SCANDINAVIAN NEWS BUDGET.

[Prepared from Special Telegrams for the Deseret News.]

SWEDEN.

Prince Carl will probably make a trip on the continent next January.

More than 2000 flats are advertised for rent in Stockholm.

A railroad is to be built between Vadsbo and Linde in the province of Vastmanland.

The chief gun maker in Sweden is Per Svensson in Fino, Finnmarkland, who is 87 years of age.

Mr. Eric Olsen, a very prominent citizen of Bery, near Arvesta, died at the age of over 100 years. He had been sick only three days before his death.

The next international skating contests for the championship of the world will take place in Stockholm the 18th and 19th days of February, 1894.

The Crown Princess Victoria has decided to stay in Sweden during the winter, and not to follow her husband for her health to Carlsruhe. She seems to be a little improved in health.

The new public school house in the parish of Maria Magdalena in Stockholm was dedicated the other day. It is one of the most imposing buildings in Sweden's capital.

The most important articles of import are molasses for spinning (cotton) yarn (cotton and wool) colonial products, colonial goods and oils and diverse industrial products. The exports, again, chiefly consist of timber products, the total value of the item amounting to more than 40 per cent of the entire value of exports; and further of butter, cattle, horses, etc.

At a balloon ascension in Stockholm a few days ago the balloon was suddenly and was driven out over the Baltic sea, where lost observed. Several steamers went out for the purpose of rescuing the aeronaut, an engineer named Andner, but could not overtake the balloon, which disappeared superbitably. The whole affair seems to be regretted as to Mr. Andner's fate.

The healthy climate, combined with good social conditions, as a general rule, and riches being pretty equally distributed, makes the position of Sweden very favorable as regards its vital statistics. While the relative number of deaths outstrips Russia, Turkey and Roumania, there is in Europe in 24 per months to every thousand inhabitants, it is but 17 in Sweden. This is the lowest mortality in all Europe, with the one exception of Norway, which it is about the same.

Gothenburg and Stockholm are Sweden's two principal commercial towns. The foreign trade of each in 1892 will be seen from the following figures:

	Imports.	Exports.
Gothenburg	[illegible]	[illegible]
Stockholm	[illegible]	[illegible]
Other towns	[illegible]	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]	[illegible]

Of the total imports of the country about 60 per cent were had on Gothenburg and Stockholm, but of the exports not quite 40 per cent, which is due to the circumstance that the principal articles of exports, export, lumber, probably sent out from Northern ports, for instance, Hernosand, Haparanda, Gefle and others.

NORWAY.

Mr. V. G. Rapelal has been appointed mayor of the city of Trondhjem.

The new museum in Stavanger was dedicated the other day. The cost of the building has been 90,000 crowns.

Rev. Lars Olsen Schjerven, of Rodeo, died at the advanced age of 74 years. He was known as one of the ablest preachers in Norway.

King Oscar has donated 1000 crowns to alms purposes in the cathedral of Trondhjem. Nevertheless the inspectors when making a tour in the cathedral, received and shown the king in a most unmerited manner.

The Alpine Norway are the "Jotunheimen," which lie in the heart of southern Norway. Amidst this grand chain of mountains normally all physical pedestrians and also to rough it will find ample scope for testing their mountaineering stamina.

The Fredrikstad, the organ of the extreme left, has been commanded to publish editorials in English, treating the controversy between Sweden and Norway in a very partial way. It goes without saying, that the Fredrikstad blames Sweden for all the trouble.

When the city of Sandevad was burned down only 1000 crowns were collected in the whole of Norway and sent to the people suffering by the fire. When the landslide occurred in Varnaiem, 5000 crowns were sent from the Swedish city of Sunnerall alone.

Herman Bang describes the representation of Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" at Paris in a manner which shows that the "sympathetic of ever" was received by the audience with enthusiasm bordering on frenzy. At the close of the performance the curtain was raised again and again. At last only the actor who had taken the part of Brandel remained on the stage, and he said: "The poet, which we have had the honor to play this evening is by Henrik Ibsen." It was a veritable storm of applause that greeted the Norwegian name.

DENMARK.

Three fishermen were drowned on October 25, off Skagen.

P. G. Philipsen of Copenhagen, is printing Knut Hamsun's latest book. The title is still a secret.

The large Arsenale still near Frederiksborn has burned down. The loss is total.

Herman Bang, the representative author, is fast climbing up the ever ladder. A Paris paper recently called him "Monsieur Herman Bang."

C. Groth, E. Mater and Peter Sorensen, three of the most enthusiastic wheelmen of the country, averaged ninety English miles a day on a trip to Paris and back.

L. Larsen of Copenhagen, who is past 60 years of age, still mounts the bicycle like a youth. A short while ago he rode from Copenhagen at six o'clock in the morning and arrived at Korsor at 3:15 p. m. the same day, the distance made being about seventy miles. The next day he continued his journey and in the afternoon arrived at Horsens, the distance for this day being eighty-five miles. His wheel weighed only 32½ pounds and his exercise fifteen pounds. The Elsinore he had to ride against the wind.

VISITING BEAR LAKE.

Governor McConnell Among the People of Southern Idaho.

Governor McConnell, of Idaho, is in Bear Lake county today, having left Boise yesterday, Monday, for Montpelier. Bear Lake county is settled chiefly by Mormons, and the governor expects to receive a hearty welcome on his official visit. He made a similar call on the people of Oneida county last month, and addressed the Latter-day Saints at a Stake conference, his topic being the association of the time to advantage the material welfare of that part of the state. In the welcome to be given him in Bear Lake the Montpelier Examiner says:

"All arrangements have been perfected for the reception of Governor McConnell on Monday. The governor will meet one of a party at Dingle. The Montpelier military band will accompany the city officers and citizens escort. A hearty delegation will either from the west side of the valley, accompanied by the Paris brass band, and will join in giving the executive a social welcome. It is understood the young children will have participated under the auspices of their respective teachers. In addition to the usual exercises of the occasion the governor will be tendered a public reception at our hall, and we know of no reason why the citizens should not be present in force and add to make the occasion a gala time. The occasion demands every citizen of the county, irrespective of party, and we hope to see a large number of our people from the north of Bennett, and we doubt we but voice their wishes in saying we could hope to do all one know on his future journey.

Coming to England, we made a careful survey of the factory towns and visited upon a Friday night in the system of one of the best known English salvage by which society usually thrives. The place in question was an unusually long building standing at the height of six or a dozen stories. Just before the opening in the bridge the fire has a superstructure, which had been for our 100 purpose. The plan was to have two short, lonely parts of and therefore two and the upper stories gradually widened. The side rails of the rails would be opened for selling of the more and so there would be room for seats of a thousand the ordinary tell-tale. Wednesday there are the plan provides the passing of the train, leaving the behind the particular rails on ground again, whether they would be worthless by the particular arrangement.

On the Friday night we should meet and other friends in the city of Bangkok and as soon as the plan appeared to be in shape provided the real work began. It minutes, but passed we should be at the [illegible] to the [illegible] in the [illegible] and the [illegible] side of the city, supplying [illegible] by our [illegible] in [illegible].

The site is [illegible] of the [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] and