HORN SILVER OFFICERS.

They Stand as Heretofore With Allan C. Washington as President.

CONDITION OF THE MINE AT PRESENT.

The Water In It Shows Strong Symptoms of Copper—Pollock on Lion Hill—Ten-Mile Cut-Off—Miscellaneous.

Mr. Allan C. Washington, who has been president of the Horn Silver company for a number of years, still retains that position while Mr. P. T. Farnsworth will continue directing operations of manager, which position he also has held for some time, with the utmost satisfaction to the company's stockholders and directors. These gentlemen took a trip to the mine Saturday evening, spending Sunday at the property, and their inspection of the ground appears to have been wholly satisfactory as we witness the following from Allan C. Washington in an interview with a "News" reporter:

"My visit to the mines gave me the utmost satisfaction," said the president of the company, "We have now in the five, six, seven, eight, nine and ten hundred levels and the mine is pretty much in the same shape as before. Development is being pushed and everything is perfect; the machinery is all in splendid running order so that we have no trouble to offer on that score, while with the increased force we hope to be well in the west by Christmas."

"Can you promise an early resumption of shipments?" Mr. Washington" asked the reporter.

"Well, no," replied the gentleman, "I don't like to promise anything. We'd rather let promises alone, and if we can, give our stockholders a genuine surprise rather than make promises, and failing to keep them, disappoint those concerned."

It was reported some time ago that your miners had encountered a ledge of copper ore. In these advices it was stated that the "News" man, "struck speaking," answered the gentleman, "I prefer to keep silent on that point."

It was reported some time ago that your miners had encountered a ledge of copper ore. In these advices it was stated that the "News" man, "struck speaking," answered the gentleman, "I prefer to keep silent on that point."

"We have not yet discovered a copper ledge, but the symptoms of copper are so strong in the mine, that it would not be a very great surprise if we should run across it almost any day. The water in the mine is strongly impregnated with copper, so much so, in fact, that in one place it completely eats an iron pipe in two. As you no doubt understand, a copper solution is plain-it reaches the moment it touches iron, and in this connection there is strong evidence of it in the Horn Silver. For a number of years we have been making small shipments of copper concentrates, and only today," said the gentleman, picking up a sample package of the product, "we have made a shipment of a little over 12 tons, which will help to take a good slice in commission."

Mr. John M. Cutcliffe succeeds himself as secretary and treasurer, while Mr. Ambrose J. Harrison is secretary and treasurer at headquarters. The board of officers took place at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Allan C. Washington in company with Mr. Farnsworth, left for Austin and other Nevada points today to look into the company's properties in that section of the state. He will return in the course of four or five days and will leave for the northwest visiting Portland, Seattle and other cities thereabouts before leaving for his home in New York.

POLLOCK ON LION HILL.

Activity in that Locality at Present—The Herschel and Others.

Samuel J. Pollock, who has known and been for the past twenty years have been succeeded in behalf of the development of the Lion Hill mining district, is now in the city from that section, after a month's absence where he has been pushing over operations at the Herschel.

The property, says Mr. Pollock, is the making of a good mine, and while there is as yet extraordinary showing at the present time, the indications are such as to warrant the belief that their ground has ore which will yet present itself in large bodies. The Herschel people are busily engaged running an incline tunnel, which is now in about 30 feet, and when this point is reached they expect to go 50 feet further before retiring that which they are at present striving for—a good body of ore will be struck.

Mr. Pollock was one of the early owners of the Northern Light—the pride of Lion Hill. Of this property he feels that nothing need be said—it is to well known as to require comment at his hands. At present the Northern Light is busily engaged pushing on with the tunnel, which, when completed will not only give necessary ventilation, but will afford an opening to the company's ore bodies. This work is progressing slowly and to completion is not looked for in short order.

At the Lion Hill mine, of which he is now in, occasional by proprietary, work on the company's new mill. The foundation for the mill and the floor of the prospective structure is now in place and ready for the putting in of the balance of the timber. This will be placed in position before roofing, as the weather is such that they can be handled much better advantage than otherwise.

Prospecting, says Mr. Pollock, is the order of the day at the Little Pittsburg, which for the past two or three months has been a scene of much activity, principally among men. What success may have attained, the "News" reporter could not learn, but he feels in the district is such as to indicate the utmost confidence in the ultimate outcome of operations.

The Wasatchites mine, recently died to be a mine to be reckoned with a standstill, as work at present going on as a rule, however, Lion Hill is in the lead, and stirring things are more active in that locality than they have ever been.

TEN MILE CUT-OFF.

Fish Springs Man Comes to the Helper to a Utah County Appropriation.

R. S. Booth came up from Nephi Saturday evening where he had been to secure a right of way for a railroad commonly asking that body, which he says is both businesslike and gentlemanly, for an appropriation looking to the making of a cut-off road from J. J. Thomas's ranch to the Fish Springs road, a distance of about three miles west, but by which roads will be moved by the shortening of up from the Fish Springs mines.

Mr. Booth was the leading spirit in the enterprise above, although he had the backing of the Utah owners, as well as that of those interested in the Fish Springs Salaam. His confidence with the commissioners was shared with by the board readily, as from that section a communication signed by a number of citizens, stating in which they officially stated that after the people had left for Salt Lake, the correspondence had resulted the request prayed for in the appropriation asked for in that direction. The appropriation was made with the proviso that the money shall not be used for the purpose unless the persons interested in the construction of said road, will add to this appropriation either in labor or money a sufficient sum to complete the road. This the Fish Springs owners propose to do, so that the cut-off is definitely assured and when considered will give the mine owners a haul of 40 miles to the railroad instead of 50 miles as at present.

Mr. Joseph in his presentation also visited the Lower Mammoth at Tintic, in which he is heavily interested. At this property a hoist is now being erected, and Mr. Joseph states that in digging holes for the necessary timbers for the hoist, the miners have encountered the ore body at a point 100 feet above the place of its initial discovery, thus placing the existence of ore at a little below the hundred foot depth. It is the same mass of ore, and as the ore deposits of Tintic are known to occur in zones, the company is more extensive body, great is their present station.

Has a True Fissure Vein.

H. C. Paulson, who returned from the Escalante district last week, accompanied by C. E. Comly of Lamington, who he on his way to Lamoute, says the Escalante outcrops. Mr. Paulson says there is no doubt but Comly has a true fissure vein which can be traced for more than four miles on the top of the ground. As the vein he has found with a quarter of a mile of the Golden Eagle, Paulson feels quite certain that the two veins are one and the same. Comly has one showing on the lead which shows fourteen inches of highly mineralized quartz and of the same character as that from the Golden Eagle.

FOUR ACES THE TARGET.

This Stock the Only One Dealt In on the Exchange Today.

Four Aces was the target at today's call on the stock exchange, and 4,300 shares changed hands at 2½ cents per share. There was no other trading while the bulls and bears stood in the ring, but stocks remained firm everywhere and left a good tone to the local market.

Work Suspended at the Jennie.

L. G. Hardy, superintendent of the Jennie mine in Idaho is in the city and informs the "News" that work has been suspended at the property, for the time being, at least.

Mercur Company Tax Case.

The case of the Mercur Mining and Milling company against Wm. Sprt, county tax collector of Juab county was heard by Judge Cherry last night. Attorney Frank Pierce represented the plaintiff and Attorney General A. C. Bishop and Attorney H. S. Smith appeared for the defendant.

It was alleged in the complaint that to 1896 the net proceeds of the company were assessed at $250,00, the tax on which at the total tax levy of 21½ mills amounted to $9,625. The assessment is alleged to be both wrong and illegal on the ground that the net proceeds amounted to only $100,000 and further that the same was distributed among the stockholders who paid the tax upon it themselves.

A Non-Effective Rumor.

The Daily Patriot of Park City says that contrary to the general rumor current on the streets, the Ontario mines and mill were not shut down last Friday. As a matter of fact there are 56 men on the Ontario pay roll and 85 on the mill pay roll, making a total in all of 141. That which the 50th will be divided to the Silver King and Anchor mines and forces employed in operating smaller properties. The total number of men employed at good wages in the camp at present up to 475.

Working Independence Placers.

The company owning the Independence mining claims in Big Cottonwood canon Park is said to be working that rich deal with a large force of men, and three shifts keep the work moving night and day. No steam or hot water is made, nor will there be one down for the winter. The water with which the ground is worked is brought a considerable distance and carried from one mountain to another by means of a wooden pipe 24 inches in diameter, which is about 1,500 feet in length and carries an immense body of water. The pipe was constructed last year at a cost of $1,500.

Mammoth Resort Notes

The force at the Alta has been increased.

Hon. W. H. King visited this camp today.

Work on the Cherry Creek pipe line was completed today.

It is rumored that work will be resumed at the Rose-Alta tunnel on the 15th.

Frank Allen, the well known machinist of Salt Lake, is at the Hoag mill looking after repairs.

A portion of the Cottam mine is advertised to be sold to the highest bidder on October 20, to satisfy a claim held by the Utah Hoisting Work.

The new hoist at the Lower Mammoth is now in operation and ore hoisting will probably be commenced next week. Air is being secured from the Mammoth mine.

It is expected that work will be resumed on the Red Rose next week with a force of five workmen. The incline at the end of the tunnel is down about 100 feet, and a drift is to be run from the bottom.

En Route to Cherry Creek.

Mr. Will S. Brown of the North Mountain Mining and Milling company arrived in the city this morning from his Nolensville home. He is en route to the company's holdings on Cherry Creek in Elko county, Nevada, the scene of a recent disastrous fire. Mr. Brown goes for the purpose of having done that which was rendered by the conflagration, this week, namely the re-timbering of shafts, the erection of a new mill, and the building of a blacksmith and carpenter shop. Since the fire the hill and boiler have undergone repairing through the ore which was on the dump. Mr. Brown will resume his journey in a day or so.

Ups and Spurs.

Silver, 55 11-16; lead, 4.05.

The Horn Silver had five cars of ore on the market today.

Two cars of ore from the Austin were among today's receipts.

Work has commenced on the Ben Harrison properties in the Beaver Lake district.

J. J. Trimmer, foreman of the Mercur mill, and Andrew Drysdale, engineer of the same, are in the city.

Horace S. Bradford, a prominent New York engineer and metallurgist, is in the city on his way home from Arizona and California, where he has been examining mining properties.

From Boise, Ida., comes the news of the discovery of a splendid gold ledge on Grimes creek, about 30 miles south of the Salmon river. It is reported that the ledge is 42 feet wide.

Ore to the amount of six cars a week is said to be shipped from Arizona Pork at present. The Live Yankee, which is among the producers, is said to be showing a splendid body of rich gold ore.

The Utah-Galena committee on bond has postponed action on the premises until Friday next. They are awaiting an analysis of the ore taken from the Spring Hill shaft to judge of the capacity of the well there before arriving at a decision.

At a recent meeting of the Grow Gold Mining company Gus E. Bailey was elected president, E. M. Bailey, vice president and treasurer and Casegrain Dietrich secretary. With Walter Durrett and J. S. Grow make up the directory.

A strike is reported in the Pettibone hill, which is on the divide between Carr Fork and Cottonwood canon in Binghem, the old Alcott mining district. The ore is said to show values of 65 per cent lead and was encountered on the top tapped in 1895, at a point 1,400 below the shaft.

Grand Valley Times: John H. Clark has made some locations on Miners creek, situated over the south end of the La Sal mountains. This is where Mr. Cane from Telluride, Colo., has been nothing all summer, and has opened up a vein from which free gold can be panned. He has not had an assay, but has been quite well satisfied with appearances to push development work as rapidly as possible.

A. L. Morris, manager of a number of Horse Lake properties, reports having let a contract for work on the Yellow Jacket, one of the most important of the number. Mr. Morris says they have sixty tons of ore on the dump, which will yield average values of 18 ounces silver and 17 per cent lead. The Copper Mountain mine in the same vicinity has considerable ore, which, according to assay tests, goes 20 per cent copper, $7.20 in gold and a trace of silver to the ton.

Six Oakland women returned recently from a search of gold mines in the mountains of Shasta county, Cal. For two weeks they roamed in bloomers over hills, through canyons, fording creeks and braving all the hardships incidental to a prospector's life. They are back with a record of seven mines and quartz mines located. They left Oakland each one fully equipped with a miner's outfit. They returned with hundreds of pounds of ore samples and gold they had panned from placer claims.

A Finished Fakir.

Grand Junction Sentinel: Anna Kennard, alias Annie Fink, alias Helen Fink, the alleged deaf and dumb girl fakir, who has given the police boards from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts on the fake game that she has perfected of going deaf and dumb and buried, is headed this way from Provo, Utah. Detective Sam Howe, chief of detectives of Denver, offers a $50 reward for her capture. She is wanted there for obtaining money under false pretenses. Mrs. M. McCarthy, Mrs. R. E. Halliday, Lucinda Bulmer, Mary Ward, Minnie Nicholas and Leonora Benson.
