Republicanism has again triumphed in Salt Lake as well as in most of the other important cites of Utah. Locally the whole Republican ticket with a single exception is elected by majorities so large and decisive as to leave absolutely no room for doubt. Richard P. Morris, nominee for treasurer, is the lone Democrat who escaped the awful avalanche of Republican votes. He came up from the big slide with a smile that was directed straight at the strongholds of Republicanism and which seemed to say, "Never touched me."

Mayor Thompson succeeds himself by a plurality ranging from 1,230 to 1,240 over Leary and a majority of 631 over all which included Stewart, Socialist as well as Leary, Democrat. The other candidates were also elected by varying majorities ranging from 748, the number Nystrom, nominee for recorder, had over Sloan for the same office, to 2,064, Diehl's plurality over Sommer for police judge.

The council will be one more than Republican. The Democratic nominees, Fernstrom, Arnold and Davis of the Third are all elected. The other Democratic councilman is W. J. Tuddenham of the Fourth who is his own successor. The vote in detail follows:

COUNCILMANIC VOTE.

How the Rivals in Municipal Wards Came Out.

In the precincts there was a great deal of interest manifested over the contest between the councilmen and after the votes were counted it was found that eleven Republicans and four Democrats had been elected. The vote in detail was as here given:

PRECINCT DETAILS.

Vote Was Very Light Up to Near Time of Closing Polls.

With few exceptions the vote in all the districts was a very light one during the first hours of the day and the campaign managers were fearful that this condition of affairs would affect the result to either side. There was a consequent effort to get the vote out and later in the evening the number of ballots cast brought the total up to beyond the figures of two years ago in the municipal election but left them below the total cast in the last Presidential election.

In the First precinct the day proved to be a quiet one, so far as election excitement went, but there was considerable scratching done by voters. F. J. Hewlett, J. J. Thomas and Arthur Robinson, the Republican nominees for councilmen, overcame their opponents in majorities around the 400 mark.

A similar condition of affairs obtained in the Second precinct, where the Republican councilmen came out victors in a ward that was confidently expected to go to the Democrats by a safe plurality. Here it was especially necessary to urge voters to the polls and the total ballots cast up to 5 o'cock in the afternoon figured out very small. When the men began to quit their work, though, the polls became crowded and the vote was piled up to respectable proportions. Democracy won in the Third precinct, but not by so large a majority as has been heretofore usual. In fact, the margins were so narrow that many freely expressed their confidence in a Republican councilmanic victory, but when the votes were counted Fernstrom's hosts were found to be again in the lead.

Precinct No. 4 returned a mixed result. Tuddenham (Democrat) saving himself whole in the landslide to the Republican camp. This makes his third term, but the fact that he is able to successfully count this last one was due only to a very slight plurality of votes. Two challenges were made in district 39, where A. C. Post and Emma D. Post were confronted by objections from both sides. It was discovered that the residence of the coupe in the district had been of insufficient duration to entitle them to vote and the challenges were sustained.

Big majorities came to the Republicans in the Fifth precinct and their councilmanic nominees went in upon a tidal wave of votes, although nowhere near the full voting strength of the precinct was brought to light. Up to 4 o'clock in the afternoon there seemed to be absolutely no interest manifested in the election, but a rapid concentration of carriages in the precinct had the effect of later bringing out the people.

RESULT IN OGDEN.

Glasmann and the Republican Ticket Victorious.

Ogden never saw such a landslide as the one that yesterday carried William Glasmann into the mayor's chair and at the same time elected to office every Republican nominee for public office in the municipality.
