INSPECTOR OF MEATS

A Competent Veterinarian is to Fill the Office.

WHAT THE STATUTE PROVIDES.

Applicable Only to Salt Lake; It May be Adopted in Part by any City or County.

An act to prevent the exposure for sale of unwholesome or diseased meats in cities having a population of 10,000 inhabitants, or over, within the Territory of Utah:

Be it enacted by the Governor and Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Utah:

Section 1. The office of meat inspector is hereby created for cities having a population of 10,000 inhabitants, or over, within the Territory of Utah; who immediately after the passage of this act each cities shall appoint a meat inspector, or inspectors, whose compensation shall be borne by said cities and shall be such as will secure the services of a competent veterinarian, who shall take an oath of office to faithfully perform the duties of his office and execute an official bond to the said city in the sum of five thousand dollars.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the city councils of cities having the population required by this act to designate some convenient place or places, or slaughter-pens, at which all cattle, sheep or swine intended for immediate slaughter and consumption for food in said cities shall be brought for inspection on the hoof, which inspection shall be made at such time or and city councils may direct.

Sec. 3. (a.)—All cattle, sheep and swine intended for immediate slaughter and consumption for food, in cities having a population of 10,000 inhabitants or over, shall be submitted to the meat inspector for examination on the hoof, the day before being slaughtered and shall be brought to such place, as may be provided in section 2.

(b.) The carcasses of all animals so inspected on the hoof, and slaughtered within a radius of seven miles from the center of said cities, before being exposed for sale shall be inspected by the meat inspector and such carcass or carcasses as may pass examination shall be marked with a tag similar to that in use by the government of the United States, in the bureau of animal industry, which tag shall be designed and adopted by the city councils of said cities as the city stamp or certificate of the inspection of wholesome and healthy meat. Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any person from slaughtering, without inspection, any healthy animal the meat of which is intended for his own use or that of his household.

(c.) The rules, regulation and method of inspection adopted by the bureau of animal industry, conducted by the United States government, shall be taken as the standard of meat inspection and shall be followed as closely as practical by the meat inspectors, appointed by said cities.

Sec. 4. (a.) It shall be the duty of the meat inspectors appointed by cities having a population of 10,000 inhabitants or over, to inspect on the hoof at such time and place as may be designated by the city councils of said cities as before provided, both as to wholesomeness and health of animals, all cattle, sheep and swine which may be brought to such place and which animals are intended for immediate slaughter and consumption for food in said cities.

(b.) As soon as possible after such animals have been slaughtered the said meat inspectors shall inspect the carcasses of the same, and if found healthy, shall attach thereto the city stamp or tag indicating that such carcass is wholesome and a fit article for food.

(c.) The meat inspectors appointed by said cities shall perform such other duties in inspecting food as said cities may require. Provided, that such additional duties shall not interfere with the proper discharge of the duties of meat inspector as herein specified.

Sec. 5. (a.) The meat inspectors appointed by said cities shall have the right to condemn any carcass, carcasses, or parts thereof of any cattle, sheep or swine which they may find after examination to be unfit for food and shall order the owner to destroy the same in such manner as may be acceptable to said inspectors.

(b.) They shall take possession of all animals inspected by them and found to be unlawful in the possession of any person, and shall sell the same at the market price. After such sale the inspector shall by the use of recorded marks and brands and otherwise, use due diligence to find the lawful owner, and if he be found within six months from the date of sale, the proceeds of said sale, after the deduction of all costs therefrom, shall be paid to the said lawful owner; otherwise at the expiration of six months, the proceeds shall be disposed of as provided for in the sale of estrays.

(c.) The inspectors appointed under this act shall keep a record of all animals thus sold by them, including marks and brands, which record shall be open to the inspection of the public at all reasonable hours.

(d.) The said meat inspectors shall have the same power as is now conferred by law on sheriff, constables or other peace officers, to arrest any person, or persons, whom said meat inspectors may have reason to believe are in possession of stolen stock, or who may be guilty of violating any of the provisions of this act.

Sec. 6. (a.) Any person or persons, company or corporation who may sell or offer for sale, buy or offer to buy, within the limits of said city any carcass or carcasses, or portions thereof of any cattle, sheep or swine, which have not been inspected and tagged as herein required or accepted as hereafter stated, shall be convicted thereof be punished by a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars. Provided, that nothing in this act, or in any paragraph thereof, shall be construed to interfere with the offering for sale of any meats bearing a stamp or tag indicating that the carcass has been inspected by the United States government or some county or municipality where a proper sanitary meat inspector as required by this act has been complied with.

Second.—Any person or persons, who shall forge, counterfeit or knowingly or wrongfully alter, deface, destroy or use any of the marks, stamps or other devices which may be adopted by said cities or counties, or such devices required to be used for the purpose of designating wholesome and healthy meats, or who may sell or attempt to sell any meats within said cities, contrary to the said meat inspection, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor within the meaning of this act, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding three hundred dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 7. Any city or county of the Territory of Utah shall have the option of adopting the sanitary provisions of this act.

Sec. 8. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 8, 1894.

They Got Off Easily.

Abraham Smith and Dolph Payne, a brace of hoodlums who have, it is said, been making themselves especially obnoxious of late, were before Justice Smith this afternoon for using obscene and obscene language. It appears that on Wednesday night as a young man named Cutlessness left the Eleventh ward meeting house accompanied by a couple of young ladies, Smith and Payne followed close behind and indulged in the most shameful conduct. The court told them a lesson in good behavior and then allowed them to depart.

MR. MYRICK HERE.

The Great Agricultural Editor is Looking About Salt Lake.

Mr. Herbert Myrick, editor of the American Agriculturist, which has been for so many years the representative journal of the tillers of the soil in this country, is in Salt Lake today, en route east from his California trip. Owing to the illness of Mrs. Myrick, the gentleman is able to stay but one day in this city, but as he is a mixer he no doubt will be able to secure a considerable amount of information in that limited time. Mr. Myrick was for under his supervision Farm and Home, the New England Homestead, and the Springfield Homestead. He certainly is a welcome visitor to Salt Lake, and the NEWS wishes him every success.

Pushing It Forward.

Governor West is writing this afternoon to the mayors of the various cities and towns in Utah, requesting them to provide armories and drill rooms for the use of the militia that may be organized for their respective districts, so as to afford the uniformed all the encouragement within their power, with a view of making it an efficient organization throughout the Territory.

A. P. A. Meeting.

There will be a meeting at the local members of the A. P. A. tonight in that part of the Wasatch building which was occupied by the Council Church of the recent Territorial Legislature. The speaker is to be one of the leading significers of the association. His name was not learned before press time. It is understood that he has just arrived in the city.

SAD AND CRESHING NEWS.

Mrs. Dealy Passes Away on a Southern Pacific Passenger Train Today.

It will be shocking and unwonted news to the many friends of Mrs. Dealy, wife of Hon. J. E. Dealy of this city, to learn that she died on a Southern Pacific passenger train, west bound, at Caliln, Nevada, at noon today.

The deceased has been a constant sufferer from heart disease for the last two or three years and during the bulk of that time has been under the care of Dr. Richards. For some time past the family have been prepared for the worst as it was almost certain that the case of the unfortunate woman was a hopeless one. During the progress of the World's Fair she visited Chicago and it appears that the excitement and worry attendant upon the same had a decided effect upon her, for her worse and gradually complications and troubles of a very serious character developed, until yesterday she made the request, when every member of the family felt that it would be a most hazardous undertaking, to be taken to California, with a view to obtaining relief, even though the angel of death should call her while on the way.

Notwithstanding the drawback that appeared to be her lifting, she, or, stated was green and the slightest train from this city note Mr. Dealy, his stricken wife and daughter Nellie, towards the coast.

That their journey was so suddenly and painfully interrupted when only half completed is indeed cause for sincerest regret. The saying that great afflictions never come singly appears to save the latest application to this case as at Mr. Dealy's residence in this city his little daughter Hazel is lying near death's door in the last stages of chronic Bright's disease.

Mr. Dealy and his daughter Nellie will return to this city tomorrow morning with the remains of the dearly beloved wife and mother, whose spirit has passed beyond the portals of earthly life. The deceased was an estimable and lovely woman, forty-three years of age, and leaves a husband, five children, and many relatives and friends to mourn her departure from this sphere of action.

Not Acceptable.

OMAHA, March 23.—The Sioux City proposition to change the schedule in Standard Clark, was indorsed there after considering it had it was not acceptable. What the next step will be is not known, though it is not impossible that the men will give up trying to reach an agreement with the receivers. The engineers will probably be called into conference with Clark, but everything, in any case, will remain unsettled till the return of Judge Caldwell.

On Tuesday a convict named Armais Almeida, sentenced from Los Angeles for life for murder, had his right leg broken and crushed while working in the granite quarry at the Folsom prison.
