FRAGMENTS.

ARE you registered?

VOTING, see to it that you are registered immediately.

WONDERLAND has a new and entertaining programme this week.

ALL persons entitled to vote who have not registered should do so without delay.

AN effort is being made to resuscitate the "Liberal" which it is said lost their last issue in the long ago.

IT is said that John Rock will plant a mammoth grape vineyard near Lehi, Utah County, early next spring.

"THE ENEMY," which will be produced at the Theatre next week, is likely to be successful in every respect.

F. S. FERGUSSON and F. J. CANNON will address the Scandinavian Democrats at Sandy tonight on present political issues.

THE Democratic county committee will meet at the Walker House on Saturday next to "L. A. chairman and secretary.

YESTERDAY'S clearings in the Salt Lake clearing house amounted to $370,244, as against $298,132 for the same day last year.

FRANK LESLIE'S Illustrated Weekly for September 29th at the Utah Book and Stationery company's store. An interesting number.

THE Twenty-first quorum of Elders will meet in the Nineteenth ward meeting house, Friday, September 30th, at 7:30 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

ATTORNEY WM. NEWTON, the independent Democrat will leave for northern Idaho next week to take the political stump for John M. Burke the Democratic nominee for Governor.

"NONSUCH" music corps will meet Saturday night coat at 7:30 sharp at Calder's music store, to prepare to take part in the coming November campaign. All members are requested to attend.

COUNTY REGISTRAR ALLEN says that if the present rate of registration is kept up until the rolls are closed they will contain at least 15,000 names or 2,000 more than at the last election.

THE "Comrades in Arms" chorus will meet in the Tabernacle at 7:30 p. m. on Friday, for a last rehearsal and the transaction of some business. The Union Glee Club will meet in the same place at 7 o'clock. C. J. Thomas, Conductor.

THE Salvation Army found a little girl roaming aimlessly about the streets last night. She was barefooted and hungry and said that her name was Hattie Johnson and that she came from Sandy where her father was employed at the sampling works.

PROVO has an active female politician of tender years in the person of Miss Mabel Thurman, daughter of S. A. Thurman. Like her father she is a pronounced Democrat and is said to be quite an eloquent and instructive speaker.

"IF it is true" said a prominent city official today "that Gallegos is shipping dogs out of the city on one side and bringing them in on another a couple of dozen canines would last him for years and would bring in larger returns than a block of Building-lock or Ontario mining stock."

THE contest for the office of county recorder on the "Liberal" ticket is becoming interesting. The principals in the race are Joseph Lippman and Colonel Page, with the chances for nomination in favor of the former. Colonel Page's friends, however, say that he is entitled to the place, and if it is possible to secure it for him they will do so.

In response to Councilman Evans, who intimated at a session of the City Council last night that somebody was "feeding dogs" for vagrants to make money on, the canine man said to a NEWS reporter today: "Suppose that it is true, whose business is it but my own and if I can ship dogs out of the city to the South and bring them in at the north, who has got a right to kick? It is simply a business transaction."

Home From Europe.

Elder N. Borgesen, of Lewiston, Cache county, returned from Europe yesterday. He left Utah for a mission to Scandinavia, October 7th, 1890. On his arrival in Copenhagen he was appointed to labor in Gottenberg conference, Sweden, where most of his time was spent. And most evening success attended his labors. He enjoyed good health and excellent spirits and returns in that condition. He will leave for his home over the Union Pacific tomorrow.

OGDEN NEWS.

A Colored Man Arrested for Forgiveness.—Alleged Insanity of Mrs. Thompson.—Democratic.

Deputy United States Marshal St. John arrested Albert Goodin, a colored man, at the Union depot last evening, on a complaint charging him with forgiveness. Goodin was unable to procure the necessary bonds for his appearance and was sent to jail.

Mrs. Thompson, the lady for whom a warrant of arrest was made Tuesday evening on the charge of insanity, was too feeble to appear for examination before Judge Bishop yesterday. Dr. Cherry, however, was instructed to look after her wants and make a visit to her home and it is understood himself the opinion that she was not in her right mind.

The Democrats will hold a meeting in the Grand opera house tomorrow night, at which Judge Henderson and Professor J. H. Paul will speak. A parade will be had and music will be furnished by the Ogden city band. The Young Men's drum corps will turn out also.

Howard Olds, an incorrigible lad of Provo, was brought to Ogden Tuesday evening and is now an inmate of the Reform school. The lad was committed on the charge of grand larceny.

A MIDNIGHT BRAWL.

Bailiff Sprague's Alleged Assailant Comes Up For Trial.

CONTRADICTORY STATEMENTS.

A Defendant Fined For Unlawful Cohabitation.—Charge of Embezzlement.—Divorce Granted.

Criminal business held the sway in Chief Justice Zane's court this morning, although out of the four cases placed on the calendar for today only one had been disposed of up to the time of the noon recess. Judge Anderson granted one divorce and naturalized half a dozen or eight applicants who came before him.

TO PAY A FINE.

Joseph Wall, who had plead guilty to a charge of unlawful cohabitation, came up for sentence.

In answer to the court the defendant said he resided at Big Cottonwood, was a poor man and unemployed. He was willing to obey the law in future, and caused living with his plural wife about eighteen months ago. He had a small farm of about twelve acres, but did not possess much money.

Judge Zane—Do you understand that, by the manifesto issued by your Church, you are now prohibited from practicing polygamy or unlawful cohabitation.

Defendant said that he did, and was prepared to strictly obey the law in future.

Judge Zane stated that in view of the defendant's promise he would fix the fine at $100. Defendant would stand committed until the fine and costs were paid.

THINGS HE MAY BE MENTALLY OFF.

Joseph Hedges stands charged with rape. When his name was called Attorney Clarence W. Hall, for the defense, applied to the court to have the defendant's mental condition inquired into, remarking that he thought the man was more fitted for an insane asylum than a penitentiary. Counsel then went in search of the penitentiary doctor.

WHITE VERSUS COLORED.

James Conner is the name of the Irish worthy who is alleged to have assaulted Bailiff Sprague, of the Third District court, "with intent to commit murder." The case stood fourth on the docket for today, but as the three cases preceding it went over temporarily, this one was called. Attorney Newton had been previously appointed by the court to defend, but affidavits it was stated that he had just before been in consultation with his client outside, when the prisoner was brought in Mr. Newton could not be found, and after a long and tedious wait the Court appointed Attorney Cherry on behalf of the accused. Mr. Cherry adjusted his spectacles, overhauled the indictments and depositions, and was extracting statements from Conner when Mr. Newton appeared. When asked by the Judge why he was not present, Mr. Newton said there were other cases on the list before his, and he did not expect that his case would be reached so soon.

A jury was specially empanelled and the trial proceeded.

Assistant District Attorney Stephens said it seemed that a colored man named Overstreet and the defendant had some little difficulty in the street, and Overstreet called upon Mr. Sprague, who was passing, to help him, as he appeared to be in a fair way of getting the worst of the encounter. Sprague disarmed the defendant, who had a gun in his hand, and soon after this, as Sprague and Overstreet were passing along the sidewalk together, the defendant rushed out of a doorway and stabbed Sprague in the hand with a knife, doing his best to inflict a mortal wound.

Mr. Newton said he expected to prove an altogether different state of affairs, viz., that while Conner was interrupted the colored man set upon and nearly beat him. "Murder" was shouted and Sprague came up "to assist the nigger to the job he had begun." Conner was under the impression that he was being held up and struck at Sprague.

The evidence of Overstreet showed that while he was sitting on a box near the Theatre entrance between 12 and 1 o'clock on the morning of August 5th, the defendant came up and commenced to abuse him, and pulled out a gun. Sprague appeared on the scene, and when appealed to by Overstreet advised him to take the gun from defendant. He did so, and handed the weapon to the colored man, telling him to take it to the police station, and see him (Sprague) next day. When the two were walking down the street just afterwards the defendant ran out of a dark spot, and with a quick knife in his hand slashed three times at Sprague, cutting him a black-hearted cut at a time, and threatened to "settle" him. The evidence of Sprague and a witness named Worthing was imperial corroboration the above.

In cross-examination, Mr. Newton asked Overstreet whether he was sober at the time of the occurrence. The reply was in the affirmative, with the voluntary addition, which turned the laugh on the attorney "Like you, sell and a good many other men I take a little whisky sometimes!"

The defendant went upon the stand, and his counsel's statory story of the affair may be thus summarized: He was attacked by the colored man, seeing under the influence of liquor at the time, and tried to defend himself, thinking he was being held up. He had no thought at all of injuring Sprague, but was blinded and knocked down and badly cut, and his clothes torn. He had a gun in his pocket, but did not draw it, though it was taken from him.

The case went to the jury shortly before noon, and they were still deliberating when the court adjourned at noon.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLEMENT.

E. H. Howard, a young man of gentlemanly address, about 30 years of age, was next placed on trial on a charge of embezzling $78.50, the money of the Albert Larson Produce Co., in April last. Booth, Lee & Gray defended.

The defendant's wife—attired in mourning—was seated by his side, and the defendant looked upon his three their little girl, a pretty child about eighteen months old.

When the jury were called it was found that, with employees on hand, the panel jury panel had become exhausted, and an open venire for twelve additional jurors was issued, returnable at 2 p. m., until which hour the court adjourned.

The defendant Howard was in the service of the prosecutors as solicitor and collector, and it is alleged that he embezzled moneys received on behalf of the employers.

BEFORE JUDGE ANDERSON.

It has lately fallen to the lot of Judge Anderson to unite a considerable number of marital knots in cases where the parties have found it impossible, for various reasons, to glide smoothly along the matrimonial path of life. This morning there went before his Honor another applicant for "relief" from marriage vows, the person of the husband. He was to all appearance a mere boy, by name Wm. T. Hart, and asked the Court to grant him an absolute divorce from his wife, Lillian, on the ground of desertion. The defendant did not appear and his decree was granted as prayed. Plaintiff was represented by Judge Maple.

Carl Tesch, a German, Jacob B. Wiesing, Hans S. Sorenson and Peter M. Lundgreen, Danes, were admitted to citizenship. All the applicants reside in Salt Lake.

Later in the day the following were also admitted—John Schnorr, Fritz Erdmann, Louis Good, James Matthews, Oliver Kramer, Carl F. Lundstrom and Jens P. Hoim (Swedes). They, too, have made Salt Lake their dwelling place.

TWICE UNFORTUNATE.

Wreck at the Union Depot, Ogden, and also at the Elko Station Yesterday.

What came near being a serious railway wreck happened in the Union depot yards at Ogden, shortly before nine o'clock last evening.

As the Southern Pacific passenger train No. 1 was pulling into the yards and crossing the Y a Union Pacific switch engine pushed a train of cars into the passenger train colliding with two of the sleepers each heavily loaded with passengers. The freight cars crushed against the sleepers with so much force that one corner of the sleeper was smashed into kindling wood, but the car did not leave the track. The passengers were pretty badly jarred up and N. Love, one of the sleeping car porters, residing in Denver, who was standing on the platform of the next sleeper was thrown to the ground and painfully bruised across the lower part of his body. None of the passengers or trainmen were injured. The freight car which was pushed in the passenger was loaded with peaches.

The passenger was truly an ill-fated train as at Elko, Nevada, about 8 o'clock in the morning it collided with the rear end of a freight train standing on the main track.

To the west of the Elko station house is a sharp curve. The engineer was ignorant of the fact that a train was standing ahead, nor could he get a glimpse of it in time to stop his train before a collision occurred, owing to a large water tank hiding it from view. The engine of the passenger was wrecked; also the caboose and three cars of the freight train. It was over an hour before the debris was cleared away and the train passed on. In either case no blame is attached to the men in charge of the passenger.

The conductor of the Pullman cars were H. Holley and the colored porters N. Love and J. Fields, all of whom left over at Ogden.

General Purpose Fowls.

J. K. Felch, one of Massachusetts' prominent poultry men, says that he decided preference for light Brahmas, considers this breed a good general purpose one. He is credited with saying: "Light Brahmas and black Langshans are the best of all large breeds as they have been. The white one is the black Langshans is against them for an eastern market for poultry, but when the males are castrated they sell from February to June for the very highest price in Philadelphia and Boston, and Chicago, eclipsing all other breeds.

Mr. Felch's second choice is Plymouth Rock and Lace Wyandotts. He calls the single comb White Leghorn the best summer layer. To sum the matter up in a few words as to the best breeds for general purposes, he says "Light Brahmas, Plymouth Rocks, Black Langshans, Lace Wyandottes and White Leghorns and in their order named so suits the ground-work for practical use."

Corn Fodder.

In many localities the ordinary farmer does not yet patronize the silo, and consequently corn fodder is an important crop. If properly used the stalks are better feed for cattle, but on many farms there is nothing used with as poor economy as is corn fodder. In a paper prepared for the quarterly report of the Department of Agriculture this statement is made: "An acre of good corn fodder, cured that will yield fifty or sixty bushels per acre if secured in the right time, is worth as much for feeding purposes as the hay from an acre of tame grass." It appears in the same paper that the handling of corn fodder is done in damp weather. It is poor economy to turn stalk into a field and let it stand in the rain, or any other form of damp weather.

Poultry Points.

Give your young fowls clean water, plenty of grit, a variety of cracked and whole grain, scatter in a dry state, keep them from the dew and from wet with dew and rain and they will thrive.

Feed the new mixed lettuce and other vegetables.

The black Minorca is a good layer of large eggs.

Ground bone, fine gravel, ground shells and a dust bath must be provided.

Saved from Death By Onions.

There has no doubt been more cases of children saved from death in croup or whooping cough by the use of onions than by any other known remedy. Our mothers used to make poultices of them, or a syrup, which was always effected in breaking up a cough or cold. Dr. Quimby's Onion Syrup is made by combining a few simple remedies with it, which make it more effective as a medicine and it allows the taste and odor of the onion. 50c. Sold by Z. C. M. I.
