The Nannie Tout concert at the Ta bernacle last night was a grand event. Few concerts that can now be recalled, have exceeded it in interest, and that is saying a great deal when one thinks of the many notable musical occasions the great building has witnessed. The audience must have numbered from 2,500 to 3,000 people, probably more, the portions of the house where the halfdollar rates prevailed being crowded, and the others fairly filled.

There were several numbers that might have had a place on the most notable festival programs given any where, especially Miss Tout's solos and the "Infigmmatus," rendered by her with the orchestra and the choir. Miss Tout herself had a tremendous recep-tion, and after her singing of the maaria, "Oceap, Thou Mighty Mon-the great audience almost made Jestic the building rock with its enthusiasm; for an encore she rendered "My Old Kentucky Home" most feelingly, the choir adding a dainty humming ad companiment, and the audience still insisting on more. Miss Tout responded or a second encore with her exquisite Cuckoo" song. Scarcely less notable was her rendition of the aria from "Aida," which she rendered in beauti-'ul style, especially the soulful portion where the stringed instruments gave a soft agitato accompaniment. For an soft agitato accompaniment. For an encore she gave a tender little ballad which showed off well the richness of her lower register. In the grand "In-flammatus," Miss Tout sang with elec-trical effect-an effect which might have been heightened had the grand or gan been added to the orchestra. 110 omission was severely noticed, but not even Nordica caused more enthusiasm than 'ast night's rendition of the great and contains all the cream of the number. But for the lateness of the hour, the audience would have insisted on Miss Tout's appearing again. Mr. Andelin, the favorite basso, had

EXCITEMENT AT RIVERTON.

Discharged Section Boss Threatens to

Shoot Greek Laboreis

(Special to the "News.") Riverton, Oct. 7.-Last night about 30 Riverton was the scene of what for a time looked promising for a shouting scrape. A few days ago John Patmer, section foreman for the Rlo Grande, discharged a number of Greeks because of some minor grievance. The men immediately went to Salt Lake and reported the matter, with the result that yesterday Palmer was replaced by a Mr. Evans and the Greeks were ordered to return to work. When they arrived here last evening they vere met at the station by Mr. Palmer wire, shotgun in hand, took after them and chased them some distance along His the track, threatening to shoot. His threats, however, were not carried into effect and on waving a flag of truce the Greeks were permitted to go on their way unmolested. The men gave their names as Thomas, Alex., and Chris Es-canda, Thomas Milo, Louis Lotz and Sippe Mikesbury.

The splinter was thrown of from a bar which Gurney was forging. and penetrated the cornea of one eye He immediately came to this city where an incision was made under the splinter, and a magnet was then used to draw out the steel,

In the arrest of John O'Brien by Parolman Palmer yesterday, it is believed that the police department has one of the men who held up the bartender at the Pullman saloon, corner Third West and South Temple street, last Weddesday night, and relieved him of $30, August Moyer, the bartender, who was robbed, called at the police station and partially identified O'Brien as one of the men implicated in the hold-up.

Action in regard to the charges gainst County Supt. of Schools Bownan of Carbon county, was postponed by the state board of education yester-day until next Thursday, when the board will meet again. Supt. Bowman was present yesterday, and in the ex-ith one of his beautiful ballads. He as accompanied by his teacher, Prof. Lund; his great voice improves on ac quaintance, and though he has some faults in excessive slurring, he make one forget all that by the wonderful sweetness of his tones and the strength develops in descending the It is a pleasure to note that Mr. Andebu is to accompany Miss Tout and her father to Europe, and we may ex-pect great things of his voice after A ourse of study The choir has seldom been better balanced than it was last night, and in the new chorus "Hail Utah" by Vi-setti of London, Miss Tout's teacher, it made an excellent impression. The chorus is a rousing and hearty one, with a pleasing melody, and a ringing style. Unfortunately the words were no printed in the program, which detracted from the effect, and all the singers were not entirely familiar with it. The violin soloist of the evening was Mr. Schettler, who played Max Bruch's violin concerto in excellent fushion, showing decided gifts, and but for the length of his number he would have been encored. He was admirably accompanied by Miss Cecella Sharp.

Mr. E. F. Tout was heard to much better advantage than on his previous ppearance, and won a hearty encore or his song. He responded with Dud-Buck's "Oh Come Hither.

A pleasant surprise was in the work of Mr. Christenson's selected orchestra, band of 29 who played two selections n refined and effective style, and also endered the accompaniments. Their wor was excellent, especially the strings, in Miss Tout's Aida number, Mr. Stephens and Mr. Coop both conducted. the last named gentleman hendling the big 'Inflammatus' selec-tion. Prof. McClellan accompanied the choir at the organ. The only drawbacks were the annoying walts, first in opening the concert, and second between some of the numbers. vere explained by the fact that the audience insisted on so many encores and also by the fact that the lights went out in the music room and made t impossible to flud some of the sheets The receipts of the night were over $1,500, a very handsome total for a abernacle event. Miss Tout and Mr Andelin sing in Ogden tonight and leave for Europe tomorrow.

At the theater Florence Roberts preented "Marta of the Lowlands' night before a good audience; the final productions of this play will be seen this evening and tomorrow afternoon, and the engagement ends tomorrow hight with the very strong play "Tess of the D'Urbervilles." "Arizona" is in its closing nights at the Grand.

The operetta "The Countess," will be repeated for the last time in the Eighteenth ward hall tomorrow night.
