NEWS OF THE WEST.

Awful Death of a Chinese Woman Near San Francisco.

GREAT HAVOC BY WOLVES.

A Brutal Robber—Devastation by Grasshoppers—Gasoline Stove Explosion.

The crop of potatoes down in Colorado is said to be the best for years, and all average 100 bushels to the acre.

Says the Cheyenne Sun: The receivers of the Union Pacific are intending to operate the rolling mills in Laramie, after the contract of Otis Gramm has expired.

William H. Pape, an Evanston (Wyo.) pioneer engaged in the jewelry business there and well off, has committed suicide by hanging himself in the cellar of his store. No cause can be given.

News has reached Trinidad, Colo., that Frank Small, of the firm of Hamilton & Small, had been found dead near Trujo, a small place in the eastern part of the county and about sixty-five miles east of Trinidad. It is supposed that he was struck by lightning.

George N. Hickey, of Moscow, Idaho, deputy county treasurer of Latah county, has been arrested for raising county warrants to the amount of about $15,000. His plan was to buy a small warrant for, say the face of the warrant, and then make out the warrant for any amount he saw fit.

On Monday a gasoline stove exploded in the room of Jack W. Clay, the house of the county land agent, Durango, Colo. The room was scattered over the city and some, which were easily turned. While the injuries are not considered fatal, it will be some time before he will be able to be around.

Isaac Sherrick, of Rouget, Mo., returned a passenger from Montana where he is living and is now lying at the Commercial house in Trenton, Neb., in a critical condition, with small chances of recovery. He is 64 years old. He was accompanied by his grandson, J. H. Petty, of Kansas City, who did not miss him until after the train passed McCook.

On Sunday night, while Ellen Bates, at Ouray, Colo., was in the parlor playing the piano, a man came in from the adjoining room, blew out the light and asked for money. Miss Bates made an outcry, when the robber shot her through the wrist and made good his escape. The town is wild with excitement, and if caught the robber will be lynched.

A number of residents to and around Fort Laramie, about one hundred miles north of Cheyenne, near the junction of the North Platte and Laramie rivers, report great devastation by grasshoppers. They have eaten the grass for miles and the crop of hay will be very short. They appear, however, to be gradually leaving the neighborhood, but the damage already done is very great.

The Casper (Wyo.) Derrick says: Range cattle report would have to wolves this season. Prominent cattlemen place the destruction of calves at fully one-fifth and say that they find an average of three to five calves that have been killed by wolves every day and a great many cows and yearlings terribly mangled. No end of complaint is heard on the Natrona county commissioners for their lack of encouragement to have these pests exterminated. As it is, the wolves are increasing very rapidly and are destroying thousands of dollars worth of property more than it would take to pay such a bounty as would be an incentive to their systematic destruction.

A runaway accident, horrible in its results, occurred at Courtland, Cal., on Monday morning. The head Chinaman of Wm. Johnson's ranch down the river was driving down the road to a cart, accompanied by his wife. The horses took fright at some object in the road. The woman was frantic with fear and tried to jump out of the cart. As she was in the act of doing so her clothing became caught in the wheels and she was pulled to the ground. The horses dashed wildly on and the poor woman was dragged quite a distance. When picked up she presented a sickening sight. Literally, a portion of her body was torn to pieces. Her legs had almost been severed from the trunk. The Chinaman would have no one but a Chinese doctor, so they telegraphed for one to San Francisco. In a few minutes a response message was sent, telling the doctor not to come. The woman had died on her board bed.

Denver News: State Veterinary Surgeon Greenwell received information Saturday that Bud Taylor was near Montrose with a flock of 1,200 sheep. The telegram came from C. E. Weisel and was to the effect that the flock was in Telegraphic park and that Taylor professed to be driving them to the railroad. Dr. Greenwell telegraphed instructions to the district attorney at Montrose to arrest the man in charge. He will see the attorney general today as to whether the state or Montrose county should prosecute. Dr. Greenwell regards this as a test case of the validity of the quarantine regulations. It is not a question of the health of the sheep, but as to the right of the owner to bring them into Colorado at all without a bill of health. They could have had them inspected at Green Junction, but brought them in without it, deliberately, Dr. Greenwell thinks. He says the cause of driving them in a railroad is only a pretense. The Taylor brothers are the largest sheep owners in Utah. Dr. Greenwell thinks if this case is passed over that all attempts to enforce the quarantine may as well be abandoned.
