NO UTAH MAN NEED APPLY

Banner Hung on the Outer Walls Regarding Selection of a Superintendent to Succeed Dr. Millspaugh.

Importstation Idea Runs Rampant Among Members of the Board of Education—Steering Committee Don't Want Professors Clark, Paul, McKnight or Any of the Present Corps of Grade Principals—Malone on the "Slate."

When the announcement of Dr. Millspaugh's acceptance of the presidency of the Minnesota normal school was made, together with his contemplated resignation as superintendent of city schools at an early date, there was an immediate outcry about for a suitable candidate to succeed him in the position from which he is about to retire. In the search the members of the board of education, or at least two or three of them who admit, and at times even proclaim their ability to dictate terms, cast their eyes entirely beyond the boat bottom enclosing in search.

"There are a number of Utah educators who would like the place; some of them have had extensive experience, and we prefer an imported candidate who comes here with certain ideas, aim and methods. Now, we put no attention to home applicants at all; they'll simply have to stand aside because we are the people; that is, we were named by the people and will do as we please."

On that theory the steering of policies committee has proceeded; and, with every prospect of success as it is given out to a foregone conclusion that the men men have found what they sought for in the East, and that a candidate will be brought hither who has no interest in common with the people, except as his personal welfare shall be promoted. This, too, has all been done without a meeting of the board being held to consider the matter. The action has been taken as mere another before, on the presumption that it will be forced through irrespective of the opposition of the members who favor the employment of home talent in the schools both as to heads of departments and teachers. That the proposition will be opposed is certain, but that it will go through is almost as certain.

The prospect of this policy being pursued with so vigorous a hand as that now exhibited before the public gaze has fair to make a percent of large proportions shall be there to grow larger and larger until such things will become impossible if not impossible.

A normal campaign has been made among city teachers to induce educational men and women more in the city and with a view that is practically unanimous it is asserted that there is no longer any reason why teachers should be imported from the East. The home product is ample to supply the home demand, the conditions of a few years ago no longer exist; competent talent can be secured without difficulty; much of it is without employment and is anxious for something to do. But the desire, the Utah man has no place in the one-horse wall. At least that is the conclusion of many who are in a good condition to judge impartially the appointment of a school superintendent.

Among those who are suggested in educational circles for the superintendency to succeed Dr. Millspaugh are Prof. Clark of the High school, Prof. J. H. Paul of the University, Prof. McKnight of the Training school and one of the principals of the grade schools. Everyone of the gentlemen has made a success in his chosen calling and would doubtless do credit to himself as the head of the city schools, but as before indicated the watchword seems to be, "No Utah Man Need Apply," which of course eliminates them from consideration.

One principal argument this way on the matter last evening: "I have not been in Utah very many years, but I am here to stay. I have put a $6,000 home of my own, pay taxes upon it and have come to regard myself as a Utahn. Since I have a perfect right to do so in view of the fact that I have made this my adopted home and expect to remain here for the rest of my days. Therefore I am greatly interested in the public schools. I want to see them go on in the rounds of constant progression. But the proper policy is not being pursued in all respects. Where a man has served in the board of education well for a number of years and deserves promotion, he should be rewarded. But there doesn't seem to be a disposition to recognize such. In proof of this I want to cite a few facts. Two or three years ago Mr. Malone, then principal of the High school, asked a leave of absence from the board of education and went East for the benefit of his health. It transpired that during his absence he was acting for a business consideration. When he came home he submitted an expense bill to the board of education, which was allowed only in part. It then occurred and a delicate effort was made to bring a loan from the East to succeed him. A strong protest, however, was made and made effectively, the outcome of which was the selection of Mr. Clark as principal of the High school. Subsequent events have shown that the choice was a good one, though such action against the board's policy.

Later on it was discovered what had been going for several years—that our teachers system was all wrong—that our schools and a new supervisor of drawing was necessary. Then after a hard fight the old system was abolished. The resolution contained a provision that a new supervisor was chosen, but the person was not from the home field. On the contrary, we had to go East again, and that, too, in face of the fact that there were numerous applicants both from within and without the teachers' profession. Among them were men eminent in their calling, men who were graduates from the Boston art schools, where work had attracted favorable mention in the Paris art salons of Paris and at the World's Fair in Chicago and who in teaching the most modern art methods. However, the instructor from Boston, and strange to remark, the man who succeeded Mr. Angell was not the same methods that were taught in the Boston schools. The Boston and those who were wedded to the Angell system and they are legion in this place to throw obstacles in the path of the new supervisor. Why I should care to go to there is nothing apparent to an outsider. Why not take the president principal of the high school or one of the principals of the grade schools and promote them to the superintendency?

The "Steer" man was unable to answer this inquiry which is also being asked by many persons not teachers. Certainly short there is no otherwise to the rule of promotion when merit is in evidence, there is little encouragement for superior work.

It is currently rumored that Prof. W. H. Maughan, principal of the City High school, but who subsequently departed from Utah to engage in the insurance business in Chicago, has been tendered the place made vacant by the resignation of Dr. Millspaugh.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS.

Walker Gained Ten Votes in Re-canvass—The Returns Ordered Burned—No Word from Millspaugh.

The board of education held a special meeting at 12 o'clock today to canvass the returns of the election held on the 5th inst. All the members of the board were present, except Brigham and Newman. Messrs. Cotton, Critchlow, Wilson, Nelden, Whitney and Glasgow were appointed tellers to canvass the vote and at once proceeded to the work before them.

There were no changes from the returns published upon the third polling precinct in the second ward was reached, when a mistake was discovered in carrying out to the proper column the votes which were cast for Walker. This making his majority 194 instead of 84, as published. No other errors were found.

Upon resuming session, Mr. Wilson offered the following resolution, which was passed:

Resolved, That the report of the tellers as returned to the board be approved and adopted and that the board determine and declare the result as reported by the tellers to be the official canvass of the returns to the board of education held December 5th.

It was also resolved that the following received the highest number of votes, E. B. Critchlow, M. F. Walker, N. J. Newman, B. S. Young and Simon Bamberger should be declared members of the board of education for the term of four years and that the clerk be directed to sign and send certificates of election to said persons.

Mr. Bamberger asked if any word had been received by the board respecting the resignation of Superintendent Millspaugh. The president answered that no official information had been received.

Mr. Critchlow asked if the tellers of election had sent in their accounts so that that matter could be settled at this meeting. The clerk answered that there was considerable confusion as to the pay they were to receive, some claiming that a day was only eight hours long and that they intended to charge thirty cents per hour overtime. The action of Bamberger it was decided that the compensation be fixed at $3.50, making it the same as at the election of 1897. The election returns of the year 1897 were ordered burned they having been kept a year, according to law.

The board adjourned at 1:37 p. m. to meet at the call of the president some time prior to January 1st.

DEATH OF MR. SCHRAMM.

An Old Ogden Citizen Gone to Rest—Funeral Services Will be Held on Wednesday.

Mr. Stephen F. Schramm died at his home in Ogden at 4:25 yesterday evening. He had been ailing for about three months previous to death, but nothing very serious was apprehended.

The deceased was nearly 52 years old, having been born February 20, 1847, in New York state. At an early age he went to Lake county, O., in the Western Reserve, living there until 1872, when he came west, finally settling in Ogden in 1874, dealing in real estate and also engaging in the drug business with C. L. Fishburn. He leaves a wife, one sister and three children, Mrs. C. L. Fishburn, George V. and F. C. Schramm, the latter of Salt Lake City. He had been a member of the Masonic fraternity ever since he was 21 years of age, and was one of the charter members of Weber lodge No. 4, A. F. and A. M. He was well known in Ogden and in Utah, and was one of the most highly respected members of the community. Many friends of Mr. F. C. Schramm here have expressed their sympathy in his loss, and doubtless many of them will go to Ogden to attend the funeral services, which will be held Wednesday under the auspices of the Masonic order.

at the Tabernacle tonight in a recital specially arranged, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The engagement of Willie Collier in Dan Frohman's merry farce The Man From Mexico, who comes on this coming Friday and Saturday, is an event of theatrical importance. Mr. Collier is one of the jollest, quickest and wittiest of fellows to be found anywhere on or off the stage, and his performance of Benjamin Plimpton in The Man From Mexico has been a never-failing source of amusement to those who have witnessed his play. Mr. Collier is an artist to the tips of his fingers, with a fund of humor that bubbles forth without apparent effort on his part, and that had plenty of room in The Man From Mexico. He is not only one of the most laughable of farceurs, but something still more rare, a purveyor of novel ideas and fresh combinations.

Next Monday, the 19th, the Grand Army Carnival opens at Christensen's Hall and the armory on West Temple street. The magnitude of this affair is beginning to be realized by the people of Salt Lake City and tickets are selling very fast. Three days and nights of excellent entertainments will be given by some of Salt Lake City's best dramatic and musical talent and every season ticket holder is entitled to a chance in all the costly premiums. There will be no selling nor soliciting, visitors to take chances on the dollar season ticket, includes chances on everything. Next Saturday morning the box office at Christensen's will be open for the sale of reserved seats and it would be well for those wanting to be sure of seats for the opening night to apply there.

TRAINED NURSES' CLASS.

Will Graduate Under Relief Society Auspices Next Week.

A large number of women, principally young ladies, will graduate next week from the Relief Society Trained Nurses' class. It is anticipated that about fifty-six will be able to pass examination and secure certificates. The class has received constant and thorough instruction during the past seven months, under the tutelage of Mrs. Maggie Roberts, who has given her services gratuitously each week.

Connected with the graduation exercises will be the reading of an interesting and instructive paper and there is charge of the class to secure a cordial invitation to all the Relief Society presidencies of the Stake to be present.

A DRAPER SURPRISE PARTY.

Correspondence of the "News."
Draper, Dec. 4, 1898.

A grand surprise was given Bishop W. D. Ennis on Friday evening, Dec. 9th, at his elegant new residence. One hundred and fifty relatives and friends gathered there to do the worthy bishop home.

The evening was spent in a most pleasant manner, with music from the Draper orchestra, singing by members present and recitations both comic and sentimental. At 12 o'clock the company was treated to a feast of the good things of which there was an abundance, after which the young and middle aged people participated in dancing, the upper floors of the house being converted into a dance hall. The evening was spent in a model manner and it is the desire of the people of Draper to have many such parties in the near future. The program so rendered was as follows:

Overture for the orchestral song, by members present, Love at Home, recitation by the children, duet by Misses Lillian and Tina Graff, Elder D. C. Jacobsen addressed the crowded parlor. He said he learned that the arrangements committee was for unity in Draper and expressed his joy at being favorable to that object, which is the first element of "our saviour, Bishop," and urged the Saints to look to the Bishopric and hoped their prayer might break and prosper, and the more good might grow among the people and felt confident that their efforts would prove successful to all. Richard Rodney replied. "Dixie and Little Joe" followed with a song by Geo. Rodney entitled, "A Bunch of Waters Creek." Music by the band. Song, "Peter, Paul and John," by Mrs. Ann Walker and James and William Green. Chorus recitation by Mrs. Helen Gardner.

Bishop Ennis welcome all present to his home. He was pleased to see so many family faces and hoped that the good feeling that had been manifested would continue to grow in Draper, that unity might obtain and the people go on to perfection. Song by Brother Coates.

Patriarch W. C. Allen was pleased to see the people turn out to do honor to him whom God had placed over us. Music by John Evans, Bryan Oyler. Extemporaneous speech by Joseph Terry. The Paper Boys, song by Isaac Jenkins, J. H. Wilkinson, expressed his pleasure at hearing these present and encouraged all in the good work. At the point much was accomplished, where a good time was participated in. The occasion was a complete success, and Chancellor F. P. Bennion of the executive committee, together with A. H. Wakley, the enthusiast and members who responded to the call must upon them are worthy of high praise.
