J. J. Hagerman, of Colorado Springs, has loaned the state $1,000 in favor of the free field of the Colorado library.

Charles Hogewald, one of the pioneers of Laramie, Wyo., is dead. He was 80 years of age.

Northern Arizona counties are rejoicing and all mineral belts show that it would receive an abundance of water.

Five double decked car loads of fine Colorado steers were shipped from the Rio Grande valley in Kansas City last week.

J. W. Ball, a Rocky Ford farmer, was compelled to discontinue factory work because he could not get his pay. Evidently it was a paying crop.

On the lower Hagerman farm at Eddy, N. M., 2,000 vines and 1,500 California trees are to be planted the present spring.

Rock Ford, Colo., farmers are not so far wrong as a paying crop, and will next year turn their attention more largely to other cereals.

There were shipped from Rawlins, Wyo., in 1893 a total of 631 cars of stock containing 12,620 head of horses, 20,000 head of cattle and 70,200 head of sheep.

The Santa Fe New Mexican is urging the residents of that ancient city to join hands for themselves and work as effort to capture the trade of the new Cuba mining district.

Range cattle and sheep have wintered better in New Mexico than in many years past. The loss is estimated at only 5 per cent, and there are 800,000 head of cattle in the territory.

The Boulder News, Colo., has made the startling discovery that the Populists are going into caucus to endorse that city's spring election and call on its Republicans not to be caught napping.

The railroad between Prescott and Planet, in Arizona, is being pressed to completion as fast as men can do it. Arrangements have will soon be completed to run from Prescott to the end of the track.

The Western Union line men of Reno, Nevada, have decided to erect at their own expense a monument to mark the grave of Thomas C. Thrasher, one of the unfortunate victims of the battle disaster at Stone Lake.

The Chama Pacific receivers have offered to build a new road depot, costing about $12,000, at Lorenzo, Wyo., on condition that the citizens of that town donate the site. The stone will cost only $500.

Avon, Intermediate of the danger for navigation on Grand Cliffs Creek the Colorado Springs Telegraph states that an edition of 50,000 copies of a pamphlet descriptive of the area issued by an enterprising mining firm, was exhausted within a week.

Rosey Brothers, near Grand Junction, have set out a motor fruit farm. On ten acres they have 1,250 pear trees and 500 prune trees. During the past winter only twenty-three have died. The same parties propose setting out fifty acres additional principally in peach trees.

The Los Animas Leader states that during the big storm, on February about 10,000 head of cattle drifted from the northern ranges down to the Arkansas. They were driven back on the prairie and scattered, and are believed to have worked their way back to their home ranges.

At Carson, Nev., a man named Edward Hooper has invented a mineral mixed stock which will strike when the mercury reaches any designated degree of temperature. The stock will be valuable to those who desire to maintain a specified degree of temperature in any apartment.

The Wyoming press is complaining of the manner in which acting Indian Agent Day is driving citizens' stock off the reservation. With a band of cowboys he is rounding and driving cattle from 100 to 150 miles, under the pretense of eating feed for the Indians' stock.

Porter Williams has returned from Freedman's ferry on Snake river, says the Lewiston Teleram, where the Pierce gold saving machine has been placed. A trial run was made with the machine last Saturday. It worked to a charm and the water froze before a drawup could be made.

Frisco, in the Grand valley, Colorado, heads of a man who landed there with 20 cents as his capital six years ago, who has just cleared up $5,000 from the sale of ninety acres of fruit land, which he took up and planted in orchard. He supported a family while making this little start in life.

At New Castle, Colo., Superintendent Hendricks of the Vulcan company, is making arrangements for erecting a refrigerating packing house and cold manufacture of ice. It is intended to cold pack and feed and freeze it through the summer months and ship the same to markets throughout the mining regions.

The supreme court of Colorado has (finally decided to answer Governor Waite's question as to the power of the penitentiary commissioners to parole prisoners therefrom from the penitentiary to the territory. The second idea by the court was that the question might come before it for actual determination in another form, and hence it would not be proper for the court to be committed by any reply it might make to the governor's query.

A. H. Walker, a young attorney of Denver, has received as early pay the sum of $5,000 for his work in a suit against the Standard Sewing Machine company. About five years ago the company appropriated a motor which presses the thread from bobbins when the sewing machine is in operation. Mr. Walker was chosen as one of the attorneys against the company. A compromise has been effected, yielding by which the company says $50,000 damages.

A most sensational story is that advanced by Mrs. Minerva W. Leonard in her complaint setting for a divorce from her husband, Earnest W. Leonard, manager of the Hubbard Furniture company in Denver, and a son in the clothing trade of that city. Mrs. Leonard asks to have the decree of divorce granted June 1, 1893, on the ground of cruelty and treatment resulting in her death, and asserts that a divorce so granted her was support to herself and children. According to the complaint, Minerva met Leonard in Denver in 1884. At that time she was Mrs. J. H. Frary. She subsequently discovered that her husband had had a wife in Norwalk, Ohio, and in April, 1884, she secured a divorce from Frary and on May 21st, the same year, she married Leonard. Leonard left Denver in August 25th but first visited her home. Mrs. Leonard sets forth that at certain periods she became possessed of an uncontrollable desire to take things, and while suffering from this mania she did take various things from Hotz and stores, in value not to exceed $200. She was found out and the firm claimed $400 from her husband. Mr. Hassin accepted the money on condition that she after be confined to secure a divorce. Upon her release showing her much worse—only way out of the house, and appealing to Pomeroy for her, she consented. She sought her husband with infinity.

Mrs. Mary Hillinger, who formerly resided with her mother, Hattie A. J. Hillinger, in Denver, has become a violent maniac in Mt. Zion, Ill., and application has been made to have her confined in the insane asylum. Mrs. Hillinger was sent in mistake to a longer for Omaha, and never since her husband with having completed her to go out in such states at that time, she is now looking to Mr. Wyeth's mistake. She was at one time quite an actually beautiful woman, but years of unremitting trouble have destroyed her beauty and led to the done of the mind cause. Her husband was once well-to-do, but circumstances have brought about an change in the lives of Mrs. Hillinger's treatment of his wife evidently unknown to her. Her husband was shown in a peculiar manner which happened in the early morning, at Omaha 20 last year. Just before daylight Joseph J. Wyeth came home to his other, and hastily dressing went into the back yard and saw a figure running toward the back gate. He discharged a shotgun at the figure and a few minutes later discovered a woman dressed in much apparel lying in a pool of blood. The woman proved to be Mrs. Hillinger. Jessy, noted pellets and entered her back and thigh and her life was despaired of. Although seemingly weak she recovered rapidly and was up and about in a few weeks. Her husband showed very little sympathy, and told the neighbors that Wyeth did right in shooting at the supposed burglar. About January 15, Mrs. Hillinger left with her husband for St. Joseph. Having no friends in Denver, their movements are unknown, save that Mrs. Hillinger was married soon after arriving at St. Joe.
