KEMPTON MINING CASE REOPENED.

Judge Marshall Reinstates Injunction Against the United States Mining Company.

SUIT INVOLVES $16,500,000

Bingham Company Estopped From Taking Out Ore From The Disputed Territory.

The noted Kempton mining case, involving the ownership of ores valued at $16,500,000, in Bingham has been reopened. The circuit court of appeals some time ago dissolved the injunction secured by Col. E. A. Wall and associates, and the United States Mining company resumed the work of extracting ore from the property. Yesterday this injunction was reinstated by Judge Marshall and the extraction of ore has been entirely discontinued.

The litigation was started by the United States company by bringing a suit against L. M. Lawson et al and the decision was for the defense. The company then appealed to the circuit court. It was then that Col. Wall entered the suit, the territory in question being about the same, the issues of Col. Wall, the Ivanhoe Mining company and L. M. Lawson were joined. An injunction was obtained restraining the United States company from taking out more ore. When the matter was finally decided by the circuit court an appeal was taken to the supreme court of the United States. The court was not in session. The justice before whom the matter was brought declined to hear the case, and the dissolution of he injunction followed. A petition was then filed in the supreme court requiring the circuit court to send up all papers concerning the case. This was granted on the ground that the decision of the Utah supreme court, the court of appeals and the supreme court of the United States were at variance with the decision of the circuit court. The question of priority of rights in locations and patents is involved. The Kempton ground is held by a location younger than the one claimed by the United States Mining company, though patented before that company got out a patent. The supreme court has held in another case that the first patent holds. The Wall interests feel that they have won a victory by having he case reopened.

MORE LUCK FOR MAYNE.

Strikes Another Rich Ledge of Gold in Sandstorm Lease.

Lease No. 5 on the Sandstorm, owned by Mayne, Loftus, Sherman and Davis, from which a vast amount of good ore has already been taken, promises to surpass No. 6 which adjoins it on the south, in the production of high grade stuff. During 18 days of September one miner alone broke down ore that gave a net return of $17,000. On Monday of this week a pocket of high grade ore was opened up on the 30-foot level. A ton of ore from this was hoisted, and an average sample taken and being panned showed values running easily $2,000 to the ton. It is thought that the pockets now being found are a continuation of those found in No. 6, whose shaft is only a few feet from the one through which these high grade values are now being hoisted. Regular monthly shipments are being made from this lease, and from present indications they will be continued for some time to come.

ANOTHER TONOPAH BONANZA

West End Mine Opens Up a Body of $1,000 Ore.

Special Correspondence.

Tonopah, Nev., Nov. 7.—Tonopah is stirred up somewhat over the recent big strike in the West End property. For some time past the company has been working in a big ledge of ore, drifting on it, which gave the usual value of the camp, about $80 per ton. The management recently decided to crosscut and work to that end was started. Forty feet of ledge was cut before the hanging wall was reached, and 37 feet of it will average more than $50 per ton, while three feet next to the hanging wall averages $1,000 per ton. The strike is one of the big strikes of this wonderful camp and places the West End, to the front among the producers. The shaft is right in the center of the business section of the town, and has only been working steadily since April last.

Power for Montana-Tonopah.

The Montana-Tonopah mine, within 60 days, will be equipped with a complete electrical power plant and will be taking its power from the Bishop creek line of the Nevada Power, Mining and Milling company. A contract between those two big concerns has just ben entered into.

The Montana will install a 150-horsepower motor and compressor at once and later on will have an additional unit of the same size and kind. In addition to those will be six or eight smaller motors for the assaying department, blacksmith shop, sawmill, pumps and the like.

The power company has contracts for all the mills in the Goldfield district and is making giant strides in this camp. The management of the Gardner mill reports a saving of 75 per cent in the cost of power under the present contract.—Goldfield Sun.

Ore and Bullion.

As reported by McCornick & Co. yesterday the ore and bullion settlements were as follows: Silver, lead, gold and copper ores, $27,800; base bullion, $29,500. Total, $57,300.

It isn't merely the taste of tea; the taste is only the foretaste.

RICH STRIKE IN ANACONDA-TONOPAH

Fluxing Ores of Good Value Are Uncovered in Mine Six Miles From Tonopah City.

ORE BODY LARGE ASSAYING $36

Stock Almost Wholly Held by Mining Men in Salt Lake City—Splendid Outlook.

Special Correspondence.

Tonopah, Nev., Nov. 4.—At this period of their history, when the Tonopah mines are being restricted in their output by the Salt Lake smelters, owing to the scarcity of fluxing ores, the importance of a discovery of a large body of silver-lead ore in close proximity to Tonopah cannot be over-estimated. It has long been said by its most enthusiastic admirers that the Lone Mountain district would be the salvation of Tonopah through its fluxing ores and the bonanza Nevada-Aspine mine in which the O'Meara brothers of Salt Lake are interested, well supported the statement. Now comes news of a most remarkable discovery of silver-lead ore six miles south of that mine in the same district, which is rapidly earning the title of the Bingham of Nevada.

The discovery was made in the Anaconda-Tonopah mine, of which J. W. Langley, well known in Salt Lake, is general manager. For the past two years he has been steadily developing the property and now he and his fellow stockholders will reap their reward, for a body of silver-lead ore now 19 feet wide that will average $36.50 per ton. The shaft on this property was sunk 100 feet on an outcropping vein that at surface gave splendid values, but at the bottom of the shaft and throughout a 100-foot drift the values were poor. A winze was sunk on it and it faulted and then the treasury gave out and an assessment followed which was only paid because Langley declared it would yet make a mine. Work was resumed and a crosscut from the winze opened up this vein, which has been penetrated for 19 feet and the hanging wall not yet encountered. The ore is lead-carbonate stained with copper-carponates, and showing tetrahedrite and choleopyrite and carrying $2.48 in gold. Over five feet of it will assay over $50 per ton with rich streaks worth up to $100, but the whole will average $36.50. This is shipping ore for it is only six miles from the railroad, and being fluxing ore, the treatment charges are very low. In a tunnel 800 feet distant another ore body has been cut, 14 inches wide, assaying over $55 per ton. Some well known Salt Lake men are interested in this fine property, Major H. P. Myton being president of the Anaconda Tonopah Mining company; D. S. Murray of the Bell Telephone company is vice president; E. D. R. Thompson, treasurer; and J. W. Langley, secretary and general manager. The other directors are Phil. Allen, Jr., cashier First National bank, Mineral Point, Wis., and E. P. Dennison of Chicago.

BOLTED THE CONGRESS.

Black Hills, Dakota, Miners Will Not Go to El Paso.

Harry Josephs, the chairman of the Utah delegation to the mining congress, has received word that the Black Hills miners of South Dakota have decided to withdraw from the congress. Just the grievance of the Dakotans has not yet been learned. Mr. Joseph stated that as things looked at the present time a delegation equalling the one sent by El Paso last year would visit the congress at that city from Salt Lake and Utah.

Ore Shipments.

There were 18 carloads of ore at the Salt Lake samplers this morning. Of this Bingham supplied 6 carloads, and 10 cars came from Tintic. The Pioneer sampler reports 3 from Alta, 2 from Bingha, 2 from Tintic and 1 from Stockton. At the Taylor and Brunton works there are 4 from Bingham, 8 from Tintic and 2 from Idaho.

CONCENTRATES.

Major Myton laves for Chicago today on mining business.

A carload of ore is in from the Scottish Chief mine, Caliente, Nev. The ore assays $200 per ton.

Supt. Jacobson of the Butler-Liberal, who is in from Bingham, states that the mine is in fine condition.

Lou Morris, the well known mining man, came up from his Beaver properties to attend the election.

Manager McIntyre of the Mammoth came in from a visit to the mine last evening and reports the ore body recently opened up to be holding out finely. He left today noon for his Nevada ranch.

Samuel Newhouse has confirmed the "News" report of yesterday concerning the Copper Mountain mine. He has owned this property for over a year, and states that though the mine has layed idle during that time, that it is his intention in the near future to develop the mine.

MONTANA PACKING CASES.

State Supreme Court Hears Arguments in Them.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 7.—A special to the Miner from Helena says:

The supreme court today heard arguments in the case of the state of Montana against the Cudahy Packing company, Armour Packing company, Swift Packing company, and the Hammond Packing company, which were charged with having formed a conspiracy to regulate the price of beef and beef products, thereby violating the anti-trust law. When the case was called for trial in the district court, the defendants attacked the validity of the anti-trust law, which was held unconstitutional; hence the appeal to the supreme court. Atty.-Gen. Galen represented the state, while M. S. Gunn appeared for the packers. Mr. Gunn urged that the Montana statute was similar to that of the Illinois statute, which the supreme court of the United States had held to be unconstitutional in that it made exceptions in favor of labor organizations and the agricultural classes in forming what are generally known as trusts. This contention was vigorously combatted by the attorney-general. The court took the matter under advisement.

LOCAL MARKETS.

The local markets today, are in good shape, and well supplied. Crabs and Atlantic ocean oysters are arriving, and halibut, salmon and other fish are being received. A car load of bananas and sweet potatoes are on hand, the supply of the latter being likely to last for a long time. The cranberry market is up, and will probably remain there for some time, on account of the partial failure of the Cape Cod crop, due to its being an off year—something that occasionally happens, and dealers say the eastern market is "all shot to pieces." New California Navel oranges will be on hand the latter part of the week, of good color and fairly sweet. Fresh cocoanuts are on hand. The potato market is buoyant, prices being 75 to 80 cents per cwt, and eggs continue higher, at $7.50, very few cases of Utah eggs being received.

Poultry has been arriving in such quantities that prices are tending lower, for the first time in several months. Turkeys are scarce, as very few are being shipped in, and unless the number increases, not a few people will find it advisable to substitute something else for the orthodox traditional turkey on next Thanksgiving day. Ducks are becoming scarce on account of the fine weather which makes it difficult to get near them. Butter is stiffer in price than ever, the best article fetching 35 cents. But dressed hens and springs are down a couple of cents, lemons are down 10 cents, and onions have dropped from $1 to 75 cents. Concord grapes are practically out of the market. The retail prices containing in today's local markets are as follows:
