SALT LAKE TO DENVER

Utah Republican Delegates to the Seventh Annual Convention.

A COMMITTEE'S ADDRESS ISSUED.

The Necessity of Adopting a Free Silver Coinage Plank in the Party Platform Strongly Urged.

The itinerary of the Utah delegation to the seventh annual convention of the National Republican League to be held at the Broadway Theater, Denver, beginning Tuesday, June 26th, at 10 o'clock, was issued today. Omitting the time of the arrival and departure of the train from intermediate points, the time for leaving Salt Lake is given as 6:20 p.m. Saturday, the 23rd inst., and that of reaching Denver as 7:30 on the day following, this covering the distance between the two capitals in twenty-five hours and ten minutes.

The following address has been prepared for publication and distribution by a committee consisting of Joseph Lippman, Fred J. Lennard and Geo. M. Cannon, who also have the matter of transportation in charge:

The business of the convention will include reports from the officers of the league, the election of officers, vice presidents and members of the executive committee for the ensuing year; the designation or reference of the time and place of meeting for the next National League convention; general discussion of the good of the party and the league; the adoption of a platform and plan of campaign for the November election and the consideration of such other questions as the convention may deem proper.

It is especially desirable that Utah should be duly and numerously represented at this convention. The monetary issue is to be fully discussed.

If the league can be impressed with the necessity of adopting a free silver coinage plank in its platform, and induced to do so, such action would undoubtedly control the future policy of the Republican party. It is therefore important that as many Utah Republicans as possible should attend this convention, in order that effective work may be accomplished in this direction. Other matters of vital importance to Utah Territory will also be considered by the league. The Utah delegation will be selected from among those Utah Republicans who are in Denver on Monday, June 25th, 1894.

The Union Pacific has been selected as the official route for the Utah delegation and rates for the round trip are Pullman, as given in the itinerary.

The officials of the Republican League of Utah being desirous that you should attend the convention, hereby extend you a cordial invitation to join the delegation. Any information concerning rates, hotel accommodations in Denver, etc., will be cheerfully furnished by the committee.

HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLARS.

Commencement Exercises in the Theater This Afternoon.

They Close the Second Year's Course of Arduous and Studious Application — A Good Record.

There was a fine gathering of the citizens of Salt Lake at the Theater today, to participate in the second commencement of the city High School. The enviable position held by this department of the public school system naturally drew to the exercises a large concourse of citizens. The high grade of scholarship was manifested when twelve of its members contested for honors in the splendid productions prepared for the auspicious occasion.

Upon the platform were seated Superintendent Milespaugh, Principal W. R. Malone and corps of High School teachers, members of the board of education, the graduates of 1893, and the other members of the High School. The productions by the class showed excellent thought in preparation, and were rendered in a clear and pleasing manner.

The first number on the program was the overture "Poet and Peasant," by Miss Evelyn Folsom and Fred Davidson, undergraduates, following which was the "Entrance March" by Miss Olive Lister, also an undergraduate. The school then sang a chorus entitled, "High, Higher, Higher." George S. Dow delivered the first oration on the program, taking as his subject "Hard Times," a most appropriate theme. Mr. Dow was followed by Miss Blanche Oppenheimer upon the subject, "Are We Not Deceived." "Conservation of Energy" was made the subject of an oration by Percy Havener, the completion of which was followed by a vocal duet entitled, "Fly Away, Birdling," by Misses Blanche Harris and Maud Bowring. Miss Mary F. Eager then presented "The Sego Lily" as a subject for commentation, and was followed by Benjamin D. Hamlin with an oration upon "Scientific Investigation." "Songs of Uncle's Fiddle" was Andrew's oration the second last part. Miss Mary V. Patterson followed with an essay entitled "Reasonable Curiosity," H. R. Hampden with an essay upon the subject "A Glimpse of the Life in the Great Salt Lake," and Miss Edna L. Beeman with an essay upon "Youth." A piano solo was rendered by Miss Olive Lister; Fred M. Ayer delivered an oration upon "The Silent Language of the Opposite Sexes," and was followed by Miss Maud B. Clark in an essay upon "The Three R's." The last essay was entertained with a chorus by the school, entitled "Spring's Delights." Walter W. Little closed for the series of its orations "Ultimate America," and was followed by Miss Florence M. Ellner, who gave "The Class Prophecy." Then followed the presentation of the class of 1893, by Principal W. R. Malone. Col. Wm. Nelson, president of the board of education, accepted the trust in an appropriate speech, and delivered to the graduates their diplomas.

"America" was then sung by the assistance and the exercises closed.

Notes.

"Conservation of Energy" was excellently treated by Percy Havener.

Benjamin D. Hamlin did finely with his oration "Scientific Investigation."

The audience that greeted the young graduates was an inspiration to their efforts.

The students in marching to the stage to receive the seals assigned them, presented a pleasing spectacle.

THE SUPREME COURT.

The Salt Lake Rapid Transit Company as Appellants.

OGDEN CASES UNDER ARGUMENT.

Logan City as Defendants in an Action for Damages for Personal Injuries.

This has not been a day of very important things to the Territorial Supreme Court. No opinions came down, and the only matters before their honors during the session were the following:

ADMITTED TO PRACTICE.

On motion of Attorney Van Horne, Wm. R. Hamilton, of Michigan, was admitted to practice at the bar of this court.

SUBMITTED ON BRIEFS.

The case of Charles T. Nelson, plaintiff and respondent, vs the Salt Lake Rapid Transit Co., defendants and appellants, was submitted on briefs and taken under advisement by the court.

The action was brought in the Third district court to recover damages from the defendant company, by one of whose employes, it was alleged, he was injured from a street car on October 24th, 1891. The defense was a denial of this latter assertion, and a plea that the company had a rule prohibiting passengers from smoking in its cars, and that plaintiff, by smoking in the car on which he was riding, violated this, and was requested to either cease smoking or leave; whereupon he voluntarily got off. The respondent on the trial of the cause recovered $100 damages and costs. The company appeals from this verdict and also from the order by Judge Zane overruling the motion for a new trial.

AN EQUITY MATTER.

Arguments by counsel followed in the case of Simon Oppenheimer et al., plaintiffs and appellants, vs Chas. C. Barnes et al., defendants and respondents.

Attorneys A. R. Heywood and W. L. Maginnis appeared for the appellants; Attorney E. M. Allison Jr. for the respondents. Appeal from the Fourth district court, Judge Miner presiding.

This was a complaint in equity with a prayer for a receiver. A general demurrer was interposed in the court below and the same was sustained. Plaintiffs then electing to stand on their complaint, a judgment was entered dismissing the action. The appeal now is from this judgment, the only question to be determined by their honors being, did the district court judge err in sustaining the demurrer.

SUIT BY A GRAVEL BANK.

The next case also came on appeal from Judge Miner's court—Fourth district. In this was Edward O. Allen, plaintiff and respondent, vs Logan City, defendant and appellant.

Attorneys Evans and Hagen and D. A. Rentle for the appellant; Attorneys Hall and Hall, J. N. Kimball and E. M. Allison Jr., for the respondent.

The action was brought by plaintiff to recover damages for personal injuries sustained by his while working on the decomposition of a gravel bank known as the "Temple" in Logan. The jury found in the sum of $2,500. Defendants moved for a new trial upon three statutory grounds. This was refused; hence the appeal.

RE WAS JOBBED—SEE!

But Mr. Cort Corkey Got Three Months all the Same.

Sentence of three months' imprisonment in the county jail was this morning passed upon Cort Corkey, by U. S. Commissioner McNulty, upon a conviction for petit larceny. The offense consisted of the stealing of a set of harness, valued at $25, belonging to L. O. Rast, commission merchant, of this city, the same having been taken from a stable at Bonneville. The stolen property was traced to a local second hand store, where the defendant had sold it.

Corkey is about twenty years of age and came here recently from Spokane, Wash. When asked by the commissioner if he wished to say anything in his defense, he replied in a don't care fashion, "Wouldn't do one of my kicking any difference! I'm jobbed. Bad!" He then received his sentence.
