LOCAL BRIEFS.

Modern Woodmen—The Modern Woodmen will give a Turkey party this evening in Odd Fellows' hall.

Gunn Funeral Today—The funeral of the late John Gunn will be held at 2 p. m. today from the residence, 364 L street, with interment in the city cemetery.

Accident to Jap—K. Kobayashi, a Japanese employment agency clerk, ran his wheel into a delivery wagon yesterday, broke his thumb and was otherwise badly bruised up.

New Fish Hatchery—A $400 fish hatchery is to be built south of Murray, 40x60 feet, and equipped with the latest appliances. It will be completed by the middle of December.

Land Withdrawn—The local land office has been notified from Washington of the withdrawal from entry of a tract of land in the Bear River Forest reserve for headquarters purposes.

Two Residences Planned—W. E. Lake who recently purchased the Fletcher corner at Brigham and A streets, will build there two residences, one of which he will occupy himself.

Obstacle Race—The High school cadets were given an obstacle race yesterday following the regular afternoon drill. Four men from each company were selected to run the race, before quite a crowd. Company D won, with A company second.

Bank Quarters Included—The Main street front of the Newhouse block, opposite the Federal building, will have a banking apartment taking two stories. There will be an opportunity there for one of the most attractive banking houses in the country.

More Handsome Lights—The Intermountain Electric Supply company is putting up three five-lamp, ornamental posts on west South Temple street, between the Sharon block and Richards street. They are similar to the posts already up in front of the "News" building.

Church Organized—The Danish Lutheran church was formally organized Sunday afternoon, in the Swedish church, with the sermon by Rev. Harold Jenson. Until the new Danish church is built at E street and First avenue, the congregation will worship in the Swedish Lutheran church edifice.

Uncle Sam Wants Sailors—There will be a civil service examination in this city, Dec. 11, for candidates for experienced sailors. Applications will not be received unless the applicant has had at least two years' training, in some nautical school of high standing or has served three years as a sailor on the great lakes or ocean.

Prison Potatoes, Peaches—Warden Pratt of the state prison is displaying with justifiable pride Peerless potatoes raised on the prison farm that are something to look at. Seven of them weigh 15½ pounds, and 28 of the tubers fill a bushel measure. The warden has raised 1,500 bushels of potatoes this season, more than is required to feed the convicts.

Civil Service "Exams."—There will be civil service examinations in the Federal building Nov. 27 for naturalization examiner, department of justice, at $1,200; on Dec. 4, for master, with the quartermaster's department at large, Alcatraz island, at $1,000 per annum; Dec. 11, for nautical expert, in the hydrographic office, navy department, at $1,000 per annum.

Piano Recital—The twenty-third piano recital and thirteenth public concert by a number of Prof. Cook's pupils, was given last evening, in the club house of the Ladies' Literary, before a good-sized audience. The young students showed a marked proficiency in their work, particularly in the line of technical performance, while their earnestness and zeal were commendable.

New Currency—Local business houses are taking advantage of the new system of currency to advertise that $5.25 worth of goods will be given for every $5 cashiers' check, $10.50 for every $10, and son on, the aim being to induce big purchases, and thus stimulate trade. The checks are just as good to the merchant as cash, because he can get drafts on his wholesaler in the east or elsewhere just as well as if they were the ordinary form of national currency.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—Lo, the poor Indian! We have the melancholy figure of the American Indian made the pathetic center of many stories and plays, but nothing of recent years more vividly portrays his unhappy condition than Mr. DeMille's play of "Strongheart," rendered at the theater last evening. The story is an original one, depicting the career of the son of a chief, whom his people had sent to be educated in an eastern college in order to "obtain the wisdom of the pale faces." He graduates and becomes the intimate associate of the usual college set. They fraternize with him, he does a deed set down as their social equal, is made the idol of their football team, but when he aspires to the hand of one of their women, there comes the parting of the ways. Of course it is impossible for an Indian to be accepted into the family of a New York aristocrat, and thus comes the pathos of the play, with the girl, who returns his passion, making her exit in a paroxysm of tears, with the young Indian stretching forth his arms to the Great Spirit of his tribe and imploring his aid.

While the play ended in sadness, it was full of interest, and breathed the college spirit so admirably that the house, which was thronged with school boys and students, applauded the various episodes to the echo. The football scene was especially well acted, though hardly up to the realism that made a part of the original production in New York. As a compliment to the U. of U., the students' headquarters in Act 1 were liberally decorated with university colors, and the local football team, which occupied a prominent place in front, once startled the house between the acts, with the familiar yell. The players belong in the allround evenly satisfactory class. While there was no one who stood forth with any startling degree of brilliance, there was an even excellence to all the portrayals that was gratifying to the audience. Mr. Stuart, who fills Bob Edgson's role of "Strongheart," is a careful and conscientious actor, and he got some hearty applause, especially after the scene where he pictures the football battle. He does not possess the finesse, nor the deep feeling necessary to bring out all the possibilities of the role, and the proud utterance where he rebukes those who taunt him with being an Indian, "I am THE American," and his melancholy speech where he realizes the barrier that stands between him and his associates, "And I thought I was one of them," did not attain the effect they ought to have done. The best instances of acting among the men were the "Billy," of Mr. Mitchell, the "Dick," of Mr. Shelley, the "Frank," of Mr. Wood, and the "Thorne," of Mr. Gaillard. The several ladies did good work, the Molly of Miss Moffat, being especially charming, and Miss Vaughan playing the part of Dorothy Nelson with quiet taste and feeling.

The same bill runs tonight, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

William Faversham, the sterling actor who heads the "Squaw Man" company at the theater Thursday night, has a record of leading parts which is hardly excelled by that of any other artist now before the American public. While the role of Jim Carston is his latest success, he has either created or been cast for the first part in the following New York productions: "Lord and Lady Algy," "Brother Officers," "The Royal Rival," "Under The Red Robe," "The Conquerors," "The Masqueraders," "Sheridan," "Imprudence," "Bohemia," "Sowing the Wind," "John A'Dreams," "Aristocracy," and "Don Balsamo."

The box office sale for the "Squaw Man" opens at the theater this morning.

Orpheum—Had Milton lived a few centuries later and penned for this generation his lines in "L'Allegro," inviting "laughter holding both his sides" to come and make merry for him he might have sent the invitation by special to the Orpheum.

The bill this week is one particularly adapted to the work of chasing dull care away, and the more tired one is with the world's burdens, the more prepared is he to enjoy the various numbers. One offering, that of James B. Reeves, entitled a "Night With the Poets" is staged with such skill and sympathy for the subject that it compels admiration such as is given only to devotees who work for other standards than that of money getting. Assisted by tableaus, and a quartet of "Boys From the Club," Mr. Reeves reads three Riley poems, the last of which is his "Sweetheart of Mine." The act is one rare in vaudeville, and of great merit.

The comedy gymnasts, Mason and Bart, justify their claim to first honors in their line by work both daring and full of fun. Two dancing acts which are almost duplicates of each other are furnished by the "Christie Duo" and "Les Aubin-Leonel." They illustrate what a Salt Laker might expect to see should he find himself with an evening on his hands in Berlin or Paris and drift into the vaudeville houses there. The members of one of the duos speak no English. Elmer Tenley, the "Manhattan Man," talks jokes that were old and some that were older, with none that were bright enough to stir the house to any particular depths. Most of them were passable, however, and were trailed with a ripple at least, of laughter. Mason and Keeler in "Hooked by Crook" failed to arrive in time for Monday evening, although one of the duo appeared before the curtain to explain that they would be ready for today. The kinodrome gets much humor out of an automobile fiend's wheel dreams, and the orchestra as usual is a feature well worth while.

Grand—"A Desperate Chance," a play founded more or less upon the actual facts of the episodes of the Biddle brothers near Pittsburg some years ago, is the bill at the Grand for the entire week, and was witnessed by an audience that nearly filled the house last night. As may be imagined, the piece is of the ultra melo-dramatic kind, fairly teeming with sensationalism from the first curtain to the last. In fact it is entirely too much on this order to be billed for a week or any briefer period, in a family theater. The witnessing of such curdling sensations is not wholesome for grownup people, to say nothing of youths and maidens. In the play of last night, the path of condemned murderers was almost strewn with flowers by emotional women and the horrors of wrongdoing were almost obliterated in effusions of feminine sympathy.

In justice to the players, it must be said that the piece was well performed; the company averaged well with the best of its predecessors. It has a good comedian in the person of George W. Deane, Catherine Courier, as the erring wife of the sheriff, sustained the part well, and Bernard Johnson, in the role of Jack Biddie did good work. Any adverse criticism goes entirely to the character of the play and not to the players.

Lyric—Prices considered, the Lyric is offering another snappy bill this week. Probably the portion getting the most laughter was the sketch "Two Aunts," a sort of condensed rewritten "Charley's Aunt," at one time such a favorite. The strictly vaudeville numbers are not sensational, but they please. Morey Long's illustrated song opens the bill and is followed by Train, or & Mohler, in a black face sketch. These boys dance well but talk so fast they smother their jokes. Al Burton in songs and monologue is a big man with a high voice and a lot of jokes and songs bordering closely upon the questionable. When an entertainer has to spring vulgar rhymes and quips upon either sex to get a laugh, it is time that he studied the funny columns of a new batch of newspapers. Murphy & Willard in "The Phrenologist" bump the bumps in lively shape and Murphy's work with an array of rubber doughnuts and sausages as Eloise sings made the spectators giggle in spite of themselves. This turn is followed by the Lyriscope presenting "Our Band," altogether funny and new. Next week will see a stock run inaugurated. But one show will be given every evening, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

BE CHARITABLE

to your horses as well as to yourself. You need not suffer from pains of any sort—your horses need not suffer. Try a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. It cures all pains. J. M. NATIONAL WASTEFULNESS.

Government Sending Out Important Information in Bulletin Form.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—The geological survey is sending out some most timely and important bulletins. It recently issued a warning to the people in regard to the indiscriminate and unscientific use of reinforced concrete in pounding; one of its latest bulletins calls attention to wastefulness in deforestration and it shows that more timber is allowed to be destroyed every year by preventable forest fires than is used in all the lumbering industries; it reiterates the fact that there is more coal left and lost in the ground, by reckless processes of mining, than is taken out, and that the very most the world's inhabitants have only coal enough left for less than 100 years.

The size of the country and its enormous natural resources would indicate that many things were inexhaustible that on the contrary are being utterly ruthlessly wasted at a most extravagant and foolish rate, and the people have developed habits of prodigality that spell ultimate national bankruptcy. In fires, for instance, the people really expect and plan for terrific losses. As an example, Washington's record has just been completed and there were 470 alarms of fire in the year resulting in damage of only $250,000. It is one of the lowest and most satisfactory records attained by any city in the land, yet fires have inflicted a damage, small as it may be, just 250 per cent greater than that suffered by the average of 16 European cities of equal size.

Incidentally, all the fire adjustment and other accompaniments of the San Francisco disaster have been tabulated and arranged and it now transpires that want was supposed to be a total damage of about $250,000,000 amounts to much nearer $200,000,000. Only $250,000,000 can be properly charged up to insurance and, therefore, the country has suffered a total wiping out of existence, an obliteration of property, to the amount of $1,000,000,000 by that one fire. A matter worthy of most serious consideration and firm resolve to build so as to make impossible the recurrence of such an awful conflagration, a recurrence that is imminently possible now in several cities, notably New Orleans, Boston and Philadelphia.

INVALUABLE FOR RHEUMATISM.

I have been suffering for the past few years with a severe attack of rheumatism and found that Ballard's Snow Liniment was the only thing that gave me satisfaction and tended to alleviate my pains. March 24, '05. John C. Degnan, Kinsmar, Ills. 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept., 112 and 114 South Main St. B

J. J. CHAMBERS HOME.

Manager J. J. Chambers of the Salt Lake Public Service company has returned from Chicago and New York, where he has been in the interest of the project. He says that within 30 days the financial stringency will be so much relieved that active construction can be resumed. Eastern banking men assured Mr. Chambers that by Feb. 1, currency conditions in this city would be completely readjusted so that all signs of disturbance would be at an end.

CURES WINTER COUGH.

J. E. Gover, 101 N. Main Str., Ottawa, Kans., writes: "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stops the cough, and she is able to be up and well." 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept., 112 and 114 South Main St. B

FAMINE NOT EXPECTED.

Coal dealers report a comparatively easy time of it and judging from the demand at present, do not anticipate a very severe time of it this winter. They say that more householders than is imagined have taken time by the forelock, and stored enough coal during the summer to keep them through the winter. Then more men are going to the mines to work, which helps to increase the output, although operators say they have not, by considerable, all of the men they want.

A Good Liniment.

When you need a good reliable liniment try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It has no superior for sprains and swellings. A piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm is superior to a plaster for lame back or pains in the side or chest. It also relieves rheumatic pains and makes sleep and rest possible. For sale by all druggists.

CHURCH NOTICES.

The high priests' quorum of Granite stake will meet on Sunday, Nov. 17, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Granite Stake tabernacle. All members of the quorum are expected to be present, if possible. Matters of importance will be presented at the meeting.

A convention of the Ensign stake primary workers will be held in the Twentieth ward meetinghouse on Friday, Nov. 15, 1907, at 4 o'clock p. m. The members of the general board will be present and a full attendance of local officers and teachers is desired. All interested in primary work are cordially invited.

A Reliable Remedy for Croup.

With the dry, cold weather of the early winter months, parents of croupy children should be on the alert for ominous symptoms. There is no cause for anxiety, however, when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is kept in the home. If this medicine is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the croupy cough has appeared, the attack may be warded off. Mrs. S. Rosenthal, of Turner, Michigan, says: "We have used Chamberlain's Cough medicine for ourselves and children for several years and like it very much. I think it is the only remedy for croup and can highly recommend it." For sale by all druggists.

IT CAN'T BE OVERDONE.

We can't talk to you too much about getting a good home for you and yours. It is rather a stereotyped subject, but there is no occasion to talk about it that way. Everyone should have a home of his own, and most men want one. We have recently built over a hundred thousand dollars' worth of good homes for good citizens and we want to sell them on long time payments. We built them well, we built them modern in every respect, we built them to loan money on on long time payments so that you may acquire one for the same effort you would expend in paying rent only with us the rent applies on the payment and when you finish you have something. These houses are on Ninth avenue. You take no chance in moving into them because no one has been there before you. They are contiguous to the schools and near the business district as well. Go up and look them over. You can get the keys at 458 C street. Inspect them thoroughly to your entire satisfaction and then let us explain to you how easy it is to be the possessor of one. There is no chance for any unhealthy condition. They are up where you can breathe, in one of the most desirable neighborhoods in the city, and the prices run from $3,500 up. Of course if you would prefer, you can buy them for cash of any reputable real estate dealer, but the long time payments are easier.
