THE CONSTITUTION BEFORE THE LAW.

PRESIDENT GRANT, in his message declining to give the House any information concerning his absences from the capital while Chief Executive, is reported to have made the following remark, concerning acts of Congress limiting or restricting the functions of the Executive—

"Were there such acts I should nevertheless recognize the superior authority of the constitution, and should exercise the powers required thereby of the President."

That is, if Congress had made an unconstitutional law upon the subject, he should obey the constitution and break the law. He does not say he should do this upon the strength of a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. On the contrary, the implication is plain that he would do it, of course probably on the strength of his cabinet advice, before the case had come up for action in the Supreme Court. For when that Court has decided on any case, it follows that the Executive, if the question comes before him, or is connected with him, will act according to the Court's decision, whatever it may be.

In a preceding part of the same message, the President declares himself highly in favor of sustaining the Constitution, according to his inaugural oath. This is very commendable in him, especially when the prevalent lightness of regard for that fundamental instrument is considered, and further the fact that the dominant party has not paid the highest regard to it in every respect.

If the President will strictly sustain the Constitution, in spirit as well as in letter, in all his official acts, the people of this Territory not only will have nothing to complain of concerning him, but will have much to say in his favor. For by his constitutional conservatism during his term of office they would have a high guarantee that no legislation or other official acts of an unconstitutional character would be perpetrated towards them with impunity, and that is all the favor they ask of the federal government.

Last Night's Dispatches.

EASTERN.

Heavy Mill Failure.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., 4.—The heaviest mill failure that Western Mass. has yet seen is that of Henry Arnold & Co., of North Adams print works. Shutting up their mill, that of Gallup, Houghton and Smith and E. H. Arnold & Co., at North Adams, the Williamstown Manufacturing Company, at Williamstown, the North Pownal Manufacturing Company of Pownal, Vt., and the Arnoldville mill at South Adams, a total of six mills, with aggregate liabilities of probably over one million dollars, and assets of most unsaleable property, costing probably $1,500,000. The mills ran in all over 1,000 looms on print goods. Some 800 people are throw out of employment.

Beecher

NEW YORK, 4.—Beecher lectured at the Academy last night in aid of the new soldiers' home. The house was jammed in every part. Beecher received a great welcome; $13,700 was raised in a few minutes.

Vote for Blaine.

The Maryland republican convention to-day instructed the delegates to vote for Blaine as long as there was a reasonable hope of his nomination.

The South Carolina democratic convention sent an unpledged delegation.

The Whiskey Cases.

ST. LOUIS, 4.—It was arranged to-day that all the whiskey cases now pending in the circuit court should be remitted to the district court, and all disposed of at the same time.

Fire.

SOMERSET, Pa., 4.—A fire broke out in the pattern shop of the Somerset foundry about one o'clock p.m., spread rapidly, and was attended with disastrous results. The entire block, including fifteen or twenty large houses, two hotels, and five stores, was entirely destroyed. Total loss estimated at $200,000, insurance $75,000.

Kansas Pacific R. R.

LAWRENCE, Ks., 4.—A meeting of stockholders of the Kansas Pacific and Col. Central consolidated lines was held in this city yesterday for the election of a board of directors. The following gentlemen were elected—Robt. E. Carr, John D. Perry, Carlos S. Greely, Adolphus Meir, Stephen Edgell, Jay Gould, Oliver Ames, Sydney Dillon and James Smith.

Run on the Banks.

BOSTON, 4.—Since the suspension of the Lewiston, Me., Savings Bank, there has been a continuous run on the Auburn, Me., Savings Bank, and the trustees have voted not to pay the May semi-annual dividend, as this will cover all depreciations from investments, and leave the bank in a solvent condition. There is a run on the Androscoggin bank, but it is meeting all demands.

Fire.

CLEVELAND, 4.—The Ohio Woodenware Co's building in this city, was burned this evening. Loss estimated from $150,000 to $200,00. The Lyman Manufacturing Co. also lost in stock and machinery; 175 employees are thrown out of employment.

Freight Rates—More Crooked—About Corners.

CHICAGO, 4.—Freight rates are gradually weakening in absence of fixed prices, and it was stated today that a large number of engagements have been made at 10 cents per 100 pounds to New York. This, however, is not known to be the fact, and only shows that such rates are deemed probable. No change in passenger rates east has yet been announced.

Supervisor Munn to-day seized the small distillery of J. Walsh, 109 West Lake Street, it being ascertained that he had shipped fifty barrels of whisky, not properly stamped, to Milwaukee. Walsh claims that he can explain the matter.

The question was brought before the circuit court of Cooke county to-day, by suit begun between prominent members of the Board of Trade, as to whether the new rules of the Board, adopted September last, have effectually put an end to the running of corners in Chicago. The suit will probably last some time, and will be interesting as a test case.

Lynched.

WARSAW, Ky., 4.—About twelve last night, a masked mob took Ben French and wife from jail, carried them two miles from town and hung them to a limb of a tree, where they were discovered to-day. They had been incarcerated on a charge of having poisoned a wealthy old negro named Jones, and were supposed to have had designs on his property. It is probable that an investigation will be made.

WESTERN.

To be Sent East—The Fryer Reduction Works.

SAN FRANCISCO, 4. — John Holleran, arrested a few days ago for the murder of John Russell, of Brooklyn, New York, will be sent East for trial to-morrow.

The Fryer reduction works, Grass Valley, began operations to-day. Many mining men and capitalists, present from various parts of the Pacific Coast, considered that the process, if it prove capable of performing what is claimed for it, will have an important bearing on the mining interests of the country. The works are reported to have operated satisfactorily at the trial to-day.

The defence opened in the Spaulding court martial to-day. Pay inspector James Fulton testified.

About the Chinese.

Before the Senate Chinese commission at Sacramento, yesterday, Lem Schaun, a Christianized Chinese preacher, testified that it is practicably impossible to convert Chinamen to Christianity, though sometimes successful in the case of boys; that the condition of women here is horrible, being bought and sold like cattle, abused by masters, tortured and often killed for attempting to escape. The presence of Chinese in this country is disastrous to both whites and Chinese. The Chinese here of the better class desire immigration stopped, and the whole thing can be done in a friendly way. The Chinese Government desires to keep its subjects at home, and if immigration, which is mostly from the province of Canton, were stopped, it would have no effect on the commercial relations with China. The Chinese Government would willingly assent to check it, but are afraid they could not do it, as there are eighteen provinces and a revolution in almost every province. Christianity is not advanced by this immigration. If stopped it might do something with those here.

Witness corroborated other evidence concerning the manner in which Chinese secret tribunals put a price on the lives of those offending their laws and carried out such sentences. As to the contract system he said when men have no money to get to California they had to borrow it and make a contract to work until they have refunded the money. When Chinamen desire to go back to China, the Pacific Mail Steamship Company will not sell them tickets unless they have a check or ticket from the six companies, or from missionaries. This is done to protect the creditors of Chinamen living in this country. Do not think the six companies can stop the immigration or importation of lewd women and improper characters, nor have they power to send them back to China.

Matthew Karcher, chief of police, testified at length as to the various effect of the presence of Chinese upon the rising generation, leading boys to disease and death, and driving boys and girls to crime by competition in household and manufacturing employments. He characterized the Chinese population, almost without exception, as criminals, thieves, liars and perjurers.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Winslow Case—Royal Titles Proclamation.

LONDON, 4.—In the House of Lords to-night, Lord Derby, replying to the question of Earl Granville in regard to the Winslow case, said the government had sent a dispatch to the U.S. government, which could hardly have reached Washington yet, and till the result of the pending negotiations were known it would be inconvenient to put all the papers before the House.

In the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry James, Liberal, gave notice that he would move at the earliest opportunity, a resolution equivalent to a vote of censure, to the effect that the royal titles proclamation does not fulfil a pledge given by the government during the debate on the bill, and therefore that the vote on the bill was taken under a misconception.

Disraeli accepted the motion not only as a vote of censure, but as a vote of want of confidence, and fixes the discussion for Thursday next. This action of Disraeli was responded to by cheers and counter-cheers.

Sir Henry Drummond Wolff, conservative for Christ Church, announced he would ask Mr. Bourke, under-secretary for the foreign department, whether the United States government had given notice of the abrogation of the extradition clause of the Ashburton treaty.

Lowe Apologizes.

Lowe made a full and comprehensive apology for the statement in his speech at the liberty meeting at Retford, that the Queen has asked two previous premiers to introduce a bill changing the Royal titles.

To be Hung.

Four of the crew of the ship Lennie, charged with mutiny and murder, have been found guilty, and sentenced to be hanged.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

EASTERN.

Offenbach Arrived.

NEW YORK, 5.—The Canada has just arrived (2 a.m.) and has Offenbach aboard. A large party, with bands of music, have gone down the bay to meet him.

Various Investigations.

The World's Washington special says Conkling has as many charges to answer as he will desire. The gist of the present charge is that he prostituted his influence as senator while acting as counsel of a man named Sargent. It charges also that Conkling is using his influence in favor of the Western Union Telegraph, another of his clients.

More testimony was taken to day in the celebrated mule contract case. The testimony was important, showing that the claim was fraudulent, although Bristow did not know the fact. It seems now he agreed to make and did make an argument before the Court of Claims, favoring a claim that now appears unlawful.

District Attorney Wells, of Washington, is to be investigated by the whiskey frauds committee. He was hired as attorney for the proprietors of a distillery which was seized. The case was several times postponed till Wells became attorney, when he had a nolle prosequi entered in the matter.

Until recently there has been a disposition in and out of the committee to look upon Schenck's connection with the Emma mine in the light of a great indiscretion, but latter developments make it simply scandalous, and a report involving his censure will probably be agreed upon.

Apparent Incendiarism.

NEW YORK, 5.—Last night, as one of the employes of the firm of Nicholas & Cook, dealers and manufacturers of artificial flowers, No. 540 Broadway, was about to close up the store for the night, he observed smoke issuing from beneath the staircase. Proceeding to investigate the cause he found, under the stairs, on the top of several cases of straw goods, a box made of pine boards, from which the smoke proceeded. In the inside was a small round cardboard box, the cover of which was perforated with holes. He saw the light of a candle shining through, and immediately wished to inform the police, but another clerk seemed reluctant. They informed an officer, who took the box to the station house. The box was examined very carefully, leaving the more perilous task of examining the inside to the fire marshal to-day. A lot of shavings between the inner box and outer one were mixed with powder. Into the top of the inside box ran a large fuse connecting with the powder and shavings where the fuse ended. The matter was not investigated by the police, but it is supposed that it would have taken several hours to burn. The clerks were taken to the station house and closely examined. Fire Marshal Sheldon was notified.

Navy Appropriations.

The Tribune's Washington special says—In case of the passage of the navy bill, no new vessels will be built whatever, and it is the intention to keep fifteen first class ships and five iron clads in perfect order all the time. For construction and repairs the appropriation will be $1,200,000, for yards and docks about $400,000, for steam engineering $1,000,000. A heavy reduction will be made in funds from which extra men are paid at election time. At the Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Norfolk, and Mare Island yards last year, the civil service cost $150,000, and this year it is placed at $80,000.

Reagan, of Texas, thinks the message a proper and dignified reply to an improper inquiry, and invaluable as a historical paper.

Thomas, of Maryland, thinks the democratic side deserves the rebuke so admirably administered for permitting the inquiry to be made.

The resolution is conceded to have been an imprudent and improper one, which both parties should have united to suppress.

Besides asking for Clapp's impeachment, the printing committee will ask for the passage of a new law, remodelling the public printing bureau. This last point will reveal the whole purpose of the investigation.

A Juicy Letter—It's Nice to be a Doorkeeper.

A letter was published here this p.m. from Fitzhugh, doorkeeper to the House, to a friend in Texas. The following are a few characteristic extracts—

"I wish you could be here with me. Do try and come. Government furnishes me with a fine turnout and a spanking pair of horses, and before and after the House session and at recess I have exclusive use of them. I have more than any man in Washington. I am a bigger man than old Grant, and cannot put my foot on the floor of the hall but that they make a break for me, and sometimes a dozen are trying to see me at once for a place for some friend. I have a boy to take my hat and coat, and I can not turn around without some one at my beck and call, and when I get all my new appointments broken in I shall have a nice time."

Cable Dispatches.

The latest London dispatches received here are dated 10 p.m., 4th. The direct cable announces that there will be no increase of rates owing to the break of the Anglo-American line, but suggests brevity in dispatches, that all may be accommodated. The Western Union Co. will take dispatches up till six p.m., making connection by steamer between St. Pierre and Placentia. They hope by to-morrow to have a through cable.

About the President and his Message—Printing Investigation.

The Sun's Washington special say, on the subject of the message, he indulges, or rather Fish did for him, in political thrusts at the majority of the members. The message was written in the State Department. The real object of the message was to rebuke those who call for original papers from the departments. The purpose is to delay investigations as much as possible.

The President to-day said that in addition to his determination to veto the diplomatic and consular bill, if it reached him as it passed the House, he would let the entire service go for years, recall all our ministers and consuls, and so disgust the people of the country with democratic reform that a majority of that party would never again occupy seats in the House of Representatives.

The Times Washington special, speaking of the message, says it was generally supposed Springer had prepared the belligerent resolution in reference to the disposition of the message, which would have intensified the blunder made by Blackburn in introducing the resolution of inquiry, and the democrats were pleased that the Speaker pro tem. refused to give him the opportunity to bring additional humiliation upon them. The republicans are delighted with the message and pronounce it the cleverest Grant ever made. The democrats admit the force of the President's arguments and the correctness of his conclusions. Most of them freely acknowledge that he has completely outflanked them and that he has successfully driven absenteeism out of the coming presidential campaign. The comments of the democrats on the message were amusing. One remarked, "First Clymer made a great mistake on the Belknap matter, and then Caulfield brought Davenport and trouble upon the democracy. Next Springer gave Morton a chance to make a terrific raid, and now Blackburn has exposed us to this deserved castigation."

The President's Message—Presidential Candidates—Investigation—Appropriation.

The Herald's Washington special, speaking of the message, says on the whole it was acknowledged on both sides that the President made his points well and with good temper, and took particular care not to tell the House how many days he had been absent from the seat of government. The President has been during his whole administration very careful on one point—he has never traveled out of the boundaries of the U.S. During his visit to Niagara Falls he even refused to cross to the Clifton House. When visiting friends at the Thousand Islands he would not cross to the Canada shore. When in 1871 he was present at the opening of the European and North American Railroad, he stopped at Vanceborough, near the Canada line. So far as now remembered, there is but one instance of the President of the U.S. going into a foreign country. Van Buren went to Kingston, Canada, in 1839, and he was much criticised at the time.

The force of the movement looking to Judge Davis as democratic candidate for president, has about spent itself. The chief objection to him is he is an old whig. There is a strong opinion among Western democrats to favor the nominating of General John M. Palmer, of Illinois. He was an old democrat before the war, became republican, fought with distinction, became republican governor, became democrat on account of Grantism.

Cheever was before the committee again to-day, and gave some further hearsay testimony which had been kept secret. Part of it was a statement that Clews had told him that he had paid Orville Grant $15,000 and Judge Dent $10,000 to get his firm all Government deposits abroad.

The reduction in the Navy bill amounts in reality to nearly $5,500,000, and the apportionment is so fixed that the department cannot spend more than its appropriation during the coming year.

The Army bill will be returned to-morrow to the military committee by Taft, to whom it was sent for examination, and he has reduced it about $5,250,000. With the help of Sherman and other officers it will probably be still further reduced in the appropriation committee.

Losses to Insurance Companies—All Quiet at the Mines.

CLEVELAND, O, 5.—The loss to insurance companies by the burning of the Ohio Woodenware factory last night is about $120,000, principally eastern companies.

All is apparently quiet at the different coal mines at present. The strikers continue to hold out against reduction, and have gone home to Mt. Vernon. Troops are at Silver Creek, and the mines in that neighborhood will probably start on Monday. More troops have been ordered to the mining districts to ensure safety, but no outbreak is anticipated, although many rumors are afloat that serious trouble will ensue.

Immigrant Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., 5.—The House committee to-day authorized Piper to report for passage at the first opportunity, his bill amendatory of the Page law of last year, respecting coolie immigrants. The bill reiterates the requirements that collectors of posts shall cause vessels to be inspected, and also provides that any collectors of ports or inspection officers who refuses to make the prescribed inspection after two citizens make affidavit of belief that any vessel has any prohibited immigrants on b ard, shall be punished by fine and imprisonment. The necessity for this bill is understood to be Collector Shannon's failure to execute the existing laws.

Silver for Legal Tenders—Gold for Europe.

Members of the banking and currency committee say that the resolutions agreed upon authorizing the paying out of silver for legal tenders to the amount of ten million dollars will be put through the House on Monday under suspension of the rules. Even if this is done the ways and means committee will consider the subject with a view to further legislation.

Engagements for to-morrow's steamer amount to $1,250,000 in gold coin.

Wool Market.

PHILADELPHIA, 5.—Wool dull, nominal supply; light Colorado washed, 18 @ 22; unwashed 16 @ 18; extra and merino pulled, 33 @ 37; Texas fine and medium 18 @ 20; coarse 15 @ 17; California fine and medium 20 @ 23; coarse 16 @ 19.

Whiskey Cases.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., 5.—In the U. S. District Court this morning, District Attorney Dyer moved that sentence be passed upon several gaugers and store keepers who pleaded guilty, but their attorneys desired the privilege of presenting statements of facts in mitigation of their offenses and the court granted until to-morrow morning to prepare affidavits to that effect. The Government counsel interposed no objection to this, but, on the contrary, expressed a desire that the defendants should have any reasonable opportunity to present such matters as would place the court in possession of all the facts in their cases.

It was announced that no action would be at present taken in the cases of Fitz Roy, Thorp and McFallas. The government wished to use them as witnesses for the present grand jury and also in some civil cases now pending.

The Indian Campaign.

CHICAGO, 5.—The Inter-Ocean's Omaha special says, advices received here from the hostile Indian country report Sitting Bull on the Yellowstone at the mouth of Powder River. Those who escaped from the attack on Crazy Horse's village, March 17, have joined him. Many young men from the Standing Rock agency have left with ponies, and it is feared have gone to join him. Sitting Bull, Eagle and other hostile chiefs are doing their utmost to persuade young men to leave all the reservations. It is feared a raid on the frontier settlements is contemplated. Sitting Bull is getting large quantities of ammunition from a band of half breeds, camped near Bear Butte, northwest of the Black Hills.

General Crook's expedition will start on or before May 15. It will be divided into three detachments. The main one, under General Crook, in person, will leave the Union Pacific railroad; the second party, under General John Gibbon, will move down the Yellowstone from Fort Ellis, Mont.; and the third part will proceed from Fort Abraham Lincoln, up the Yellowstone. A vigorous and active campaign will be prosecuted all summer.

Dom Pedro.

Dom Pedro arrived here via Chicago and North-western Railroad this morning, and after a trip to the Crib which supplies the city with water, left at 9 o'clock, via the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne Railway. He will stop at Pittsburg and Oil City, and thence proceed directly to Philadelphia.
