SHOCKING DEEDS IN FORMOSA.

A CAMPAIGN IN WHICH THE INDUSTRY SUFFERS WITH THE ORIENT.

Affairs in south Formosa are becoming daily more desperate, remarking to a North China Daily News correspondent, who says: "I have made no statement which I cannot bear out with facts. The Japanese government cannot know what its officers have been doing in the island. I do not write nearly all that we have received in this subject; but the accounts of the behavior of the Japanese in south Formosa are all alike, whatever the nationality of the writer, in their condemnation of the action of the aborigines and their horror at the atrocities committed. To exterminate decents is one thing; to confound the innocent with the guilty and lay waste peaceful villages with fire and sword because the ones have taken revenge in them is another.

"Last winter I visited a village which a few days previously had been burned by the soldiers. By the time I visited it things were quiet down a bit. Many of the villagers had returned and were trying to save something from the debris. In front of one man's house was a long pile of smouldering rice which a few days previously had been brought in from the harvest field. The owner went for a load of water and was in the act of praying it on to the rice when three soldiers came and killed him. Half an hour afterward I saw his body on the spot where he fell. His six constituents in trying to save the remains of his harvest.

"Still worse than the burning of villages is the killing of the people. In some of the villages there were two or three killed, in some five or six, in some more than ten, in some twenty or thirty, in some forty or fifty, in one over seventy, and in some over 100. In all they say there have been several hundred villagers killed, some say over 1,000. Some lay dead three or four days before any one went to bury them. It is very wretched. When you go out to the villages you hear everywhere weeping and mourning.

"At least thirty Chinese were decapitated at the east gate of Tainanfu, a few days ago, as mandarins, and the Hainan brought over 120, deported on suspicion, or for not having passports."

A Nut to Crack.

The following is credited to the Saginaw, Michigan, Evening News:

A Grand Lake farmer sends the following to the Evening News, which is pretty near the meat of the nut he is cracking: "Silver. Alger is all right. The price of everything does not come down with silver. I know this, because I take 50 cents' worth of silver today and buy as much horse, as much cow, as much hog, as much grain, as much wool, as much butter, as much egg, and, in fact, as much of any farm produce as I could with $1 worth of silver when I bought my farm in 1870. But when I come to make a payment on my mortgage, which is not yet six-teen wipes out, I will have to pay $1 worth of silver (a gold dollar) to pay $1 worth of mortgage. In other words, everything my farm produces, when I the mortgage, has gone down half in value. That is why I am a sixteen Republican, and why the more we boost the mortgage is a gold Republican. Hurrah for Tellef!"

Doubtful About That Text.

An eminent preacher gave as his text, "As a man thinketh, so is he." After the sermon a lay brother said to the pastor:

"Your sermon was a scholarly effort, but I cannot agree with you in your premises."

"I am very sorry," replied the preacher. "I gave a great deal of thought and study to that sermon. To what part of it do you take exception?"

"Well," said the lay brother, "you say that as a man thinketh, so is he."

"Yes," replied the minister.

"Well, I have a nephew who thinks he knows it all, when the truth is he is a confounded idiot."—Shoe and Leather Reporter.
