DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Tuesday, - - February 28, 1893.

FRAGMENTS.

The young ladies of the graduating and senior classes of St. Mary's academy gave a most interesting musical and literary entertainment in Academy Hall, beginning at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon Sugarhouse Garden City lots were disposed of under execution by United States Marshal Benton. They were sold at the property of E. W. Sutter, and purchased by J. H. Davis, in whose favor a judgment had been rendered to $100.

A memorial bearing the signatures of Governor Thomas, Postmaster Nash, Marshal Benton, Secretary Parker and others was sent to the postmaster general last evening urging that the proposed mail route from Green River, Utah, to the Henry mountains, be established as speedily as possible.

The Temple of Honor and Temperance will hold their next monthly social at their hall, over the Deseret National Bank, on Thursday evening next, beginning at 8 o'clock. A number of local soloists and musicians will appear and take part in the exercises. Professor Frank W. Merrill will preside at the organ. The public are invited. Admission free.

Stake President.

Death of a Centenarian.

By a notice in the appropriate place in this paper it will be seen that another centenarian has recently passed away. It is so seldom that a person reaches that age now-days that when it does occur it is an event worthy of record. Mrs. Caroline Dangerfield was born in London, England, on December 5th, 1792, and was consequently in her 101st year. In many respects she was a most remarkable woman, retaining all her faculties, with the exception of her hearing, which was somewhat impaired, to within a few days of her demise. She was very firm in her convictions, and was of great will power. She managed the business concerns of her husband, Thomas Dangerfield, until the time of his death, which occurred eighteen years ago, and was in every respect a helpmeet to him. She will be remembered by many of the Saints from the North London branch, having joined the Church some many years ago. Her posterity, many of whom are in this city, number exactly 200, being as follows: 8 children, 37 grandchildren, 131 great grandchildren, and 4 great-great-grandchildren, Mrs. Mary Ann Dentey, Jabez Dangerfield, Mrs. Elizabeth Weed, and Charles Dentey, of this city, being included in that number. The deceased now lies by the side of her husband in Abney Park cemetery, London.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE MOCK TRIAL, in which Miss Treat is the plaintiff and S. H. Lewis the defendant, and Judge Goodwin, Judge Powers and other purblegs orators, come off at the Tabernacle tonight. There is any amount of curiosity over the event.

THE OLD HOMESTEAD with Archie Boyd in Herman Timmens's part, plays four times this week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings and a matinee on Saturday.

THE CHORAL SOCIETY had at its rehearsal, the largest turnout since its reorganization, which shows that the difficulties of the Creation street rather than repel the musical people of the city, have had the effect of fan. Handel's work is like play compared to Dudley Buck's. During the evening the venerable teacher, Prof. Sonne, was introduced to Prof. Stephens, and made some remarks on his new system of teaching harmony, which he said he could impart in five lessons for one which he desired to form a class of 100 from the Choral society at $5 for each pupil. He was listened to with attention and applause at all the times. He spoke his enrollment books tomorrow at which time it will be known how many of the society have embraced his proposition.

THAT ACTION FOR DAMAGES.

The Sum of $25,000 Claimed from the O. S. L. and U. N. Railway Company.

The further hearing of the $25,000 damage suit brought by Alice J. Jones against the Oregon Short Line and Utah Northern Railway company, the trial of which began yesterday afternoon, was resumed in Judge Zane's court this morning. The facts were briefly stated in Monday's NEWS. Plaintiff is suing as the administratrix of her husband, Edward J. Jones, who in April, 1890, was a fireman in the service of the defendant company. He met his death on the 5th of the month, while adjusting a water hose between the engine and a water tank at Cedar Fort. Hose detached carried into the tank, throwing Jones off the tender and striking him violently. Negligence on the defendant's part, owing to defective coupling of the cars, is alleged.

The case went to the jury at noon and at 5:30 p. m. they had not reached a verdict.

MR. WHITE'S GRIEVANCE.

Matters At and Pertaining to Saltair Don't Suit Him.

COMPLAINT BOTH LONG AND BROAD

Several Transfers, Bonds and Operations of the Officers are Questioned and General Relief Asked.

An important suit was filed in the Third district court today by Matthew White against the Saltair Beach company, its board of directors, its secretary and treasurer, the Salt Lake and Los Angeles Railway company, and the Inter-Mountain Salt company. The complaint is a most voluminous one and comprises some twenty pages of typewritten matter. Plaintiff, who is a stockholder in the Beach Co., alleges that after the organization thereof he sold and conveyed by deed to the company certain lands (which are specified) for their future use. That in September, 1891, the Saltair Hall was completed, at a cost of $100,000, real object being to construct and operate a railroad as a means of communication and travel for those interested in the property of the Saltair Beach Co., on the shores of the Great Salt Lake. For the latter purpose, and as incidental and subordinate to the general objects of the Beach company's incorporation, all the subscribers to the capital stock thereto—Willard Woodruff, George Q. Cannon, Joseph F. Smith, James Jack, Angus McCannon, Nephi W. Clayton, Lewis Clayton, Isaac A. Campbell, Thomas G. H. Ball, and the plaintiff—took all the capital stock of the railroad corporation. Afterwards—in February, 1892—plaintiff, with the consent of the other stockholders, withdrew and his subscription was cancelled. After speaking of the formation of the Inter-Mountain Salt Co., in September, 1892, for the manufacturing and dealing in Salt, the complaint alleges that on August 17th, 1892, the Saltair Beach Co., by Geo. Q. Cannon, its president, and Isaac Clayton, its secretary, in pursuance of a pretended authority conferred by resolution against the protest of plaintiff, of a stockholder and director, by deed to the Los Angeles Railway Co., a right of way over said Beach lands and premises of the Beach company. He avers that the deed was given, without any consideration whatever, of a week's valuable property and easement, the res [illegible] being been carried by the votes of Geo. Q. Cannon, J. F. Smith and James Jack, directors in the Saltair Beach company, who at the time comprised the majority of the board. That the management and control of these two detrimental corporations (two names been exercised by Geo. Q. Cannon, Joseph F. Smith, Nephi W. Clayton, L. J. Nuttall and James Jack, directors, conspire to hold dominate. Plaintiff then goes on to aver, on information and belief, that these defendants combined and conspired together to subordinate the interests of the Saltair Beach Co. to those of the railway company for the advantage of the latter, and to that end, contributing to duty subversive of the interests of the Saltair Beach Co., caused this company to give the right of way and of company to the railroad company. That while the original articles of incorporation of the Saltair Railway Co. (now known as the that Lake and Los Angeles Railway Co.) provided for the establishing of a line from Salt Lake City to a point on the Great Salt Lake, the sole object was the construction of a railroad between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. Plaintiff says he believes it is the intention of the said directors at some convenient time in the near future to procure a charter for a corporation so as to greatly enlarge the scope of its purposes. That in the course of consummation of its ends, by connivance of the defendant directors, the said railway company used and occupied the lands, houses and other property of the Saltair Beach company without making any compensation therefor, for ten months. Hence he charges that the Railway company is indebted to the Saltair Beach company in a large sum, which plaintiff cannot now state; but suggests that upon reference to a Master an accounting should be had. That in regard to the Inter-Mountain Salt company plaintiff alleges that the undertaking of the salt water or brine through an open ditch or canal is offensive by reason of the smell emitted, and is injurious and antagonistic to the interests of the Beach company, being calculated to depreciate the value of its property for the uses originally intended. That three of the directors of the Inter-Mountain Salt Co.—Messrs. N. W. Clayton, Lewis Clayton and J. H. Snell—were also directors of the Beach and Railroad companies. That all the defendants named in this complaint, as directors of the Beach company, combined and confederated together for the purpose of also advancing the interests of the Salt Lake and Los Angeles Beach Co. and without consideration and fraudulently, on August 17th, 1892, caused a deed to be executed unto an unincorporated association, designated the Saltair Manufacturing Co., of a right of way over the lands of the Beach company. That the Inter-Mountain Salt Co. was incorporated to manufacture salt for private consumption and gain. Plaintiff then goes on to declare that, with the license and consent of the directors of the Beach company the Inter-Mountain company excavated from the premises of the former a vast quantity of coke of great value. That the latter company has also used a valuable water privilege belonging to the Beach company without compensation, and in violation of the latter's rights to its great and lasting injury and damage. That the manufacture of salt as aforesaid has no connection with the purposes of the Saltair Beach company, but is simply a scheme on the defendant railway company, inasmuch as it affords the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific companies a business in transporting the crude or manufactured salt. Moreover, four of the five members of the Inter-Mountain company are also stockholders in the defendant railway company. Plaintiff is further informed and believes that the capital and management of the three corporations are practically and really in the same hands, and that "their affairs have been so intermingled, in point of time of the combination and confusion of their individual assets" that money of the Saltair Beach company has been expended for the benefit of the other defendant corporations, the amount certainly exceeding $10,000.

The complaint then says that the company, acting as a body, or people in the persons as manner for purposes other than defining will of corporation, allowed the waters of the Lake in front of the shore line of the Beach company's premises, that the droppings from the engines and cars and other filth and ordure, and other filth left by the multitude can only find judgment in the Lake, and by the action of winds and waves would ultimately be deposited along the beach on the shore line of the Saltair Beach company's property.

Wherefore, plaintiff says he brings this suit on behalf of himself and any other stockholder who may come in and contribute to the expense thereof, that upon the defendants be required to answer the matters herein charged against them; that an accounting be had between the Saltair Beach company and the other two defendant companies and individuals, and that to that end the case be referred to a special master for findings and report; that the defendants be enjoined and restrained from further injury and damages which may have resulted to the Beach company by reason of their illegal or wilful violations of duty as aforesaid; that the Salt Lake and Los Angeles railway company and the Inter-Mountain Salt company be required to account for and pay to the Saltair Beach company all damages to property of the latter paid or delivered by its directors for their own uses and benefits, together with the value of the time and services of the Saltair Beach company by the other two defendant companies while monopolizing their respective ends; that the Salt Lake and Los Angeles railway company be required to remove its track from the lands and premises of the Beach company, and in the meantime be restrained from operating its line within the premises of the same, or be decreed to pay compensation for the use, and, if it appears that the Saltair Beach company is not entitled to other relief, that the Inter-Mountain Salt Co. be required to surrender the collateral and promissory conveyed to it by the Saltair Beach Co., and enjoined from further maintaining its canal or ditch over the Beach company's lands; to DH up and level the same.

C. S. Varian and E. W. Taylor are the plaintiff's attorneys.

Conference Rates.

The Union Pacific and Rio Grande Western railway companies have announced their regular conference rates of one fare for the round trip. Tickets will be good from April 5th to 8th inclusive.

Finishing Up.

The grand jury expect to conclude their labors at a late period of the afternoon, and a final report will probably not be ready for presentation to Chief Justice Zane till tomorrow morning.

AN ACTION AGAINST THE CITY.

James Fairclough Presents a Bill for Non-payment of Wages, as a Sudden Dismissal.

The first case tried in Judge Zane's Court this morning was that of James Fairclough vs. Salt Lake City, the plaintiff being represented by Attorney D. N. Straup (from the law office of Powers and Hilton), and the defendants by City Attorney Rogs and Assistant City Attorney Cook. It came to this court on appeal from the judgment of Justice Greenman.

The plaintiff was formerly employed as a gardener at Liberty park, under a verbal contract with the city, entered into July 5th, 1892, for the term, it is he says, for one year. He was to be paid $75 per month, and continued in such employment until February 24th, 1893, when he was discharged, without any reasonable cause or excuse, and demands the sum of $244, as being still due to him. In the lower court he got judgment for the amount of the plaintiff, and the defendant now appealed therefrom.

For the defense it was insisted that the complaint had been incompetent, and that the agreement was made under a misapprehension of facts.

Testimony was still in progress at 5:30.

In the case of W. A. Chapman vs. the Salt Lake Pickle Co., leave was given by Judge Zane this afternoon to file notice and motion to dissolve attachment.

The Sugar Directors.

The directors of the Utah Sugar company met yesterday afternoon, but T. R. Cutler, manager of the factory, did not arrive as anticipated, so the meeting adjourned. A telegram was received from Mr. Cutler, stating that he was at Montrose, Colorado, busily engaged in arranging for a beet crop from that section. He will get home some time during the week, and his report will probably be heard by the directors at a meeting next Monday.

AN EXCITING SCENE.

The Bold, Bad Criminal, McDermott, Causes a Big Stir in the County Jail.

One of the most troublesome individuals that has been caged in the county jail for a long time past is the prisoner McDermott, who also has the alias of Connolly. He has spent nearly the whole of the last two years either in the city or county jail. As recently as a week ago he was released from the county's quarters, and some hours later was arrested and L. Iges in the city jail, for burglary at the residence of F. E. Mast. He is now awaiting the grand jury's action on this charge.

During yesterday he exhibited an extraordinary manner, and penned a letter to his mother, who lives in Cleveland, bidding her good-by. He informed her that he had plenty of gold in the mountains near by, but they keep me in jail so much that I cannot get it. He begged of her not to write him any more, but to remember him as ever, McDermott, during the day, devoted most of his time to singing hymns and crying.

Late in the evening, his whims, the prisoner again, after an interval of quiet, burst into melody, and not very long afterwards made some a try to "kick" to which the deputy of course paid no attention, immediately proceeded to the cell of the bellicose prisoner. When Deputy Sheriff Allen ran in to see what was the matter he encountered Volumes of this verse. The cause was not far to seek. McDermott was manipulating his shoe, and in the toe of it was a bundle of burning cinders he meant to throw at the hymn "Jesus, Lover of my soul." Then he would continue wildly, Assistance was soon forthcoming, and while Allright secured the dangerous one other personnel carried a bucket of water into the cell and completely succeeded in extinguishing the flames. McDermott soon calmed down, turned quietly into his "bed" and went to sleep. The case will be heard today, and then it will be seen whether the prisoner is really unfeeling or insane like or whether it is an artful dodge.

ORDERS BY JUDGE ZANE.

Sundry Matters Disposed of by His Honor at This Morning's Session.

The case of F. J. Campbell vs. Davis et al., was dismissed on motion of plaintiff, without prejudice.

Wells Smith, administrator of the estate of Lucinda, deceased, Mobile to strike out part of complaint argued by Hon. F. S. Richards, submitted and taken under advisement.

Case of Mary Ann Hardy, Harvey Hardy et al., Demurrer withdrawn; ten days allowed to answer.

Andrew Fraser vs. F. M. Benedict. Ten days allowed in which to answer.

In the case of John Anderson vs. Charles Kimball et al., judgment was entered by consent for $50 and costs.

J. L. Clark vs. H. P. Mann et al. In this case, filed yesterday (an action for damages for personal injuries), plaintiff's days were allowed plaintiff to file statement of motion for a new trial.

COURT NOTES.

In the case of Lucanthe Dahlquist vs. Louisa Platt et al., a decree quieting title, as prayed, was granted by Judge Zane this morning.

Mr. J. J. Thomas, foreman of the grand jury of the third district court, and Mr. Ernest Eldridge, clerk of that body, were each presented with a handsome silk umbrella yesterday afternoon, by their fellow jurors, as a token of esteem.

Sheriff McQueen last evening fitted from the county infirmary one Fritz Hurst, aged seventy years, a demented inmate and placed him for safe keeping in the county jail. He was to have an examination by the commissioners in lunacy this afternoon.

In the case of J. J. Clark vs. Moses & Co., banker nonsuited the city, reported in yesterday's NEWS, the jury, late in the day, found a verdict for the defendants. Plaintiff was in the employ of the company as a carpenter, and while working at a busy saw fell into the trough and bodily cut his left hand. He demands the modest sum of $3000 as damages.

In the matter of Martha Ann Coombs vs. the Salt Lake & Fort Douglas and Utah Central railway companies et al., tried some days ago, before Judge Zane, judgment in favor of plaintiff for $300 has been entered and an injunction pending payment of judgment denied. The plaintiff was allowed thirty days to prepare bill of exceptions on appeal from denial of injunction.

W. F. Aldrich, the youthful forger, was taken before Judge Zane, of the probate court, yesterday afternoon, to be examined as to his sanity. Aldrich's father was summoned as to his son's mental condition after which the hearing was postponed until 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Aldrich stated that the boy's penchant for forging checks was seemingly uncontrollable. There had never been any need of his employing such means to secure money. His disposition during the past few years had amounted to over $1000. He had promised time and again to desist, but in a few days the forged checks would come into circulation. Business had to make them good. Mr. Aldrich also stated that the boy acted queer at times and cited several instances in which he had. Aldrich, jr., is at present under an indictment for check forging.

THAT "KISS CASE."

Dr. Yellowstone Appears for Trial but the Charge Against Him Are Dismissed.

R. F. Yellowstone, the Indian doctor who was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of drawing and exhibiting a lewd and lascivious, appeared before Judge Zane for trial today. The case, however, was dismissed on the ground that the "weapon" referred to was a pair of scissors and not a razor and that the offense was intended to the lady whom, it is said, the doctor unlawfully asked to kiss him. Commenting on the incident Dr. Cook well penned the following today:

It was to state that the lady referred to was my wife, and that upon investigation, am quite certain that the jury would have acquitted me, if, in mutual consent the doctor has been exonerated by the court. I voluntarily publish this that no injustice may be done Dr. Yellowstone."

ONE OF SIMONDS'S JOKES.

He Makes a Statement, Then Says He Didn't Mean it, but Afterwards Says He Did.

The following is from this morning's Tribune: "Councilman Simonds was represented in the NEWS last night as saying that he knew the engineer who had been employed in North Salt Lake. Seen by a Tribune reporter last night, the councilman said he was only joking when he said it."

Seen by a NEWS reporter today Mr. Simonds, smilingly, reaffirmed what he stated on the subject yesterday and maintained that the information he gave the NEWS was correct. In the face of these rather unfortunate statements it appears that the commendable humor of Hon. Abe Cohn continues to be joking "the other fellow."

DAY DISPATCHES

A Hungarian Village Wiped out by a Flood.

THE INDIANA LAUNCHED.

Italian Waldenses Seeking Homes in the United States.

SNOW SIGNS IN WISCONSIN.

The Next Minister to France—Delays of Congress Today.

VIENNA, Feb. 28.—A terrible calamity has overtaken the village of Gergely, near Pabe, Hungary. Owing to the sudden rise of the Danube, the sixteen hundred inhabitants were forced to flee from their midhouse in the middle of the night. The advancing waters finally compelled them to flee from these refuges or to be drowned in them. When they turned out again the flood spread nearly to their knees. Children ran the gauntlet of the waters and by the stronger, as they struggled along toward Pabe with the waters continually rising. First one mother with her five children gave up, sank and perished in the flood. These were followed by many others, the number of which is unknown, and the survivors reached Pabe in an exhausted, pitiable plight. There no doubt that the number of the drowned is very large. The people of Pabe are deeply concerned for their own safety, as the Danube is twenty feet above the normal level.

Battleship Launched.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—The great battleship Indiana was launched today at Cramp's shipyard, in the presence of thousands of people, including the President of the United States, the secretary of the navy, and other members of the cabinet, a large delegation of congressmen and others, who came down from Washington this morning on a special train. When the Indiana was ready to slide down the well greased ways, and slip in to her element, the President, secretary and solid 10 delegates, in the presence of the well greased ways, poured high in the air the waters of the Delaware river and solid in publism. Then she was moved back to the wharf, and in about a year will be ready for service and turned over to the government. The vessel was named by Miss Jessie Miller, daughter of the attorney general.

GOOD IMMIGRANTS.

Descendants of the Waldenses Want to Come to America.

PARIS, Feb. 28.—The Waldenses, descendants of the famous and so cruelly persecuted for centuries on account of their religious opinions, who still inhabit the mountain district of the Italian side of the Cottian Alps, are preparing to emigrate to the United States. Their chief business, cloth making, has become so depressed, and that even with their frugality it is difficult to live. They are sending agents to North Carolina to make inquiries, looking to settlements there. If the reports are favorable two thousand of them will emigrate in the spring. They are a hardy, thrifty people, resembling in a remarkable degree the virtues of their ancestors.

Winter in Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 28.—The weather is clear but cold, with a snow distrust all kindred traffic. The street cars stopped running yesterday and unless the mercury fall less than this morning. The same state of affairs exists throughout the northwest. The snow is two feet deep in the Dakotas, and drifts are badly drifted in others. The railroad traffic is at a standstill. Railway and Steamer are cut off from the outside world.

Our Next Minister to France.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—It may be positively stated that Hon. Whitelaw Reid, of Tribune fame, of New York, will be the next United States minister to France. He was a leader in the movement of the anti-Harrison

CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The amendment appropriating $200,000 for the naval review was agreed to.

The Senate finally passed the naval appropriation bill and then adjourned to meet at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. Sherman, by strict party vote, though several Republicans who were not present, voted against the motion to reconsider and acquiesce of those who supported the motion.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—After agreeing to the conference report on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, the House proceeded to the Lawson contested election case of Mc Duffie vs. Turpin, the majority of the report being in favor of Turpin, the sitting member.

Lawson was declared entitled to a seat; 194 to 62.

No Choice in Montana.

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 28.—As to the senatorial ballot there is no significant change. No choice.

THE LORNETT'S INQUEST.

Cause of the Death of Miss Maggie Maxwell.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Maggie Maxwell, who died from a criminal operation, was concluded today. Joseph Lornett, husband of the dead girl, testified that he was with the girl on the day she died. A short time before she expired he said: "Maggie, tell me the truth." She said: "Joseph, I have been to the house of a doctor, and performed money for miscarriage upon me. The jury's verdict was to the effect that Miss Maxwell died from unnatural causing from a criminal operation performed by Sarah B. Chase and L. F. Gleason, and that Florence E. Dunscomb is accessory before the fact. Lornett is under arbitration commissioners of New York.

Sale of a Celebrated Horse.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 28.—Sidney, the celebrated Collinwood horse, was sold at the Tattersall Pacing sale this afternoon for $2,300, to George H. Hammond, a Detroit purchaser.

New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—There was decidedly less pressure to sell stocks at the opening this morning business was higher and the bear clique, except in Sugar Trust and Reading and Erie which were lower, yielded to the early attacks by foreign selling. The opening was generally fractionally higher, and after there was an upward movement led by sugar, Reading and New Jersey Central. Later came the advance, carriage trade at 1 to 2 fractions from 1 to 3, with gains of 1 to 3 in Union Pacific preferred, Erie, and a large number on covering by shorts. At 11 the market was barely steady at advance. The closing was generally strong at fractional gains were active in trading up prices as shorts. At noon the market was fairly active, firm in strong at the top.

HANNA POPULISTS.

They Joined the Republican House Today.

TOPEKA, Kansas, Feb. 28.—The Populist house is a body, as to number, composed of Republicans. This morning, headed by the Populist speaker Dunsmore, followed by the Populist sergeant-at-arms carrying the United States flag. They were quietly received, the demonstration in the gallery being suppressed. An hour was then spent in drawing for seats.

BOLINLEY REFUSES BAIL.

He Cannot Accept the Liberality Contributions Now Coming in.

CLEVELAND Ohio, Feb. 28.—Detective McKinney has written a letter to the Leader, which has been handed to Bolinley, in response to a letter to the newspaper out of the Bolinley bail collection, saying that while these generous offers of assistance touch him deeply, he cannot accept them.

Sign Pledges for Sermons.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 28.—Governor Mitchell has signed the Sunday Dance Contest Bill, which passed the United States senate about March 4th. Bill is expected to be taken up by the legislature which meets in April.

Midwinter Concerts.

BELFAST, Feb. 28.—The national Irish and the Sunset Theatre (Irish) produced and entertained Gladstone's home rule bill, which passed the house, for endeavoring to bribe the Orangemen to change and not to opposition to the bill.

Carlisle and Foster.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The coming secretary of the Treasury, Carlisle, took lunch with Secretary Foster today, and spent the morning on the finances of the country.

Aided on His Journey.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 28.—The Vice-Presidential train bearing General Stevenson and party passed around the city direct on the Pennsylvania, Washington Connellsville at 9 o'clock. A large crowd gathered to pay their respects to the Vice President-elect. The train reached Connellsville shortly after 12 o'clock. The train will reach Washington at 6 p. m.

Sprained his Ankle.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 28.—The report in current that Tommy Ryan, the pugilist, has sprained his ankle.

Adjudged Insane.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 28.—Julia Force who murdered for the sake of inheritance was adjudged insane today.

Bonaparte's Remarks.

PARIS, Feb. 28.—Clemenceau denies the truth of the statement in yesterday's figaro that Charles de Lesseps stated that Clemenceau advised de Lesseps to yield to the demands of Herz and Reinach.

WITHIN OUR GATES.

J. H. Blackburn, who engages largely in the mining business at Bingham, is visiting Salt Lake and it seems he says with him five aces.

J. F. Bennett has returned from a business trip to northern Utah and Idaho, where he has been drumming trade for the Dowdoney Furniture Co. He found no more whole about there at home, and not much less.

G. M. Dawson, all the way from out Colorado (red), Denver, is safely moored in Salt Lake for the time being. He represents a big firm in Denver "selling tobacco and snuff" and is altogether a genial and handsome traveler.

W. H. Mendelson: There is here among us, it may be that he can record the inventor taking facilities to be afforded by our principal cities "selling tobacco and snuff," but if so it has not been verified.

W. L. Cook, President of the Pacific Water company, was in town a few days ago, is returning to go to Beaver to attend the Sierra Gem of the Kingdom district court, at which he is official stenographer. He talks out of two other offices, but thought this would do to give out for the present.

PERSONAL.

W. H. Gilbeck a prominent citizen of Park City, is at the Clifton.

Charles Gerber, a mining operator at Tintic, is stopping at the Clifton.
