NEWS OF THE WEST.

Two Young Men Bathe While Heated, and One Drowns.

A UTAH MAN DEAD IN IDAHO.

Died from Inhaling Chloroform—Fatal Fall from a River—Is Irrigating Ditch Washes.

Mike Mioevich won a bet of $50 Monday by walking from San Jose, Cal., to Gilroy in eight hours and twelve minutes. He wagered he could do it in nine hours. He weighs 318 pounds.

A miner named Thomas Conesenah was shot and killed at Cadgiees in Dating camp, Arizona, Sunday morning by a woman named Sadie. A quarrel occurred in the street between Sadie and another woman named Minnie Lucas, when Sadie shot at the latter but missed her, the ball hitting Conesenah with fatal results.

The bursting of the banks of an irrigating ditch on the newly constructed line of the Valley road between Fresno and the Kings river, Cal., washed away 1,400 feet of track early Sunday morning. The point where the break occurred is on the edge of the slough country, near Windsover, about fourteen miles south from Fresno.

The body of George Gaiden, a young ferry man who was drowned at the Rio Vista ferry on the Sacramento, Cal., river, just north of the city on May 1st, was discovered floating on the river about half a mile below the ferry Sunday afternoon by a young man named Dora Gilbert. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental drowning.

A week ago last Wednesday Michael Haley, an old man 70 years of age, disappeared from his home in Sacramento, Cal. Sunday his body was found in the river, and his family are left that the old man committed suicide or fell into the river, as he was subject to spells of insanity. He has several hundred dollars with him which is unaccounted for.

Malad (Idaho) Enterprise: The young man, Harve L. Williams, who has been down with rheumatism at the Nicholas house for the past two weeks died Thursday morning. The young man's parents live at Union, Utah, and have been notified by Probate Judge Howard. Up to time of going to press we understand nothing has been heard from the relatives of the young man, so the remains have been taken in charge by the county. Funeral arrangements are being made and the burial will take place here.

Laramie, Wyoming, Boomerang: Louis Sorenson, a Dane, 22 years of age, attempted suicide on Front street at Rawlins Saturday afternoon by blowing himself in the head with a 32-calibre revolver. The bullet was a light, hollow one and did not penetrate the skull. Sorenson started from Forest City, Ia., for Oregon on a wheel, but someone stole his wheel before he got out of Iowa. He then took a train, and was robbed of his money, about $25, before reaching Rawlins. The loss of his money made him despondent.

Frank Demaraiz, a laborer, about 45 years of age, was arrested at San Francisco on Sunday night for drunkenness. He was taken to the station, and about 1:45 o'clock next morning he was taken seriously ill. He claimed that he had been given poison, but he would not say by whom nor would he say any more. The man was put in the patrol wagon and hurriedly started for the receiving hospital, but he died before arriving there. The physicians of the hospital are of the opinion that Demaraiz's death was due to alcoholism.

West Texas Stockman: All of west Texas now has on its spring clothes and cattle are as fat as they can roll. We are in better shape out here in almost every respect than for years. If the men who have been engaged in attempts to farm will now pay more attention to the production of a good bunch of yearlings for sale every year, they will also come in for a share of prosperity. There is not much money in circulation among this class of our population, but it is largely their own fault. When they take hold of the idea that west Texas is in reality a stock farming country, and shape their affairs to conform to that idea, there will be general prosperity for all.

Montgomery Hamilton of Santa Ana, Cal., was drowned Sunday afternoon in Laguna lake, eighteen miles from Santa Ana, while bathing with another young man, O. H. Ellinger. The young man had been out boating in the hills, and getting heated concluded to cool off by taking a plunge in the lake. Both stripped and walked out on a fence extending into the water, and then plunged in to swim ashore. Ellinger succeeded with difficulty, but Hamilton did not get more than half way until he went down with a cry for help. Ellinger was almost prostrated and could render no assistance, although he tried. Hamilton sank within twenty feet of the shore.

Will McCrimmon, aged 19 years, son of Joon McCrimmon, a blacksmith, committed suicide in Washoe City, Nevada, Sunday night by taking an overdose of morphine. The boy was in Carson with his parents Saturday and bade his mother farewell, saying that he would kill himself. He departed for Washoe City, where he is employed, on last evening's train, and as the train was leaving the depot shook the bottle of poison in his brother's face. The brother became alarmed and followed on a horse, but just arrived in time to see the victim expire. The affair is shrouded in mystery. Young McCrimmon had had no trouble, either in business or at home. Love is assigned as a probable cause.

Mrs. Olive L. Speddy, wife of Samuel A. Speddy, died at Alameda, Cal., Sunday, from inhaling chloroform, while in a fit of nervous excitement. Mrs. Speddy had been treated for nervous prostration by Dr. C. H. Lubbock, who gave her a prescription. Saturday night she went to San Francisco with her husband and children and attended an entertainment. She retired with her husband about 1 o'clock Sunday morning, and he had no knowledge of her leaving, until he awoke today to find her dead beside him. The open bottle was found under the covering close to the nostrils of the deceased and a sponge used in inhaling the chloroform was found on the floor by the bottle. It is supposed that Mrs. Speddy, tortured with pain, took the anesthetic to induce sleep. She got too much of it and becoming unconscious with the open bottle close to her nostrils death followed. The husband sounds the idea of suicide.
