MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

City Council Decides to Expend Six Thousand Dollars.

WORK FOR THE UNEMPLOYED.

Reports of Officers, Lighting Contract Licenses, Resolutions, Miscellaneous Business.

The City Council met last night. All members were in attendance except Cheesman and Cohn, and President McCornick occupied the chair.

There was the usual batch of petitions read and referred to appropriate committees.

An appropriation of $1,500 on a claim of $1,500 for fixtures furnished by the Inter-Mountain Electric company for the joint building was ordered.

Another claim of damages to a well by reason of gravity sewer construction was referred to the sewer committee.

Another appeal for work for the unemployed laboring men of the community was laid on the table until miscellaneous business was reached.

The February statement of the city Auditor was read and filed.

City Attorney Hoge presented several bills for moneys expended in legal services, which were ordered paid.

The dog tax collector's report showed $303 collected and fifty dogs destroyed in February.

Superintendent Dailey of the waterworks sent in his report for February as follows: Vouchers and payrolls, $2,249.14; permits issued, 7; services connected, 6.

Chairman Dowman of the board of public works submitted the sixteenth partial estimate of Houlahan, Griffith & Morris of $322.83, which was approved.

Supervisor Mulley's report showed an expenditure of $683.21. Filed.

Liquor licenses were granted John Franton, 43 Commercial street; Henry Sadler, 223 South, East Temple; S. B. Newman, 72 East First South; Dan Quinlan, 228 State; Louis Hahn, 143 State; C. E. Whittemore, 319 W. South Temple and 330 West, South Temple; Oscar Youngberg, 51 East Second South; Z. C. M. I. drug store, 112 South East Temple.

Hardy moved, on the report of the committee on the whole, recommending an expenditure of $1,000 a week for six weeks be made, that $500 be used in cleaning the water ditches.

Young proclaimed strongly against the motion, which was defeated on a vote 7 to 6.

Young introduced the following:

Whereas, It is necessary to do certain work on the several canals belonging to the city and that work can be done now as well as ever.

Now, therefore, Be it hereby resolved that the committee on Jordan canal be directed to begin work on the several canals and that the engineer examine and report on the matter of putting a sump in Emigration canyon for the benefit of the waterworks.

O'Meara moved as a substitute that the street department be given authority to spend $3,000 during the month of March, and the irrigation department $2,500. The motion carried. Ayes, 7; noes, 6.

This action was somewhat modified by a general order to expend $6,000 under the supervision of street, waterworks and irrigation departments.

On motion of Clawson it was decided to cancel all insurance policies held by the city and renew at the best rates that can be secured.

The electric light pole ordinance was called up but failed to pass.

O'Meara offered an ordinance repealing the ordinance creating lamp district No. 1. Laid on the table.

O'Meara then offered the following, which was defeated:

Resolved, That the Mayor Hon. R. N. Baskin is hereby authorized to enter into contract, on behalf of the city of Salt Lake, with the Salt Lake and Ogden Gas and Electric Light company to furnish the city with arc lights of 2,000 candle power, and to cost not to exceed, $9.50 per light per month, for 250 lights, and as many more as the city may need, the same to be for all night service, and for the term of three years, and to be paid for by the month, out of the general fund; all amounts running over thirty days to draw interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum.

Clawson's resolution requiring all sidewalks to be brought to a permanent grade in the paved district was adopted.

Appropriations amounting to $1,551.92 were made, after which the Council adjourned for one week.

AN EXCELLENT SUGGESTION.

How Country Places Needing Laborers Can Get Them from Salt Lake.

Editor Deseret News:

While listening to remarks, during the Salt Lake Stake quarterly conference just closed, in which members of the Church who have been out of work for some time, in this city, were advised to seek employment in country settlements, it occurred to me that many in that unfortunate condition would gladly follow the advice if they were directed to places where their services are most likely to be needed. It would be undesirable, haphazardous and even disreputable for the hundreds who, for months past, have fruitlessly endeavored to secure work in this city, to assume the apparent vocation of tramps, and traverse the Territory in search of what they have failed to obtain here, in many instances leaving unprovided and unprotected, wives and families to lament such a separation. The idea of a man being regarded as a tramp, no matter if he has the self consciousness that he is not one of the ordinary kind, but has an honest purpose in view, is repugnant to every man possessing a sentiment of manly self-respect.

I presume that the unemployed would not be counseled to leave the city unless those who gave the advice have good reasons for believing that the desired work can be obtained in specific localities. Now, what can be done to enable the worthy seekers after employment to secure that which, it is said, they may find in the country, without resorting to the highly objectionable mode of tramping from place to place, begging for food and shelter while on their search? It seems to me that some plan could be devised to obtain information, say, for instance, from the country ward Bishops of the Territory, as to where mechanics, tradesmen and laborers of various kinds are needed. If the exact localities were designated and the classes and numbers a preliminary stated of persons who might be employed, and this information were imparted, say, to the Presiding Bishop of the Church, he could, through the city ward Bishops possibly, find worthy individuals who would gladly avail themselves of such opportunities to obtain labor suited to them. I think that, in some such way as this, there need be no settlement in Utah many days without requisite aid for development in the shape of skilled workmen and laborers, who are now a surplus in our larger cities.

I do not submit the foregoing as, in my opinion, the best plan that could be adopted, but merely offer it as a suggestion, with the hope that others better qualified may give the matter consideration, and that it may result in the doing of something to bring the relief that is so urgently required. Believing that the News, very foremost in advocating that which will enhance the welfare of Utah's citizens, will cheerfully lend its columns to assist in formulating some practical methods of securing for the unemployed the work that, it is said, may be obtained in the country, without having the respectable workingmen converted into apparent tramps,

I remain, yours truly,

D. M. McA.

Syracuse Entertainment.

SYRACUSE, Davis Co., March 4, 1895.—On Saturday, the 2nd inst., our Sunday school gave an entertainment of songs, etc. The chief item was the operetta of "Red Riding Hood." Miss Payne, as Queen of the Fairies, in her songs, "I Am a Fairy Queen," etc., gained great applause; also Master A. Coles, as the wolf, in his song, "I Am King of the Night." Miss D. Phillips, as Red Riding Hood, did well. She has a lovely soprano voice and executed her part to perfection. Miss Miller, as the mother, was also well received. The chorus fairies were Mrs. Criddle, Misses H. and C. Miller, Miss Cook, Mrs. Watson, Miss Hampton, Masters A. and L. Coles, Master Walker and Misses I. and J. Bodily. The entertainment was a success both musically and financially.

New R. G. W. Passenger Agent.

The announcement that F. A. Wadleigh will assume the position of general passenger agent of the Rio Grande Western road on the 15th inst., has called forth many regrets from friends of Mr. Wadleigh in Denver, says the News of that city. The popular young official will make his headquarters in Salt Lake. General Passenger Agent Hooper of the Denver and Rio Grande is in Chicago and nothing official is given out concerning Mr. Wadleigh's successor. In some quarters it is prophesied that the office of assistant general passenger agent will be allowed to remain vacant, at least until business gives evidence of resuming the former activity.

F. A. Wadleigh is a native of Clinton, Iowa, where he was born November 15, 1857. In 1880 he entered the railway service as ticket agent of the Chicago and Northwestern road at Clinton. The year following he became clerk in the general passenger department of the Chicago and Iowa Railway. In 1882 Mr. Wadleigh came to Colorado and assumed the position of travel agent of the Denver & Rio Grande road at Pueblo, where he remained five years. In 1887 he was made chief clerk of the general passenger office of the road and in September, 1889, was promoted to the position of assistant general passenger and ticket agent. This position he has since occupied. Mr. Wadleigh has proven himself to be eminently qualified to meet the public and has been successful in a marked degree in gaining and holding the esteem of those with whom he has come in contact. It is freely conceded by railroad men who are acquainted with Mr. Wadleigh's exceptional abilities as a passenger official, that there is nothing in his field of work which he cannot hope to fill.

Wanted Their Liberty.

Two prisoners confined in the county jail made an unsuccessful attempt to regain their liberty late yesterday afternoon. Their names were William Henderson and J. W. Russell, the former serving a term for housebreaking and the latter charged with robbing a street car. They were out in the rear yard taking exercise, when they suddenly started for the front gate. They were ordered to halt but did not obey. Several shots were fired after them, but they continued to run. They ran out of the gate and started east, followed by Henry Johnson, night jailer, by whom Russell was captured before reaching First West. A little farther on Henderson was caught by Deputy Sheriff Matthews, and both were returned to jail.

A "Misfit" Party.

Next Friday evening a novel party will be given in the Seventeenth ward assembly hall, under the auspices of the Y. L. and Y. M. M. I. associations. This party is the third of a series given to aid in raising funds to substitute electric lights for lamps in the hall. It is desired that persons attending the party will dress in costume suitable to the occasion.

IRRIGATION COMMISSION.

Important Work of the Board With Reference to Proposed Legislation.

At the last meeting of the Irrigation Commission for Utah considerable business of public interest was transacted, the more immediate being the preparation of suggestions to the Constitutional Convention relative to irrigation. In this connection the commission has sent for and received copies of all the bills appertaining to this subject now pending in eight of the neighboring state legislatures, and also copies of the constitutional forms already adopted by the recently created states. From careful study they have been enabled to make such a draft concerning land and water rights as will, they believe, meet the present and coming requirements of the State of Utah.

At this meeting the preliminary steps were taken for completing the organization of a state irrigation association similar to those now so successfully in operation in the neighboring states east of us. This will continue the good work so skillfully inaugurated by the recent delegations to Denver and St. Louis at the National Irrigation congress and the Trans-Mississippi congress.

Following are the suggestions, based on the fundamental law of Wyoming, sent by the commission to each delegate:

Proposed Article of Constitution for Utah—Art. No. ——Irrigation and Water Rights.

Section 1. The water of all natural streams, springs, lakes and collections of still water, within the boundaries of the state, are hereby declared to be the property of the state.

Section 2. There shall be constituted a board of control, to be composed of the state engineer and superintendents of the water divisions, not more than half of which board shall be of one political party. Whenever a member of the board becomes a candidate for political preferment he shall at once be disqualified to hold his office in the board of control. This board shall, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, have the supervision of the waters of the state and of their appropriation, distribution and diversion, and of the various officers connected therewith. Its decisions to be subject to review by the courts of the state.

Section 3. Priority of appropriation for beneficial uses shall give the better right. No appropriation shall be denied except when such denial is demanded by public interests. The right of eminent domain shall extend to land and water rights.

Section 4. The Legislature shall by law divide the State into three (3) water divisions and provide for the appointment of superintendents thereof.

Section 5. There shall be a State engineer who shall be appointed by the Governor of the State and confirmed by the Senate; he shall hold his office for the term of four (4) years, or until his successor shall have been appointed and shall have qualified. He shall be president of the board of control, and shall have general supervision of the waters of the state and of the officers connected with its distribution. No person shall be appointed to this position who has not such theoretical knowledge and practical experience and skill as shall fit him for the position. The salary of the state engineer shall be fixed by law.

Lord Churchill's Attack on the G. O. M.

Another service which Lord Randolph rendered was much more lively, but not less significant. After the general election of 1880, Mr. Gladstone had achieved a position which practically made him supreme pontiff of modern politics. Alike in age, in experience, in achievements, in personal character, and in intellectual equipment, he was without a rival and without a peer. In the House of Commons, elected under his auspices and in response to the Midlothian trumpet blast, Mr. Gladstone towered like an eagle. The best of him and the awe of his presence was felt even more strongly by his opponents than by his supporters. If they were compelled to speak with their enemy in the gate, they did so with bated breath and whispering humbleness. In the midst of a crowd of subservient members, Lord Randolph Churchill suddenly stood up, and in the most insolent fashion chaffed and challenged the great Panjandrum to a bout of fisticuffs. The audacity of it first startled, and then amused the onlookers. It was as if some upstart little bantam but fresh from the egg were to challenge to a deadly combat some great old cock of the game whose spurs were dyed purple-black with the blood of his most formidable rivals. Landseer's "Dignity and Impudence" is not to be compared with the impudence of Lord Randolph, who sauntered nonchalantly up to the Grand Old Man, tweaked his nose and challenged him to the fight. Lord Randolph did it and survived. The Grand Old Man met the impudent young man in many an encounter, and did not always escape without punishment. Lord Randolph's style was not of the best. He often hit low. There was a bold brassy air about him, but he stood up when others laid down, he struck back when others shrank away. He always showed fight. "Who's afraid?" crowed the little chanticleer. "Have at him again!" And so he did, until at last, chiefly by dint of Lord Randolph's audacity and pertinacity, Mr. Gladstone lost much of his nimbus of unapproachable divinity and was recognized once more as a mortal man among mortal men. There was much that was pathetic and something that was very sad, almost revolting, in the process, but on the whole it tended to the development of what at one time threatened to be the crushed individuality of the cowering crowd of contemporary politicians.—March Review of Reviews.

The exposure to all sorts and conditions of weather that a lumberman is called upon to endure in the camps, often produces severe colds which, if not promptly checked, result in congestion or pneumonia. Mr. J. O. Davenport, ex-manager of the Fort Bragg Redwood Co., an immense institution at Fort Bragg, Cal., says they sell large quantities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy at the company's store and that he has himself used this remedy for a severe cold and obtained immediate relief. This medicine prevents any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia and insures a prompt recovery. For sale by druggists.

AN OPINION GIVEN.

Recently Mr. J. D. Thomas, of North Dakota, visited the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, and after carefully examining the country located in Winchester, he writes to Mr. V. Richards, Land and Immigration Agent, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Baltimore, Maryland, as follows: "I have been in nearly every state and territory of the United States, and am frank in my opinion that this valley surpasses all other sections in the Union. The lands are low in price, and produce profitable crops. I thank you for directing me here, and solicit those seeking pleasant and profitable homes to locate in this country."

In the fall of 1893, a son of Mr. T. A. McFarland, a prominent merchant of Live Oak, Sutter Co., Cal., was taken with a very heavy cold. The pains in his chest were so severe that he had spasms and was threatened with pneumonia. His father gave him several large doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which broke up the cough and cured him. Mr. McFarland says whenever his children have croup, he invariably gives them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and it always cures them. He considers it the best cough remedy in the market. For sale by druggists.
