EVENING NEWS.

Monday, December 30, 1878.

Correspondence.

FILLMORE CITY, Millard Co., Dec. 23, 1878.

Editors Deseret News:

Our 2d Ward Sunday school had a grand time here Christmas night. Nephi Pratt, Superintendent, and his counselors Henry J. McCullough and John Ashman, and other leading spirits of the school, had contrived to get a nice Christmas tree, set up in the school-house, decorated with many ornaments, the workmanship of the hands of the daughters of Zion, as well as a great variety of presents, with names attached of the scholars who had merited the same.

The visitors on the stand, were seen Pres. I. N. Hinkley, and his counselors, Edward Partridge and Joseph V. Robeson, Bishops Thomas Callister, and Alexander Melville.

The concert was commenced at 6 p m. with singing and prayer.

The programme was as follows: Duett, with organ music, by Mdme. Hattie Kimball and Alice McBride; guitar duet, by same parties; recitation, by Ina Callister; song and organ music, by Misses Josephine Payne and Ella Ray and company; song, by Brother N. and Sister H. Pratt. Intermission of 10 minutes, while cakes and other eatables were passed around. Then a song by Joseph Ray & Co.; a few encouraging remarks by President I. N. Hinckley and Edward Partridge; song, by Mrs. Emily Ralph; duet, by Alice McBride and Hattie Kimball; Christmas song, by Bro. Gill and son. After which the tree was stripped and its contents distributed.

A vote of thanks, moved by Bishop Melville, was cheerfully given to the superintendent and all who had taken part in preparing and giving the evening's entertainment.

Concert closed by prayer at 8 p. m.

The health of the people here is generally good. Weather very cold.

Discovery of Gold Plates.

PAYSON, Dec. 28, 1878.

Editors Deseret News:

Dear Brother:—As you seem desirous of obtaining further information and testimony in regard to the gold plate found by Benj. Stiles while digging for a cistern in Cincinnati, O., some twenty years ago, fac similie of which, it seems, have found their way into the Deseret Museum, I will tell you what I know with regard to it.

I became acquainted with Mr. Stiles in the year 1857, while on a mission to St. Louis, Mo. He had just moved there from Cincinnati, and exhibited the plate to me on many occasions. In fact, he lent it to me several times, and I carried it for weeks to show to the Saints as an additional testimony of the truth of the Book of Mormon.

The thin plate was very thin and one side of it was thickly covered with hieroglyphics, as shown in the fac similie. The thick plate is a plain, solid frame to hold the thin one. There had originally been a pin fastened to the back of this frame on one end, and a fastening for the same at the other end, which suggested the idea to all who saw it that its original owners had used it as a shawl or robe pin.

Mr. Stiles informed me that he had exhibited it to engravers both in Cincinnati and St. Louis, and that they pronounced the work upon them as being exceedingly fine, and such as they could not imitate.

He also informed me that he had shown it to several distinguished linguists, and that they told him they could not interpret the characters.

Mr. Stiles was at that time a member of the Church, and emigrated a short time afterwards to this territory. I have been informed that he offered to sell the plate to the late President Brigham Young.

I do not know where Mr. Stiles now is, or what has become of the plate. I have one or two of the fac similia in my possession. Your's truly,

ISAIAH M. COOMBS.

Utah Horses—A Grand Breeding Climate.

Editor Spirit of the Turf:—I have read with pleasure those well-timed articles on street car horses in Chicago, in your paper. I am satisfied from the class of horses that are used for that purpose that this is the country to produce the very kind of horses needed, cheaper and better than any other locality—cheaper, as the climate will admit of the colt staying out of doors from the time he is foaled until breaking time. He can run on the mountains, that are covered with the most delicious bunch and other grass during the summer, and in the winter he can subsist on white sage and the nutritious vegetation of the lowlands. I have mares that are from 15 to 20 years old that never saw the inside of a stable, and are producing good colts all the time. All the expense I am at is the wages of one man at $40 per month and his board, and I have a herd of three hundred horses. The man could attend to even more than that number. All of my horses are produced outside of stables or inclosures of any kind. The stallions run with the mares. I can fancy now that I see the horsemen of the East holding up his hands and exclaiming, "That will never do." I will ask him where he thinks the Arab stables his Messenger; and then do you not think that the animal has instinct enough to take care of himself? Could you see the fine imported stallion driving his band to water and back to feed, you would agree with me that he can take care of [illegible] and even of his family, [illegible] allowing one to leave or a stray one to enter his fold. I will here state that I have imported fine horses from the States, bred them to California mares, and even flathead Indian ponies, and the producing horses from 15½ to 17 hands, and weighing from 900 to 1,200, according to blood. This is chiefly due to the males being good strong 16 hands, weighing 1,250 to 1,400 pounds. And I will also here state that the colts are all mealed up the winter I have to give for this is the water and grass are not often to be found together, and frequently the band have to go all the way from two to ten miles for water. They only go once in twenty-four hours in summer; in winter not oftener. I have seen them start and run as if to vie with each other in first reaching water, and also back to feed, climbing the highest mountain like a lot of boys. This is what makes muscle. Hence, it is that these horses can go farther, when broken, than horses that never see more than a twenty acre field, and often never outside of a yard fence. I have broken colts this summer, and the first week put two young three-year-olds on a carriage with four men, and drove 35 miles in seven hours, and back the next day in the same time. Many such instances could I cite you in proof of endurance, but will leave it for a future article. I will also assert, without fear of contradiction, that the horses raised here are better; why, and in what way will I tell you. The air and water are pure, and it seldom ever rains. Just think of it, no rain! In Utah and adjoining territories the sun shines more days than in any other place in the United States, except California. The snow is dry and does not interfere with the horse; the cold does not last longer than about three months, and the horse can stand that. There are no diseases, except an occasional epizootic, that the horse reared in this latitude is liable to. He has bigger and better lungs than the horses of the lowlands. As it is a demonstrated fact that nature provides the animal kingdom with the kind of coat required by the climate, the same rule prevails with regard to the lungs. The foot and hoof, so essential to a good and useful horse, are better here than elsewhere. No sand or quarter crack, no foot evil, but are hard and strong. This comes partly from the gravelly and rocky nature of the range they run on. These are some of the reasons why the street car horse can be produced here in the mountains better and cheaper than elsewhere. More anon.

H. J. FAUST.

Natural History—The Baby.

"What animal is thi?"

"This is a baby. He is now about three years old, and at the wickedest point of his earthly career."

"What countries does the baby most inhabit?"

"He can be found in every inhabited country on the globe, the same as mosquitoes and boils."

"Can they be tanned?"

"Yes, quite easily. After a little judicious discipline they cease to struggle and become subservient to the will of man."

"Does the baby eat grass?"

"Yes, or anything else. They swallow pocket knives, thimbles, buttons, spools or any other object a little smaller than a teacup. If offered milk they seldom refuse it."

"Do they graze during the day, or only at night?"

"They are always grazing, paying not the least heed to the hour. When not actually eating they generally give utterance to a peculiar cry. Strong men often jump out of bed at midnight in the coldest weather when hearing this cry."

"What meaning is attached to this cry?"

"Men of deepest thought have agreed that it signifies to wake up the neighborhood and have some fun."

"Of what benefit to mankind is a domesticated baby?"

"They are of no earthly account for the first few years, but by-and-by they can slide down hill on a cellar door and carry articles out of the house and trade them off for a wooden sword, or lose them in the grass."

"Do you know of any instances where the baby has attacked the household and killed or injured any one?"

"Such instances have been related by such eminent naturalists as George Francis Train and Texas Jack, but we don't put much faith in them. However, if the baby was maliciously and persistently provoked there's no knowing what it might do."

"Are they a healthy animal?"

"No. On the contrary, no druggist could make enough profit in a year to buy him a pair of Arctic overshoes but for the presence of the baby in every household. There is hardly an hour in the day that the baby does not demand peppermint, paregoric, milk, sugar, cordial, cod liver emulsion, ipecac or something else costing money."

"What machinery is made use of to compel the baby to take a dose of castor oil?"

"There are several patent machines for the purpose, but most people follow the old rule of knocking him senseless and getting the dose into his mouth before he recovers."

"Is the bald-headed baby more domestic than others?"

"Not a bit. He kicks around after the same fashion, and has even a worse time fighting flies and mosquitoes."

"What music do they seem to prefer?"

"A bass drum is their first choice, but they have a heavy leaning towards the sound of the stove-handle knocking the nose off the pitcher." This is all about the baby. Take another look at him, for next week we shall write of some other reptile.—Detroit Free Press.

CATARRH

Of Ten Years' Duration. The Discharges Thick, Bloody, and of Foul Odor. Senses of Smell and Taste Wholly Gone. Entirely Cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has been to me. For ten years I have been afflicted with the catarrh, in its worst form, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, emitting a fœtid odor so bad that my presence in a room with others was very offensive to them. One week after commencing the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE I was free from it in all its parts. My senses of taste and smell, which were wholly gone, have now fully returned, and my general health is much improved. Yours truly,

MELBOURNE H. FORD, Short-Hand Writer.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 5, 1878.

You can depend on my word, I will cheerfully inform them in detail, as to the benefit the remedy has been to me.

MELBOURNE H. FORD.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! TO LEARN HOW TO DO IT READ AND HEED WHAT FOLLOWS.

SAVE YOUR HAIR.—The laws of Health and Longevity demand it, the customs of social life require it. The matter is of great importance in every way.

BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR.—It is the surpassing crown of glory, and for the loss of it there is no compensation.

CULTIVATE YOUR HAIR.—For by no other means can it be saved and beautified.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

Discovered thirty-five years ago by Prof. Lyon, of Yale, is the most perfect preparation in the world for preserving and beautifying the hair.

Besides being the best hair dressing ever produced, Lyon's Kathairon will positively prevent grayness, and will restore new hair to bald heads, if the roots and follicles are not destroyed.

It actually performs these seeming miracles, of which the following is

A FAIR SPECIMEN

I had been entirely bald for several years, constitutional, I suppose. I used a few bottles of Kathairon, and, to my great surprise, I have a thick growth of young hair.

COL. JOHN L. DORRANCE, U. S. A.

In every important respect the Kathairon is absolutely incomparable. It is unequaled.

1. To Cure Baldness.
2. To Restore Gray Hair.
3. To Remove Dandruff.
4. To Dress and Beautify the Hair.

BEAR IN MIND.—The Kathairon is no sticky paste of sulphur and sugar-of-lead, to paint and daub the hair and paralyze the brain. It is a pure and limpid vegetable lotion, intended to restore the hair by natural growth and reinvigoration. It is splendidly perfumed, and the most delightful toilet dressing known. No lady's or gentleman's toilet outfit is complete without Lyon's Kathairon.
