EUROPE'S ORIENTAL POLICY.

Germany Refuses to Join the Other Powers

In An: Intervention in Favor of the Belligerents—Russia and France Co-operating.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—The Hamburgische Correspondent publishes a semi-official communication pointing out that Germany on no account will take part in any intervention in favor of either belligerent interest.

The Cologne Gazette confirms the statement that Russia and France are working hard in hand in the matter, and repeats the assertion that they are soon sure to intervene in the war. It is added that as Austria is in a similar manner selling white money, and as it is claimed that the United States from the first has not concealed her sympathy with Japan, Italy is the only power lastly to join, if with the proposal of the Czar of humanity for an international intervention.

The National Zeitung and other German newspapers point out that German interests in the war are international with those of England and Russia.

The Cologne Gazette today publishes the following dispatch from Berlin:

"It is confirmed from every source that Germany has declined to take part in a joint European intervention between China and Japan at the present juncture, and this subject, accordingly is removed from the diplomatic program of the powers."

The correspondent of the Associated Press has sounded a distinguished official upon the subject, and has also made other inquiries in other influential quarters, with the result that he has found it to be the general opinion that Japan, in the event of her conditions, will not more exorbitant demands upon China, but will restrain herself to insisting upon the independence of Corea, while asking for protectorate rights for herself, as well as a big war indemnity. It is probable that Japan may demand the cession of the Island of Formosa.

Significant, as indicating the intentions of Russia, is the statement of the Berliner Tageblatt's correspondent at St. Petersburg, that the Russian troops in Corea are, at the request of the Chinese master have been greatly reinforced, and that large quantities of provisions and war material are constantly arriving at those places.

Large contingents of Cossack cavalry, it is said, are now followed by Cossack artillery, and later by strong detachments of infantry, relying with them the components parts of very spacious barracks, with portable housing and baking stoves. Everything is being prepared for a forward movement.

WILLIAM WANTS TO LEAD.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Morning Post has this dispatch from its Berlin correspondent: Germany has rejected England's proposal to join the powers and intervene between China and Japan, desiring herself to be prime mover in any settlement.

CHINA WANTS MONEY.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A dispatch from Shanghai says: It is reported that, in consequence of the projected £1,000,000 10 per cent loan to be guaranteed by the imperial customs, Chinese agents should have been instructed to put the best more positive on the recent Chinese victories and to represent the fleet as being active and efficient.

REBELLION RAMPANT.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A dispatch from Shanghai, dated today, confirms the report telegraphed to the Associated Press that rebellion has broken out 100 miles from Hankow. The rebels are fairly armed and very reckless. They attacked the government buildings, which were feebly defended by native troops. The latter were soon defeated and many of them were killed. Many others joined the rebels. Two Europeans were killed. The province is almost denuded of troops, and the rebels are daily gathering strength. It is said that they will advance on Wu Chang, Province of Hooper, of which Hankow is the capital. The garrison at Wou Chang has gone to the coast, and the place is therefore practically defenseless.

The Knocked Him Down.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Miss Mary Leper, who is credited as being the first woman in New Jersey to adopt the divided skirt as her regular attire, was the victim of an attempted assault made last night. Laurent Millen, a young Frenchman, son of a wealthy family, is in the Bergen county jail, charged with the offense.

The story told by Miss Leper to Justice Channing Seley was that she rode at the Melrose house. There was no one at home but the man, Laurent, she said she did not know this, and tried to frighten him by a revolver which followed. Miss Leper made a good fight and finally knocked the young man down. Her dress was torn in the struggle.

To Hear Thomas Reed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Rarely, if ever, has there been a gathering of such magnitude in New York as that which was assembled in Cooper Union this evening to hear the speech of ex-Speaker Thomas B. Reed. The demonstration was under the auspices of the regular Republican organization of the city and county of New York. Every entrance and aisle of the hall was crowded by 7:30 o'clock, and the square in front of Cooper Union was filled with people.

Called Upon for an Accounting.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 14.—A local paper says in a few days papers will be filed in a law suit which will involve the title to real estate valued at nearly $1,500,000 and will call on United States Senator Squires of Washington for an accounting of property entrusted to him. The plaintiffs are Col. Wm. H. King of this city, Paul O. Remington's assignee in a famous suit of years ago, and John S. Gonzalez of Elon, N. Y. A quarter of a century ago King and Remington were close friends. Years ago they invested heavily in Western real estate, one of the deals being the purchase of a large amount of property where now stands Seattle. When the financial crash came this property was given to Remington to hold in trust, because, it is said, Remington, who died a few years ago, intrusted the property to his co-trustee, Squire, who is the defendant named. Squire, according to the complaint, has never made an accounting of the old trust. The property, then worth a few hundred dollars, is now worth millions.

ANOTHER LYNCHING.

A Murderer Meets His Death at the Hands of a Mob.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 14.—Another lynching has been added to the count this series of blue grass lynchings. At the home of the Bourgeville (ky.) Chief Morton, a prominent citizen of Morton, in Powell county, was on the warpath. Two weeks ago Morton filed a case at Stanton and was out on $5,000 bond. He arrived at the last yesterday, and immediately proceeded to get drunk. When thoroughly intoxicated he started to hunt up Sheriff Simms, who in his deadly enmity, a feud of long standing have existed between the two. Hearing that Morton was near the entrance to the jail he went there and after a few words each of them drew guns. A quick exchange of shots followed, Morton using two guns. His brother broke the sheriff's right arm at the elbow. John Haag, a friend of Simms, whipped out his gun and joined in the battle. When the smoke had cleared away it was found that sheriff Simms was dead, with a shot through his breast, one in his abdomen and another through his arm. Morton was shot through the neck, while Haag was wounded. Morton was hustled to the county jail and placed under guard. The people became infuriated, and a big meeting was at once held in the public square. Colonel John Drennond presided a novel and made a speech. He said the murderer must be hanged, but that the work must be done quietly and with perfect order. Morton had killed two men in less than two months, and he must die by the rope. A mob was instantly formed and marched to the jail. The jailer was overpowered and the keys to Morton's cell obtained. He was found cowering on the floor, and after a bitter struggle was seized and dragged out. Seeing his game was up, Morton made the best of things and told the mob he did not care what they did with him provided they did their work quickly.

After a short parley he was taken to a tree in front of the jail, some rope was placed around his neck. The leaders drew their guns and told him to jump or else he would be riddled with bullets. Turning around, the doomed man cursed his captors, and with a wild imprecation, leaped into space. The limb broke his neck. After dangling in the air for some minutes his body became stiff and a volley was fired into it. The mob then dispersed, leaving the body dangling from the bridge.

Is the Queen Crazy?

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 14.—Before the Aorangi left Honolulu a rumor was in circulation that Queen Liliuokalani had gone crazy. The report is not credited, although for several days she had not left the house she is occupying.

BEN DOWN AT LAST.

The Murderer of Montgomery Gillis Probably Found.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 14.—The police at this city believe that the murderer of Montgomery Gillis at Sullivan has been run down at last. The woman Belle Hoffman, who was taken to Buffalo last night after confessing that it was she who killed Gillis, is believed to have told the truth, in part at least. Her husband is in jail here, charged with burglary, and a woman of ill fame named Bert Snyder is also under arrest on the same charge.

Snyder has made a statement to the police in which she says Hoffman confessed to the murder to him. According to the story, Hoffman and his wife arrived in Sullivan last spring. They were penniless and decided to commit a robbery to get money. The woman donned a man's clothes and she and her husband went to a lonely place at Dalkeyes station to await a victim. Gillis was the first well dressed man that happened along. He was told to throw up his hands, and when he resisted Hoffman shot him. The couple then fled and the next morning they came to Cleveland.

The Overland Train Robbery.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 14.—The detectives are completely at sea regarding the identity of the men who robbed the Overland train on Thursday night. They claim to have discovered evidence that the robbers intended to wreck the train, but changes their minds after encountering and capturing the trackwalker, whom they forced to flag the train. A crow-bar was found near the scene of the robbery and the authorities believe it was to have been used in removing the rails. A shovel has also been found in the bushes near the track, and it is believed the shovel was used to bury the mails. Two strangers at Woodland asked to be supplied with a team yesterday morning. Shortly after their departure the sheriff organized a posse and is now in pursuit. One of the suspected strangers was wounded in the hand and he dressed the wound at a Woodland saloon. Officers are in close pursuit and every road is under guard.

A Frightful Accident.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 14.—Engineer Sullivan of the East Louisiana road is responsible for a frightful accident which occurred this morning at the crossing of the Louisville & Nashville and the Northeastern roads, about two miles from where the Louisville & Nashville road leaves Elysian Fields street, an accident that will in all probability result in at least one fatality, while a score of passengers on the Louisville & Nashville received severe injuries.

The Louisville & Nashville "Across the Lake" excursion train, consisting of eight coaches, well loaded with pleasure-seekers, a large proportion of them being women and children, pulled out on time. As the train approached the crossing of the Northeastern tracks, Engineer Hanley brought his train to a stop, and whistled, as the law requires. He then gave the signal to go ahead, and passed across the tracks of the Northeastern.

The East Louisiana train, carrying excursionists to points in south Louisiana pass, was bowling along in two parts, was bowling along in two parts and with a shrill call from its whistle for down trains, it dashed into the sixth coach of the Louisville & Nashville train. The coach thrown a crowded coach completely off the track while the attaching engine was derailed and buried in mud several feet in the rear. Passengers of the East Louisiana train were injured from the shock of the collision. Not so with the most excited, however. Just before the train struck the coach several passengers saw it coming and a panic ensued. There was a wild rush to escape from the coach, but before one of the passengers could reach either platform the engine had struck and the coach, with its living freight, was turned the—the tracks into the ditch. Women and children shrieked in their terror, while men sought their way to safety by some way of escape from the coach. Heads were torn up were forced in every direction by the force of the collision, and after the first wild panic had subsided, there were heard groans coming from different quarters of the wreck, telling of painful injuries. Willing hands went to work, and within a short time the wounded had been taken from the coach as gently as circumstances would permit. The greatest indignation and anger prevailed among the witnesses of the collision against Engineer Sullivan, who had carelessly disregarded the law requiring him to stop, and had caused the frightful accident. Inquiry developed the fact that Sullivan had escaped to his swamp.

A section foreman, on his handcar, brought the news of the collision to the city, and the Northeastern officials dispatched a special train to carry the injured to the city.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 14.—According to advices from Hawaii by the steamer Arawa the first person to be naturalized as a citizen of Hawaii was John A. Scott, a native of Canada.

WHAT DR. MCGLYNN SAYS.

His Answers to Questions Propounded by the A. P. A.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—At Prohibition Park, N. J., last evening, Dr. McGlynn answered some questions put to him by members of the A. P. A.

Dr. McGlynn said that Charles S. Haskell, of the Prohibition Park colony, had handed him these questions to answer:

"Is there anything in the constitution of the Catholic church which is a menace to a republican form of government?

"Is it true that the vows of Catholic priests interfere with loyal citizenship in a republican country like our own?

"Was not the archbishop of New York compelled to interfere with your rights as a citizen because of your political influence?"

The first question Father McGlynn answered with an emphatic no. He said: "The Catholic church will not menace this country. So far from the pope trying to revolutionize this country, it is the reverse, and in no country does the spending of the Catholic faith so press him as in America."

To the second question Dr. McGlynn replied: The priests do not take vows. They only make promises at the time of ordination. These promises only benefit the priest in his religious observance as and to celibacy."

"I answer yes to the third question," said the speaker. "But those who condemned me made a mistake. Neither the Catholic church nor the pope is infallible. I was excommunicated, but that wound is all healed, and I bear no ill will."

Anarchist "Literature."

HAVRE, Oct. 15.—Seventy packages, purporting to be furniture, were landed here recently from Southampton. Upon examining them the police found they contained a perfect arsenal of anarchistic weapons, including bombs, arms and ammunition, skeleton keys and burglar tools. The history of the vessel is unknown to the authorities.

CLAD IN RAGS AND STARVING.

And Yet Carrying $10 Purses Full of Coin.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—An old man clad in rags and filth, with a mass of snowy gray hair hanging from under a dilapidated felt hat, staggered through the village of Ringoes last night. He disappeared in the rear room of a saloon with the water dripping from his clothes. This morning he was found by a policeman apparently dying from starvation. He was taken to the hospital and after milk had been given him he was undressed. The pockets of his coat, waistcoat and trousers were filled with coin, enough to fill a spare purse. He had at least $500 on his person.

Many Tons of Cable.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The largest cable ever brought to this country was unloaded at the foot of Forty-seventh street and North river last night. It is for the Columbus avenue cable car line. It is 21,800 feet long and one and a half inches thick. It weighs sixty-one tons, ten tons more than any other cable in New York. The big spool carrying the cable was placed upon a huge truck, which has iron wheels with tires ten inches wide. The spool is ten feet in diameter. The first attempt to move the truck was made with forty-two horses attached to it. They had made but three feet when the wheels sunk into the sidewalk.

Catarrhal Poison

Successfully Eradicated From the System by Drs. Shores & Shores' New Treatment.

Mrs. H. A. Baxter, residing in the Eleventh Ward, has lived here for twenty-five years. She has just passed through an entirely successful course of treatment with Drs. Shores & Shores. Mrs. Baxter had catarrh poison in her blood and system for years, but late winter it grew very serious. Her head and nose became entirely closed up, compelling her to breathe through her mouth.

There was a constant hacking cough, daily heavy pains over the eyes, throat sore and swollen.

"When I went to Drs. Shores & Shores," says Mrs. Baxter, "the poison had poisoned my blood to my whole system, was sickly, and I was almost a confirmed invalid.

"Now, thanks to Shores and Shores, I am well, free from pain. I can hardly realize that I am the same woman. My friends and neighbors are all so glad to see me so well.

"I am glad to be able to make this statement and to recommend Drs. Shores & Shores, because I think it our duty to our fellow creatures, and I have seen none dependent enough to know what I have said and find relief, as I have found it."

CATARRH AND HEART TROUBLE.

"I Was so Near the Grave as Could be and still Live."

Mrs. Phoebe J. Ellis, of Bountiful, Utah, says:

"I have had heart trouble ever since childhood, that is nearly forty years. Later I contracted catarrh, which ruined my general health and aggravated my other trouble to such an extent that when I went to Drs. Shores & Shores for relief I was mentally just as ready off as any one ever was. I was as near the grave as could be and still live.

"Drs. Shores & Shores have certainly done wonders for me. I was almost a physical wreck when I went to them. Now I feel as if I had a new lease on life. My friends all remark how much better I look the reason they see me. The doctors performed a very difficult operation in removing a polypus from my nose without pain or bleeding. I am very glad, indeed, to recommend Drs. Shores & Shores to my friends and the public."
