FINANCIAL MESSAGE

President Cleveland Describes the Present Situation.

ANOTHER SEASON OF PERPLEXITY.

Congress Asked for Speedy Legislation to Remedy the Evils now Confronting Us.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The following message was sent to Congress by President Cleveland today:

To Congress—In my last annual message the evils of our present financial system were plainly pointed out, and the causes and means of the depletion of the government gold were explained. It was therein stated that after all the efforts that have been made by the executive branch of the government to protect our gold reserve by the issuance of bonds, amounting to more than $162,000,000, such reserve then amounted to but little more than $100,000,000; that about $16,000,000 had been withdrawn from such reserve during the month next previous to the date of that message, and quite large withdrawals for shipment in the immediate future were predicted. The contingency then feared has reached us, and the withdrawal of gold alone the communication referred to, and others that appear inevitable threaten such depletion of our government gold reserve as brings us face to face with the necessity for further action for its protection. This condition is intensified by the prevalence in certain quarters of a sudden and unusual apprehension and timidity in business circles.

We are in the midst of another season of perplexity, caused by our dangerous and intricate financial system. There may be expected to recur with certainty as long as there is no amendment in our financial system. In this particular instance our predicament is at all influenced by the recent instance upon the position we should occupy in our relation to certain questions concerning our foreign policy, this furnishes signal and impressive warning that even the patriotic sentiment of our people is an inadequate substitute for a sound financial policy.

Of course there can be no doubt in my thoughtful mind as to the complete solvency of our nation, nor can there be any just apprehension that the American people will be satisfied with less than honest payment of our public obligations in the recognized money of the world. We should not overlook the fact, however, that around fear is unreasoning, and must be taken into account in all efforts to avert public loss and sacrifice of our people's interest.

A real and sensible cure for our recurring troubles can only be effected by a complete change in our financial scheme. Pending that, the executive branch of the government will not relax its efforts nor abandon its determination to use every means within its reach to maintain before the world the American credit, nor will there be any hesitation in exhibiting its confidence in the resources of our country and the constant patriotism of our people.

In view, however, of the peculiar situation now confronting us, I have ventured to herein express the hope that Congress, in defaut of the inauguration of a better system of finance, will not take a recess from its labors before it has by legislative enactment or declaration, done something not only to remind those apprehensive among our people that the resources of this government and a scrupulous regard for honest dealing afford a sure guaranty of unquestioned safety and soundness, but to reassure the world that with these failure and the patriotism of our citizens, the ability and determination of our nation to meet in any circumstance every obligation it incurs, do not admit of question.

I ask at the hands of Congress such enactment as it alone has the power to give to prevent, in time of fear and apprehension, any sacrifice of the people's interests and public funds or the impairment of our public credit, in the effort by executive action to relieve the dangers of the present contingency.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

Killed by Apaches.

SILVER CITY, N. M., Dec. 20.—Chas. Shaw, a cowboy employed on the Bigger ranch, was found murdered by Indians late last night near Mule creek, in the Mogollon mountains, on the dividing line of Grant and Socorro counties. He had been missing since last Friday, and searching parties have been out ever since. His horse, saddle and clothing had been taken and the body was riddled with bullets, and Indian signs were found in the show all about the place where the body was found, and the killing was undoubtedly done by a band of renegades from San Carlos who have been committing depredations in Arizona.

The scene of the murder is only nine miles from the Mogollon road, one of the principal highways of this section.

Turkey's Sultan is fifty. He was seven when the manufacture of the best baking powder, Dr. Price's, was begun.

Judge Cole Dead.

BUTTE, Mont., Dec 20.—Judge Frederick N. Cole, 60 years old, famous as a lawyer and jurist in Nevada, California and Montana in the past twenty-five years, died at the hospital tonight from the effects of a paralytic stroke. He became conspicuous in Nevada by a challenge to a duel he sent M. J. Foley, who slapped his face in the street. Friends prevented the duel.

To Protect the Americans.

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—A special to the Times-Herald from Washington says: In accordance with the advice of Minister Terrell, the administration has determined to remove American citizens from the disaffected district of Marsin, in Asia Minor. This decision was reached at the cabinet meeting today, and a member of the cabinet said that the navy department had been instructed to issue the necessary orders to the commander-in-chief of the European squadron to effect the removal of the Americans now at Marsin. The instruction was sent this evening to Rear Admiral Selfridge by cable.

These instructions are explicit. He will continue his fleet at Alexandretta the nearest point to Marsin, and will direct the American missionaries and other Americans who may be in Marsin to come on board his vessel. In case it should be necessary to give them protection during their journey from Marsin to Alexandretta, he had been authorized to land a force of marines. The vessels which Admiral Selfridge will mobilize at Alexandretta will be the San Francisco, the Marblehead and the Minneapolis.

NOT ENOUGH GREENBACKS.

This Prevents Gold Shipments to Some Extent.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The Evening Post says a curious condition of affairs was developed today in connection with the withdrawal of gold from the treasury and assay office for shipment tomorrow. In consequence of the sudden tightening of the money market, gold shippers were unable to get enough greenbacks (United States legal tender notes) with which to draw the gold out of the treasury. But for this a much larger amount of gold would be shipped tomorrow.

It is only possible to get a large amount of gold out of the treasury quickly by the presentation of gold certificates or greenbacks of large denominations. Large amounts of greenbacks of small denominations could, of course, be obtained, but it would take treasury officials so long to examine and count them that in withdrawals of millions of dollars some days would be required. The treasury would usually not care to be the work any faster than was absolutely necessary. Should the present condition of affairs continue, and sufficient greenbacks could not be secured with which to withdraw gold from the treasury, gold, it was said, would immediately go to a premium and specie payments would then virtually be suspended. The rates for exchange would be advanced to meet the cost of procuring the gold.

Regarding the tension today, a bank president said that was the fault of the speculators themselves. If they had called their loans yesterday, he said, their banks would have come in large creditors at the clearing house today and have been well supplied with large bills.

Street Car Strike Ended.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 20.—The great trolley strike is in all probability off. Tonight Mayor Warwick succeeded in inducing a proposition to be made looking to an amicable settlement of the trouble. The proposition comes from the Union Traction company to the strikers, and if it the men will come back to work and peace is restored, the management will cordially and considerately receive a committee from the ranks of their employes and will hear their complaints and grievances and adjust them the same within the range of fairness.

The proposition was given by the Mayor to the Rev. Dr. Baker and Mr. Griffin of the Christian League, and it was authorized to be made by the traction management.

A Measure Ordered.

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—A dispatch from Constantinople to the Frankfurter Zeitung says: The Porte has ordered Mustapha Remzel Pasha to attack with 1,000 troops and two batteries the city of Zeitoun, and to bombard and destroy it, and to massacre the 12,000 Armenians in the city.

Will Not Recall Bayard.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 20.—Reports were current here yesterday, due largely to the excited state of the public on the Venezuelan question and to the prior attack on him in the House of Representatives by Mr. Barrett and others, that the recall of Ambassador Bayard was imminent. Private Secretary Thurber, when asked about them, made an absolute denial of their accuracy, adding that the ambassador's recall was not contemplated. At the British embassy the belief was expressed that the rumors were untrue. It is believed that the President would not at this time make any change in our amiable relations with Great Britain, for it would not but aggravate the present situation.

WAR WITH ROTHSCHILDS.

The Capitalists Threaten to Withdraw Their Money.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—The Standard's financial article says: "It is rumored that the Rothschilds have decided to immediately withdraw £5,000,000 from America. Whether this is true or not, the gravity of the situation is undisputed. Nobody fears war, but it is questioned whether the United States will be able to maintain the gold standard, and whether the silver party will not become supreme and gold be driven to a heavy premium. President Cleveland's action has shaken all faith in the financial future of America."

The Daily News's financial article gives as its opinion that a European loan to replenish the United States treasury is an impossibility at the present time.

The best cookery follows the use of Price's Cream Baking Powder.

EXCITEMENT AND SURPRISES.

The Sessions of the Cabinet—The Work of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—This has been a day of excitement and surprises in Washington. Events moved with rapidity, and when the sun went down public men in all branches of the service were nervous and worn out from the tension, and here in Washington affairs moved at the rapid pace of a kaleidoscope.

The House Venezuelan commission bill was amended in material respects by the house foreign relations committee, and then, by a sudden change in sentiment at the Senate, was passed unanimously just as it came from the House. Then an adjournment resolution from Congress over the holidays was passed by the Senate, only to be followed by a message from the President, urgently and strongly advising prompt action for the reform of our currency system and the maintenance of our public credit.

At the end of the avenue the President and his cabinet received prompt advices of the course of events here and on the public exchanges. The cabinet sat two sessions, sometimes without precedent in recent years.

The financial situation was the principal topic of consideration, and the result of the meeting was revealed in the message sent to the Senate late in the afternoon, that body being kept in session, by request from the White House, for its reception. The message was not favorably received in the Senate.

The summary adjournment, upon motion of Senator Cockrell, one of the Democratic leaders, immediately after the conclusion of the reading of the message, was taken on the Republican side as a disposition not to consider the message seriously. Mr. Cockrell declined to define his motion or to discuss the question of the propriety of the suggestion.

That the administration has not moved precipitately in the Venezuelan affair is evidenced by the fact, which has now become known, that Secretary Olney's famous letter defining the Monroe doctrine was considered for only two months before being published to Ambassador Bayard for delivery to Lord Salisbury.

The diplomatic corps here appears to have taken under a misapprehension as to the purpose of the message, which may account for the attitude of some of the European newspapers which have received inspiration on the editorial writers from their foreign office, for it is learned that diplomatic officials in Washington have in many cases, and certainly in the cases of the representatives of the European powers, informed their government that President Cleveland's action was dictated purely by motives of national expediency, and was not intended to have permanent results. It may be that the unanimity of the support accorded the President by Congress, irrespective of party affiliations, has induced some of these observers of American institutions to qualify their first advices to their home governments.

ALLEN'S SILVER RESOLUTION.

Text of the Measure as Agreed to by the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The resolution of Allen (Pop., Neb.) for coinage of silver to meet the contingencies of war, came over from yesterday, and Allen spoke upon it in a facetious vein. He read with running comment, Chandler's bill "to increase the armament of the United States." He referred also to the belligerency of the bill presented by Hale (Rep., Me.) to increase the navy, and Davis (Rep., Minn.), inquiring as to British aggression in Alaska. The Monroe doctrine was put forward by the President as though it had never been heard of before. In the judgment of Allen, the President recognized that, having lost the confidence of the American people, it was desirable to adopt this means to realize to a considerable extent the respect and confidence of the people. He urged as a measure of financial safety, that the free coinage of gold and silver on equal terms be substituted by the Senate committee.

Platt moved the reference of the resolution to the committee on finance. The motion was defeated, the detailed vote being as follows:

YEAS.

Allen, Berry, Cockrell, Faulkner, Gorman, Harris, Jones (Ark.), Kyle, Martin, Mills, Mitchell (Wis.), Morgan, Pasco, Pettigrew, Pugh, Roach, Turpie, Vest, Voorhees, Walthall, Wilson—24.

NAYS.

Allison, Baker, Brown, Burrows, Cullom, Davis, Dolph, Frye, Gallinger, Hale, Hawley, Hoar, Kenney, Lodge, McBride, McMillan, Mitchell (Or.), Morgan, Nelson, Pasco, Perkins, Platt, Pettigrew, Proctor, Sherman, Stockbridge, Thurston, Wolcott—34.

The resolution was then agreed to without division. Mr. Platt sought to have struck out the warlike preamble. Mr. Allen consented to have the struck out.

The resolution, as finally agreed to, is as follows:

That the committee on finance be and they are hereby directed and instructed to inquire and report, by bill or otherwise, whether it would not be expedient and proper for the government of the United States of America at this time to open its mints to the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and to authorize to issue an adequate volume of full legal tender or treasury notes, in the same manner as such notes have heretofore been issued, and, in the interest of national credit, withdraw the issue power of national banks and retire all bank currency.

Let The Whole World Know The Good Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Does

HEART DISEASE has its victim at a disadvantage. Always tragic that heart disease is incurable, when the symptoms become well defined, the patient becomes alarmed and a nervous panic takes place. But when a cure remedy is found and a cure effected, after years of suffering, there is great reporting and desire to "let the whole world know." Mrs. Laura Winegar, of Salina, Kansas, writes: "I desire to let the whole world know what Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has done for me. For ten years I had pain in my heart, shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in my left side, oppressed feeling in my chest, weak and hungry spells, bad dreams, could not lie on either side, was much and suffered terribly. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and before I finished the second bottle I felt its good effects. I feel sure that I am fully recovered, and that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure saved my life."
