

SECOND EDITION,
DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Tuesday, May 17, 1892.

LOCAL BREVIETIES.

The Symphony concert at the Tabernacle.

A MORMON MARY WHITNEY was in the city today and a large number of them were anxious to go out to dinner with her. She has been here since April 1st, so that point for about two weeks now.

TOMORROW.—Wednesday evening there will be an important meeting in the Tabernacle, when we shall have the pleasure of hearing some of the most prominent members of that ward who are urgently requested to attend.

The funeral of Sister Mary H. Clegg, who died last Saturday, will be held in the Tabernacle at 1 P.M. Wednesday evening. We send our sympathies to the friends of the deceased.

TEN UNION FRIENDS departed yesterday morning for Salt Lake City, for the meetings for the Easterners, five cars of California vegetation, five cars of wine, and three cars of Turkey are for Pueblo and Denver. Six cars of ore from Pueblo, Colorado, and one car of coal from Canon City, Colorado, will be taken to the Union thirteen cars of salt from Nevada, the Montana mines and mills, in addition to immense quantities of regular freight.

Congratulatory.

This is President Angus M. Cannon's birthday. We cordially congratulate him on his present health, good spirits and prospect for long life and usefulness. Brother Cannon is esteemed by those who know him best. He is a man of great character and a true friend to all. Let us rejoice that it is right and promoting the happiness and welfare of his fellowmen, and we wish him many happy returns of the day. We trust that he will live to see the entire earth, with all its blessings, that can bring to all the satisfaction of a fullness of glory.

An Enjoyable Gathering.

There was a very pleasant gathering at the new residence of Sister Mary D. McMaster in the Eleventh Ward last evening. The party consisted of her large family, who had collected from various parts of the Territory for the dual purpose of "housewarming" and celebrating the seventeenth birthday of their mother. The venerable Mrs. McMaster was the center of attraction, and we join with her host of friends in the wish that she may yet live many years to enjoy her new home and continue her usefulness in the community.

Elders.

At a meeting of the Eighteenth quorum of Elders of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion held at the Union Ward meeting house on Sunday, May 15th, 1892, at 10 A.M., Brother George W. Walks, formerly second Counselor to President Thomas H. Cannon, was unanimously sustained as first Counselor and Brother C. A. Longfellow as second Counselor in the presidency of that quorum of Elders. The brethren were unanimous in their endorsement of the proceedings under the hands of Apostle H. Cannon and President Angus M. Cannon and Thomas H. Walks.

New Bishopric.

At the Ward conference held at Sandy, Salt Lake Stake of Zion, on Sunday, May 15th, 1892, Bishop Edward Holman of that place having been elected with unanimous voice for a long time and feeling unable to give that attention to his ward which he desired and to which he had dedicated himself in the past, and feeling that their welfare in the interests of the Church should be paramount, especially in the surrounding states of the West, he tendered his resignation. After the resignation of this let the facts be stated, that our fellow citizens of the Union may realize our independence.

The Presidency of the Church, President of the Stake, and the people of Sandy, were deeply grieved at the departure of the beloved Edward Holman, and President Woodruff desired that he be ordained a Patriarch.

The newly appointed brethren were unanimously sustained as the Bishopric of Sanday ward: James Jensen, Bishop, with William W. Wilson and William H. Kuhn as his Councillors.

The meeting in each ward convened under the heads of Apostle H. Cannon and President Angus M. Cannon.

Card from Dr. McNeice.

Editor Deseret News:

I'm sorry that an erroneous report of what I said at the Theatre on Sunday evening caused the news to misrepresent the spirit and purpose of the motion which I offered, and which was voted upon. I did not say "We shall be glad to welcome President Woodruff into the ranks of the First Presbyterian church when he gives tangible evidence of being a good orthodox Christian," but this: "When he gives tangible evidence of being a good orthodox Presbyterian."

I was not speaking from the general standpoint of Christianity, but from the Presbyterian standpoint. And hence I maintain that what I said was neither heterogeneous nor dissonant. Anyhow, no intention of testifying to President Woodruff with any disrepect whatever. Indeed, it is quite natural for me to do so.

A short time ago I was in the theatre, where the news was to the Atlantic welcome and general tolerance. And so, in a spirit of general benevolence, I expressed a reaction in welcome to President Woodruff into the ranks of the First Presbyterian Church. Although I have the report of that speech, I can't get it out of my mind.

In the afternoon, when the news was to the Atlantic welcome and general tolerance, and so, in a spirit of general benevolence, I expressed a reaction in welcome to President Woodruff. And if I failed to express my appreciation by the name of "Christianity" I did so by the name of "orthodox Presbyterian." Thank you, my friend.

And in the words of our great military captain "Let us prove it." H. G. McNeice.

Salt Lake City, May 16th, 1892.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

The Resolutions Adopted at the Territorial Convention.

UTAH'S SERMON SET FORTH.

What the Delegates Are Opposed To and What They Favor.

The platform and resolutions which were unanimously adopted at the Territorial Democratic Convention at Ogden on Saturday night were emanated out of our last night and are herewith given in full:

DEMOCRATS AND INDEPENDENTS.

The Democratic party of Utah, in convention assembled, hereby adopt the following platform and resolutions:

First.—We believe that the government of the United States is a national sovereign entity within its sphere as delegated and defined within the Constitution, and that the powers of the federal government over the free states, both as to the federal and state governments, are to be exercised in a willing and loyal obedience to all laws and a strict enforcement of the same.

Second.—We believe that the several states of the Union are sovereign within their respective spheres, and upon the preservation of their autonomy depends the liberty of the citizens and the prosperity of the Union.

Third.—We are opposed to any scheme of paternal government, believing that the best government is the one that governs the least; and therefore we believe in the largest measure in the individual citizen's control with good government.

Fourth.—We are opposed to any legislation by the Federal government which looks to or operates in levying taxes for the benefit of any one class at the expense of any other, but we believe that the primal idea of all taxes should be revenue, and that conservation of the government should be the greatest object of all legislation.

Fifth.—We are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Sixth.—We are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Seventh.—We favor the full restoration of all rights to the position it occupied in the original currency before the adoption of the Republican party.

Eighth.—We favor the cause of the Democratic majority in the last legislative assembly of Utah, and oppose the convention for its efforts in behalf of good government, as was and will continue to be the right of taxpayers in opposing all base legislation in the name of the Union.

Ninth.—That this convention, notwithstanding the report of the committee of inquiry, fully condemns the report of the House committee on Territories, and any interference with them by extraneous power or means. The Constitution of the United States should not be violated by makeshift legislation to facilitate party advantage.

Tenth.—We favor the full restoration of all rights to the position it occupied in the original currency before the adoption of the Republican party.

Eleventh.—That the course of the Democratic majority in the last legislative assembly of Utah, and oppose the convention for its efforts in behalf of good government, as was and will continue to be the right of taxpayers in opposing all base legislation in the name of the Union.

Twelfth.—That this convention, notwithstanding the report of the committee of inquiry, fully condemns the report of the House committee on Territories, and any interference with them by extraneous power or means.

Thirteenth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fourteenth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifteenth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Sixteenth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Seventeenth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Eighteenth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Nineteenth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Twenty.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Twenty-first.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Twenty-second.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Twenty-third.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Twenty-fourth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Twenty-fifth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Twenty-sixth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Twenty-seventh.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Twenty-eighth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Twenty-ninth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Thirtieth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Thirty-first.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Thirty-second.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Thirty-third.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Thirty-fourth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Thirty-fifth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Thirty-sixth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Thirty-seventh.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Thirty-eighth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Thirty-ninth.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Forty.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Forty-one.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Forty-two.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Forty-three.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Forty-four.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Forty-five.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Forty-six.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Forty-seven.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Forty-eight.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Forty-nine.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-one.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-two.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-three.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-four.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-five.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-six.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-seven.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-eight.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-nine.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-ten.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-one.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-two.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-three.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-four.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-five.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-six.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-seven.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-eight.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-nine.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-ten.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-one.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-two.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-three.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-four.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-five.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-six.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-seven.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-eight.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-nine.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-ten.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-one.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-two.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-three.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-four.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-five.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-six.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-seven.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-eight.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-nine.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-ten.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-one.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-two.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-three.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-four.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-five.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-six.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-seven.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-eight.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-nine.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-ten.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-one.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-two.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-three.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-four.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we believe that the public welfare should be the greatest object of the government.

Fifty-five.—That we are opposed to any legislation tending to build up monopoly, as the result is to make rich the few at the expense of the many, and we