GUNS WERE THE WEAPONS

Which P. W. Jackson and L. R. Steele Used on Each Other Last Night.

P. W. Jackson and L. R. Steele, two colored gents upon whose temperaments the election has had quite an effect, and who have had enmity against each other for some time past, proceeded to send each other to the great beyond last evening by means of the gun play.

Jackson, who runs a saloon on Commercial street, was at his establishment last evening, when Steele, armed with a hammerless revolver, stepped in. Taking it for granted that Jackson knew why he did it, he advanced to the bar and placing the hammerless device to Jackson's breast proceeded to make an aperture which would allow an examination of the saloon man's internalities. Four times did he snap his weapon but to no avail, as it failed to explode and then Jackson thinking that a stitch in time might save nine, grabbed his McGill's double-action and with a feeling of reciprocity, perhaps, concluded to return the compliment.

His attempt was more effective, as the first pull of the trigger sent a ball whizzing through the side of Steele's neck and dug a piece out of his shoulder blade. The next shot struck him in the abdomen and barely escaped a penetration of the stomach. Steele then made up his mind to flee and he darted out of the door while Jackson fired three more shots at him, all going wide of the mark.

Then Officers Larsen and Yocum appeared on the scene and taking both men in charge, conveyed them to the station, where Steele's wounds were examined and pronounced not very dangerous. A charge of assault with a deadly weapon was placed opposite each name and their bonds fixed at $500 each which were promptly furnished and the men allowed their freedom. Both men are highly respected in this locality and the affair created no little excitement among their acquaintances who swarmed to the police station last night in all eagerness to learn whether or not either of the men had been fatally wounded in the affair, which proved so exciting and which might have ended with untold grief.

HEARING OF THE FIREMEN.

Fitzgerald Admits His Guilt, While Tremayne, with Judge McKay, Fights the Issue.

The cases of the suspended firemen Tremayne and Fitzgerald came on for hearing before the fire and police board last night.

Tremayne had employed counsel in the person of Judge McKay, while Fitzgerald stood up boldly for himself and admitted having been guilty of the charge preferred—drunkenness while on duty. He threw himself on the mercy of the board and assured them that if they would bear with him on this occasion, that he would not be found guilty of such demeanor in the future. His case was taken under advisement, and the probabilities are that he will be reinstated, as the manly stand which he took seemed to make a favorable impression on the members of the commission.

Tremayne's case was conducted in a different manner to that of Fitzgerald's, considerable evidence being introduced by an examination of members of the fire department. Chief Pratt assisted the role of prosecutor while Judge McKay defended. The hearing was continued until next Monday evening.

UNLAWFUL COMBINATION.

Indictments Found Against Thirteen Coal Dealers.

Some time ago Thomas P. Lewis perfected arrangements for engaging in the retailing of coal in this city and located a coal yard between Fourth and Fifth West and Second and Third South streets, and spurs were put in connecting the yard with the Rio Grande Western track. Everything was ready for business, but when he came to buy the coal he found that a conspiracy had been formed against him, he not being a member of the coal exchange, and the only price at which he could buy coal was $5 per ton, the same as charged retail customers, while the wholesale price by the car load is only $3.75, and this was from the Union Pacific company. Mr. Carpenter, of the Pleasant Valley, refused to sell him any coal, as he was not a member of the exchange.

Mr. Lewis obtained legal advice and as a result indictments have been found against the following named thirteen for "an unlawful combination in restraint of trade: E. L. Carpenter, F. H. Moore, J. R. Hickman, Daniel Weistenholme, V. V. Morris, Frank Halm, Simon Bamberger, Thomas Pierpont, L. C. Miller, W. J. Weistenholme, C. S. Martin, T. R. Ellerbeck, D. J. Sharp, H. P. Mason and W. J. Montgomery.

HOKE SMITH REVOKES.

Official Notification Rescinding the Order Prohibiting a Settlement of San Juan County.

The register and receiver of the local land office have been notified by Secretary Hoke Smith of the United States interior department to reopen for settlement the lands of San Juan county and allow agricultural entries to be made upon them. Accompanying the instructions is a copy of a letter of Secretary Smith, dated October 11, 1895, and which reads as follows:

Department of the Interior, Washington, October 11, 1895.

The commissioner of the general land office:—SIR:—On November 14, 1894, this department, having been advised by the commission appointed to negotiate for the removal of the Southern Utes from Colorado, that negotiations for such removal had reached such a stage of progress as to indicate that San Juan county, in Utah Territory, might be set apart for their use, directed your office to instruct the register and receiver of the district within which San Juan county was situated to allow no further entries or filings upon the public lands in said county until further advised. (See record of Indian division, Vol. 57, page 393).

A treaty was made by said commission, bearing date of November 15, 1894, subject, however, to ratification by act of February 2, 1895 (28 Stat., 677) entitled an act to disapprove the treaty heretofore made with the Southern Ute Indians to be removed to the Territory of Utah, and providing for selling them down in severalty where they may be located and are qualified, and to settle all those not desiring to take lands in severalty on the west forty miles of the present reservation and in portions of New Mexico.

By order of September 17, 1895, your office, in view of the fact that the causes that led to the withdrawal of the lands in San Juan county, Utah, have ceased to exist, recommending that the order of November 14, 1894, be revoked and that the land to which said order applies be restored to the public domain.

The Indian office, reporting upon the same subject, under date of September 27, 1895, states that, "In view of the status of the matter as above outlined" that office "does not anticipate any conditions or circumstances that would render it inadvisable to restore" said lands to the public domain, as recommended by your office.

Said departmental order of November 14, 1894, directing that 'no entries or filing be allowed upon the public lands in San Juan county, Utah Territory,' is therefore hereby rescinded and revoked; and you will at once take such measures as may be proper in the premises to re-open the same to settlement and entry.

Respectfully,
HOKE SMITH,
Secretary.

Dennis Sullivan's Funeral.

The remains of Dennis Sullivan, the well-known mining man, whose accidental death was mentioned in Friday's News, were brought in from Eureka last evening and were met at the depot by the afflicted relatives and sorrow-stricken friends. Funeral services were held at St. Mary's cathedral this afternoon, beginning at 2:30. Interment took place in the Catholic cemetery.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the fall, when the lassitude exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A proper use of this medicine has often averted long and fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Only fifty cents a bottle. Z. C. M. I. drug department.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as its results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Hives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia a succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Z. C. M. I. drug department. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

As Abraham Lincoln called them, do not care to argue about their ailments. What they want is a medicine that will cure them. The simple, honest statement, "I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me," is the best argument in favor of this medicine, and this is what many thousands voluntarily say.

ANOTHER RAMBLER DAY.

The Rambler boys made a great showing in the spinning races. The first event of the day was the one mile road race, in which McConahay finished third, taking third prize and third time prize. Then came the track race, Joe Beck taking second in the novice, Fowler first, Waite second, and Thatcher third in the mile scratch, class B, all "Ramblers" you will note. In the half mile class A, May took second, Fowler third. Half mile, class B, Thatcher second, Fowler third. Five mile, class B, Fowler second. In this race a man in a yellow suit got his head and fell, Committee and Waite being immediately behind him, the result was a split for these parties and the race left to Evans. The five mile, class A, was another Hamilton race event, May taking first, Joe Beck second and McConahay third. Fourteen prizes in one day is glory enough for any one.

Power may laugh and people may act,
And dogs may howl if they please,
But Rambler's win races whatever they go,
