

FRAGMENTS.

There is a case of diphtheria at a residence near the corner of H and Seventh streets.

The suit of the United States vs. F. A. Niles occupied the time of the Third District Court today.

ALEX. LEWIS, the well known leader of the Logan choir, is in Salt Lake. He is accompanied by his wife.

Four out of the five cases of diphtheria at present in the city are on the way to recovery. The fifth is still in doubt.

Read the advertisement of the children's ball at the Theatre next Saturday. Extensive preparations are being made for an enjoyable time.

There is a second case of diphtheria at the residence of Wm. J. Silver, in the Seventeenth Ward, the afflicted child being a bright boy about 12 years of age. He is quite ill.

J. R. MESSERVY is down from Birmingham, Idaho. His saw mill at Wilford, Idaho, is in operation, and he hopes to have his new grain mill at the same place completed.

TODAY, in front of the Pacific Express office, a horse belonging to the express company slipped and fell, dislocating its hind joints. The animal, which was a valuable one, was unable to stand when lifted up, and was taken away to see whether anything could be done toward replacing the dislocated joints.

We had a call today from Mr. E. H. Valentine, from Chicago, who is in the Western States and Territories of the manufacturing firm of Walter A. Wood & Co., of Hoosac Falls, New York, whose machines have had such an extensive sale in this Territory. He was introduced by Geo. T. Odell, of the Co-op, Wagon & Machine Company of this city, who are sole agents for this Territory for the manufacture of Mr. Valentine's machines, and who have just completed arrangements for the agency of the same goods in Utah and Southeastern Idaho. Mr. Valentine leaves for home this evening, after a stay in this city for ten days. He is pleased with this country and appreciates the patronage of its inhabitants.

Postponed.

The special Relief Society meeting called for next Saturday in the Fourteenth Ward is indefinitely postponed.

To Be Re-Established.

The Ogden Herald says that it is understood that in a few days the post office in Eden, Weber County, which was lately discontinued, will be re-established. It will be a great convenience to which our Eden friends are fully entitled.

Paid the Bills.

Last evening Roswell Rogers was brought up from Utah County by Sheriff Burt for obtaining goods without paying for them. Today he was taken to Murray, Salt Lake County for preliminary examination, but on paying for the goods he had obtained the prosecution was dropped, and he was released.

Police Court.

Henry Covington and James Campbell are in custody awaiting trial on the charge of drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

W. E. Taylor and a German who gave his name as Schalknecht are being held for trial for disturbing the peace.

Robert Bruce was taken in to pay for fast driving.

Shot His Arm Off.

Yesterday Charles Gilmore, of North Salt Lake, County, met with a serious accident. He was out hunting, and in raising his shotgun the weapon was accidentally discharged. The load took effect in his elbow, tearing away the muscles and a portion of the bone in the upper part of the right arm, and inflicting a frightful wound. Dr. J. H. Richards, of this city, was sent for, and found it necessary to amputate the injured limb, which was done last evening.

Reorganized.

Yesterday (Dec. 12) at a meeting of the Saints of Herriman, Salt Lake County, the Bishopric of that Ward was reorganized. Brother Robert Danzle was selected to fill the office of Bishop, made vacant by the death of the late Bishop Crane, and James G. Crane and James S. Crane were chosen as his counselors. All were sustained in these positions by the unanimous vote of the Saints. The organization was approved by Apostle H. J. Grant, President Angus M. Canaan, High Councilor Elias Morris and others, who also made appropriate remarks and gave the people timely instruction.

Attempted Robbery.

Last night, between 1 and 2 o'clock, Miss Ada Jones, at the postoffice, was aroused from an sleep by an unusual noise, proceeding from somebody trying to raise the window. Though frightened almost to death, the lady summoned courage enough to rise and investigate the disturbance. She found that the window had been raised about six inches, and two men, the features of whom she could not discern, were preparing to enter. She bravely commanded them to leave, and on perceiving that they were not deterred, she screamed and fled. She was followed by the two men, and as she fled a gun was fired at her, but it was not safe. —Monte Sentinel, December 9th.

Another Cause of Diphtheria.

The causes of diphtheria, like the remedies for the dread scourge, are without number. But it is as well that we consider all suggestions under that head, since no harm is likely to result therefrom, even if no good should be produced.

A writer in an eastern exchange reports a prominent doctor as saying that the fumes of kerosene, when a lamp is turned low, are likely to cause diphtheria. The New York board of health a few years ago decided that to this, more than any other cause, the prevalence of this disease was to be attributed. This is given as accounting for the fact that diphtheria generally begins to spread with the advent of short days and long nights. Children dislike to go to bed in the dark, and the kind mother usually turns down the flame, so that the light shall not keep the child awake. Many bedrooms are thus semi-lighted all night and the windows being closed, or raised but slightly, the atmospheric condition is simply deadly. A turned down kerosene lamp is a menace of deadly gas that the healthiest lungs cannot safely be exposed to.

Row Over a Child.

Today C. C. Andersen, keeper of a second-hand store, was arrested for assault and battery on Mrs. C. DeGraff, committed last night. The complainant, who is an aged lady, asserts that the accused beat her severely, and in doing so knocked out three of her front teeth, in proof of which she exhibited her gums, which were bleeding profusely from where the stumps of the three molars still remained. The defendant pleaded not guilty to the charge and was allowed time to employ an attorney and hunt up witnesses, and in his behalf. In the meantime he was required to furnish $500 bail for his appearance.

The causes that led up to the fuss are briefly as follows: Nearly three years ago Andersen's wife died, leaving a child about four months old. The father placed the infant in the hands of Mrs. DeGraff, to receive proper attention. It was permitted to remain in her charge, and all went well until Andersen married again. He then took the little one to his home. Mrs. DeGraff had conceived a strong attachment for the baby, and in last year when the father was sent to the penitentiary for passing counterfeit currency, she was glad to receive it from the stepmother, and has since retained it. The father has at various times demanded the return of the child, which is now three years old, but Mrs. DeGraff persistently refused to give it up. Last evening, however, Anderson sent a negro known as Little Perkins to engage the old lady in conversation, and while this was going on he made a dash for the babe, seized it and started away. Mrs. DeGraff saw him making off and intercepted him. A struggle ensued, in which the lady made a desperate effort to regain possession of the child, but was beaten off through the superior strength of the defendant, who carried away the prize in triumph, while she reported him to the City Hall.

Caught the Wrong Man.

At 6 o'clock this morning the home of B. W. Driggs, at Pleasant Grove, Utah County, was surrounded by Deputy Marshals McLeelan, Hudson, Redfield and Norrell. The family were aroused by a loud rapping at the door, and when Mrs. Driggs asked who was there, she recognized McLeelan's voice as he roughly demanded, "Get up; we're deputy marshals, and want to search this house." The lady asked him to wait a few moments till the family could dress, and he replied sharply, "Hurry up then, we're cold out here." At this a gentleman who had been sleeping in an upper room, and who was not accustomed to such apparent rudeness, remarked to the officers, "Don't be in such a rush, gentlemen; you'll be late in after a while." "That's Mr. Driggs, the man we want," was the exclamation from below, and when the door was opened, Deputy Marshals McLeelan and Norrell rushed up stairs and placed the gentleman there under arrest as Mr. Driggs, one of them remarking, "We've got you at last." The house of Mr. T. Woolley, across the street, was then searched by the deputies, who returned and took breakfast with the Driggs family. When the meal was through with, the prisoner suggested that he would rather be taken to Salt Lake than Provo for a hearing. This remark set the deputies to thinking, and in a short time they got to the conclusion that they had got the wrong man. Their appointment gave way to a feeling of deep chagrin when they found that their prisoner, instead of being Mr. Driggs, was a well known resident of Salt Lake County, whom they did not want, and he was accordingly released.

First District Court.

The case of Andrew J. Kerslaw, who was charged with adultery with Mary Ramsden Kerslaw, occupied most of the time in the First District Court, at Ogden, yesterday. A jury was impaneled, and considerable evidence was taken. Assistant District Attorney Hiles appeared for the prosecution and J. N. Kimball, Esq., for the defendant. The case went to the jury late in the afternoon and that body soon returned with a verdict of guilty. Judgment was the date fixed for sentence to be passed.

The People vs. P. Ferrando; defendant found guilty of assault.

U. S. vs. James Bywater, adultery; arraigned and entered a plea of not guilty.

U. S. vs. F. L. Pitt, arraigned and plea of not guilty entered.

U. S. vs. Andrew Pittkin; suit for divorce; order of default entered.

U. S. vs. Vandy Bowers; continued for the term.

U. S. vs. Mary Emma Ramsden; fornication; dismissed.

U. S. vs. Jacob Starnell, for the defendant. The case went to the jury late in the afternoon and that body soon returned with a verdict of guilty. Judgment was the date fixed for sentence to be passed.

U. S. vs. Lorenzo Waldram, unlawful cohabitation; arraigned and took plea of not guilty to plead.

U. S. vs. Daniel E. Thomas, unlawful cohabitation; arraigned and took the statutory time to plead.

The New Railway Time Table.

The change in the running of the Union Pacific trains, which will take place on Sunday next, December 18th, will necessitate a revision of the local time tables. The overhaul westbound trains will arrive in Ogden at night, instead of in the morning, at about 5:30 and 11:30 p. m. To meet this change the Utah Central has issued a new time card, which goes into effect next Sunday. On that day, and until further notice, the following trains will arrive in Ogden as follows: Park City, Utah & Northern and Local Express, 6:10 p. m.; Atlantic and Pacific Express, 8:30 p. m.; Atlantic Express, 8:55 a. m. Returning from Ogden trains will arrive at 1:10 a. m., 11:10 a. m., and 7:20 p. m.

The exact time of the arrival and departure of the Utah & Northern trains, at Ogden, has not been definitely settled, but it is a certainty that the passenger will leave Ogden in the morning and arrive in the evening, thereby removing the present cause of complaint, and giving to Cache County a good passenger service.

Swallowed Poison.

Last Saturday night, at a late hour, John Malan, a simple-minded young man of this city, was arrested by a policeman on a charge of assaulting a boy. The action in the question consists of having struck a boy on the head with a stick, while engaged in a dispute with the youngster. Malan was allowed to go home, and was to appear at the police court Monday morning for a hearing. He is a man about 25 years of age, has had considerable trouble in his life, having lost his wife by death a few years ago.

On Saturday he was brought to the police station, and on Monday morning he was taken to the hospital, where he was found to have swallowed some poison. The facts were discovered, Dr. Powers was summoned, and applying the proper remedies he has soon had the patient on the road to recovery. A reporter called at the family residence last evening and found that the road to health, and it will doubtless not be long before he will be himself again. —Ogden Herald.

The Heine Concert.

Had it not been for the inclement weather last evening the Presbyterian Church would probably have been filled to overflowing with an audience eager to hear the wonderful Heine. As it was, a good-sized audience was present, and their satisfaction with the entertainment was complete, though a more critical assembly is seldom seen in this city. Mrs. Heine sang several pieces, winning hearty applause with each, and recited "Joshua Bean's Courtship," a humorous selection, with fine effect. But the interest of the audience centers in Prof. Heine. He is simply a talent, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow, so full of feeling, that it is a pleasure to listen to him. He can move his auditors with profound emotions, or excite their laughter by wonderful imitations of sounds in nature. He is a true artist, and his playing is a thing to be heard and not seen. He plays the instrument with a mastery, and his tone is so sweet, so mellow