GREAT GROWTH OF STANDARD OIL CO.

J. D. Archbold, Its Vice President, Gives Detailed Information of Its Magnitude.

POSSIBILITIES NOT REALIZED

In Eighties Much Doubt as to Permanency of Oil Supply-Archbold Sold Stock Below Par.

New York, Nov. 25 .- Detailed information of the magnitude and diversity of the Standard Oil company's business was given by John D. Archbold, vice president of the company, on the resumption of his testimony today in the hearing of the federal suit to dissolve the oil combination. Mr. Archbold asserted that it was the Standard which, by eliminating the jobbers and retailers, stepped in and greatly reduced the price of oil to the consumer. The hearings were adjourned today after a grief ings were adjourned today after a grief session, until next Monday, when Mr. Archbold will resume his testimony. That even those closely identified with the Standard Oil in its early days did not recognize its future possibilities was brought out today when Mr. Archbold said that in the '80's fears were wide-spread that the supply of crude oil would be depleted, and that accordingly, he parted with some of his trust shares at 70 and 80 cents on the dollar. Much of the day was spent in spread-Much of the day was spent in spread-ing upon the record figures showing the production and consumption of oil in

mr. Archbold did not think much of the possibilities of the mid-continent oil fields when they were discovered, and caused a laugh when he recalled that at the time he said he "would undertake to drink all the oil they produced".

undertake to drink all the on they produced."

These oil, fields produced 70,000 barrels each day, and Mr. Archbold said he was mistaken in his early judgment.

Mr. Archbold's testimony will probably last several days, and counsel for the defense probably will place William Rockefeller on the stand immediately afterward.

the defense probably will place William Rockefeller on the stand immediately afterward.

While public interest in the suit has waned to some extent since the completion of John D. Rockefeller's testimony, there are several important witnesses yet to be heard.

John D. Archbold was late in arriving today. Moritz Rosenthal, of counsel for the Standard Oil company, developed from Mr. Archbold's testimony facts regarding the early market for oil. In the early days, he said, the jobber and retailer exacted extortionate profits, which caused complaint, and the Standard Oil tried to get closer to the consumer. Oil was taken in bulk cars instead of barrels to the marketing centers, where it was retailed to the consumer in wagons. This increased the oil trade and cheapened the cost to the consumer.

Counsel for the company placed in evidence reports showing production of crude oil in various years.

The mid-continent field, which includes Kansas, Oklahoma and contiguous states, said Mr. Archbold, showed a constantly increasing production till the Standard started purchasing producing properties in 1889, when the "shut in" movement started.

The witness said that in 1906 the total crude production in the Uniter States was 126,493,336 barrels of which the Standard produced 14,052,113 barrels.

Mr. Archbold said that in the early states was 126,493,336 barrels of which the Standard Oil company was 64,958.

Mr. Archbold said that in the early 30's there were constant anxieties that the crude oil would be exhausted. the crude oil would be exhausted.

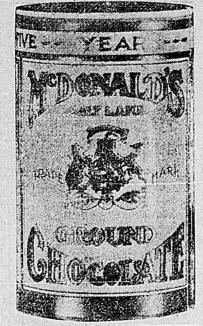

"I must say, at the expense of my own sagacity," said Mr. Archbold, "that I shared in the same anxieties, and I sold some of my Standard Oil trust shares in the early '80's after the trust was formed, at 78 cents on the dollar."

Mr. Archbold laughingly said that he had little opinion of the production capacity of the mid-continent field when if was first discovered, and said:

"I said at the time that I would undertake to drink all the oil that was produced in that section."

The value of the refineries that went into the Standard Oil trust in 1882 was said Mr. Archbold, and the value in 1906 of the refineries in the company, including manufactories, was $57,689,560.

Archbold spoke of the Air. Archold spoke of the points of the Standard with respect to the local construction of its refineries.

The manufacture of these products said Mr. Archold, played a most important part in the refining of oil. He said Mr. Archbold, played a most important part in the refining of oil. He said the Standard had employed the greatest experts in chemistry to discover and improve the by-products.

An adjournment until next Monday was then taken.

WHAT THE COACHES SAY.

Maddock Expects to Win by Not more Than Five Points-Middleton Promises a Hard Fight.

Tired and hungry, worn out from heir long ride, the Idaho football squad and a big bunch of rooters well suplied with money to wager on the result of the game, arrived in Salt Lake about three hours late last night. The team registered at the Kenyon and then scattered for something to eat. The visitors were met by Coach Maddock of the Utah University and a number of the students. They were given a warm welcome and promised a narulight on the cold gridien this after-

Bright and early this morning a big crowd of energetic students got busy with the football field and worked hard to clear it of snow as much as possible. What snow was not moved off was tramped down by hundreds of students and an army of small boys and then a roller was run over the same.

WILL PLAY HARD GAME.

Upon the arrival of the Idaho team last night Captain Savidge was asked for a statement as to the condition of the team and what they expected to do today. He was non-committal, however, and left it for Coach Middleton to do the talking. He simply said: "We feel pretty good and will play a hard game."

TEAM IS TIRED.

Coach Middleton said: "The boys are pretty tired. We had a hard trip and are not in the best of shape. Elton could not come and his place is filled by another man. Small is also out of the game and the quarterback position will be filled by Lundstrum. The shape up on the team is due to the fraternity trouble. I don't think we will be able to do much with the 'Idaho Spread' on account of the condition of the field. I will not make a prediction of victory, but can assure you that we will give Utah a hard fight."

MADDOCK CONFIDENT.

Conch Joseph Maddock is looking for a genuine scruggie.

"Our team is in splendid condition to a man. The boys are all feeling fine and anxious to line up against Idaho, in this our first meeting. I look for a hard fight with the visitors and do not expect to win by more than 5 points."

The officials in today's game will be Lieut. Santschi, referee; Brown, umpire; Stein of Idaho, head linesman, and Bassett, field judge.

When the sun arose on a clear sky this morning there was jubilation among the students and the hundreds who will see the game. It is expected that a large crowd will be on hand to cheer their favorites as there is a great deal of interest in the struggle. It will be the first contest between the two teams and there is a great deal of speculation as to just how strong the visitors are. The teams will lineup as follows: Coach Joseph Maddock is looking for Game.

Says Tad: Joe Gans, the "hotel owner," from Baltimore was up to see us yesterday and wanted to know why P. McFarland wouldn't sign up with him. "I did intend to quit the ring until I saw that Murphy-McFarland fight." said the old master, tipping his blue "Kelly" back a bit, "but, honestly, if two boys like that are parading around as champions I want to get a little more bacon in the storehouse.

"What's this fellow McFarland doing, anyway? Seems to me all he does is to go around to the newspaper offices and tell you people what a wonder he is. I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll just leave my signature here and the next time he comes up you ask him if he'll box me, and if he will, just piaste my name on them, no matter how the thing reads.

"Seems funny that neither Cross, Murphy nor McFarland will box me-and they're supposed to be wonders. Why, I'll tell the whole bunch now that they have no more chance with Nelson than I have with a gatling gun, and that's honest, way down deep, too. Battling said that the first hoy who could beat me could have a chance for the tife in two months. That's good, isn't it? They won't be champlons until they beat Nelson and myself, and they might as well start now as to wait awhile.

"McFarland ought to speak up. He had the best of Murphy, and, according to the papers, if he's any sort of fighter at all he ought to beat a fellow like me.

"Yes, I've got a few more six-round ought bet in me but it's just as hard

"Yes. I've got a few more six-round fights left in me, but it's just as hard to get a fight now as it was when I was champion. I summer, after I'm lickel nine or 10 times more they'll a want a crack at me, but right now you can't get a peep out of them."

ITALIAN DEFEATS MARATHON WINNER

Madison Square Garden, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Dorando Pietri of Capri, Italy defeated John J. Hayes of this city in the renewal of the Marathon race at Madison Square Garden tonight. The distance was 28 miles 385 vards, the same as the Olympic Marathon, which Hayes won at Shepherd's Bush, London, last summer. Dorando then fell from exhaustion and was helped across the line, but was disqualified. He proved to be Hayes' master tonight, as he held the lead almost from start to finish, finally winning by about 99 yards. Hayes was in the lead five times during the race, but only for a few seconds each time. Dorando's time was 2:44:20-2-5 and Hayes 2:45:08-1-5.

but only for a few seconds each time. Dorando stime was 2:44:2) 2-5 and Hayes 2:45:05 1-5.

The last few miles of the race were exciting. In the twenty-fourth mile Hayes made another of the jumps to the front that he had been springing at intervals, but Dorando, running strong, easily resumed the lead. This was repeated half a mile further on. Dorando again proved the stronger. The twenty-fifth mile was finished in 2:36:37 1-5.

Hayes-weakened in the last half-mile 2:36:34 1-5.

Hayes-weakened in the last half-mile and the Italian won handily by about and the Italian won handily by about 60 yards.

The specially arranged dirt and cinder track was in fine condition. It measured 10 laps to the mile with 252 laps and 33 yards for the winner to go, the starting line being 33 yards behind the finishing mark.

Hayes was the first to appear on the track and got a tumultuous reception. Dorando appeared a few seconds later and was wildly greeted by the Italian element. It was 243:45 p. m. when Rich and Croker fired the pistol that sent the men away. The multitude watched in silence for a moment, and then a cheer went up from the Italian contingent as Dorando shot into the lead. Both men were running seasily, with Dorando slightly in advance, the Italian being a yard ahead of Hayes at the end of the first lap. So they went to the mile, with the same distance of a bare yard between the men, Hayes hanging on just behind, Dorando and permitting his rival to make the pace. The time of the first mile was 5:27. When no miles had been covered the relative positions of the men yere unaltered. Dorando still held the lead but only by the same three-foot margin.

BALLOON LANDS.

After 250 Mile Trip Dragged Over Sand and Rocks.

Sand and Rocks.

Los Angeles, Nov. 25.—A dispatch from Ehrenburg, Arlz, from Captain A. E. Mueller, pilot of the racing balloon United States, and J. K. Hutchinson, who accompanied him, states that the landing of the bafloon there Monday afternoon, after its 250-mile flight from Los Angeles, was accomplished after a terrifying experience.

The balloon descended on the desett, and, driven by a stiff wind, dragged the occupants of the car for miles over desert cacti, sand and rocks. The men were forced to climb into the rigging of the balloon and were badly bruised before the gas finally escaped from the bag and its flight was stoppped.

The Indians on the reservation where the balloon landed were greatly wrought up over the appearance of air craft and regarded it with much trepidation.

Most of the fast flight was made at a beight of from 10,690 to 18,690 feet, the latter altitude.

height of from 10,00 to 16,00 feet, the Colorado river being crossed at the latter altitude.

Shortly after crossing the river, the neadk rope of the balloon broke and the bag descended with great rapidity until it struck the desert. The basket of the balloon plowed a furrow through the sand and rocks for miles before it was flually halted.

One other time during the flight, while midway between the San Jacinto mountains and the Colorado river, the aeronauts encountered a cold current of air at a great height, which condensed the gas in the bag so rapidly that the balloon fell several thousand feet into the rocky crags below, from which the men escaped injury only by climbing into the rigging.

The dispatch states that Captain Mueller will rest several days at Ehrenburg before returning to this city. The collapsed balloon and basket are far out on the desert.

ATTELL BEATEN BY ENGLISHMAN

Clever Freddy Welsh Proves Himself Master of Fast Little Hebrew-Not A Championship Fight.

Los Angeles, Nov. 25 .- Abe Attell, the Los Angeles, Nov. 25.—Abe Attell, the fast and undefented featherweight champion of the world, met more than his match tonight in Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight champion, and one of the greatest light fighters that ever appeared in a ring in this city. Welsh showed himself to be a clever man. His boxing, footwork, generalship and defensive tactics were superb. Attell had never a chance from the beginning of the fight to the finish. The doughty little champion seemingly lacked confidence; his blows lacked vigor and his generalship was not what it has been.

So seemingly outclassed was Attell by the English champion that he appeared to be able to show but little of his oldtime fight. While he fought bravely on the defensive and rallied frequently against the lead of his opponent, he was not able to make a sufficient showing at any time to-place the result of the fight in doubt.

Weish led with both hands with unering precision.

There was much in-fighting, and in this alone did Attell show to advantage. In the long-range exchanges Welsh was his master, both in offense and defense. fast and undefeated featherweight cham-

Attell said after the fight that he had given away too much weight to his opponent. He also claimed an injury to his hand, received in training, which interfered with his work.
