WHAT A JOLLY TIME IT WAS!

Mental and Bodily Feast at the Randolph-Woodruff Reunion.

No Such Thing as Want to Known—Everybody Gets His Share and Feels, and Fills His Own Load.

Milton Stewart Notes.

Thinking that a few lines from Randolph would be interesting to quite a number of your readers, I trust you will find room for this communication.

We are almost thawed out after long winter just passed. I am glad to say our boys in stock here have been quite lucky in having had plenty of feed, and some to spare to our neighbor ranchers to the amount of $1,500 for hay alone. Our prospects were never better for crops, both hay and grain, the ground being in good shape, and the snow in the mountains piled in huge drifts for irrigation.

Our valley is fast filling up with home and outside emigration. The sagebrush is fast disappearing, and in its place are fruitful fields dotted with happy homes. While the country at large is crying hard times, we know very little about it. We have some mother Mormon are Gentile, that lack the necessaries of life. Most all live in their own houses, milk their own cows, raise their own beans, and fill their own barns. When I hear our elder brethren talk and preach about the great sacrifices they make in leaving homes (which they never owned), kindred and friends, and all that was near and dear to them, to come to Zion, I am led to think, how long would they have to live in the Old World before they could say as they do here, this is my home, farm, cows, horses, etc.

On Saturday last, the 21st, Randolph put on its holiday attire, as invitations having been sent to our sister town, Woodruff, to come in a body and spend the day with us, to partake of our hospitality, that we might meet and mingle together, and as a token of the bond of brotherly love and friendship—the Woodruff people to furnish one-half of the program to be given in the evening. Committees were appointed, and when I say that the ladies of the Relief Society and Young Ladies' association were the committee on prepa and refreshments, you will know that that part of the program was a success—I never knew the ones to fail. The committee appointed, accompanied by Bishop McKinnon and last brass band, met the 25 vehicles loaded with the good people of Woodruff at the north end of town. As they approached the band struck up, which sounded like balm in a wound. Our Bishop gave a short address of welcome, which all marched to the ward hall to the music of the brass band.

Dinner all taken care of and everything seated, the exercises commenced. Prayer was offered by W. H. Lee; singing by our choir (by the way, we have some of the best and sweetest singers in the Stake, Bishop Comfort Neff being the Agnes Dean of the Bear Lake Stake); five minute speeches were next in order—Bishops J. M. Baxter and McKinnon, Bros. Charles Dean Sr., A. C. Call, W. H. Lee, E. Lee, William Hey, J. C. Gray all answering promptly to the call. The scene changes, the curtain rises, when out come dozens of young men and women each carrying a tray loaded high with ham sandwiches, pie, cake, and in fact everything good to eat; more young men pop on the scene, dispensers of the liquid part of the feast, pure cold water. The time spent in eating and drinking was one of joy, mirth and merriment, everybody seemed to want to eat, laugh and talk at the same time, and they all appeared to do it. After picnic came more speeches, singing and band music, when dance was taken with 2:30 p. m. The 150 or more guests from Woodruff were taken to our homes, where supper was provided, including tea, but I am happy to say that not many of the Latter-day Saints drink tea.

At 7:30 the evening exercises commenced; songs, duets, music, recitations, etc., were rendered by members from each ward or town, when up goes the curtain again, and the waiters appear with the same trays, but this time loaded up with oranges, candy and nuts, plenty for everybody and the remnants of the loaves and fishes put away for the younger children, those under fourteen not being allowed to join with the older people.

Monday following was their day, and none over fourteen years allowed to join them in their dance and picnic except the committee. The youngsters had full swing. There were plenty of eatables and dancing for all. Also souvenirs each went home with a paper bag of nuts and candy, so happy and tight a lot of children as ever met together.

I will close by saying, as we always say when returning home from Conference, it was the very best we ever attended. Fundamentally we are in good working order. The health of the people is very good. Success to the paper, the DESERET NEWS.

Yours very truly, J. S.

May Weather.

The chief of the weather bureau directs the publication of the following data, compiled from the record of observations for the month of May, taken at this station for a period of twenty years.

It is believed that the facts thus set forth will prove of interest to the public, as well as the special students, inasmuch as they do the average and extreme conditions of the more important meteorological elements and the range within which such variations may be expected to occur during any corresponding month.

TEMPERATURE.

Mean or normal temperature, 61 deg. The warmest May was that of 1893, with an average of 67 degrees, the coldest May was that of 1875, with an average of 54 degrees, the highest temperature during any May was 93 deg. on May 31, 1892, the lowest temperature during any May was 24 deg. on May 1, 1875, average date on which last "killing" frost occurs (in spring) April 5th.

CONDENSATION (RAIN AND MELTED SNOW.)

Average for the month, 1.73 inches; average number of days with .01 of an inch or more, 7. The greatest monthly precipitation was 4.67 inches in 1874, the least monthly precipitation was .01 in 1893; the greatest amount of precipitation recorded in any 24 consecutive hours was 1.35 inches on May 17, 1876.

The greatest amount of snow, sleet and hail in twenty-four consecutive hours (record extending to winter of 1884-85 only) was 3.5 inches on May 1, 1887.

CLOUDS AND WEATHER.

Average number of cloudless days, 11; average number of partly cloudy days, 10; average number of cloudy days, 7.

WIND.

The prevailing winds have been from the Northwest. The highest velocity of the wind during any May was 51 miles—from the N. on May 15, 1893.

GEO. E. SNADDON,
Observer, Weather Bureau.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, April 25, 1894.

Police Court.

D. P. Pay pleaded guilty to the charge of maltreating a minor, and Justice Wolcott sentenced him to pay a $5 fine.

Daniel Hallsley was assessed $5 for drunkenness.

Dr. Hanneberg has been arrested on the charge of selling liquor without a license, and will be tried by Justice Wolcott's court. The doctor is proprietor of a drug store.

Notes and Personals.

A meeting of the Republican county central committee was held this afternoon, and political business transacted.

Professor Paul, of the Logan college, delivered a lecture last night before the students of the B. Y. Academy, on the subject, "The Beautiful." The lecture was illustrated with stereopticon views. Today the professor lectures before the Utah County Teachers' association.

A May festival will be given by the students of the B. Y. Academy on Tuesday evening next.

Two boys hailing from Salt Lake City, giving their names as John and Joe Colton, and ages as 10 and 12 years, arrived in this city on Thursday, having stolen a ride on a passenger train. They were taken in tow by Matt Peck, familiarly known as "Peck's Bad Boy," a local street Arab, and escorted about the city. They were given a night's lodging at the Cosmopolitan, spend 50 cents, all the money they had, for breakfast, and were taken back to Salt Lake yesterday by Deputy Marshal Forster.

The arguments in the case of W. H. Smith vs National Bank of Commerce were made today and the case was submitted to the jury.

In the case of W. H. Pike vs Provo City, in which plaintiff was awarded $500 damages because he drove into the Factory race one dark night, steps are being taken to secure a new trial. An effort will also be made to secure a new trial in the case of the Benjamin company vs C. R. Stoneridge, decided in favor of defendant.

RACING MEN

Think twice before deciding to ride another wheel than the "Yellow Fellow." A man here wrote to his college mate in Ohio, who is now in the bicycle business, telling a wheel will answer here but not the "Staunch," as to what wheel he should get for the last month. The friend replied, saying, "Get the 'Staunch,' it is unquestionably the speediest and staunchest bicycle made today, and if there is a 'Staunch' on the track and you are not on it you won't be in it." For more information "see another" to the front, and what will it matter to you, my boy, whether we have the good will of the 13 will or the interested Bicycle agent? What relate will you feel in the spacious premises of a firm with a wheel to sell, the premises of the firm who get the "prize and laurel" by coaching up to a wheel, where you tag the other fellow so, paradise though, it may be, when of that "yes-indeed-fellow" is coming, in the race next May? Think over it and you will run the wheel to win, or at least you will have a fair chance to, that holds today northern (14) World's course—the patrons "Yellow Fellow."

"GENDRON"

Cycles, suitable for medium weight and heavy riders, the best wheel that can be made by one of the very highest reputations in the mechanical world, added by one of the most perfectly equipped plants for the making of Cycles in the world. One low price to all, at $75.00. Then the price will be [illegible] for the "GENDRONS," that [illegible] for the "GENDRONS," that [illegible] for the year.
