MASTER BACHE'S REPORT

With Reference to the Compensation of Receiver Lawrence.

EVERYTHING SATISFACTORY.

But a Difficulty Has Been Experienced in Renting the Church Farm to Advantage.

Mr. Jos. P. Bache, as special master appointed by the Territorial Supreme Court to take testimony in regard to the amount of compensation that should be paid Receiver H. W. Lawrence and his counsel, for services rendered during the year 1892, this morning presented his report.

Mr. Bache observed that his report as master filed on January 20th, 1892, showed cash in the receiver's hands to be $325,171.55. He found upon an examination of the receiver's books and accounts that there remained in Mr. Lawrence's hands on December 31st, 1892, $455,667.92, being an increase over that of the same date in 1891 of $112,496.36, accounted for as follows: From rents—Church Farm, $600; Garde House, $2400; Historian's office and Tithing House, $3000. Interest from the several banks, four per cent, $15,622.41; sale of Salt Lake City gas stock, $100,000; total of $121,022.41. The total expenses for the year reached $9,176.05. Of this amount all but a small portion had been paid out under order of court, for salary of the receiver and his counsel for 1890 and 1891, legal expenses, taxes and special assessments on real estate, etc.

He had found no items of disbursement that were not necessary for the proper discharge of the duties of the receiver, and he recommended that the same be approved.

The banks were paying 4 per cent per annum on the amounts deposited with them. The Union National received $6000 on which no interest was paid, the receiver carrying his own account with this bank. The total amount of interest paid during 1892 was $15,622.41.

The money on deposit at the several banks was—Deseret Savings bank $50,000, McCornick & Co. $50,000, Wells, Fargo & Co. $50,000, Commercial National $93,145.55, T. R. Jones & Co. $37,500, State Bank of Utah $51,000, Zion's Savings bank $30,000, Bank of Commerce $12,500, Union National bank $105,522.36. Total $455,667.92.

The real estate had been kept up in repair and rented during the entire period, but the receiver had had more or less difficulty in renting the Church Farm to advantage. It was now rented to W. B. Preston at a monthly rental of $150. The former lessee paid $200 and was "back" $2000 in his rent. Suit has been commenced and $1000 of the $2000 would be collected.

The services rendered by the receiver had been about the same as those of 1890 and 1891. The fund had been larger by over $100,000, and the responsibility was, consequently, greater. His claim, as a just and reasonable compensation for the year 1892, was $250 per month and the master recommended that this—the same amount as allowed for 1890—be allowed.

The receiver's counsel (Judge J. A. Marshall), for services during 1892, claimed $25 per month, being one half the sum allowed for 1890 and 1891, and he advised that this be allowed.

Master Bache asks for an allowance of $50 for his services in examining and inspecting the receiver's books, records, vouchers, etc.

The court took the report under consideration.

ABOUT A LIEN.

The Salt Lake Pressed Brick company served a notice on the board that they intended to hold and claim a lien for materials furnished for the Nineteenth ward school building. The material in question was furnished to Klambeck & Parsons, sub-contractors under F. M. Wright, and was to the amount of $2970.97. Also that the association be granted the use of the building on Sunday. Adopted.

The salary of Mrs. Williams, janitress of the Bryant school, was increased from $45 per month to $50 from November 1, 1892.

LEGAL GLEANINGS.

Latest Items from the Courts Yesterday Afternoon.

In the case of the Driver Mercantile company vs. Thomas McCoy, in which the plaintiffs brought an attachment suit against the defendant for about $600 on Wednesday evening, Marshal Benton released the attachment yesterday afternoon, for the reason that the property was covered by a chattel mortgage and no indemnity bond had been filed. The plaintiffs, however, are garnisheeing all of McCoy's accounts that they know of. Sheriff McQueen refused to serve the attachment upon the same grounds that Mr. Benton released from.

In the matter of the People vs. R. W. Tirrell, Commissioner Mayer granted a change of venue, and the case will be taken to another court. Tirrell is accused of misrepresenting the value of a diamond ring which he was disposing of at auction, as stated in Thursday's News.

Henry Pugh, sentenced to one year in the penitentiary on March 12, 1892, has been released. He was convicted of grand larceny.

The replevin suit of Edward Pace vs. John Cahoon, for the possession of a horse, was heard in Commissioner Mayer's court yesterday afternoon and judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for the horse or $75.

The people vs. John Phillips. In this case defendant was accused by Mrs. Elizabeth Partelle of having fraudulently concealed certain goods, to the value of $600, the property of Partelle & Company, of which firm Phillips was a partner. The charge has been dismissed in Commissioner Merrell's court on motion of the county attorney.

The Portland National Bank has begun suit against the T. J. Angell Lumber company in the Third district court to collect $3525 on promissory notes, and $500 as attorney's fees. Booth, Lee & Gray are the plaintiff's attorneys.

ALCOHOLISM OR SUICIDE?

J. C. Smith, of Lincoln, Nebraska, Found Dead in His Bed at the Roberts House.

The dead body of J. C. Smith, a Lincoln, Nebraska, man, now lies swollen and badly discolored at the morgue of Skewes' undertaking establishment on Third South street, presumably a result of alcoholism or poisoning.

The deceased has been in this city off and on for nearly three years. He is said to have been addicted to gambling and excessive drinking for the whole of that period as far as known. About three weeks ago he returned to this city, having been absent for some time. Since then he is reported to have gambled a great deal and lost. As is usual with men of his kind he resorted to drink and continued his delinquency to such an extent that last night about 10 o'clock he became delirious and desperate and demolished some of the furniture in his room—No. 46 on the third floor of the Roberts House on Second South near Main street. The watchman informed proprietor Roberts that something had better be done to quiet the fellow but almost immediately after all disturbance ceased and they thought he had gone to sleep and concluded to let him rest. This morning at 8 o'clock a knock at his door received no response and it was decided to make no further attempt to arouse him for a time. At 11 o'clock Mr. Roberts went to the door and rapped vigorously and as all was still within he opened the door by means of a pass key and found Smith lying on a cot dead. He had evidently been dead several hours as the body was cold and stiff.

Mr. Roberts at once notified Coroner Taylor, who entered the man's rooms named by Undertaker Skewes, and Coroner Taylor found a box of newly opened Rough on Rats with a part of the contents missing under the pillow on the bed adjoining the cot on which the body was found. The deceased was about 30 years of age, sandy complexioned, and so far as known had no relatives in this city.

An inquest will be held by Coroner Taylor at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

The judges of the Territorial Supreme court—Chief Justice Zane and Associate Justices Blackburn and Miner—this morning appointed Garibaldi Gamble, of Burnt Fork, Uintah county, Utah, a United States commissioner.

MOTIONS TO DISMISS.

In the case of Wm. Crawford vs. Harvey Boldt et al, appellants from Judge Miner's county, motion was made to dismiss. The appellant was allowed until tomorrow to reply.

TO BE CONSIDERED.

In the case of Stark vs. DeWitt, under rules 9 and 4 leave to dismiss was asked. The motion was taken under advisement.

Court adjourned until 2 p.m., to hear the arguments in the County court case, reported in another column of this issue.

INFORMATION WANTED.

A Father Asks where His Wandering Boy is!

Last Tuesday night a boy, James Christensen of Murray, on being reprimanded by his stepmother, after returning from school, went away from home without leaving any clue to the discovery of his whereabouts. The anxious father, Mr. Miller Christensen, asks any one who may happen to find his son or who knows where he is to communicate with him, and address letter or telephone to Harry Haynes, Murray. He will gladly pay the expenses. The boy is thirteen years old, somewhat stout, but not tall. When he left, he wore a little round, dark cap, brown-striped vest and coat, and overalls. The papers in the city, Ogden and Park City are requested kindly to give publicity to this notice.

Logan Letter.

The self-destruction of Andrew Bigler at Meadow on Sunday has been the principal topic of conversation here during this week. Mr. Bigler was considered a cool, level headed business man, and the last one a person would have regarded as a probable suicide. He was well known throughout the valley and in many other parts of the Territory as a prominent horseman and a shrewd honest trader. It appears that through the purchase of some fine horses—he is credited in claiming that he afterwards found himself unable to meet when due, and this to a man of his sensitive nature became unbearable. His health, too, had been failing for some time, and it is evident that he finally determined to rid himself of a life that had now proved too heavy a burden. In the commission of the act itself, the deceased was careful that there should be no interruption. Every member of his family was induced, upon some pretext, to leave the house for a while. After all had gone, he wrote a note stating that the act he was about to commit was caused by financial difficulties, his consequent mental suffering, and the condition of his health. He said his family would not blame him, if they knew how he suffered. He had tried to stand it, but could do so no longer. He had one of the best wives living, and his children were all good to him. He could see nothing but poverty and degradation in store. After he had written this letter, he took his shotgun and went to his stable. He evidently placed the butt of the gun against the manger, the muzzle against his bare breast, and pushed the trigger with a stick. The heart must have been literally riddled to pieces. It is not known just how long the act was committed before the discovery of the body. Mrs. Bigler and some of the other members of the household had gone to the residence of a son-in-law, and when dinner was ready sent up one of the grandchildren for Mr. Bigler. The little one failed to find him, and the son-in-law went himself. As he could not see him at the house he went to the stable, and there discovered his lifeless body. An inquest was held by the local justice of the peace and a jury of three, on Monday morning. They returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased came to his death by a gun shot wound, inflicted by his own hand. The funeral services were held on Wednesday.

A "petrified human heart" was sold on Tuesday to a druggist named Bell, by a man named Reeves. On Wednesday morning Reeves was arrested, charged with having stolen the heart from Carl Johnston, Jr. Reeves is now in jail.

Clara Morris and her company produced Odette here on Wednesday evening.

The debate which was to have taken place between the students of the A. C. and B. Y. colleges is now declared off.

Special Correspondence of the News.

PROVO, Jan. 13.—Provo does not boast of any petrified man, but Mr. Hathenbruck has found some real petrified pieces of wood of a sort of onyx formation—in fact, taken from an onyx bed. He has had them partially polished, and they are on exhibition at his store. He does not care to give the exact location of his find; but he claims to have some first-class onyx not over two miles from Provo.

FIRE IN A BARN.

Special to the News.

PROVO, Jan. 13.—A fire occurred this morning destroying the barn of the P. L. M. & B. Co. There were six horses in the barn. Five of them were burned. Several sets of harness and ten tons of hay were destroyed. The loss has been estimated at $1200 with a small insurance. A ladder was discovered leaning against the barn from the street, by means of which it is supposed an incendiary reached the loft and fired the barn out of spite. No clues.

Some Ogden Items.

[Ogden Standard.]

One of the small drawers in the desk in Mayor Lundy's office contains an ordinance which, although absolutely vetoed by his honor, is a law nevertheless, for the reason that the mayor in making his objection failed to comply with the statute of the Territory which gives mayors of cities of the first and second classes a qualified veto power. That measure was passed by the last legislature and provides that all ordinances shall be in the hands of the mayor within twenty-four hours after their passage and he shall approve or veto them, as the case may be, and return them to the city recorder within five days, otherwise they become a law without his signature.

Judge Miner was asked last evening for his opinion of the numerous proclamations but declined to talk on the subject, the reason being that he had not so yet looked into the question sufficiently to enable him to form any definite conclusions as to the provisions and scope of the measure. In the judge's opinion the matter will of necessity have to be settled by the courts, inasmuch as there are so many conflicting opinions regarding the question. As yet he has not followed the lead of Judge Zane and modified the juror's calls.

A $1000 house greeted the Clara Morris company in Odette, at the Grand opera house last night.

Good Sense, Plainly Expressed.

Editor Deseret News:

I suppose the taxpayers will have to pay the expenses of the proposed trip of a majority of the City Council to the West. What for? If for the sake of giving them an out with cigars, free whisky, etc., why not be honest and say so? Considering the condition of the city finances it may be the proper thing to take such measures to get rid of the surplus.

If for the sake of information on the subjects mentioned, it is the bald-ed kind of humbug, as there are already a dozen or more architects and engineers in the city who are fully conversant with Bregnosing methods, and perhaps as many who are posted on underground conduits and who already possess more information on these subjects than the ordinary councilman will acquire during a six months tour.

WM. J. SILVER.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 13, 1893.

Within Our Gates.

City Councilman Bell, having seen something of the far north-west, is home again and none the worse for wear. Salt Lake seems to be magnetic enough for him.

John C. Graham, who in the halcyon days of home theatricals used to make us all "laff" a good deal from the boards of the Salt Lake Theater, and who delighted the old folks, widows, orphans and deaf mutes there on Wednesday afternoon, was up from his home in Provo again today.

Harry Emery, who figures histrionically as the husband of Kate Putnam, was around today among those who knew him before the stage called him from us and his home. He is the same old Harry (this not in the nursery sense) however, that he always was and all hands are glad to greet him again.

J. Simpson is in town. For fear that some of our readers may become unduly impressed with this announcement, thinking him the reckless statesman of benighted Kansas, we hasten to explain that he is another gentleman altogether, hailing from Bingham and being engaged as a contractor for ore hauling, which is better than politics.

John B. Gordon—not the governor of Georgia but the former deputy marshal and deputy sheriff of Tooele county—came in today headed for San Juan. If he has decided on the style of palace he will construct when he gets back he failes to communicate such information, but it will doubtless be one that a millionaire can live in without reproach.

C. C. Goodwin, who for many years in Logan has occupied the place from a pedestal in which the woman with a bandage on her eyes, scales in her left and a sword in her right hand is presumed to hold forth (this means justice) was looking around our thickly populated streets today and remarking to inquiring friends that Logan was as lively a place as this, although the former had not yet got back to the point at which physicians are altogether superfluous. He went back this afternoon.

"The Pace That Kills"

is overworked—makes no difference what kind. Using greasy and inferior soaps is one road to premature decay—sore hands—sore hearts—clothes never clean. Not so when is used. Cheerfully proceeds the labor of wash-day with health and long life assured. Hands all right—hearts light—clothes pure and white as a Greenland snowdrift.

Call and Look at Our Display of Winter Clothing. Some things strike the eye at once, and that's the case with our stock. It's a case in which the jury, so to speak, find a favorable verdict without leaving their seats. We are having all competitors hopelessly in the rear with our superior goods and low prices. You never know how cheap a suit is until you see it. It's just the same as a pig in a bag. What you don't see may be just as cheap as the price, or for that matter a good deal cheaper. It's our prices that are cheap, not the goods. Goes are high as high in fact that you can't move them elsewhere. Isn't it worth while to buy one?
