

of his fast, and he still persists in his refusal to take food. Some oranges were sent to him yesterday but he declined to touch them. Mr. McVicker called on the doctor and endeavored to persuade him to take some food, but he was obstinate. He made a proposition to Mr. McVicker, that if Mrs. Bredemeyer would agree to certain conditions, one of which was to stop her proceedings for divorce, he would take food, and in a couple of weeks after he got out of jail he would take an extended trip to Europe. This proposition he declared to be his ultimatum, and closed by saying: "If she will not do this, then I die." He is growing pretty thin through his self-enforced abstinence from food. He smokes most of the time, puffing away vigorously at the cigars, as though barely able to endure the cravings of hunger, which are evidently severe.

Architect Monheim's Letter.

The following letter, regarding the needs of the penitentiary, has been sent, with the grand jury letter to the Secretary of the Interior:

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 23, 1888.

F. H. Dyer, United States Marshal:

Dear Sir—At your request I have made a careful examination of the new proposed buildings of the penitentiary and find the same can not be completed for less than $65,000. I have also examined the old warden's residence and find this building unhealthy and unsafe, as the walls are made of undried clay. This building has been built about thirty years, the inside is damp and foul, all the timber is rotten, so the building is unfit to live in. I would advise to have the floors supported to keep the same from breaking down. I have also examined the stockade wall and find the same built of the same material as the warden's residence. I find this wall so badly washed out, that it is dangerous for the guards to walk on top of the same, and there is danger that in a heavy rain storm the walls will tumble down. The present wall incloses only on acre of ground, which ought to be extended to inclose at least two acres of ground as you will see by the drawing when the new buildings are completed there is no room left for 250 or 300 prisoners to have any exercise, and I have made an estimate for a wall which will inclose two acres of ground, the same to be three feet thick and twenty feet high, built of rock and finished on top with platform and railing. This will cost complete $30,000. And there are many other improvements needed about the place, such as fencing the premises, buying a water right which you must have, and many other small things too numerous to mention, and I should recommend that you ask for an appropriation for at least $100,000. All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. MONHEIM.

Superintendent of Construction United States Penitentiary of Utah.

He Didn't Mean To.

The following document is a fitting tribute to the cheeky proceedings conducted with the attempted jumping of the Tenth Ward Square:

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 25, 1888.

To the City Council of Salt Lake City: GENTLEMEN:—On the 15th inst., after an examination of the public records I came to the conclusion that the ground known as Block 25, Plat B. of this city, was open to settlement under the trusts conferred by the Townsite act and the patent conveying the Townsite of Salt Lake City, that trust being "for the several use and benefit of occupants," which I believe is understood to mean for the individual use and benefit of each settler of the particular tract settled upon by him.

The records showed no transfer to the City Corporation, nor any attempt of dedication to public use, not even a plat of the land being filed with the County Recorder. The title remained precisely as originally vested, "for the several use and benefit," etc.

Certainly the land in question bore no evidence of use for public benefit or purpose; unless a fenced and cultivated corn patch, by some ingenious sophistry, may be deemed a public benefit, in that corn is necessary for the masses.

If it belonged to the city and was not still held subject to the trust, I maintain it should have been deeded to the City Corporation.

Under these circumstances, acting entirely in good faith, I settled upon the land in question. While I believe the law and the facts are with me, and that I should ultimately win as to a part of the land at least, if I sought the power of the highest courts, I have determined not to interfere with the claims of the populace or the City Corporation, and am ready to make any conveyance to the city for indisputable and actual public use, which may be thought best, and thus strengthen what, under present circumstances, would seem at best, not a perfect title.

I am also willing to reimburse the Treasurer for any reasonable and just expenses incurred by reason of my occupancy. I remain gentlemen,

Very respectfully yours,

A. H. WINN.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, FEB 27, 1888.

Dan. Jones Arrested.

Last night Mr. Dan Jones, of Salt Lake County, was at the D. & R. G. W. depot, when he was arrested by deputy marshals on a charge of unlawful cohabitation. He was indicted last November. He was taken before Commissioner Norrell this morning, and gave bonds for his appearance for trial.

To the Full Term.

In the Third District Court today, Edward Cox, of the Sixteenth Ward, was called for sentence on a plea of guilty to the charge of unlawful cohabitation. He stated, in reply to the court, that he had no promise to make as to his future conduct, and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $50 and costs of prosecution.

Water Main Extension.

The residents of the Tenth Ward have lately been made happy by having the city water main extended to their locality, it having reached there last week, Mr. Hyrum A. Reeve, the superintendent of the Tenth Ward Co-op. being the first resident of the above mentioned ward to take advantage of the extension. Many others are contemplating utilizing it in the near future.

The Murder Trial.

The trial of Neal Mulloy, for the murder of George J. Hughes, at Park City, last August, was commenced in the Third District Court today. J. A. Marshall and C. S. Varian are counsel for the defendant, and W. J. Clarke and C. W. Zane are prosecuting. The defense asked for a separate trial for Mulloy, who is indicted jointly with John T. Sweeney for the crime, and the request was granted. The work of empaneling a jury was proceeded with this afternoon.

Mingo Smelter Fire.

About four o'clock yesterday morning word was telephoned to this city that the Mingo smelter, at Sandy, was on fire. Chief Ottinger, of the fire department, proffered assistance if the smelter people desired it. At about six o'clock a call came for help, and the firemen, with a hand engine, went to the Utah Central depot. They had just got ready to start south on a special train when another message came that their services would not be required. The main building of the works was destroyed, and one box car belonging to the Utah Central was burned. The origin of the fire was not ascertained.

Jail Breakers Captured.

The efforts of Sheriff Beinap, of Weber County, to retake the three thieves who made their escape from the county jail last week, were successful last evening. It had been ascertained that the fugitives had been seen at Morgan, on the Union Pacific, going east. The Sheriff took train for Evanston, Wyoming, yesterday afternoon. The men he was looking for jumped the same train somewhere in Echo Canon, and the Sheriff, becoming aware of the fact, nabbed them at Evanston. One of the fugitives, Ben Butler, attempted to draw a pistol on the officer, but was covered, and the trio were taken into custody and shipped back to Ogden.

For Unlawful Cohabitation.

W. C. Saunders, of Utah, who was arrested on the charge of unlawful cohabitation, appeared before Commissioner Wardleigh yesterday. By consent of all the parties concerned the examination was postponed until Tuesday at 10 a. m.

Yesterday afternoon Deputies Steele and Corey arrested at Farmington, Utah, John Andrews, of Logan, on the going charge. He was brought to Ogden on the 8:30 U. C. express, and was released on the security of Ambrose Greenwell, Esq. He will be taken to Logan today, and will appear for examination before Commissioner Goodwin tomorrow. This defendant has been in hiding for about two years, and expresses considerable relief at being captured.—Ogden Star-Jard, Feb. 26.

Attempt at Kidnapping.

This morning an attempt was made at the depot at Ogden to kidnap a thirteen year old girl. The effort was made by her father. It appears that the girl, Irene Godfrey, has been living with her mother in Tooele. Mrs. Godfrey was divorced from her husband when her daughter was three or four months old, and the child had never seen her father, who now resides in Butte, Montana. Irene has been visiting relatives at North Ogden, and this morning came to the train to return home. Her father learned of her whereabouts, and at the depot attempted to get her on the north-bound train for Butte. She refused to go, and every effort on his part to induce her to do so was met by screams, and appeals to others for aid. Finally a gentleman from Ogden took the girl in charge and brought her to this city, the father coming also. It is likely there will be further developments.

Bredemeyer Still Starves.

It is now twelve days since Dr. Bredemeyer tasted food. He also stated that he has not drunk a drop of water during that time. He takes a mouthful occasionally, rinses his mouth and then ejects the liquid. He at first tried to get along without quenching his thirst, but his mouth became so hot and dry that he could not stand it. He now insists that he will touch no food till his wife agrees to stop all divorce proceedings and to live with him again. He thinks that his action and possible fate will cause her to relent within a day or two. It is probable that he can wear out for several days longer at the present rate. Though he has lost considerable flesh, he is not by any means weak, the principle effect noticeable being that his nervousness has greatly increased. He is now the sole occupant of the county jail, and has the large cell for his accommodation.

This afternoon he stated that he was able to go twenty or twenty-five days without nourishment. He bases his hopes of his wife coming to the terms he has laid down, on an occurrence that took place a little over a year ago. When he proposed marriage to her she refused, saying she did not love him. The doctor then appeared to grow desperate, and threatened to kill himself. She became so alarmed, and impressed with the belief that he would carry out his threat, that she married him to save his life. He now thinks that she will retrace her steps for a separation for the same reason.

The People vs. Neal Mulloy; murder in the first degree; on trial before a jury.

Teachers' Institute.

The opening prayer was offered by Mr. D. B. Richards.

By a very unfortunate coincidence the first and third parts of the programme were not rendered.

The subject of the "daily preparation the teacher should bring to the school room" was introduced by Mr. C. C. Crapo. The teacher who gives no thought to the day's work before him, may be likened to the farmer who goes to his labor not knowing what he is going at, and finds that he returns from the field without having attained any satisfactory results. The teacher who makes no preparation, gets into a tiresome routine of work that becomes monotonous, and wearies the pupils.

Mr. J. B. Moreton thought that daily preparation, does not mean that the teacher should search through a library to find something foreign to the text of his daily lessons, but that he should keep in mind the every day wants of the pupils, and endeavor to find some apt and lively illustrations or methods to bring out more forcibly the points in the daily recitations.

Mr. G. M. Mumford then took up the subject. We should aim to increase our facility to bring out the ideas of the pupils and to develop their individuality.

Mr. J. B. Cummings delivered an address on "Percentage." The gentleman explained his own particular methods, and stated that he does not follow the text-book too closely. Examples were introduced to make plain the various processes required in the successful teaching of percentage.

After the address the subject was thoroughly and earnestly discussed by the teachers.

Under the head of miscellaneous business, a committee was appointed to draft resolutions expressing the sentiment of the teachers of this county on the subject of free schools, and while the resolutions were being prepared, several of the teachers indulged in a discussion of the free-school system.

The following resolutions were reported by the committee and unanimously adopted by the meeting.

WHEREAS—There is now pending before the Territorial Legislature a bill providing among other things, a system of free schools for Utah, and

WHEREAS—The Territory is partially pledged to the free-school system, by the present law, and that even with the present inducements to education, less than half the children of school age are now in attendance; that the dangers to the people morally, politically and otherwise, from such a condition must be self-evident, and that no other system has been proposed for remedying these evils, and,

WHEREAS, The school teachers of Salt Lake County have had the subject under discussion and have become fully convinced of the many benefits that will accrue to Utah by the adoption of a free-school system; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the teachers of Salt Lake County in meeting assembled, endorse the system of free schools, and earnestly hope that the Legislature will pass some wise measure having this object in view.
