LITERARY NOTES.

The Leading June Magazines, New Quarterlies and Books.

The North American Review for June contains three important articles on the "Industrial Army" movement which are bracketed together under the general title of "The Menace of Concentration." They are written respectively by Major Gen. O. O. Howard, who discusses "The Significance and Aims of the Movement;" by Superintendent Byrnes, of the New York police department, who deals with the "Character and Methods of the Men;" and by Dr. Alvah H. Doty, chief of the bureau of contagious diseases, who deals with "The Danger to the Public Health."

To condense and represent in convenient form for reference the practical facts of knowledge and science, is the office of the Statesman and Economist, which in its addition for 1894, is now ready for delivery. The work is to be published in each even-numbered year in connection with the Biennial Statesman and Economist, published in each odd-numbered year. The work embraces the choicest material and test features of compact encyclopedias, technical handbooks and field guides, eclectic permanent, chronological summaries, critical histories, and universal dictionaries. Within its covers are thousands of curious and valuable facts, numberless rare and useful truths and here a permanent niche, and make a rich contribution to the store of human knowledge. L. P. McCarty, 814 California street, San Francisco is the proprietor and publisher.

The Review of Reviews for June shows the usual versatility of that keenly edited periodical in adapting itself to the topics of the month. In its department of Leading Articles it groups together a very remarkable series of digests of important recent essays on various topics pertaining to the political and social status of woman. Moreover, its always varied and curious collection of caricatures illustrating the history of the month is enlivened by a number of cartoons from New Zealand and Australia, some intended to eulogize and others to satirize the enfranchisement of women in the New Zealand colony and the unsuccessful woman suffrage campaign in New South Wales. Those articles and caricatures are suggested by the Review of Reviews apropos of the great pending discussion in the state of New York.

"Sophas, or the Kidnapping of the Kings," is the startling title of Albert Alberg's latest book which clearly shows how the socialists can effect the ends for which they are striving, by the wholesale capture and transportation of all the monarchs of Europe. No publisher in Berlin, London or Paris could be found bold enough to print it. Boston and New York houses declared it too revolutionary. As "Sophas" revealed intimate acquaintance with the various political intrigues now in progress at the different courts of Europe, it is not surprising that several foreign emissaries have been secretly sent to this country for the purpose of preventing the publication of the volume. The publishers, however, have steadily declined all overtures, among which was one from the anti-Socialist society of Berlin, of which it is well known that the young Emperor William, the Czar and Signor Crispi are active members. The book will be issued in a few days by the Bow-Knot Publishing company of Chicago, with a portrait and biography of the dashing author.

Current History for the 1st quarter of 1894 quite sustains the great reputation of this remarkable work as a comprehensive, able and interesting record of the world's doings. It contains 260 pages of reading matter, which convey the reader on a flying trip around the world, giving him clear perspective a birds-eye view of the important events of the day in all civilized countries, stopping long enough at points to enable him to get a thorough understanding of all the salient questions, and leaving him with the conviction that he has been brought into closer touch than ever before with the greater life of the world, and is better equipped to read even his daily paper and to form an intelligent estimate on the important topics on which every live citizen should be well posted. The work is clear and philosophic in its presentation of facts, well grouped and illustrated, free from political or sectarian bias, accurate in its statements, and is indorsed by scholars and public men at home and abroad as a valuable addition to any library. (Buffalo, N. Y.: Charlemagne, Cox & Co., publishers; $1.50 a year; sample copies, 15 cents; specimen pages sent on application).

In The Forum for June, Secretary Morton writes on "Farmers, Fallacies and Furrows," to show that the agricultural unrest is caused less by agricultural distress than by political and economic fallacies. Mr. E. L. Godkin asks "Who will Pay the Bills of Socialism?" and points out that all the socialistic leaders of every grade and kind who are promising so a far better state of society, fail to tell where the money will come from to pay the bills. The movement in favor of woman suffrage is treated pro and con; Mr. Matthew Hale presents arguments to show that giving the ballot to women is unnecessary and contains many possible dangers, on the other hand, Miss Mary A. Greene reviews the several stages of the movement and the several kinds of experiments, and makes an interesting summary of the present status of the agitation—with a strong leaning to favor it. The Right Rev. J. M. Farley presents arguments to show why church property should be exempt from taxation, and about with this is an article by Mr. E. M. Winston on "The Threatening Conflict with Humanism." The renewed agitation for bimetallism, which is showing itself so actively in Boston and Chicago, has prompted an article by Mr. Franklin H. Head, secretary of the Chicago Bimetallic League, showing the need of an international monetary agreement. On the other hand, Mr. J. C. Hendrix, a member of Congress and the president of one of the largest banks in New York city, gives his reasons for recording further agitation of the subject a very expensive folly. There are other interesting articles on various timely topics.

Than to Buy a "STEARNS!"

We made the bold statement, challenging contradiction, in last week's Tribune, that the Stearns Bicycle was the highest priced bicycle to the dealers—not the highest list—but to the dealers the highest priced bicycle in the world. Have any of the agents of other wheels accepted the challenge? Not one. They know that we have the proof. We know to a dollar what every wheel sold in this city costs, and whether long lists or short lists. We are giving the riders better value for their dollars in the

Stearns,
Fowler,
Gendron
Waverly,

than is to be found elsewhere. In every race meet this year, last under the sanction of the L. A. W., the "STEARNS" wheel has finished first, first, first. The first World's Record Broken this year fell to Nat Butler; and the "STEARNS" special 31½ pounds, namely, the Great Lincoln road race at Malden, Mass., before sixty thousand human people, and the time (1 hr. 17 min. 40 1-5 sec.) one hour, eleven minutes and twenty-eight and a fifth seconds, for twenty-five miles. Think of it, on the road. Up the "STEARNS" wood rims and leather-weight wheels break down! I guess so.

How about the Fowler?

Good wheel, good workmanship. Value for price in every purchase. Try them.

Mr. A. Fisher, Fisher Brewing Company, bought two Waverly Solos, one for his daughter and one for his niece. Mr. John Kelly same company, bought one Waverly Solo for his daughter our weeks ago; last sale resulted from the first.

Mr. N. A. Naylor bought Waverly Scorcher.

Mr. Thed Beyler bought No. 17 Gendron.

Mr. George Hornberger bought Albany Eagle, and Hamilton Cotta bought Stearns special, 31½ lbs. All on Monday last.

"Velocity" claimed that the "Sterling" was the only and first wheel to be ridden on Capitol Hill in an street. A Stearns and Gendron were both ridden up to the top of Capitol Hill last year (since the grading, which has been done on all street, was done. On Tuesday, Hamilton C. Cotta, 14 years old, rode the Stearns special, weighing 31½ pounds, gear 62, to the top and back. Can you beat it? Mr. Angell accompanied him on a Fowler geared to 60 inches.
