DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Monday, July 3, 1893.

FRAGMENTS.

The funeral of Henry Gardiner, the well known architect, took place from the residence yesterday afternoon at 2:30, under the auspices of the Masons, at which the deceased was an old and popular member.

ELD. E. BARRIER, SALT LAKE CITY, who has been undergoing treatment in the St. Joseph Hospital, at Reno, Nevada, for an old complaint, is reported on Sunday as too high road to rapid and permanent recovery.

THE band and orchestra at Brighton Park have taken an rise for the season, and are now turning in rapidly growing congregations. A number of people will go out Thursday and Friday, when the morning sermon will fairly open.

CITY CITY officials are talking of getting a subscription fund for the purpose of defraying the expense of ornamenting the Hymn water gate house over City creek at the head of East Temple street with some appropriate emblem or piece of carved pioneer life in this region. It is said that Mayor Bassin has been approached on the subject and that he approves of the scheme.

CHARLES W. WARLAND, the long-pile publisher of the Liberal Monopoly administration, has gotten a brief respite from his duties in the metropolis of the Centennial state. Mr. Warland expects to be absent a fortnight or more during the summer, which will make him the possessor of considerable Colorado cash, with the party of the second part will become a Salt Lake bar party.

A MESSENGER coming in the northwestern part of the city called at the NEWS office this morning and stated that the sport loving youngsters of the neighborhood had taken possession of a vacant lot, where they congregate daily and "punch the bag" and pound each other for hours at a time. They have several sets of boxing gloves, and in all respects select a venue. They are governed by regular rules and when stripped to the waist fight desperately for the championship.

THE many friends of Mrs. W. P. Noble, wife of Ex-Committee Noble of this city, will be saddened by her sudden death in San Diego, California, whither she went in February last for the benefit of her health. The body, however, to return the great loss her husband and her sons and paternity with a return to an element of long standing. Mr. Noble was at the bedside of his wife at the time of her decease and will bring the body home for burial.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Elder Orson F. Whitney on the Antiquity and Breadth of the Gospel.

Religious services were held in the Tabernacle at Salt Lake City, Sunday, July 2, 1893, commencing at 2 o'clock p. m., Elder Angus M. Cannon, President of the Stake, presiding.

The choir sang the hymn:

How are Thy servants blessed, O Lord!
How sure is their defense!

Prayer by Elder George Reynolds.

The choir sang:

We're all dependent on thee our Lord,
And worship Him on earth.

The Priesthood of the Twenty-second ward officiated in the administration of the Sacrament.

ELDER ORSON F. WHITNEY was the speaker. He had always esteemed it an honor to stand up in defense of the truth, however much it might be scorned by the world. Mormonism is a much misunderstood religion. A gentleman, a visitor, said in his hearing a few days ago that the real Mormons was but understood; that distorted ideas concerning it almost universally prevailed. This was true, as the speaker knew from experience. It was therefore a source of gratification to find men who were willing to hear both sides of the question in controversy, and not judge without this source maligned people.

It is a prevalent notion that Mormonism is narrow and exclusive inasmuch as it claims that they alone can by claim to eternal salvation. This is not one of the false which have gone out concerning this people. It is hard to understand how such views can obtain, unless upon the principle of the person that "a lie will travel many leagues while truth is getting its boots on." Many think, for instance, that the Saints do not believe in Jesus Christ as the Savior of the world. Some say that our religion is a mixture and medley of all religions, Judaism, Mohammedanism, Christianity and heathenism. We claim that ours is the oldest religion in existence. It did not originate with man, but came down from heaven, being rooted in eternity and bearing fruit through all the ages for the salvation of man. Mormonism is but a nickname for eternal truth. It is nothing more nor less than ancient Christianity restored, after an apostasy of many centuries, as Christianity itself was a restored religion. We can trace it back to Adam through the various dispensations. How false and narrow the idea that we Mormons think that God is only interested in the salvation of this little handful of people. No true Latter-day Saint holds such a view.

The world misunderstands giving forth. What we call Mormonism is the gospel, the gospel, truth of God's truth, the plan of salvation, from the very morning of time to date the evening of history. Joseph Smith has taught no last Mormonism, or to call it by another nickname, Christianity, was instituted in the heavens before the world was. Its truths were never created, for truth or intelligence is self-existent, but it can be codified and arranged into a system. God, in the beginning, surrounded by intelligences, organized worlds, they might advance to perfection. Hence they were permitted to come to the earth and to dwell in various ways that they might develop and expand. He is interested in the salvation of all mankind provided means for its accomplishment. Hence the various dispensations of the Gospel, from Adam to Christ and even down to our day. Whenever our Father had a chosen people on earth, it is not merely to save them, but through them to save all mankind. Abraham had a dispensation of the Gospel, and so had Adam, Enoch, Noah, Moses and others, and they taught it to their children and descendants, and patriarchs it have now restored upon earth, sealed with the keys of God. The Book of Mormon gives us the history of a colony—the Jaredites—that came to this land from the Tower of Babel. They had the Gospel and spread and multiplied and flourished until they apostatized and were cut off for their crimes. Hence Enoch, Hiram and Jaredites, by whom the earth was repeopled after the flood, traditions of the truth as preached by Noah were doubtless carried to every part of the globe. Hence, the world is ready to receive all remaining in truth, when have escaped from the darkness of ages, even as seeds of water lost in the fissures of a rock or in the precipices of the ground after a rainstorm or a flood. Many think that Mormonism is a plagiarism on a number. The truth is natural. We never both again, in Christendom of Southeastern, Mormonism comes to fit its own, holding that it was its original. As there is but one source of light—the sun—so there is but one source of truth—God—and but one perfect plan of salvation, and if what you will, Mormonism today, Christianity yesterday, or something else at some other time and place.

It all history were known, how we it is known in heaven, it would be found that from the beginning God has been working out a great plan for the salvation of our race, that human lives and human events have flited into and impelled each other, the motions of machinery driven by the engineer of Omnipotence. God was with the Patriarchs and Prophets, from Adam to Christ; they were all among the noble and great men chosen before they were born to play their parts in the great drama of Time. He was also with Confucius, the Chinese sage, with Socrates, the Greek philosopher, with Cicero, the Roman orator. He was also with Luther, with Calvin, Knox, Wycliffe and Wesley, those men that let the firmament after the sun went down in blood behind Judah's hills, lighting up the twilight until the sun should rise again. Was we claim for Joseph Smith is that he was one of God's great spirits, and testimony of the best of the last and greatest dispensation to fix a standard for the gathering of latent geniality to the cause of the Saints of God and the advent of the millennium. The speaker showed that the book of Mormon foretold the discovery of America and the founding of the United States government, and illustrated the folly of a coming or repeating the rebellion of children against this government, which they believed was built upon principles divine and impenetrable. Joseph Smith and Brigham Young both prophesied that the Lottery day State would be the Gem State which his life work for leaving for a friend. God was with Columbus, with Washington and Jefferson, with Lincoln and Grant, and He was with Grover Cleveland, and all who honestly labored for the welfare of mankind. For the Congress of the United States which would meet next month, the Saints could sincerely and earnestly pray, that then then that they may capitulate in wisdom and righteousness for the best good of all the citizens of this broad land.

This was the Mormonism that the speaker had been taught from his mother's knee. He was born a Mormon and he knew whereof he spoke. Judge ye whether such a religion is narrow and exclusive in its spirit and aims.

As for salvation, Mormonism taught that all men except an evil few—the sons of perdition, who sinned against too much light—would be saved. Many would be saved after passing through hell and being judged of their sins and moral filthiness. But all would be saved in different degrees of glory, some just and righteous principles, every one receiving its just deserts, and finding its proper place in the many mansions of the Father—a salvation so great as it could appreciate and yet be fitted to receive.

The choir sang the anthem:

God of Israel.

Benediction by Elder Abraham H. Cannon.

Grasshoppers and Drouth.

The residents of Pleasant Green, twelve miles west of this city, have a very unwelcome visitant this season in the shape of a grasshopper pest. The insects are exceedingly numerous, and are doing great damage to the crops.

The lower part of the province is also suffering from lack of water. The supply, which was exceedingly low a few weeks ago, has fallen off and sufficient for irrigating purposes cannot be obtained now from the canal which carries the water from the Jordan—the only source whence water is obtainable. In the upper part of the settlement, where is Willow creek of the water, the supply is unusually dry and takes much more irrigation than is ordinarily the case. Some of the people in the place are a little discouraged at their crop prospects.

Bear Lake Sunday School Jubilee.

The meetings were held in the Stake Tabernacle Saturday and Sunday, June 24th and 25th, 1893, Stake Superintendent A. Galloway presiding. Present on the stand were Elders George Goddard and J. M. Whitaker of Salt Lake City, Elders Wm. Budge and W. L. Rich of the Stake Presidency, ward superintendents, Bishops and others.

On Saturday the singing was freely and well rendered by the Sunday school of Bloomington. Opening remarks were made by Stake superintendent A. Galloway. The exercises of the various schools, and excellent remarks by Elders Goddard and Whitaker, with the choice songs of the former, made the meetings attractive, interesting and instructive.

On Sunday the singing was rendered by the Stake choir. On this day the remaining portion of the program, also the listening of annual reports were attended to. The schools were all reported in good condition. Incorrections of the speakers, Elders Galloway, Whitaker, Hawkins, a referred to ministry, Bishop and Salisbury, also the beautiful songs and choruses of Elder Goddard, caused one of the grandest times ever known at our stake jubilees. The remarks of all the speakers were directly upon the Sabbath school cause and on the training of children.
