AT PINE RIDGE!

Agent Royer Removed.—Buffalo Bill Arrives.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, Jan. 8.—Captain Royer was removed today by the Department of the Interior and Captain Pierce of the First Infantry assumes his place. Royer says his removal was brought about by political influence and that no charges could be brought against him. General Miles' views of the

is about as follows: There are three or four hundred in the hostile camp who are trying in every way to influence the remainder, not only to remain out, but to fight the matter to the end. General Miles hopes the better element will prevail and destroy the influence of those wicked Indians. On this account he is exercising patience. A dispatch from his camp on White Clay Creek, advises General Miles that many of the younger Indians are with him and will visit Miles tomorrow. The position of the various bands in the field was changed somewhat today by Miles being in position to circle in which the hostiles are now gathered. It was reported that Georgi Miles would hold a conference today with Red Cloud, but he has decided to hold no more talk with the good older, having given him an opportunity some days ago to abandon hostilities or suffer the consequences. The arrival of the old man is considered an evidence of his good faith, as he also the effort he has made today to induce Lieutenant Casey's life by warning him of danger.

BUFFALO BILL.

Bill of a fight between the Cheyenne and Sioux is entirely without foundation. The former are with the agency Indians in the camp near Pine Ridge.

The morning about 200 of the Ogallalas succeeded in getting away and came into the agency. Old-Man-Afraid-of-His-Horse, with several members of his band, came in today from their friendly visit to the Crows in Montana. Two Lances and several others joined the camp and were granted audience by General Miles.

BUFFALO BILL ARRIVED

at Rushville at noon and had a talk with General Miles. He was warmly greeted by several hundred Indians. He informed General Miles that the Nebraska militia have extended their line towards Pine Ridge several miles, and mounted men patrol between the several companies, that no Indians may pass through the lines. General Miles approved the arrangement.

Dri Bee Cloud determined to leave the hostile camp last night, and, with his wife, walked sixteen miles to the agency, getting here this morning. He used every endeavor to prevent the murder of Casey yesterday, and even went so far as to warn him of his danger. Casey had turned and was returning toward the military camp when the twenty bullets shot him in the back of the head.

One of the wounded squaws died today. She was shot in seven places. The chief surgeon directed the amputation of one limb, but when the bucks outside heard of this they protested so vigorously that the amputation was given up, and as a consequence, the woman died. Five more are not expected to live.

AT THE SUGGESTION OF BUFFALO BILL,

Miles bought out our cattle so as to satisfy the Indians are who have been at the head of Snake River in Nebraska. He bought it in behalf of the Indians, said to be coming, are in camp three miles from the agency.

ONLY A FEW SHOOTING.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The situation, as summed up at the Interior Department, is about as follows: "There are in all about twenty thousand Sioux Indians—men, women and children—on the seven agency reservations. Of this number, 14,000 are accounted for, as they are living on the reservations in peace, and not taking any part in the Ghost dance. This leaves about thirty-five hundred men, women and children to face the 5000 men now under the command of General Miles. The hostile camp is located seventeen miles north of the agency and a corrdon of troops surrounds it with the exception of the south side, the object being to drive them into the agencies. There is constant communication between the hostile camp and the agency. The hostiles are well supplied with beef, but they have no sugar or coffee, except as they are supplied by "friendlies."

While the situation is regarded as hopeless for the Indians, yet it is believed that they have no intention of surrendering. It is predicted by some who are on the ground that there will be a battle on Sunday or Monday. When the hopelessness of fighting against such odds is pointed out, the only explanation given is that the "Indians are crazy." From reports received at the Interior Department the situation is believed to be tense and the people at the agencies are very much disturbed.

MARAUDING SIOUX IN CHEYENNE COUNTY.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 8.—Two calls for aids to be used for the protection of the settlers from Indians have been received at the government office. Marauding Sioux are in Converse County, not over 100 miles north of this city. The arms at the disposal of the executive were exhausted two weeks ago. Major Biddle, of the Sioux guards, has been sent to Lusk and Douglas to investigate, and if he thinks the situation warrants the militia will be ordered out at once.

AGENT RIVER'S REMOVAL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Secretary Noble this morning sent a dispatch to Agent Royer at Pine Ridge, dismissing him from his office. The Secretary directs him to turn over the property to Captain Pierce, First Infantry, who will temporarily act as agent at that point. The action, so far as the removal of Royer is concerned, was determined upon some time ago, when the officials of the Indian Office learned that Royer was not pirting equal to the emergency.

ESSAYS AND ADDRESSES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—The Chronicle's Wells, Nev., special says: Agent Reed, of the Shoshone Indians, left this vicinity today to attend a ghost dance in Star Valley at the head of the Humboldt River. The chief, Soldier Charlie, claims there is no danger of an outbreak unless the Government attempts to stop the dances.

GHOST DANCE IN IOWA.

BURLINGTON, Ia, Jan. 8.—It is reported that the Mesquakie Indians have taken the Mesrah craze in Southern Iowa county, and began a ghost dance. Some apprehension is felt.

THE FINANCE BILL.

The General Debate to Close Next Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—During the morning hours in the Senate a number of public building bills were passed, after which Stewart called up his motion to vote upon the Financial bill tomorrow. After a lengthy discussion, it was agreed, on motion of Ingalls, that the general debate on the Finance bill close next Tuesday, on Wednesday debate to be resumed under the ten-minute rule and a final vote taken on passage to be taken before adjournment of that day. Gorman, Sherman and others participated in the debate.

The House adopted the Senate in support of Stewart's amendment for the free coinage of silver, and to the extent of its remarks declared that it was impossible that the senator from Ohio (Sherman) could take a fair, impartial, judicial view of that amendment.

Call next addressed the Senate, and the bill was then laid aside.

A few public buildings bills were passed. McConnell introduced bills for the erection of public buildings at Lewiston and Boise City, Idaho. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Resolution With Reference to the Russian Jews.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Channing's resolution with reference to the treatment of the Jews in Russia was under consideration by the House Committee on Foreign Affairs today. It was finally referred to a sub-committee with authority to draft a resolution that will be in conformity to the facts reported by the American diplomatic representative in Russia, and it was at the same time will be so worded as to not constitute interference with Russia's internal affairs. It was the general sentiment of the committee that the resolution should do no more than express the sympathy of the United States with the Jews.

GHOST DANCERS FOR DEATH.

A communication was sent to the Senate today by the Secretary of War, which shows that there are now three soldiers, one brigadier-general and colonel Porter drawing pensions of $50 per month under the act of Congress of 1887. There are also thirty-two non-commissioned officers drawing the same amount.

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS.

In recognition of the services rendered by the captain and crew of the United States ship Baltimore, which survived the wreck of the Chilean ship Captain Erickson to Sweden last year, the King of Sweden desires to present them gold medals, to be distributed as follows: One gold medal for the commanding officer, thirty-one silver, one for each subordinate officer, and 322 bronze, one for each of the crew. As the captain and crew are not permitted to accept these medals except by authority of Congress, a resolution was introduced by Hopkins, Sullivan [illegible]

EMMA ABBOTT.

Her Cremation Expected to Take Place at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 8.—It is expected that the body of Emma Abbott, who died in Salt Lake City on Monday, will be brought to Pittsburg to be cremated. Back in the '70s, when the first bodies were cremated in Washington, Mrs. Abbott happened to be in that town and was much interested in the new method of disposing of the dead. Three years ago, while in Pittsburg, Miss Abbott and Miss Annandale were preparing for an afternoon drive, when some one suggested that they visit the Pittsburg crematory, which had just been completed.

"A new crematory here?" exclaimed the prima donna. "How interesting, let us go and see how delightful, Lizzie," she said, turning to Miss Annandale.

"How horrible, you mean," was the retort of the contralto.

"Oh, no, it is not dreadful at all. I'm not afraid of the thought of death and I suppose I'll be burned anyway," she concluded with a merry laugh.

And so it came about that the visit to the Samson crematory was made. Picking up a tiny piece of bone, Miss Abbott remarked: "I also left the place after an hour's stay: 'If I may have this I shall have it mounted in a pin and wear it as a sort of Trappist amulet.' A moment, perhaps, and her eyes, in will in reminiscence of my resolution.'"

"What resolution?" was asked.

"I have definitely determined to do what I have said I would do before. When I die I shall be cremated. If it can be managed I shall be cremated right here in Pittsburg."

Only a few weeks ago, during her last appearance here, Abbott talked to her doctor to be cremated as a thing settled and understood. The persons in charge of the crematory will give no information, but it is believed that they have been instructed to have the ashes in readiness.

THE McQUARY TRIAL.

It is Expected that He Will be Found Guilty.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8.—The famous McQuary trial seat an end, all but the decision of the court. The arguments on both sides were completed today and, calling for the books and opinions offered in testimony, the court without leave until it could formulate its opinion. It is expected that a decision will be reached in a short time, as it is generally conceded that McQuary will be found guilty.

In his argument today McQuary stated implicitly that his object in writing the book was not to create a sensation, but to, if possible, assist in reforming Christianity in common sense and nineteenth century thoughts. In closing with a final reply to the prosecutor, he said the church and prosecutor were dogmatists, and that the latter admitted that the Council of Nice did not habit upon the virgin birth and literal resurrection of the body.

Rev. McQuary has been advised throughout the trial by a Unitarian clergyman, and it is anticipated that he will adopt that creed.

SEVERE SNOWSTORM.

Inclement Weather in Kansas and Northwestern Missouri.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 8.—The severest snowstorm of the season raged all day and continues tonight in Kansas and Northwestern Missouri. The storm extends over the whole of the former state. Snow has fallen to a depth of inches. The high winds have drifted it to such an extent as to seriously impede railway travel. Reports from several points say the farmers regard the snow as very beneficial to winter wheat.

DENVER, Jan. 8.—A heavy snow storm has been raging since last night. It is seven inches in depth and still falling.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 8.—A heavy snowstorm is raging through Northern Kansas. Trains are standstill. The heaviest fall has taken on the central branch of the Union Pacific for eight days.

KOCH'S LYMPH.

Professor Virchow's Discovery Regarding its Effects.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—A special dispatch to the Observer says: Professor Virchow delivered a lecture before the Berlin Medical Society, giving the results of twenty post-mortem examinations made on the bodies of patients who died after being treated with the lymph according to the method employed by Professor Koch. These examinations extended from the time the remedy had been first employed up to the end of December. Professor Virchow declared the injection of lymph increases the bacilli in the body and caused them to migrate to portions of the body previously unaffected, thus virtually generating a new affection. The professor also said the lymph invariably causes intense suppuration in various parts of the body and endangers the life of the patients. It has not been clearly proved that the lymph would destroy tuberculosis germs and it was dangerous to operate on weak patients. He declared much patient experimenting with the lymph was still necessary to establish a clear judgment of the value of the new remedy.

THE IRISH SITUATION.

The Hostilities Ready to Face All Eventualities.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—Undoubtedly a great entanglement has taken place between O'Brien and Healy, but the Healy faction declare themselves ready to face all eventualities, even that of fighting as an independent party, and let them join the rest of the McCarthyites in making any terms with Parnell.

David is also there in the ranks of the new party. He claims all the credit for the Kilkenny victory, and is regarded in England as the real leader of the new Irish party. He is pledged deeply to the English socialists and will all he can to force the Irish party to adopt an advanced radical programme. McCarthy cannot consent, as it would hopelessly embarrass Gladstone, and they are not likely to jeopardize David to Gladstone. When David begins to put the screws on there will be another fight.

In Ireland the feeling appears to be crystallizing on both sides, neither of which is making any inroads upon the support of the other, but if O'Brien and Dillon absolutely throw in their lots with Parnell, they will at once detach a large section of the McCarthyites, about forty nominees, in fact, to accept the Healy faction, and they could carry the country to the teeth of the bishops and priests without difficulty.

Parnell goes to Ireland on Friday to address a meeting at Limerick on Sunday. Limerick is already Parnellite and the demonstration will be a great affair.

Meanwhile O'Brien is expected to meet McCarthy at Boulogne and lay before him the results of his consultations with Parnell. McCarthy, who detests a fight, is for peace.

Sexton, who disapproves the bitter personalities in which Healy has been indulging, would not start in the [illegible] throughout the crisis. He took a firm stand from the first but he has not said a word that he need take back. He has independently made up his opinion by his dignified conduct. Even all I can hear the prospects of a settlement being arrived at as a result of the Boulogne conference are pretty good, though it is impossible to speak definitely.

LETTER FROM GLADSTONE.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—Gladstone has written a letter for publication in regard to statements, described, I hope, untrutly," he says, "by Captain Price. They are both false. I have made no offer of office to Parnell, and his retirement, of which he spoke to Morley, was not merely retirement for the present."

According to a dispatch to the Associated Press Telegraph Company, Maurice Healy, in an interview, said the Boulogne conference was not productive of any definite results.

PARNELL'S DENIER.

DUBLIN, Jan. 8.—The Freeman's Journal says Parnell denies the statements published to the effect that Parnell had agreed not to canvass Ireland until the general election, that he agreed to transfer the funds to O'Brien in order that the latter could pay the Dipperary tenants, that O'Brien has agreed to secure McCarthy's deposition and that O'Brien will lead the united Irish party. The Freeman's Journal declares the conference closed. It hoped it would have had great prestige and salutary effect toward a renewal of the union of the Irish party.

United Ireland says today that Parnell will make an impetuous appearance Sunday next in the address which he is to deliver at Limerick.

A fund of relief for the suffering poor of Ireland, started by the Earl of Zetland and Balfour, generally known as the Balfour fund, now amounts to $17,000.

THE NEBRASKA LEGISLATURE.

The Sheriff Fights His Way Through the Crowd.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 8.—At 12:15 the Supreme Court issued a writ of mandamus directing the speaker of the House to canvass the returns. The Sheriff of Lancaster County, with deputies and a tariff from the Supreme Court, force in the doors of the house and fought their way through the crowd of Alliance men guarding the entrance. The writ was served on the speaker, a motion to take a recess until 4 o'clock declared carried by the Lieutenant Governor and the democrats and republicans left the hall.

The speaker of the house declared that no recess was taken and the Alliance members remained and the roll was called.

The proceedings of the afternoon session of the legislature were LOST STORMY.

The Alliance men had united down unanimously and when the lieutenant-governor took the chair the Joint assembly, as opposition was offered. The returns of the last election were canvassed and the democratic governor, Boyd, and the remainder of the State ticket, all republicans, declared elected.

A resolution was passed requiring the full Alliance vote, declaring the canvass concluded, under protest, and that the legislature in no way recognizes the election of the officers who had been returned. They were, however, promptly sworn in by the chief justice. The Alliance contest will now go on as prescribed by law. Matters were this evening. Governor-elect Boyd called on Governor Thayer and the latter informed him that he (Thayer) would not give up the office, on the ground that Boyd was not a citizen of the United States. Governor Thayer has barricaded himself in the executive office with the police and a company of militia on guard. It is understood that he will remain, governor if possible until all questions affecting his successor are settled.

Boyd, by law, will be remembered, came to this country from Ireland while Boyd was a minor. He took out his first papers but never perfected citizenship, and his son was never naturalized. It is claimed, therefore, that he is ineligible to office.

AFTER NEBRATH.

Account of Being Complicated in a Republican Scheme.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 8.—Steps have been taken looking to the impeachment of Jeremiah Neb, president of the Kansas Farmers' Alliance, accused of being a party to an alleged scheme to elect S. J. Tolmer republican congressman from the sixth district to the United States Senate.

The matter will be brought before a special meeting of the executive board of the Alliance. Neb'rath and Coldwell, who is also alleged to be in the supposed deal, are members of the board. Neb'rath sent a copy of a letter to the public to a correspondent of the Associated Press this morning, in which he denied knowing anything of the authorship of the letter. In it he says if the letter was written by Tolmer, he is the prince of fools and had no authority, and he denounced the author in his action. Neb'rath adds that he believes the letter signed with Tolmer's name to be a forgery.

IN CONNECTICUT.

Democratic Officers Declared Elected by the Senate.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 8.—In the house of representatives of this city yesterday afternoon by the senate were received. They declared each democratic State officer elected. A resolution creating a special committee of the house on the canvass of State officers, referring the returns to them and directing them to investigate the alleged issue of immaterialities in the count, was adopted. A recess to January 20th was then taken.

The senate made no effort to transact business today.

There was much excitement in the capitol last night before the senate adjourned over a rumor that the democratic candidates for State officers had been sworn in and were about to claim the offices. The doors were locked and other precautions taken, but no movement was made and it is now reported that none was contemplated.

The present situation of affairs in the senate is that the senate has declared the officers elected, but the house has [illegible]

one was elected, and meanwhile the old State officers (republicans) hold their office, although Lieutenant-Governor Merritt, who is not appointed in the senate, and that body is presided over by its own president pro tem.

The Indiana Legislature.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 8.—The legislature met this morning and all the officers chosen by the democratic caucus last night were sworn in to each house. The governor's message will be delivered tomorrow morning.

Governor Burleigh's Message.

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 8.—Both branches of the state legislature met today. The senate chose Wm. Wakefield to preside over the senate and proceeded to read his inauguration address. He says the time has come for Maine to adopt the Australian system of voting, and urges the citizens to renew their efforts to keep Maine in the van of temperance states.

JACKSON DAY.

Ex-President Cleveland in the Orator at the Academy of Music.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 8.—Jackson Day was celebrated tonight by the Young Men's Democratic Association with a banquet at the Academy of Music, at which many prominent persons were present.

Ex-President Cleveland was the orator of the evening, speaking on the "Principles of True Democracy." He enlarged on democracy and its need, and said: "Parties have come and parties have gone, but the Democratic has been a force from Jefferson's day to the present, and when the democratic party did not exist, active, aggressive, and prepared for the fray, it was not. Not all who followed the banner have been able to demonstrate, as an obstruction, why Democrats should have been and why their wants and the country's good, but they have known and felt that as the government was established for the people, and standing for them could be safer trusted. Jackson has been in the party since it first organized, and those things which Jefferson advocated.

"The democratic party, by an historical study of

must be prepared to meet all the wants of the people as they arise, and furnish a remedy for every throbbing evil. We cannot escape the duty which party membership imposes on us, and urge constantly upon our fellow citizens of this day and generation the solemn responsibility of the duty necessary for the protection of their welfare and happiness in all diverse conditions.

"There should, of course, be no suggestion that a departure from the time-honored principles of our party is necessary to the attainment of these objects. On the contrary, we should constantly congratulate ourselves that our party stands in a position to meet any emergency that can arise in the life of free nation. Thus, when we see the functions of government used to enrich a favored few at the expense of the many, as in our tariff, which imposes from many months burdens the comforts of life in order that in the palaces of wealth luxury may more abound, we turn to our creed and find that it enjoins equal and

EXACT JUSTICE TO ALL MEN.

"Then, if we are well grounded in our political faith, we will not be deceived nor permit others to be deceived by plausible pretext or specious sophistry. When the farmers are in distress, and their long hours of toil so poorly requitted that money lenders exact out their substance, while for every thing they need they pay tribute to the favorites of government care, we know that all this is far from the 'encouragement of agriculture' which our creed commands.

"When we see extravagance of public expenditure but reaching a point of reckless waste, we remember economy in public expense is an important article in democratic faith.

"When we see our political adversaries bent upon the passage of a Federal law with a scarcely denied purpose of perpetuating partisan supremacy in elections, we will stubbornly resist such a dangerous and revolutionary scheme in obedience to our pledge for the support of State governments in all their rights.

"Under anti-democratic encouragement we have seen constantly increasing selfishness attached to our political affairs. A departure from the sound and safe theory that the people should control the government for the sake of the benefits resulting to all has bred a sentiment, manifesting itself with astonishing boldness, that the government may be enlisted in the furtherance and advantage of private interests, through their willing agents in public place.

"Such abandonment of patriotic political action has naturally led to an estimate of so degrading that it has been openly and boldly proclaimed by the projection of selfish schemes. Money is invested in the purchase of votes, with the definite calculation that it will yield a profitable return in results advantageous to the investor. Another crime akin to this is the intimidation by employers of voters to compel them to work and bread. Nothing could be more baleful to free democracy than such offenses against our free institutions.

"In several States the honest sentiment of the party has asserted itself in support of every just reform, but the tribunals of this terrible wrong. To fail to support would be to violate that principle in the case of time. Sometimes, which commands jealous care to the right of election by the people."

"Speaking of the tariff," Mr. Cleveland in conclusion, "has the sensitiveness of the people on questions involving weight and wrong been better illustrated than in Pennsylvania?"

President Thompson, of the association in introducing Mr. Cleveland, spoke of him as a man who by great energy threw down the gauntlet of tariff reform, and, like his great predecessor, Jefferson, practically declared, "by the Eternal" its principles was right and would prevail.

Governor Pattison, Congressman Breckenridge and others also spoke.

Secretary Bayard, Governor Russell of Massachusetts, and others also were present. Mr. Cleveland occupied a box during the speaking.

10 Per Cent on.

IN CHILI.

Trouble Between the President and Congress.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Dispatches were received this morning, indicating the outbreak of trouble in Chili. Jeffreys, of the firm of Jeffreys & Co., said: "We have had several letters and also some dispatches which state that the whole trouble is between President Balmaceda and Congress. The people, through Congress, want some laws made which will be concessions to the lower classes. The President refuses to call Congress together and does not desire the laws made.

The Chilian legation discredit the report of a revolution in Chili.

Governor Markham Installed.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 8.—Governor Markham was installed in office today. In his inaugural address, the Governor said, regarding the matter of making an appropriation for a display at the World's Fair: "The only question for us to be considered is of such act. He recommended that Congress be requested to enforce the Chinese exclusion act stringently."

The Minnesota Deadlock.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 8.—The House met again this morning and cast their ballots for speaker, without result. A recess was taken. Both sides are holding caucuses.

At the afternoon session Stevens, the Democratic candidate for Speaker, withdrew in favor of Champlin the Republican candidate, and the latter was elected over Stevens, Republican. The House adjourned without choosing the other officers.

Governor Tuttle.

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 8.—Hiram A. Tuttle was sworn in as governor this morning. He then delivered his message. Both branches of the legislature adjourned as soon as the governor finished.

Governor Russell Takes the Oath of Office.

BOSTON, Jan. 8.—Governor Russell took the oath of office today. He then proceeded to read his inaugurational address.

Senator Vest Renominated.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 8.—Senator Vest was renominated by the democratic caucus tonight.

Analysis of a Brain.

WORCESTER, Mass., Jan. 8.—An analysis is now being made at Clark's University of the brain of Lazarus Phillips, the famous deaf mute, lately deceased. The weight of the brain was found to be 1200 grams, which is slightly but only slightly less than the weight of the average English and European female brain. It must be borne in mind that Mrs. Bridgeman was but five feet high, sixty years of age, and weighed at her death but ninety-eight pounds. The weight of her brain, therefore, may be regarded as fully equal to that of women of her age and size.

Mistress—That was a very nice letter of Patrick's, offering you marriage, Mary. What shall I say in reply?

Mary—Tell him, mum, I'm just fine, but when I get my wages raised next month, mum, that I'll begin to save for the wedding things.
