GENERAL CONFERENCE.

THIRD DAY.

Afternoon Session.

Singing by the choir:

Hail to the witnesses of God's glad morning.

Prayer by Elder John Nicholson.

Behold, the servants of the Lord
In Lehi's goodly land join,
Was sung by the choir.

President George Q. Cannon said the first business to order would be to hear the report of the committee appointed at the forenoon session of the Conference to draft resolutions expressive of the views of the assemblage upon certain subjects presented for their consideration, and recently made regarding the community.

The committee not being ready to report, Apostle A. H. Lund was called upon to speak.

Apostle Anton H. Lund urged the Saints to carry out the instructions which had received in their everday lives. Since last Conference we have reached another station on our journey, and in that time God has been fulfilling his purposes. The signs of the times are significant. On each occasion as this it is good to examine ourselves and see how, where we stand. Our assembling at this is the kingdom of God should not fail us to stay. The winter is approaching. I would like to impress upon the Saints the value of their quorum meetings. Our young men have their names enrolled in the various quorums, and they are coming on to be helpful of their fathers, but that they should be alive to all of their obligations. We should sustain the Sunday schools and Church schools and every institution in the midst of Zion.

Apostle Abraham H. Cannon

Addressed the Conference on the loyalty of the Latter-day Saints to the Constitution and institutions of our government.

It was announced that the committee had entered the building and were ready to report. The Conference voted unanimously to hear the committee.

The following were then read by Hon. John T. Caine:

President Wilford Woodruff and members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, in General Conference assembled:

Brethren and Sisters.—Your committee appointed to formulate an expression of the Conference in behalf of the resolutions made by the majority of the Utah Commission in their report to the President of the United States for the purpose of inducing the Congress of the United States to repeal the aforementioned Promulgation and Resolutions, and recommend such a step, beg leave to submit the following:

Resolved, that the members of George Q. Brewster last night while the family were absent, and for a time had everything pretty much their own way. A number of valuable articles were collected. No clue.

POWDER AND ALCOHOL!

Hunter Testified Yesterday Morning in Judge Zane's Court.

More Indictments by the Grand Jury.—Admissions to Citizenship.—Court Notes, etc.

Applicants for admission to citizenship are numerous just at the present time. No fewer than five were admitted before Judge Zane yesterday, and this morning three more names were added to the list on Clerk McMillan's book. Some amusement was afforded the spectators in court in one instance, in which one of the "supporters" of the applicant fenced some of the questions put to him in quite an ingenious way. It was shown, however, that the moral character of the youthful applicant was above suspicion, and he was declared by the court to be an acknowledged American citizen. The newly admitted are Oscar Frickstad, a native of Norway, now of Salt Lake; Frederick Dancsen Christensen, a Dane, now of Sevier county; Christian Anderson, also a native of Denmark, and now residing in Sevier county.

THE WHITEMORE CASE.

In the case of George C. Whitemore, the Nephi banker, charged with assaulting an assault upon Tom Leonard while the latter was confined in the county jail in connection with the alleged gold brick swindle, Judge Zane in the morning, on behalf of the defendant Whitemore, renewed his application, on affidavit, for a continuance, the objecting, as already stated in these columns, because of the absence of a very material witness.

U. S. Assistant District Attorney Dickson stated in court that he had received affidavit to submit, and after some talk Judge Zane sanctioned a continuance until Nov. 2nd.

A PECULIAR AFFAIR.

A jury having been empaneled, the trial of Albert Kern for the offence of Attorney S. H. Lewis appeared, on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to do bodily harm, was taken up.

The alleged offense took place on Nov. 7th, at Kanab, Summit Co., where the parties reside. The complainant, whose name is Thomas Wolstenholme, is about twenty years of age, the defendant being about forty. The case for the prosecution was that as Wolstenholme was riding on horseback along the highway on the morning of the date named the defendant came out of his house, raised a gun at him and fired, without previously saying a word.

It was alleged in the cross-examination that the parties had been acquainted for about a year before the occurrence, and had never had any misunderstanding, or exchanged hard words. When the defendant was before the justice at the preliminary hearing he said he remembered meeting about the time the shot was struck the complainant, but skimmed along the road and "made a dust" underneath the horse.

Mr. Lewis (to complainant)—What did you do when Mr. Hunter fired?

Witness—I rode away, and did not say anything to him.

Mr. Lewis—Now do you say that he shot at you?

Witness—I don't know that he meant to hit me. I cannot say whether he was intoxicated, but I should think he was.

Further cross-examination failed to show that the defendant had any motive whatever in firing at Wolstenholme. Two witnesses were called who saw the smoke from the gun discharged by Hunter, but could not see him fire. They had heard the defendant say that he had no recollection whatever of shooting at the complainant, and that he had nothing at all against him.

The complainant, on being re-called by the prosecution and questioned, seemed to be in some doubt as to whether the shot was intended for him. There was a Sioux, he said, between where the defendant stood and the road, several shots were fired after witness had got five hundred or six hundred yards away, but he neither saw nor heard the whizzing of the ball.

Mr. Lewis submitted that there was no case to go to the jury, there being no evidence of malice.

The Judge—Let the defendant be sworn.

Hunter went upon the stand and his explanation of the affair was that on the occasion in question he went out in about a dog that was running around his premises, and he thought he had fired at a magpie in the tree. He had not the slightest thought of shooting at Wolstenholme, who he stated, seemed to be a very good boy, and bore no ill-feeling towards him. Witness was a pretty good shot, and had he wished to be mean could easily have struck the complainant at his leisure. He was rather "tuff" at the time, having had a little too much alcohol beforehand.

The Judge—How much alcohol had you been drinking?

Witness—Well, three or six had drunk a quart between us. (Laughter in court.)

Attorney Stephens said he was not prepared to argue the case further and it went to the jury, who without a moment's hesitation acquitted the accused.

Hunter was then placed upon his trial on a charge of grand larceny, the subject matter of the alleged theft being a heifer. The difficulty here seems to have arisen originally over a question of trading, and the case was in progress at noon.

Returned Missionary.

Elder Horace D. Harper of the Twenty-second ward of this city, called at our office today. He returned Thursday, October 1, from Indian Territory, where he has been laboring as a missionary for nearly two years. He left his home on the 13th of February, 1890.

Elder Harper says his health has not been strong all the time, but otherwise he has enjoyed his work very much. He has been well treated among the people with whom he has come in contact and he entertains the best hopes for the future of the mission in Indian Territory.

SOME NEW AND EXCELLENT EXHIBITS.

A Review of the Art Gallery, Utah Giving Promise of Genius as Well as Industry.

In the hand contest yesterday afternoon the first prize of $75.00 and a gold medal was awarded to the First Ward couple band of Salt Lake. Dr. Fisher, the Ogden judge protesting.

The rush to the grounds set in before ten o'clock this morning, and before eleven the halls and grounds were swarming with people. The exhibits were largely increased during yesterday. But there is still some space to be let in the main hall, and a few exhibitors have not taken the best advantage of the space given them. But another day will undoubtedly make the exhibition in every respect perfect and complete.

Some splendid fruit displays were added to the forms yesterday afternoon which we were unable to notice.

W. F. Woodruff, of Ogden, brought in a large display of cones of apples and pears which have attracted universal attention.

In the Centerville exhibit a lot of second prize quilts were on view, covered that have caused no little gazing among the visitors.

Mr. Elias Morris, of Salt Lake, has on exhibition a very variety of beautiful specimens of fine manufactures which is worthy of special notice. It is a product of Portland cement and asphalt, and consists of mosaics and of high polish, and all sorts of artistic and fashionable designs in the manufacture. It is more attractive and leaves positive than marble.

The Keenan & McCready Preserve Company have spread out for inspection a large assortment of pickles and pickled goods. They have on exhibition 27 varieties of pickles and other canned fruits in the same preparations. The goods are all designed and no less than a month ago, and the advance they have made is expressed in the fact that last week 10,000 pounds of jellies and preserves were turned out.

The Agricultural College has placed on exhibition a large assortment of specimens of seeds, which they have been the limits of experiment there during this year. In the collection are 36 varieties of wheat, 30 varieties of oats, 7 varieties of barley, 18 varieties of forage grasses, 14 varieties of corn, 10 varieties of peas, 12 varieties of beans, 5 varieties of table beets, 11 varieties of sugar beets, 36 varieties of vegetables and 12 varieties of potatoes, all of which have been under experiment at the college.

Other attractive exhibits are those of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, who have on the counter an Imperial Cabinet Grand Organ, and the Weber Musical Company, pianos and organs; Rowe-Morris Summerhays manufacturers of fine cabinet and tilted table and mantelpiece; Salt Lake Music Company, pianos and organs; John Standing, trunks; James Gallagher, trunks; Pacific Lumber Company, carved mouldings, etc.

In the mineral exhibit has been placed on exhibition this morning, a large collection of views of the Park City mining district. The collection comprises photographs of the underground workings of the Ontario, which were taken by flash light exposures. In it every interesting feature of Park City's mining and milling operations is exhibited.

The part of the mineral corner that has attracted most attention is the big gelena couple from the Sun Down mine at La Plata. The couple weighs 1020 pounds, and is a compact mass of lead ore which averages 65 per cent. lead and $5 in silver per ton.

In the south hall up stairs Mr. Jos. Mills has on exhibition a moving interesting in the line of jackknife carving. Mr. Mills, ingenuity and patience have combined in the production of a miniature picture frame having 3000 pieces and put together without glue or nails. The Architect of this and a number of other pieces of work is prepared to settle them off during the closing days of the Fair.

Another piece of mechanism is put on the forms by a Utah genius who proposes to revolutionize bicycling by supplanting shank muscle with a spiral spring for propelling power. The mechanism can be seen in the south extension of the lower floor.

The Art exhibit is pronounced by critics to be not only the finest that has ever appeared in Utah but comparable to any in the West.

Nearly all the aspiring artists of Utah have contributed to it. "Tabor, the Aztec Rain-god," is the great attraction. It is by Dudley Wheelwright G. M. Ottinger, and though small is considered by critics as an exhibition, is valued at $500. The representation is that of an Indian figure blowing hailstones at a sort of wind instrument. He stands in the foreground of a deep mountain gorge and the exquisite foliage shading combined with the Indian, Aztec, Mexican and other fantastic decorations of the savage spirit gives the picture a decidedly wild and weird suggestiveness. The sketch and the figure have been the subject of much special study by the artist and is a historical representation.

Mr. G. Eberle has several landscapes which are especially fine. One is a pastoral scene in Utah, another is from Black Canyon, Colorado, and a third from Cascade Valley. His sketches are remarkably graphic. In his foreground entering the artist, though evidently making a special effort to be close with nature, he has not made so striking a success of it. We have times of being considerably puzzled up but we don't often take in quite as decided a prize as he gives us.

Mr. Lorin Pratt's sketch from Provo canyon is again on exhibition. Mr. Pratt is now in an art school at Paris. His sketches show a touch of genius but not of culture. We shall expect that a brief visit with the art masters of the old world will make good these deficiencies in his work. This sketch any one day be of value as a land mark in his progress if not upon its own merits.

Mr. Adams of Park City has sent in some specimens of his work which are real gems in their line. Mr. Adams has a touch of the true artist and may be the sentimental in his composition which comes out very distinctly in his art products. He also sends blisters almost palpable with love-lorn sentiment.

A child's head by J. W. Browning, shows the touch of genius in every curve and shade. Though the time of its master is visible the work is a splendid certificate of talent. Edward Oliver five specimens are on exhibition. Oil paintings of Mr. Jos. H. L. A. Culmer, a bunch of grapes by Martin Lenel, Indian ink drawings by Alfred Lambourne, etc.

Mr. C. E. Dallen's model for a statue of President Young is an exhibition. It is an excellent representation, but to the opinion of the critics is susceptible of improvement. Mr. Dallin, it is understood is not quite satisfied with the work in its present form and will endeavor to improve it in some respects. Mr. Dallin's "Paul Revere" in photo, is also on exhibition, and others that have contributed to the success of the Art Gallery.

There is a great mass of amateur work which for originality and skill is well worthy of a place in the exhibit.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug 17, 1889.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Having in mind his escape from custody on a former occasion, special guard was placed over the notorious professional robber Albert Kern when found guilty by the jury yesterday and placed in the marshal's cage until taxes to the penitentiary the same evening. On the way to his future "home" for the next year or two, a close watch was kept upon him by some of the prison officials, who were quite prepared in the event of his making another effort to break away. This time the gentle Kern will not have found escape quite so easy.

The grand jury have ended their labor for a few days. This morning they reported having found four more indictments, but what they were did not appear. It is believed, however, that the name of Clements, the defaulting architect, is among them.

U. S. Assistant District Attorney Stephens has now become quite an accomplished hand in the official position to which he succeeded upon the retirement of Mr. Dickson last term. Mr. Stephens is thoroughly up to his work, and displayes considerable tact and judgment, and sound discretion in dealing with the cases in which the figures as the representative of his chief, District Attorney Varian. He is very popular man among the members of the bar.

Bailiff Sprague is as active as ever he was in the discharge of his functions around the Third District court, but he is not happy. He says that he will never forgive the city authorities for placing that sidewalk furnace in front of his residence adjoining the Theatre, and this is the cause of his anguish. "Don't" says an accident will happen there some of these days or nights.

A CRIMINAL AFTERNOON.

Before Judge Zane yesterday afternoon in the Third District court, the trial of Albert Kern on a charge of robbery (under circumstances detailed in Monday's News) was resumed. Notwithstanding the determined efforts of his counsel, Mr. Stephens, the jury declined to believe that Kern was not the man, and found him guilty after a very short deliberation. He will come up for sentence tomorrow.

The case of Elias F. Sutbridge vs. M. A. Campbell, Celia M. Campbell, T. J. Blue and Hettie E. Blue, was, on motion of plaintiff's attorney, dismissed, a settlement having been arrived at.

In the case of John Irvine vs. George F. Atkins, a demurrer to the complaint was submitted.

The appeal case of Daniel Clays, charged with stopping the plows of hostlers, at Bingham, upon Sunday was called up and dismissed, the material witnesses for the prosecution having left the country.

The next thing on the list was the appeal case of James McCormick, of Summit county, charged with an assault and battery upon his wife. There was really no testimony to sustain the allegation, and after a number of witnesses had testified that they knew nothing about the assault, the case was dismissed on motion of United States Assistant District Attorney Stephens.

Important Test Case Before the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—At the October term of the Supreme Court of the United States, which meets next Monday, the first case to come up will be that of Thomas Henry Cooper, owner of the steamer "Belgic" involving the test the question of the jurisdiction of the United States over the seal fisheries in Behring Sea.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—There is nothing in the official dispatches received at the state and navy departments from Chile to indicate any pronounced steps in the situation there so far as the relations between Minister Egan and the Junta are concerned. The cruiser "San Francisco," which was to leave and go directly to Valparaiso after touching at Callao, is still at the latter port. Some of her machinery became disarranged. When the necessary repairs have been made she will proceed to her destination.

The statement contained in the dispatch from Ottawa, published in the News, to the effect that the boiler of "Otto" was seized by the United States ship the "Mohican" on account of irregularity in her papers, is pronounced at the navy department to be without the slightest foundation.

Reports have been received at the navy department from Commander Coffman, commanding the "Mohican," which show that "Otto" was seized on August 21st for violation of the inshore vessel; that she was taken in Defiance Sea twenty miles northwest of Ulmak Pass with a full sailing outfit and forty-eight Indians on board. Further appears that five days before the seizure was made, Commander Cotton had received an official letter from Commander Coffman, commanding the naval officer at Ouniaska, stating that he considered "Otto" a just and lawful capture. No question arose in reference to her papers. "Otto" was delivered two days after her capture to the commanding officer of her Majesty's ship "Pheasant."

The newspapers of St. Petersburg denounce the conduct of merchants and manufacturers of this city for their action in refusing to accept the invitation of the government to revoke the order prohibiting the export of rye, and substitute therefore a heavy tax on the exportation of all cereals. Reports from the Baltic district and elsewhere are to the effect that thousands of persons are dying of starvation.

The Paris correspondent of the News telegraphs that the replies to the government circular would indicate a desire of enthusiasm among the people of France to the matter of sending delegates to the World's Fair, to be held in Chicago. The manufacturers generally, as expressed in their answers, regard the invitation of the United States, following, as it does, the adoption of the new American tariff, as more mockery.
