NO. 204 WEDNESDAY, JULY 25, 1894. SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVII.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Washington Has a Fatal Fire: Ten Houses Destroyed.

FIREMEN PERISH IN THE FLAMES.

Ten Hundred Horses Roasted Alive—Daring Attempt at Rescue by Firemen and Policemen.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Three firemen were killed, a dozen persons injured and over 200 horses turned to death in a fire which swept the block at 9 and Second streets, in which were the Knox stables and warehouse, early this morning. Besides the Knox and Adams express stables, ten houses were burned. One hundred and fifty horses in Adams's stables were rescued. The loss will exceed a quarter of a million. The dead firemen are Samuel J. Metzes, Michael Fenton and Benjamin Donohoe.

One of the Knox stable employes was burned and may die. Fifty men in the firemen and policemen were overcome by heat.

The injured are: J. O. Wilson, broken leg; James Kelton, sprained neck, seriously injured; Lee Bell, injured about the hands and face; James A. Hooper, lacerated forehead; Ed Cahill, shoulder broken.

When the rear wall of the Adams building fell the members of hose company No. 1 and several of the other companies were caught inside. Half a dozen beds of hose were turned up in the morning mass. When the bricks ended slightly twenty firemen and as many policemen rushed into the building at an awful risk. The walls of the Knox building were liable at any moment to fall and crush the attached Adams building under them. In a moment the rescuers emerged, dragging the bodies of three firemen sent by the falling bricks. The heat had been so intense that they were almost baked alive.

THE JAPANESE ADVANCE.

An Attack on the Chinese Daily Expected.

YOKOHAMA, Japan, July 25.—The Japanese troops in Corea have commenced a forward movement against the position occupied by the Chinese. A battle is daily expected.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Allegations Against the Officers of the Order.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 25.—Suit has been filed in the district court of Shawnee county by the heirs of C. M. Ballard of Colorado Springs, Colo., praying for an injunction restraining George W. Reed and others from acting as the grand officers of the order known as the Knights of Columbus.

The petition alleges that the grand officers have refused to levy an assessment to pay the death claim of C. M. Ballard and also that they have failed to levy assessments on some other deaths. It is also alleged that Reed and his associates were not chosen to be the grand officers of the order at a legal meeting.

It is further charged that the convention of the order called by Reed to meet at Kansas City August 15 was not regular. Several claims upon being forwarded the officers of the order were now investigating the Ballard claim suspended action.

Reed says the suit is trumped up by somebodies the order. The order was organized by Reed in Topeka three years ago.

An Obvious Fraud.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25. Ninety per cent is offered by the English underwriters on the missing British ship Coldstream. The vessel was out yesterday, 186 days from New Castle, N. S. W. She had on board when she left the colonies, a cargo of coal for John D. Spreckels & Bro. She is so long overdue that she has been given up by her owners and original insurers. There is now more interest taken in the Coldstream than any vessel which has ever been so long overdue at this port. Although there was a good deal of insurance said in San Francisco if she were never to turn up the loss on her hull would not amount to over $100 in all. If she should come sailing into port the gains would be enormous. The hands of this ship is that no one would touch the rice until a big percentage had been offered, and most of the insurance was bought for sixty per cent and upwards. Opinion as to the vessel's safety is pretty well divided, some of the most experienced shipping men basing their judgment on the weather which prevails at this time of the year.

A British Bark Lost.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Word has been received of the loss and total loss of the British wooden bark William Lorimer off Cape St. James, on Prevost Island, 600 miles from Singapore.

The vessel left Singapore for Hong Kong on May 4th to load at the latter port for San Francisco. She never reached her destination, and her boxes are now bleaching on the rocks of Cape St. James, while the bodies of her crew are strewn along the shore or floating at the bottom of the ocean. Out of the crew of seventeen not a man was left to tell the tale. When she went ashore is not known, but it was probably a few days after she left Singapore.

A New Labor Union.

KANSAS CITY, July 25.—Grand Master Barnett of the Brotherhood's Mutual Aid association, passed through here today en route for Chicago, after a prolonged tour through Kansas in the interest of the newly projected Switchmen's union.

Mr. Barnett has been in Topeka, Leavenworth, and other Kansas points, agitating the scheme for a new order and said to a reporter that he had met gigantic success. "Everywhere," said he, "the idea was heartily taken up and practically all members of the old association whom I met promised to join the new body."

In Kansas City, where there are 500 switchmen, a new lodge will be organized and initiate all of the members of the old association and many new ones.

James F. Beard, for many years secretary of the local lodge, is authority for the statement that the new order will practically absorb the beneficiary idea, as a means of leaning into the body many of the switchmen who were heretofore kept out because of the excessive rates. The order will also be made an organization of the engineers or conductors and hereafter will make a specialty of fighting its own battles.

The Chinese Looking Up Mexico.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Lo C. Wing Yee, commercial agent for the Chinese government in this city, left on the steamer St. Paul for Mexico where, in a few weeks, it is expected that the treaty between Mexico and China will be formally ratified by the representatives of the two governments.

Accompanying the officials were several strawy Chinese, who have been sent to Mexico by Chinese speculators which have been formed for the purpose of making large investments in the country which is about to be thrown open to their race. Abundance of capital has been obtained, and if the opportunities for investment have been truthfully represented, they will be quickly taken.

OPIUM SMUGGLING.

Vigorous Preparations to Suppress the Practice.

TACOMA, Wash., July 25.—The U. S. government will take up the suppression of opium smuggling with increased vigor. Four last steam launches are to be purchased to establish a systematic water patrol on Puget sound and Columbia river. One launch will be established at Tacoma, one at Port Townsend, one at Astoria and one at Portland. The customs force in this district will be augmented by the addition of four young men who are not afraid and the increase will cause constantly. Other steel launches and revenue cutters owned by the government will be placed at various points along the coasts, thus leaving them, to watch for smuggling operations. This grew out of the recent trip here of Assistant Secretary Hamlin, of the treasury department, and J. J. Cowley, the revenue special agent. Heretofore smugglers have had a free range, owing to customs officers slow vessels and small force.

Lewis Nelson, special agent of the treasury who is they told of these interests, says there will be no further excuse for smuggling when the new service becomes effective. More opium is smuggled across the border in this state than at any other part of the United States.

BURNED TO DEATH.

A Woman Sacrifices Herself in the Flames.

SULLIVAN, Ind., July 25.—Mrs. Rolens, wife of Hugh Rolens, superintendent of city schools was burned to death while visiting relatives in the country, a few miles from town, her dress being found near a burning brush heap with all her clothing burned off. Mr. Rolens has been deranged for some time with a suicidal tendency. A few weeks ago she attempted suicide by hanging but was prevented. There is no doubt she deliberately took her own life.

A VICIOUS DOG.

A Boy Nearly Killed by a St. Bernard.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A fall grown St. Bernard dog attacked and nearly killed six-year-old George Barnett. The maddened animal had thrown the child down and was viciously biting him when the child's father, attracted by the screams of his son, came to the rescue. With a lead rail he drove the animal away, but when Mr. Barnett attempted to carry the child home the dog returned and again attacked the boy. Then took place a terrible battle between the man and the dog, during which Mr. Barnett in attempting to hit the animal struck his wife, who was trying to protect the child, knocking her senseless. Finally an officer fired seven shots into the dog's body and the animal was killed. Mrs. Barnett's injuries are not serious, but the child is in a precarious condition.

Work of the Census Bureau.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The census bureau has begun the work of tabulating the statistics of occupations. There are two hundred employes of the farms, homes and mortgages division engaged in the work, which is expected to last six or seven weeks. It is the last tabulation work undertaken by the bureau and is considered the most difficult.

It is expected that the seventh census will be practically completed in the latter part of September. There are six hundred employes now on the rolls and before that time all save a score of these will be dropped.

The work of those retained will be mainly to revise the unsupplied portion of the census work.

The Stanford Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., July 25.—Mrs. Leland Stanford, by her attorneys, Wilson and Wilson, has notified the government, through United States District Attorney Charles A. Garter, that the claim for $15,000,000 against the estate of Leland Stanford has been relected. This means that Mrs. Stanford considers the decision of the government adjust and without foundation, and that it will be sold, if ever, only at the end of long litigation.

THE CAPTAIN OF THE NEW YORK.

Selected on Account of his Eminent Fitness for the Place.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—There has been a good deal of comment in naval circles on the selection of Captain Robert D. Evans, who stands almost at the foot of the list of captains, to command the armor cruiser New York, the finest sea commander in the navy and a prize which was sought by many older officers. It has been stated also that Captain Evans did not relish the selection in view of the fact that he has held his present short duty as naval secretary of the light house board for twenty months, when the customary length of such service is but years.

Secretary Herbert says that he chose Captain Evans for this command on account of absolute fitness, without consultation or without suggestions from any one. He had explained to Captain Evans his reasons for assigning him to this important command and so far from being displeased, the officer had expressed his gratification and sense of the compliment implied in his selection.

DOMINION COAL COMPANY.

Two Individual Companies Consolidated Into One.

BOSTON, July 25. The Dominion Coal company, which Henry M. Whitney, president of the company, and Henry Whitney, president of the company, was organized under the laws of Nova Scotia, with a capital of $15,000,000, common and $5,000,000 preferred stock. Of the common stock only a million and a half has been issued to the public, although the bulk of it is floating around.

Whitney took 10,000 shares at $40. The selling price yesterday was 51, the big stocks being sold at that figure.

The other officers are: Treasurer John H. McLean, Montreal; chief engineer, F. S. Pearce, Boston; resident manager, David McKeen, Cape Bay, Cape Breton.

The company consolidates the business of two individual companies at Cape Breton and will build a railroad 27 miles from Louisburg so that it can put coal on board vessels there at about one dollar a ton and with the United States tariff removed, a big market will be found at all the New England seaboards.

Would Prefer American Protectorate.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The World this morning has the following, under date of Cuba, July 24th:

The correspondent at Bluefields writes: I have succeeded in interviewing Robert Clarence, chief of the Mosquito Indians, who is now on a visit to the coast and was driven out by the Nicaraguans. Clarence said:

"The Nicaraguans have been committing many excesses and atrocities and have prevented the Indians from enjoying one of the privileges conceded to them by treaty treaties. The Nicaraguans have been arrested and conscripted by the British, who, for the last three years, have been seeking a pretext to interfere by stirring up strife.

"Finally, with the aid of a number of Americans and Jamaicans, and all the chiefs of the Mosquito coast, we decided to take up arms and redress their wrongs.

"I am now organizing my forces and am determined to resist any attempt of the Nicaraguans. I would prefer an American protectorate if possible. A commission will soon leave for Washington. One of them is already in New Orleans."

Erwin asserted that in cases of justice the power of the people bars of the government reverts to the people. His tall frame quivered with excitement and his voice almost rose to a shriek. Erwin declared that the roads entered into a conspiracy to sustain the Pullman company in its fight with the employes. The supreme court must decide, he said, whether the men were not justified in resisting such conspiracy when the courts were silent regarding it. "The question is whether the people are sovereign or have delegated all their powers to the combination of wicked men and representatives who are asleep," he declared.

The gathering promises to be a most unique and interesting one and it is believed can be made the biggest event of the season of Saltair.

Grice confessed to stealing the property on the night of July 4th from the farm of H. J. Erickson, Murray. Carter, he said, was with him and together they raided several farms. After they were through they divided boodle, he says, Carter taking the two sets of harness in question and himself two other sets which he claims he took down to Chatterdor Harbor and sold.

AFFAIRS OF THE CITY

An Effort To "Turn Down" Judge Hogg's Re-Appointment.

COLUMBIA WAS NOT UNVEILED.

A Big Force of Men at Work on the Joint City and County Building.—The Weekly News.

The regular weekly session of the City Council which would have been held last night but for the fact that yesterday was a legal holiday will convene this evening and all members except Clawson and Hardy who are absent from the city are expected to be present.

The session will doubtless be an interesting one as several matters of importance are on the calendar for consideration. Among the items awaiting consummate action and attention is the report from the committee to whom was referred the appointment by Mayor Baskin of Judge Hogg as city attorney to succeed himself.

The report for some time has been hung up on a peg of uncertainty and in the meantime action has been suspended, all of which, it seems, is exceedingly unfortunate for Judge Hogg as the disposition of the members today was to "turn him down" in favor of another member of the legal fraternity. Just what the "other" member of law is was not given out but it is definitely stated that a majority of the councilmen have decided on their man and that they will ask the Mayor to appoint him.

Columbia Still Unveiled.

There was a good deal of disappointment yesterday in certain circles when it was learned that Columbia, the statue that surmounts the joint city and county building was not unveiled as previous arrangements indicated it would be. Inquiry into the matter today brought out the facts in the case which are substantially as follows: About three weeks ago at a meeting of the joint city and county building Mayor Baskin was present and suggested that the unveiling take place on Pioneer Day. The suggestion was later put in the form of a motion which carried. Councilman Watson as a representative of the city and Selectman Hamberger as agent for the county were appointed a committee to see that the ceremony was properly carried out. Subsequent to such appointment the question as to how huge the affair should be and whether or not invitations should be extended for persons to be present beyond city and county and federal authorities and representatives of the press, was discussed and the matter went over until the next meeting without settlement. At the next meeting the subject did not come up at all, and a member of the committee today, as President McCornick's charges against those who were manipulating joint building contracts sick the trans and kept it until the end of the session. As a result Columbia's form is still wrapped in canvas covering and will for the present remain hidden from the view of pedestrians in the street below.

A Big Force at Work.

Work on the joint city and county building is being pushed rapidly. Nearly one hundred and fifty men are now at work on the interior of the structure. Of this number one hundred and fifteen are carpenters. If the present speed is kept up Councilman Watson is of the opinion that the building will be ready for occupancy sometime in October.

Gravity Sewer.

Work on the gravity outlet sewer is not of a character that gives much hope of the system being finished this year. In fact officials who have given the matter considerable thought and attention incline to the view that it will not. Honest mates have been made that will have a tendency to reduce the cost of building very materially.

TWO TRAINS EACH WAY.

Beginning This Evening the Union Pacific will Resume Old Time Service.

Beginning this evening at 6:30 the Union Pacific will resume operations according to the eastern passenger traffic schedule which prevailed before the strike.

Under arrangements that then existed two trains carrying mail and passengers arrived here daily from the east and the same number departed. The continued boycott of the Southern Pacific, however, cut down traffic immensely and only a possible one train each way daily to do all business. Now that the Southern Pacific is running trains into Ogden as formerly the resumption is made.

Will Have Another Turn.

Henry Heimle and H. S. Townsend, of Park City, John S. Mosby Jr., of Ogden, and A. B.
