRAIN IN.—Captain Seeley's train of 39 wagons got in this afternoon. He brought with him 272 passengers. The trip was made in four weeks, the train having left Laramie this day four weeks at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. There were four deaths during the trip, one of an aged person, and that of three children who died of measles.

CALLER.—We had a call to-day from Mr. John Barker, of Willard, who entertained our citizens last winter with lectures on astronomy and philosophy. He arrived last night, after having had a laborious literary time—writing twenty-five quires of foolscap, since he left here, he purposes returning again, if a suitable bill can be obtained.

MARRIED.—In Salt Lake City, on Thursday, August 28th, 1908, by Elder Geo. Q. Cannon, Edward Wm. Tuillidge and Miss Susan Ferguson.
